Hats Off to Busy Burtis Williams!

Burtis Williams

Cadet Colonel Burtis Williams will be leaving us soon, as he will have completed his requirements to graduate from Murray at the end of this semester.

Colonel Williams plans to work in Civil Service, preferably IBM, in Oklahoma City after saying "good-bye" to Murray. He then plans to enter OSU in the fall as a biological science major in the field of research. He will also start his pilot training in ROTC there.

Wins Many Honors

As a graduate of Tupelo High School, Colonel Williams took an active part in school activities. He lettered in baseball, basketball, and track all four years. He was president of his freshman, sophomore, and junior classes, vice president of his senior class, valedictorian his senior year, participated in the class plays his freshman, sophomore and junior years, and won the William Danforth Award for outstanding leadership.

During his two years here at Murray as a biological science major, Colonel Williams has "done himself proud" and the college as well.

His freshman year, Colonel Williams was circulation manager for the "Aggie-lite." Student Senate representative from the "Aggie-lite," and member of the Aggie Club and BSU.

During his sophomore year, Colonel Williams has the honor of holding the two highest student positions on campus—that of ROTC Cadet Colonel and President of Student Senate. Besides these offices, Colonel Williams is also enlistment chairman of BSU, publicity manager of the annual staff, member of the Drama Club and Rodeo Club. He had a leading role in the play production, "The Night of January 16th."

Enjoys Life

"In his spare time," Burtis enjoys outdoor sports, particularly hunting.

Burtis has "high" ambitions, as he wants to fly. Another goal Burtis hopes to reach is success in his chosen career.

Well, we think you'll reach those goals in the near future, Burtis, Murray and its students take their "hats off" to you and say, "You've done a great service here as a friend, student, and leader. We wish you good luck and good fortune—we'll miss you. Don't forget us; we won't forget you."

President Burtis Williams called a Student Senate meeting January 4 to discuss a date for campus favorites election. The date has been set for January 12 in the conference room in the Student Union Building.

Polls will open at 8:00 and close at 4:35 p. m. Names of winners will be posted on the bulletin boards Friday morning.

Each student on the Murray Campus is urged to take part in the voting. Look around and decide which girl and which boy are the most talented, most attractive, best all-around, and most popular. We want your opinion as to whom you think should receive these honors.

Books a Problem

The problem of over due books in the library was discussed. At this time 140 books are over due. All students who have a book out, please try to finish it as soon as possible and check it in so some other student can use it.

Some of you have as many as four or five books out. If every student in this school practiced this procedure, the library would not serve the student body efficiently. You are urged to make use of the library, but please return books when you have finished using them.

The next Senate meeting is scheduled for tomorrow, January 11.

Major Winburn To Take Military Leave From Campus Duties

Harold Winburn

Mr. Harold Winburn, industrial arts instructor, has been granted military leave for the coming semester. Mr. Winburn, a Major in the 43rd Division, Oklahoma National Guard, will attend the infantry Officers' Career Course, and the Infantry School, Fort Benning, Georgia, from January 16, to June 7.

Major Winburn has been a member of the Oklahoma National Guard since joining the faculty at Murray in 1947. As a Captain, he commanded the campus unit, then Company H, 180th Infantry, at the time of call to Federal Service in 1950.

While he was on active duty, he was assigned to the staff of the 2nd Battalion 180th Infantry.

Following his return to the states, Captain Winburn was promoted and subsequently reassigned as S3 (Plans and Training) of the 180th Infantry Regiment.

When the 43rd Division was reactivated in May, 1959, and the designation of the 180th Infantry Regiment was changed to First Battle Group 180th Infantry, Major Winburn was promoted as Battle

Trip to Mexico Instructive to Instructor

When the opportunity to visit Mexico, accompanied by one who spoke Spanish quite well, came to me, it was too good to turn down. I appreciate being allowed to leave my teaching duties three days early.

I must have slept half way to San Antonio, our first night's stop. I wonder why? No thought of the mess on the floor of my apartment entered my head; in other words, no dreams haunted me until the last night spent "below the border."

Advice, booklets, and other help rendered by AAA enabled us to be processed quickly at the border. Street repairs in Monterrey and missing detour markers delayed us a few minutes.

Our first night in Mexico was at Hotel Arizpe Sainze in Saltillo. It was a colonial-type hotel whose restaurant served good food.

Hotel Satisfactory

We found that the hotels and motels recommended by AAA were quite satisfactory. Prices were

By Beulah Zimmerman lower than for comparable accommodations in the States. Mexico's highway 57 is a good road, and the only thing one needs to watch is for livestock and people coming onto the highway unexpectedly.

Our arrival in Mexico City (Mexico, D. F.) was at the peak of midday traffic. La Reforma is a broad street with eight lanes for one-way traffic and two lanes on either side of a broad walkway for people and for two-way traffic. All lanes were full of taxis and an occasional personal car. Then Reforma narrowed to about six lanes and became Juarez, and Juarez became four lanes and Modero.

We passed our hotel, and on the next circulation to the left, we circled the blocks and got back in front of the hotel.

The Glorietas, circular places containing statues, which have to be semicircled and with traffic from the sides merging, posed quite a problem.

Our driver was good, so we came back with not even a fleck of paint missing. Don't have a garageman (Continued on Page 3)

TIME TO TAKE STOCK!

With this semester of school almost gone, it is time to take stock to determine whether or not we are progressing as we desire. Let's compare our pursuit of education with an auto trip across country. When one plans an auto trip, he first procures some road maps and plans a route.

Map the Route

Have we mapped a route? Are we just driving aimlessly? A person making a long trip usually provides himself with certain equipment: a spare tire a flashlight stimulants, etc. To be successful in gaining an education, the pursuant must also provide himself with the proper equipment and use it when the occasion arises.

Must Obey

He must also obey the laws, watch for detours, and be careful to stay on the designated route. For both the driver and the student, there are certain warning signs along the road which should be heeded if the desired goal is to be reached.

Take Stock

Let us take stock now so that we can plan our future sensibly and make the most of the remaining few weeks of this semester.

READ THIS, BOYS

I know you like to receive letters. I also know that you will not be happy to receive "Greetings" from the President of the United States.

So what? You are saying. Read on, my friends.

Think of the grave crises that face us in Cuba—just 90 miles from our homeland.

Have you thought that the trouble in Cuba and Laos have connection with your grades?

Cuba and Laos may be more than the "police action" in Korea.

The selective service may soon be looking for young men to fight the Red Joes to keep them from walking the streets of our hometowns.

If war breaks out, you with below "C" averages will be sent "Greetings" from the President.

If you are not eager to volunteer and look upon being drafted with dismay, stop and check those grades you are making.

Good grades will defer you until the going gets too rough. Good grades will keep you safe for awhile.

Poor grades? Yes, they will place you in the first line of battle and soon.

Maybe it isn't too late even now to raise these first-semester grades. Study! Get in those required papers. Study! Study!

It's up to you. Do you want to remain in college or do you want to stop a Red Joe's bullet?

Remember that the life you save may be your own. A grade average of "C" will help you to preserve that life.

There was a knock on the door of the dormitory room.
"May I come in?" said a male voice. "It's the room I had when I went to college here."

"Yes, sir," he continued in reverie. "Same old view of the campus, same old closet."

He opened the closet door. There stood a girl looking terrified.

"That's my sister," said the occupant of the room.

"Yes sir," he replied, "same old story."

RAKINGS

Bruce Anderson made a trip to Mississippi to see a certain "Birdie."

It looks like Harvey Bain has homesteaded at the girl's dorm.

Martha Crumpley surely likes a certain kind of candy.

Bunny, what were you doing on the "refuge" last week? You know the geese are all gone.

Sandra, what did Jerry's dad send you for Christmas? From the look on your face it wasn't candy.

Livestock Judging Meet Is Held Here

Contestants, representatives of county 4-H Clubs, were on the Murray campus Thursday, January 5, participating in the annual Live-stock Judging Contest.

Participants included eight boys from Carter County and 48 from Johnston County.

Murray Grad Wins Honor Position At Oklahoma State U.

Jerry Copeland, Ringling junior, has been officially named manager, editor of the Oklahoma State University Air Force ROTC Detachment 679 weekly bulletin, according to Clark W. Ward, cadet division commander.

The bulletin publication serves some 1500 Air Force ROTC cadets and the USAF detachment officers here. It is distributed to all classrooms and offices of the AFROTC and serves as a guide to all cadets in that it contains information on the Detachment and on activities coming in the future. It also contains information on each week's achievements.

Copeland was promoted to the rank of 2nd Lieutenant at the beginning of the fall semester upon entering advanced AFROTC. On the drill field he holds the position of C flight commander of the 11th Squadron in the 52nd Wing. His flight is composed of approximately 40 cadets.

He received his basic ROTC training at Murray State Agricultural College in Tishomingo, Oklahoma where he served as cadet commander of the AFROTC detachment during his sophomore year there. Also at Murray he served as Student Senate President and was voted All Around Boy for the 1959-60 school year. Copeland was selected as the outstanding cadet in AFROTC at Murray and was also selected the outstanding student in activities of his graduating class.

While working for his college degree, he is taking AFROTC courses in Air Science and tactics, drill and ceremonies, and military customs and courtesies. He will receive his commission as a second lieutenant in the USAF after graduating from OSU.

Copeland is a junior in the college of arts and sciences and is majoring in chemistry. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Copeland of Route 1, Ringling, Oklahoma.

Motor vehicle deaths for the year 1960 through October totaled 31,120 for the nation, an increase of two percent over the same period of 1959.

Wilburton Slips By Aggies During Second Overtime

With four Murray starters on the bench, the Eastern Aggies sprinted to an 80-74 triumph at Wilburton Friday night to hand the Tishomingo eagles their first defeat of the season.

The evenly-matched clubs battled it out, nip-and-tuck, for four full quarters with neither gaining a decisive advantage.

It was 32-31, Murray, at the end of the first half, then the score was knotted at 57-57 at the end of regulation play.

In the first overtime, they wound up at 65-63 as the terrific shooting battle continued. Then, with Buster Forbes, Gunn, Travis Stevenson and Wilson on the bench with five fouls—the Eastern team outscored the Aggies in the second overtime to come up with the 80-74 margin.

Forbes was the leading scorer in the game with 34 points. He hedged Wilkie Berry of Eastern who had 30. Eastern's Willie Murrell hit 25 points and Stevenson had 17 for Murray.

Both clubs now stand 6-1 for the year. Eastern has lost only to Paris Jr. College in its seven games.

The Aggies played Deatur Baptist last night at Deatur. The next home game is Saturday night with the O.M.A. Cadets.

Trip to Mexico

 Sure grease your car. We did, and he was too liberal with the grease; he spread it on the floor mat inside.

Sights Awe Visitors
 One cannot have anything but awe when viewing some of their old buildings which have stood for one or more centuries of wear and tear and survived numerous earthquakes. When one thinks that these buildings were in use, while crops were being planted in a very primitive fashion in the U. S. and no buildings of a permanent nature started yet in our section, he has to appreciate the country to a greater extent.

We visited the Pyramids north-east of Mexico City. They were in existence before the Aztecs came. They were old when Cortez arrived and burned his ships at Vera Cruz so the soldiers couldn't desert and go home. The large pyramid at Cholula, the city where there were 365 churches at one time, or one for every day in the year, is the largest pyramid on this continent and rivals the ones in Egypt for size. One has to climb these rather slowly if he is rather short of wind. The views from the top are worth the effort.

One day had to be spent going to Cuernavaca, the city of beautiful homes and gardens full of bougainvillea and poinsettias.

Then we went on to Taxaco, noted for its silversmiths and shops. The narrow cobblestone streets keep one from speeding. In fact one wonders if he can find a parking place and space enough to turn around to go back.

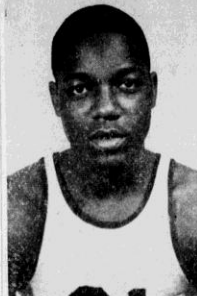

Another day we went to Pueblo and had magnificent views of Popocatepetl and his sleeping princess; both mountains were snowcapped.

Visit Was Inspiring
 One couldn't visit Mexico City without going to University City to see the modern version of the first university founded on this continent. Liberal use of murals in mosaic stonework on the outer walls makes the university a show place.

Time and space limits any further discussion, but one should visit "south of the border." Better yet one should be able to talk to the people in their language.

But when you get through U. S. customs on your return and drive away north, you will appreciate your country and your advantages and opportunities for improvement more than you did when you went the other direction.

On The Maples —

Buster Forbes

Buster is a cool, dependable man. He is the only returning starter from the 1959-1960 squad.

Squadmen, because of their liking for him and in recognition of his ability, elected him 1960-1961 captain.

In the six games played, Buster has made 42 field goals, and 38 free throws, and 42 rebounds. This gives him a game average of 20.3 points.

His record as a rebounder is outstanding, for he is only 5' 8" and his playing safety man prevents his being under the basket a great deal of the time.

Congratulations, Buster! Keep pouring that "casaba" through the "swisher."

ROTC Diary

The last drill consisted of flight movements so as to prepare for squadron drills.

There will be a shuffling of officers at the start of the next semester. A new Cadet Colonel will take over, for Cadet Colonel Williams is leaving. The next two drills will be on flights and Squadron movements and we hope to be able to pass in review before Colonel Williams leaves.

The plans are set for two field trips for the following semester. These will be to Perrin AFB, Texas. The first one will be the last of February, and the second one the first week in May.

A new series of films on Air Power is scheduled for next semester. These will be during the third period on Monday and Wednesday. If enough men attend these films, more may be more presented.

The results of the AFROTC were received before Christmas. The following are the ones who passed the test: James Ames, Charles Barber, Martin Coleman, Harold Davis, Charles Davenport, Richard Diehl, Ed Edwards, Larry Edwards, Melvin Knight, James McKown, George Murray, Mike Ramsey, Ernest Ray, Edward Spears, David Travis, Charles Walls, and Curtis Williams. They took the tests to qualify for pilot and navigator training.

Mr. Fletcher teaches English and speech. He also finds time on his busy schedule for sponsoring the annual staff and drama activities.

Mr. Fletcher received his BA degree at Southeastern College, his Masters degree at OSU, and completed his graduate work in drama at OU.

During his college training, Mr. Fletcher belonged to Sigma Tau Delta, National English Fraternity; Kappa Delta Phi, scholarship society; Alpha Psi Omega, drama fraternity.

Mr. Fletcher's teaching experience prior to Murray consisted of junior high principal and high school principal at Calera. He also taught English there.

Besides his full schedule of school activities, Mr. Fletcher finds time for oil painting and a little gardening for good measure.

Have you been elected to a club office and need to brush up on parliamentary procedure? Is that pep club enthusiasm gradually dying out for the want of something new? Would you like to be the one with on the spot suggestions of ideas your club can carry out? Do you like to gather in the dormitory and sing hymns? Are ideas for this school yearbook driving you mad?

If the boys knew how, could your dorm be the envy of others with their shop made games? How about improving those dance steps? Would a sort religious or comic play may be just the thing you are looking for?

Oh, yes, that social that is coming up! What plans for group games have you made? A winter picnic would be fun, if we just had something new to carry out. Do you envy the fellow who knocks them dead with card tricks?

Are you at a loss on how to lead your committee in a group discussion? Are you acting as director of the play in your drama club, or are you make-up or costume man? Wouldn't a square dance group be fun if you just knew how to direct it?

ONLY YOU CAN OPEN THE DOOR!

How are you fixed for preparedness? Did you get the "pass" word this past semester? The "all-clear," "go-ahead" signal?

Or—are you jumping from the frying pan into the fire? Could be you haven't stopped to think about the mistakes made last semester, and what needs to be improved this semester.

Perhaps you are content to follow the same paths of habits, but is this the right attitude, the right spirit? You know, opportunity approaches only those who seek it.

I've asked this before; I hope you know the answer. 'Just why are you here? Do you realize the opportunities that approach you each step you take toward that degree?'

I truly feel that the educational values offered you in college are taken far too lightly by the average student.

We think too much about everything but "learning." But we are in a world of grown-ups now. We are expected to face responsibilities with common sense and adult intelligence.

The world is not a "bed of roses," the people are not perfect; but, now is the time to conquer the unknown and find your place in this world.

Don't keep waiting for opportunity to knock on your door. You'll have to open that door yourself.

Start this semester off right. College offers you an education. You are here for an education, I hope. Strive to obtain this objective.

CHANGE ATTITUDES—

There's nothing for us to do here at Murray! How many times have you made that remarks?

What are you doing to help plan worthwhile things to do?

Are you keeping your talents hidden? Do you participate when you have an opportunity?

Are you the fellow who stays away from assemblies, pep rallies and class meetings?

Do you attend BSU or SCA meetings?

The school will be just as good as you and you and you make it. It is your school. Build it up at every opportunity; don't tear it down.

Before you criticize the school and its activities, evaluate yourself. See if you are proud of what you are contributing.

Remember that if you want a good activity program, you must work for it and hard.

Most of you have dreams of being leaders. Now is your chance. Maybe you have the potential of being a great leader but shyness and a lack of self-confidence deter you.

Be alert to opportunity. Watch for a chance to improve student activities on Murray campus. Do what needs to be done.

Borrow a thought from President Kennedy's inaugural address and fashion it into this constant reminder of, "I must not ask what Murray can do for me—but ask what I can do for Murray."

She: Exactly, you furnish the dollars, I furnish the sense.

Bandage-covered Joe lay in the hospital bed and spoke dazedly to his visiting pal—"Wh-What happened?"

"You absorbed too much last night and then made a bet you could fly out the window and around the block."

"Why didn't you stop me?" screamed the patient.

"Stop you? I had $25 on you."

A tired looking man walked into the employment office and applied for a job. He listed seven youngsters as dependents. The employment manager looked up in surprise. "That's funny," he said. "I'm one of seven, too, I've got three brothers and three sisters."
 "Oh, shucks," said the man, as he made an X for his signature, "if you count girls I got thirteen."

A notorious moocher went to see a doctor. Asked what was wrong, he pointed to his throat and said hoarsely, "Cigarettes."

"Uh . . . huh . . ." said the doctor. "Smoking too much!"

"No," whispered the moocher "Asking for them."

voice as we greeted folks along the way. The trip to the campus was made in record time.

When we reached the campus, my cousin Simca piped a tremulous greeting. I was glad to find someone as little as I, for you see—I am a Lark.

As we circled the campus, I was alarmed to see so many large cars. I took stock, Fords, Chevroleets, and even the way Dodge. I saw two fleet Impalas at rest. "I must get acquainted if I can catch them," I thought.

At last my mistress found a parking space. She pulled in between (sob) two birds of prey!

Falcons! I was so frightened that I hid my grill. One of my enemies said, "We have two other Falcon friends to help us keep you in line, little one."

As I sat there shivering, a man took one of the Falcons away. The other one seemed to be asleep.

Getting my courage up, I looked around me. I was on a beautiful campus surrounded by other cars.

There was a sweet little Corvair parked right across the street. We began to talk and she clued me in.

She said she had a big red Cadillac for a friend and that her Cadillac friend would be happy to welcome me. There is such strength in Cadillacs!

Sweet Sue Corvair introduced me to the low-slung Austin-Healey, which agreed to tow me out of danger in an emergency.

Already life is brighter. This bird will enjoy life on Murray campus after all.

Scholarship Group Seeking Eligibles

Phi Theta Kappas, members of the national junior college scholastic fraternity, are checking the first-semester honor roll to pledge the fraternity.

Recruits will be chosen from the upper ten per cent of the total enrollment.

As soon as the eligibility of the present members is confirmed, additional students will receive bids to bring the membership to its total allowable.

When the screening process has been completed, bids will be sent to prospective members. Pledging date will be set for March 4.

PROGRAM ON HYPNOSIS IS SCHEDULED

Dr. J. B. Tillman, an instructor in the department of geography, East Central, Ada, will speak in the College Auditorium Thursday evening, February 16, at 7:30.

The lecture will be an educational one on hypnosis. It is not a lecture designed to entertain; it is informative.

The students of Murray and the public are cordially invited and urged to attend this lecture. This will be the last time that Dr. Tillman will give it.

During World War II Dr. Tillman served with the Marines in the Pacific.

He received a bachelor's degree from East Central 1948, a master's degree from Peabody 1949, and a doctor's degree from OSU in 1960. From 1949 to 1958, Dr. Tillman taught in Murray State College, Murray, Tennessee. Since 1958, he has taught at East Central.

He will become dean of students here at the beginning of the fall semester this year.

Dr. Tillman's field is extensive. He has taught sociology, earth sciences, criminology, climatology and geography.

Mr. Roy McKeown, public relations director at East Central, will accompany Dr. Tillman. Mr. McKeown is a former instructor at Murray College, Tishomingo.

New Veep Chosen By Student Senate

The Student Senate met Wednesday, February 8. Chuck Barber presided.

The purpose of the meeting was to elect a new vice-president. Jim McKown, an agriculture major from Ardmore, was selected.

The Senate is planning to print a Student Directory which will include the name, address, school address, and major of all students attending Murray during the 1960-61 term.

Lambert, Hamilton Head Editorial Staff of Aggieelite

The Aggieelite staff has been reorganized for the second semester.

Charrel Lambert, sophomore business education major, Tishomingo, will again serve as editor.

Lourelle Hamilton, sophomore education major, Tishomingo, will be associate editor.

Connie Young, freshman home economics major, Tishomingo, serves in the dual capacity of campus editor and circulation manager.

Arvella Pitmon, sophomore education major, Mill Creek, was chosen Student Senate representative.

The Fine Arts Department headed by Jack Reid was formerly a part of Arts and Science Department, but at the beginning of school year 1960-61, it was made a separate department.

Objectives Cited

The objectives of the Fine Arts Department are manifold. A few of them are:

- (1) Provides first two years of training for music students.
- (2) Provides entertainment for school and community.
- (3) Aids students in the development of their natural talent.
- (4) Provides students with worthy use of leisure time.
- (5) Helps to create school spirit.

Music Is For All

The Music Department of Murray State has a wide range of courses offered, in which every student can participate.

Students, if you like to sing, join the choir. If you like to play, join the band. If you like to listen, enroll in music appreciation.

Miss Opportunities

Applied music at Murray is greatly neglected considering that the applied fees at most colleges average $22.50 per semester hours while at Murray there is no fee for applied music.

Students at Murray can receive private instruction on any instrument for only the regular enrollment cost per hour.

Many students do not realize the importance of being members of choirs. Choir music is used every Sunday throughout a person's life in his religious worship. By participation in college choirs, the students gain training and knowledge that will make them valuable assets to the choirs in their churches.

By participating in Course 281, students are learning music, developing a way to enjoy leisure time and earning college credit.

Many people have the mistaken idea that only the talented should enroll in music courses. This is a

READ US AND HELP US—

The Aggielite staff is desirous of giving you a paper that is worthy of the college.
 The staff is inexperienced. The staff is just regular Aggie students.

We want to pass along to you and your friends the good and helpful about your deeds and sayings as Murray Aggies.
 Most of the staff members are carrying maximum loads. It is often difficult for the reporters to contact you and you. It is also difficult for staff members to contact instructors.

Students, rally to the cry of your fellow students. Tell us what you and your gang have done, are doing or hope to do.

Don't be modest. If you have won an honor, tell us. You give us the hint of news and we'll carry on from there.

BEEN ADOLESCENT LATELY?

The snow is melted. The ice is gone. But the trace of adolescence is still in the air.

What makes people act as they do? Why must young adults be so adolescent at times?

It is only natural for young people our age to want to "let off steam" "kick up their heels" now and then. But one thing must be kept in mind: there is a time and a place for everything, and there is a limit to how far we can go.

When we are at this age, we are filled with mixed emotions. One time, we want to conquer the world and set it afire with our eagerness and enthusiasm. The next time, we are frightened at the responsibilities that lie at our feet.

It is times like these that we must determine between right and wrong, between pride and self-satisfaction.

We are not "teen-agers" any more, but young men and women striving for self-discipline and respect among a world of adults.

We cannot let wrong doings be the cause of our failure to reach that ultimate goal in life.

We've got to take those hardships on the chin with a shrug and a grin. Be strong, be proud, be humble. Make this time in your life you can remember with pride and satisfaction.

Beware of Kid With Sharp Arrow, Today's Valentine Day

If you don't want to fall in love, beware!

Despite the snow and ice on the SAC campus, that fat little fellow who shoots golden arrows tipped with a love potion as deadly as dynamite has been getting in his licks on the campus.

Not satisfied with having his Psyche immortalized so that he could continue to love her, Cupid goes around striking the unwary.

Have you seen the newly struck couples gazing at one another in a dazed fashion? Have you noticed that many of those he struck last year are now engaged?

Valentine's Day, the one day set aside for lovers, is today. Sweethearts will receive candy, valentines, and flowers. All of these will proclaim, "Te amo, te amo."

Grads Return to Renew Friendships

Harold Johnson, class of 1958, was renewing friendships on the campus recently.

Harold was graduated at mid-term from Southeastern. His major is industrial arts.

Harold was listed on the Dean's Honor Roll at Southeastern for the fall semester.

Stanley Mousner accompanied Harold. Stanley is also a former Murrayite, and he will graduate in July from Southeastern.

Bobby Gunter

Bobby Gunter, Wilson, 6' 4" sophomore is making a good player for the Aggies. He is very good on rebounds. He has an 11-point average and is hitting 50 per cent of his shots.

Bobby is a graduate of Rexroat High School where he participated four years in basketball. During his high-school career, he had a 29-point average.

Bobby plans to complete his education at OSU.

In the past four games played, Murray has gone two for two.

With 17 points, Bobby Gunter was big man in the 76-49 route of Bacon.

Northern came to stampe the Aggies, but Buster Forbes with 20 points and his able lieutenants branded the Mavericks to the tune of 52-38.

The road home from Miami was much longer than it was going there. It's too bad that the Northeastern team squeaked by with a one-point win.

Buster Forbes and Stevenson tossed for 14 and 13 points.

Eastern slipped and slid in last Tuesday night and snowballed the Aggies 65-57.

Buster Forbes scored 17, Jim Gunter 7.

BSU Members Are Banquet Guests

The First Baptist Church was host to the members of the BSU and their guests at a sweetheart banquet last night at 7:30.

Music was provided and a film was shown as part of the entertainment for the evening.

Rodeo Club Issues Membership Cards, Maps Activities

The meeting was called to order by the president, Jack Lynn. Membership cards were handed out, and Calvin Wood was elected vice-president, replacing Rickie Bemo who transferred last semester.

The group discussed having a talent show to raise money for the spring rodeo.

Rodeo plans were given to the Student Senate representative, Jerry Kennedy, to be placed before the administration for securing permission for the rodeo.

The next meeting, February 12, 1961, will be held for all interested people wanting to participate in the talent show. The meeting was then adjourned until the following week.

Internal Revenue 'Work Shop' Being Held on Campus

As a part of its service to the community, Murray College is providing facilities for an Internal Revenue Workshop sponsored jointly by the Johnston County home demonstration agent, Mrs. Tom Taylor, and by the county agent, Mr. Clarence Ryan.

Mr. D. B. Jeffrey, a Murray graduate of 1930 and now a farm management specialist on OSU, will be the instructor.

The business of the workshop will be devoted to instruction on the preparation of federal income reports.

Although the workshop is set up primarily for farmers and ranchers, all interested people may attend.

No charges will be made for the non-credit course.

The meetings will be held in the Aggie Building on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30, February 15 and 16.

'Cool' Reception Given Initiates At Bessie Poe

There was a house meeting in Bessie Poe Dorm Wednesday night, February 1. The group elected Tena Looney to succeed Sherry Thomson as song leader. It was suggested that a clock to be hung in the foyer would be of great value to the group as a whole.

Everyone in Bessie Poe is happy to welcome Tena Looney, Jeanette Looney, and Peggy Belcher into the dorm.

After the meeting Tena and Jeanette became full-fledged members. How do you become a member? Why, the girls throw you into the cold showers.

Like to Yak? Here's A Club for You!

A new group on the campus is in the making. Interested participants met with Mr. Lloyd Guss Wednesday, February 8, in Room 206, to form a discussion group.

Roger Bauer was elected chairman, and Ernest Ray, vice chairman.

The group will meet every Monday, 6:30 p. m., in the Student Center Conference Room.

Their first regular meeting was held last night. First on their discussion list was the selection of a proper title for the group.

Anyone interested in joining in on these sessions are welcome to attend the meetings.

When the 66th annual exhibition of Western art was held at Denver recently, three Oklahomans were invited to enter. They were Eugene Bavinger, John O'Neil and J. Jay McVicker.

Now Is the Time to Be Lining Up An Interesting Job for Coming Summer

From Maine to Hawaii, there are 5,000 work-and-fun jobs in the Park Service (mostly for men) and with concessionaires (men and women). The jobs for men (minimum age 18) include work on trail and maintenance crews and in fire control; they demand top condition. Pay varies with the locality. Young men over 21, and a few young women with training in the natural sciences, can also work as summer park rangers, for about $350 a month.

Hotels, lodges, and restaurants in national parks are operated by concessionaires who recruit their own employees. They need 18-year-olds and over to guide, cook, wait on tables, assist in nursing, and pump gas in service stations.

Competition Heavy
Competition for park jobs is heavy, so applications should go in early (January 15 to March 1). A free pamphlet covers both the government and concessionaires' openings; it's "Summer Employment in Areas Administered by the National Park Service," obtainable from the National Park Service, Washington 25, D. C.

The U. S. Forest Service offers about 2,500 summer jobs in the West to physically fit men over 18; performance goes to those with farm-ranch experience. In Forest Service areas, apply in person; elsewhere, write the Regional Forester in the area of your choice. Regional offices are listed in a free pamphlet, "A Summer Job with the U. S. Forest Service," obtainable from the Department of Agriculture.

Pay Is Good
The nation's biggest amusement park, Freedland in New York City, employs about 2,000 college-age persons each summer. Ride operators earn from $72 to $80 for a 40-hour week. Other jobs in security and maintenance pay more. Park employees must be over 18, but restaurants and exhibitors employ some from 16 to 18. For details, write Clayton Mosher, Freedland, 3000 Baychester Avenue, Bronx 69, New York, before March 31.

If you're more interested in experience and travel than in pay, look into volunteer assignments around the world. Jobs range from work in refugee children's camps in Germany to construction projects in central Africa. Most offer low-cost transportation and paid living expenses on the foreign site. Send for the booklet "Invest Your Summer" (25c) from the Commission on Youth Service Projects, 475 Riverside Drive, New York 27, New York.

Directory Available
A "Summer Placement Directory" listing 12,000 openings at home and abroad is published at $3 by the Advancement and Placement Institute, a non-profit agency, Box 60P, Station G, Brooklyn 22, New York. It lists, in detail, camp positions, summer theater jobs, opportunities at resorts and dude ranches. A similar directory is published at $3 by the National Directory Service, Box 65, Winton Place Station, Cincinnati 32, Ohio.

MURPHY'S APPLIANCES

Is It Wise To Borrow To Continue College Study?

Yes. It is probably the wisest investment which most persons will make during their lifetimes. All signs point to ever-increasing college costs, and these additional costs must be financed from some source. As noted previously, scholarships cannot provide full assistance even to the relatively few students who are fortunate enough to receive such aid. Although the idea of "working your way through college" is still very appropriate, very few students can earn the full amount needed from this source.

In addition to the intellectual and cultural advantages of a college degree, the monetary value is certainly evident. It has been estimated that a person with a bachelor's degree will earn an average of $100,000 more in his lifetime than a person with a high school education. It would certainly seem wise, then, to borrow against this potential earning power by obtaining a loan for college.

Scholarships Available
Upperclass students are eligible for many scholarships for which entering freshmen are eligible. These include OU and Alumni Development Fund Scholarships, and Athletic, Band, La Verne Noyes, Lew Wentz Service Scholarships, McMahon, and Will Rogers Memorial Scholarships.

They are also considered for Mothers' and Dads' Association Scholarships, which are valued at a maximum of $192 per year.

In addition, many divisions of instruction offer awards to students enrolled in these academic areas. Specific areas offering such aid are listed in an "Upperclass Scholarship Announcement" which is published annually prior to the period of application. Students interested in these scholarships should contact their departmental chairman or academic dean.

The period of application is February 1 to March 15 for the academic year beginning the following September.

Students may secure application blanks for scholarships in the office of Dean Johnson.

PTK TO MEET

Phi Theta Kappa will meet Wednesday, February 15, third hour. All members are requested to be present.

Lee B. Wood, former Oklahoman, has been promoted from executive editor to editor of the New York World-Telegram and Sun, succeeding Roy W. Howard, who held the job 33 years.

Miss Anita Louise Glenn and Gene Lafitte Married Jan. 28 in Double Ring Ceremony

Vows were solemnized January 28 at 8 p. m. for Miss Anita Louise Glenn and Gene Lafitte in the First Methodist Church, Tishomingo. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Glenn, Tishomingo.

Mr. Lafitte is a graduate of Murray College and his bride was a student here during the first semester of this year.

Rev. Fred Knight, Comanche, Okla. officiated at the double ring ceremony under an arch entwined with lemon leaves, sala and white carnations. This was flanked with white pedestal baskets, tied with green ribbon, holding white gladioli and lemon leaves. Cathedral tapers adorned the chancel rails while stands of palm and lemon leaf formed the back setting.

Carl E. Reubin, organist, played the traditional wedding selections. Mrs. Royce Reser, Healdton, aunt of the bride, sang "At Dawning, Because and The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ante-bellum beauty of French imported hand-clipped Chantilly lace. The basque waist was featured with a sequin starred Sabrina neckline and the bouffant skirt of alternating tiers of pleated tulle rippled into a chapel train. The bride's imported French illusion veil, was caught to a pearl Juliet cap and cascaded into tiers below her waist. She carried a shower bouquet of stephanotis and white rose buds centered with a gamelia corsage from which showers of satin ribbon garlanded the bouquet.

Miss Deanne Auld, Lafayette, La., was maid of honor; bridesmaids were: Sherry Tomson, Tishomingo; Barbara Herd, Oklahoma City; Cynthia Glenn, cousin of the bride, Tulsa, and Junior-bridesmaid, Karen Lerblance, Hartsborne, cousin of the bride. All wore identical frocks of Emerald green satin, fashioned with scooped necks and three quarter length sleeves. Their cascade bouquets were of white roses fashioned with emerald green ribbon.

Kathy Reser, Healdton, cousin of the bride served as flower girl and Mike Lafitte, Enid, nephew of the groom was ring bearer.

Leslie Reser, Healdton and Debbie Knight, Comanche, both cousins of the bride, lighted the candles.

Serving as best man was Jay Bennett Taylor, Tishomingo, ushers were John Herd, Milburn, Jimmy Hart and Milton Gilbert, Tishomingo; Dick Lerblance, Hartsborne. The bride's mother chose a gown of light green brocade satin with bone accessories. A corsage of yellow rose buds completed her ensemble.

A reception was held in the

church parlor following the ceremony. The bride's table further carried out her chosen colors of white and emerald green. A centerpiece of white gladioli, carnations and rose buds complemented the table which was covered with a white antique satin cloth. Assisting with the reception were: Mary Glenn, Tulsa, cousin of the bride, who presided at the guest book, Mrs. Herman Thomas, Poteau, Mrs. W. P. Lerblance, Hartsborne, Mrs. Fred Knight, Jr., Comanche, all aunts of the bride, and Mrs. Joe Thomas, of Poteau.

THEORY of converting feed into gallons of milk or pounds of beef are but a few of many phases of agriculture taught in classes similar to the above within the agricultural Department of Murray College.

Agricultural Department Stresses Theory and Practical Application

BULLETIN!
Attention Students! The Drama Club will present an assembly program Friday, March 3, third hour, in the auditorium. Everyone is urged to attend.

Oklahoma has more square miles of surface water—1200—than any inland state in the nation except Utah with its Great Salt Lake, and Montana with its Peck and Flathead Lakes.

Agriculture has been taught on the Murray campus since 1908 when the first Oklahoma Legislature established the school as a district agricultural school. In 1924 Murray was authorized to provide and establish two years of additional college work to include courses in agriculture, dairying, and animal husbandry. President Clive E. Murray was an instructor in the Agriculture Department at that time and had been since 1921. He assumed the duties of president in 1931.

Under President Murray agriculture has received excellent attention and administrative cooperation. Land has been acquired, buildings and facilities have been built, purebred herds have been established, and excellent instruction in technical and practical agricultural courses has been provided.

Many agricultural courses dealing first hand with various crops and livestock have been supplemented by excellent laboratory hours on the farms and at the barns. Many students have earned all or part of their way through Murray by caring for livestock and doing other work provided by the farm.

Former students are placed throughout the world in many types of jobs. Many county agents, vocational and agricultural workers in Oklahoma and surrounding states are former Murray students.

Work Unified With OSU Courses.
Work over the years has been closely associated with work at Oklahoma State University. Murray graduates have been able to make the transition to work on higher degrees with a minimum of confusion. Instructors have been selected with the approval of Oklahoma State, and the course offerings have followed very closely work offered at the senior college.

Approximately 85 students are

Mrs. Louise Cravens, registrar, has released the list of names of students who are eligible for membership in Phi Theta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity for junior colleges.

Membership in the campus chapter is limited to 10 per cent of the enrollment. Students given bids must have completed one semester of work of 15 hours and with a grade average of B. To remain a member, a student must carry fifteen hours and have a B average.

Larry Edwards, president of the campus chapter, will be in charge of the pledging and formal initiation.

Pledging ceremonies will be held in the ballroom March 6. Formal initiation will be held in the College Auditorium March 15, during the third hour.

The faculty committee has passed upon the character fitness of the students whose names were submitted by Mrs. Cravens, and bids have been given to the following:

Cobb Tells State Problems, Interest in Youth Education

"GREAT CHANGES are coming to Oklahoma," State Senator Joe Bailey Cobb told a record-breaking assembly of Murray students who recently heard him explain some of the complex problems now before the legislature.

Senator Joe Bailey Cobb recently drew the largest and the most enthusiastic audience that has ever appeared at an assembly program in the Murray Auditorium.

Senator Cobb spoke on the work of the Oklahoma Legislature. His talk was quite informative and provocative.

Tells of Committees
Senator Cobb stated that he has served in the Oklahoma Legislature for 20 years. He is third in seniority in this Twenty-eighth Committee on Committees and the Rules Committee. Senator Cobb stated that the present Senate is the strongest that he has ever known.

WHO IS CHEATED BY CHEATING?

"One for all and all for one." Whoever comprised this old, familiar slogan could not possibly have foreseen the "moderns" of today. One much more suitable might be "Do unto others before they do unto you."

Maybe I'm being rash in my estimation of the young generation of today; yet, there is little else that can be said about our American way of life.

We are supposedly in an age of astounding progress. We have served our country technically above and beyond the call of duty. But still remains the duty we have towards ourselves and our fellowman.

There is one issue now being widely recognized over the state and the nation. This is the old, old problem of cheating. Of course, cheating has always been a chief concern of a school's moral standards; moreover, the modern trends of today have a tendency to override their advantages in the matter.

After several surveys were made by various newspapers over the country as to why students cheat, some very interesting reasons for this problem were proclaimed. It was learned that the majority of the students in certain high schools did not object to cheating. A few objected mildly and only a very few felt that cheating was against moral standards and principals.

As to the reasons why students cheat, the theories are numerous. One theory is that parents do not teach their children at home that cheating is against all ethics and moral principles. Another is the theory that students cheat in order to "keep up with the gang" and to "keep Mom and Dad to happy." In other words, one has to have good grades to be accepted, so cheating is the only way some students think they can achieve these grades. Still another theory concerns the instructor. In many cases instructors do not discourage cheating. Instead, they may turn their backs while Johnny cheats on a test, or they may see that Johnny passes in order that he can play football.

Certainly, we all know instances which have been mentioned above. However, there seems to be one "member of the club" missing. That of the student himself!

The young people of today take all the luxuries and sacrifices made for them all in one easy stride. Our Moms and Dads didn't have our luxuries and opportunities. Just how many times do we make sacrifices for others? Somehow, we have learned the art of taking, but not the art of giving.

This has a lot to do with our attitude towards our moral responsibilities to our school, our parents, and ourselves. Too many times we fail to stand up for what's right simply because "it's old-fashioned," or "The gang will think I'm square," or "If others can do it, why can't I?"

Many of us even fool ourselves into believing that cheating on a quiz or a homework assignment is all right. But we can't fool ourselves forever. We have to wake up to reality sometime; and when we do, it's too late to turn back the clock.

Ask yourself this question. What will I actually achieve if I cheat? It may put me ahead at the moment, but what about later when I won't have the chance to cheat? Maybe your fellowman doesn't care whether you cheat or not. But what about yourself? Can you hold your head high with pride and integrity?

Call this a warning if you wish, but a friendly one. Cheating is not worth the effort. Each one of us has to atone for our own mistakes. Cheating will only add to our worries. Why not build character rather than false castles. Rome was not built in a day nor Greece in two. Whether you build slowly toward spiritual and moral responsibilities, or you build rapidly, don't let cheating stunt your growth.

"Qualities I Like in a Boy or a Girl"

My ideal girl can understand the cares and worries that beset a man. She's always poised, keeps temper controlled; Never repeats ugly rumors that to her are told. She's charming, friendly, ready to smile; Will join in the fun, but yet all the while she's a lady true—well mannered and kind; Clean, neat, attractive—always refined. She's her own sweet self—doesn't put on "airs"; Stands on her convictions and shows that she cares. For her country, family, friends, and home She'll stand for what's right—even if alone!

A boy who's clean and neat, is a boy who's hard to beat. Hair well groomed and shoes tied; usually keeps a girl by his side. Manners also count a great deal; ambition will add to his appeal. Thoughtfulness, I admire; hand-some appearance adds to his attire. Clothes washed and ironed right—make a girl stare when he's in sight.

Methodist Rise Is Dean's Topic for Madill Meeting

Dean Roades presented a speech to the Methodist men of Madill on the topic, "The Rise of Methodism," Thursday, February 23. He based his speech upon the following thoughts:

Dean Roades stated that Methodism is America's most popular Protestant denomination and its most influential religious group in bringing about reforms in our economic and social life: labor unions and collective bargaining, temperance, rights of women, public education, missionary efforts, peace movements, inter-faith cooperation, etc.

The simple theology of Methodism, its democratic philosophy of man, its evangelistic zeal, and its desire to improve society through good works help to explain the popularity and success of this denomination.

Yet Methodism has danger spots today, and as never before, the church depends upon the efforts of its laymen.

Man and Woman

Six stages of a man's relationship with the opposite sex:

1. Wa-a-a-a! I want Mommy.
2. G'wan, beat it. We don't want no old girls playing with us.
3. Gee, Alice, you're beautiful.
4. All right, go home to your mother and see if I care.
5. Does he think he's good enough for my daughter?
6. Kicky-koo! Did you hear that, Alice? She said "grandpa."

Quack! Quack!

Doctor: I can't come out to see you any more.
Farmer Brown: Why not?
Doctor: Why, everytime I come out, your ducks insult me.

Not Exempt

A well known Episcopal minister violated a minor traffic regulation and was handed a ticket by the traffic officer. Intending to make friends, not avoiding the issue, he asked, "Did you know I am Father Fox?"

The officer quickly replied, "I don't care if you are Mother Goose. You still get a ticket!"

Sounds Right

The teacher was trying to make the pupils think, so she asked some tricky questions. "Johnny, give me an example of nothing."
Johnny did not hesitate. "Nothing is a balloon with its skin off."

On The Maples

The average fan gives credit only to the player who tosses the ball through the hoops. Sometimes he will see that a guard does good work, and that a player gets rebounds.

The average fan forgets to give the "fellows" sitting on the bench any praise. Those "fellows" on the bench need much praise. During practice sessions they play and play hard to give the first string the knowledge and skill to "shine" on the court, reap the praise of the spectators, and win for Murray.

To those boys who are "subs" the Aggieite says thanks and dedicates to them:

"The Substitute,"

To fate resigned, he waits upon the bench
And leans his chin upon his hands.

He watches every play and vaguely hears
The cheers that thunder from the stands.

Out there his teammates execute the plays
His sweat and toil helped them to learn,
While he, a sub, can only watch and hope
And patiently await his turn.

For weeks and months a lonely place he's had Gone down in daily brave defeat,
Submerging self in loyal group desire

That teamwork might be made complete.

For him the drill and drudge of practice hours
And yet no chance of crowd's acclaim.

For him the role of substitute,
A satellite of stars who play the game.

The din of cheering crowds rolls o'er his head.
Unknown, the service he performs

They only see him waiting for his chance
The chance that often never comes,

Unsung, but still alert to give his best!
Content when thousands laud his mates!

Successful teams were never built, without
The Sub, who hopes and works and waits.

'Farm Subsidy' Gets Hearing by Stoics

The Discussion Group met Monday, February 20. The club chose "The Stoics" as their official name. The topic discussed was "Farm Subsidy". Next week's will be "Federal Aid to Education."

In Oklahoma 93.7 per cent of the school age population is enrolled in school as compared with the national average of 82.9. The state thus ranks fourth in the nation.

Ags Draw O.M.A. in Conference Tourney Opener Wednesday

The Murray Aggies will enter the Junior College Conference Tournament, which will be held at Cameron March 1-4.

Murray will play their first game Wednesday evening at 7:30. They will meet the O.M.A. Cadets. Although Murray has downed the Cadets twice this season, they will have to play good ball to down them the third time.

St. Gregory of Shawnee and Cameron play the same evening at 9:15. Winners in each game will play March 3 at 9:15 p. m.

Bacone and Decatur Baptist clash March 2 at 7:30 p. m.

Eastern and Connors play on March 2 at 9:15 p. m.

Winners of the evening will play March 3 at 7:30 p. m.

The final game will be played March 4 at 8 p. m.

Ags Spurt Ahead To Down Connors

The Murray Aggies had to exhibit great team work and skill to overcome the Connor quintet. At the half Murray was trailing by 14 points.

Somehow during the intermission, Coach Massey was able to calm and encourage the players, and they came back in good spirits and tied the game. In the overtime the Aggies won by the score 74-69. Buster Forbes was high with 17 points after a disheartening score of three points made in the first half.

Bobby Gunter was second high with 16 points.

Three Murrayites At Dean Conference

Dean Roades, Dean Johnson, and Mrs. Craven, chief registrar, attended the Conference of Deans at Central State College, Edmond, Oklahoma, February 25.

The theme for the conference was centered around such discussions as the proper use of ACT scores, college admission requirements, and transfer policies.

enrolled in the Department of Agriculture at Murray this year. They are receiving the basic courses needed for entry into a professional course at a four-year college, courses completing a terminal course in agriculture, and courses fitting them for work in fields related to agriculture.

Learning by Doing Stressed
The basic curriculum is built around a core of general education courses with supporting technical and practical courses in animal husbandry, soils, crops, dairying and horticulture. Practically all agricultural courses combine classroom and laboratory work. In the laboratories the College makes use of approximately 1200 acres of land, 40 Hereford cattle, 30 Jersey cattle, 20 Holstein cattle, 85 hogs, and 45 Western sheep. Duroc, Hampshire, Yorkshire, and Poland China hogs make up the swine herd. The College maintains approximately 150 acres of small grains and alfalfa for livestock feed, 150 acres of prairie meadow, 60 acres of supplemental small grain and Sudan pastures, and the remainder of the land in improved and native pastures.

A modern dairy is maintained by the College to provide milk for the College cafeteria and practical experience for students in dairying. College Initiates Testing Program
The College supervises the oldest and largest double-registry beef performance test in Oklahoma. This testing program, in its sixth year

Home Ec Club Will Have Buffet Meal

The Home Economics met Wednesday, February 22, in the home economics room. They decided to make their monthly visit to the Old Folk's Home Wednesday afternoon, March 1. The club decided to take fruit to the patients this month instead of the usual center piece. The Home Economics Class will serve a buffet meal for the members of the Home Economics Club on Wednesday, March 1.
Each week the Home Economics class plans, prepares, and serves a meal. Two members of the class are chosen to serve as hostesses, and several members of the administration and faculty are invited.
Carol Pexton and Gwen Rowe served the hostess, Louise Little, and the guests, Miss Zimmerman, Miss Draper, Miss Plank, Miss Stone, and Mrs. Taggart Wednesday afternoon, February 22.

County's Savings Bond Goal Is Set

Oklahoma's U. S. Savings Bonds goal for 1961 will be $68,500,000 and Johnston county's goal $146,900.50. Clive E. Murray, chairman for the county, announced this week. With January purchases of $6,983,536, Oklahomans have subscribed 10.5% of the goal.
Purchases in Johnston county amounted to $16,332.00 in January. This is 11.67% of the 1961 goal.

of operation, is currently under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Don Taggart, animal husbandry instructor. This year 185 bulls were entered in the test, and approximately 170 of them will be sold at auction March 18. This program has almost doubled in size since its first year of operation.

Faces Future Optimistically
The Agriculture Department is looking toward the future very optimistically. Enrollments are steadily increasing, herds are improving, and pasture improvements are being made. Hopes are high that a new hay barn can be built in June to replace the one lost by fire in the spring of 1959. Perhaps new classrooms will be built and equipment purchased in the near future when the building bonds for state colleges are sold.

Personnel
Personnel in the department at present include: John A. Ringwald, department head and agronomy instructor; Don Taggart, animal husbandry instructor; A. B. Elrod, herdsmen; Gene Needham, dairyman; and Leo Phillips, college farmer. Students and temporary help supplement this force.

Cobb Speaks-

tives there are, and now each branch functions.

Praises Oklahoma
Senator Cobb said, "We Oklahomans should take great pride in our great state. We have no financial obligations comparable to those in other states. We are operating on an almost cash basis."
"The constitution has been amended fewer times than that of any other state. The framers of our constitution provide for free education. We have a government by and for the people. We have a great deal of ability. Oklahoma is rated 17 in ability and 37 in doing."
"Our resources are vast. There is a magic circle in this area, for within a radius of 60 miles of Tishomingo, there is more raw material than that in any other similar area west of the Mississippi River."

Senator Cobb stated that it is his duty, as well as the duty of all members of the legislature, to represent not only home areas but also the entire state. Because of the complexity of interests, it is often difficult to formulate and pass a bill that will not at times work a hardship upon some citizens in some parts of the state.

Believes in Youth and Education
Senator Cobb drew looks of appreciation when he said emphatically, "We of the legislature are, or should be, more interested in the welfare of the youthful generations to come than in our personal interests. We must not consider only the present; we must use our knowledge of the past to aid in building for the future."

Senator Cobb discussed higher education and told the students how the State Board of Regents study the needs of the colleges and allocate the money appropriated by the legislature.
Continuing Senator Cobb said, "More and more people are seeking a college education; therefore the cost of education has gone up. It will be more important in the future to have a college education. This is a new era for education. There should be equal opportunity for all of the people. More demand cost more money."

More Taxes May Be Necessary
Senator Cobb stated further, "A new field of taxation may be forthcoming. There must be a change in the evaluation of land, businesses and the ability to pay by the professional men."
Some students were surprised to learn that it costs Oklahoma $30,000 to educate a doctor and $22,000 to educate a lawyer. "Somehow the persons in these professions must be taxed upon their ability to pay," said the Senator.
In an optimistic and emphatic manner, Senator Cobb stated, "Great changes are coming to Oklahoma. We are a growing state; we must be a progressive state; we must not stand still. There will be waterways on the Arkansas River and possibly Red River. There will be advancement in transportation; new industries will come in, and they must be willing to pay a fair share of the taxes."

Supports Education
Senator Cobb is a staunch supporter of education. He reiterated the fact that he knows that if Oklahoma is to make great strides, that the youth in Oklahoma must have good schools to attend.
In closing Senator Cobb said, "I believe this legislature is the finest legislative body in which I have had the privilege and the pleasure to serve. This will be a long session. There must be some tax increases, for we plan to curtail no services of government. The members are dedicated men, and I am confident that they will meet their responsibilities."

Mr. Rainey participated in the panel discussion on significant economic education activities of Oklahoma colleges and universities.

Business Department Meets Needs of Many Students

The Business Department, one of the original departments of the college, and formerly known as the Commerce Department, is comprised of students majoring in business administration and secretarial administration. At the beginning of the fall term, there were some ninety students so classified.

The objectives of the Business Department are, broadly speaking, five-fold:

1. To prepare students for initial employment in which their education will facilitate advancement to executive positions or ownership of their own business.
2. To provide a sound two-year educational program for students who wish to equip themselves for all types of employment such as secretarial science, bookkeeping, and business teaching.
3. To help fit the student to live as a citizen in the complex framework of modern society.
4. To provide courses required for admission, as an upper classman, to various departments within the school of business of senior institutions.
5. To serve the community by providing credit and non-credit courses for those citizens who are not regular full-time students of the college.

Mr. Rainey Heads Department

For the past six years, Mr. Bill G. Rainey has served as chairman of this department. At the present time, he is assisted by Mr. John Fletcher, who teaches business communications; Mr. Nick Beasley, who teaches business math; and Mr. Clyde Hall, who teaches economics and business math. Mr. Rainey teaches all of the secretarial courses — typewriting, shorthand, office procedures. He teaches economic geography, introduction to business, orientation, accounting, and business vocations.

Majors in business administration are required to take a minimum of twenty-six hours of basic business courses. Secretarial administration majors are required thirty-two hours of business courses concentrated in typing, shorthand, and accounting.

SCHOLARSHIPS WON BY NINE

Miss Ella Draper, chairman of the Honors and Awards committee, released the names of the first-semester scholarship winners and they were honored in assembly March 3.

Honorees from the departments were presented by Mr. John Fletcher to President Murray, who presented them the monetary awards.

To qualify for the award, a student must carry 16 hours and have no grade below B in any course.

Sophomores held a slight edge in achievement. Five sophomores and four freshmen were honored.

Of the nine honorees one sophomore, Phyllis Holbrook, and one freshman, Ronnie Hale, tied with a four-point grade.

Those who received rewards are:
Agriculture: Harold Davis, sophomore, Durant.

Business: First, Deloris Tallafero, freshman, Ardmore; Second, Charrel Lambert, sophomore, Tishomingo.

Engineering: First, Keith Whitfill, freshman, Ardmore; Second, Larry Edwards, Duncan.

Natural Science: Phyllis Holbrook, Overbrook; and Ronnie Hale, Maud. These students tied with a straight-A average.

Seniors MUST Be Present!

Dr. Ora E. Roades, dean of the college, warns graduating students that their participation in both the baccalaureate and commencement exercises is mandatory.

Diplomas will not be awarded to those in absentia unless those students have received from Dr. Roades permission to be absent.

The administration knows that your presence will be beneficial to the college and that you will be benefited by having taken part in the formal exercises.

INSTRUCTOR Bill Rainey checks the typing work of Mickey Rowe as both examine the copy from which Mickey did his assignment. Business Department instructors always are ready and willing to aid students in mastering business skills.

Students Advised to Submit Applications For Deferment Test

Application for the April 27, 1961, administration of the College Qualification Test are now available at Selective Service System local boards throughout the country.

Eligible students who intend to take this test should apply at once to the nearest Selective Service local board for an application and a bulletin of information.

Following instructions in the bulletin, the student should fill out his application and mail it immediately in the envelope provided to Selective Service Examining Section, Educational Testing Service, P. O. Box 586, Princeton, New Jersey. Applications for the April 27 test must be postmarked no later than midnight, April 6, 1961.

According to Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the College Qualification Test for the Selective Service System, it will be greatly to the student's advantage to file his application at once. Test results still be reported to the student's Selective Service local board of jurisdiction for use in considering his deferment as a student.

Club Constitutions Under Consideration

Sponsors of the various club organizations met with Dean Roades Tuesday, March 7, to discuss the forming of club constitutions.

These constitutions should state the purposes of the club and give justification for the existence of the club. Constitutions should also state the procedures necessary to achieve these purposes.

Each campus organization should begin immediately to form its constitution or revise the present one. This task will be an experiment in educational planning and will give each club a chance to promote its activities.

The constitution should be signed by the president and the secretary of each club.

Germany Topic for Discussion Tonight

An adult discussion group met in Room 109, 7:30 p.m., March 7, under the leadership of Mr. Lloyd Goss.

The name of the group is "Great Decisions," which is a national organization.

The topic for the discussion was the problems of the U.N. in regard to the African situation.

The group will meet tonight, March 14, at 7:30, in Room 109. Dr. Roades will be the leader, and Germany will be the topic of discussion. The public and students are urged to attend this discussion group.

170 BULLS TO BE SOLD HERE ON SATURDAY

The Sixth Annual Bull Performance Test at Murray State College is now history with the final weighing being held on March 4. The 172 bulls completing the test were weighed off the 140-day feeding test by Dr. Frank Baker, Oklahoma State University Livestock Extension Specialist and Don Taggart, Manager of the test.

The 172 bulls completing the test made an average daily gain of 2.7 lbs. during the 140-day period. Twenty-five percent of the bulls in the test made the remarkable gain of 3 pounds or better per day. Seventy percent of the bulls gained 2.6 lbs. per day or enough to be registered in Performance Registry International.

The highest gaining bull in the test was a Angus, Biogarde of Craigie, owned by Lebert Shultz, Overland Park, Kansas. This bull is of imported Scotch breeding and posted a fabulous gain of 3.5 lbs. per day.

The second high gaining Angus was owned by Lee Flowers, Hobbs, New Mexico. This bull, a son of Emulous 7000th, had an average daily gain of 3.28 lbs. and was followed very closely by a half brother with a 3.25 lb. gain. This one is owned by Murray Corbin, Tishomingo. Corbin also had the highest Angus herd average with a 2.89 lb. gain on 5 head.

The next highest gaining bull was a Hereford owned by the Crall Hereford Farm, Weatherford. The Crall bull was a close second to the highest gainer with a 3.5 lb. daily gain. Dr. Harvey Price, Ada, had a bull posting a remarkable gain of 3.47 lbs., followed by one owned by Chas. & Lee Vanderwork, Waukomis, which had a 3.36 lb. gain. Dr. Price had 8 bulls in the test which ended up with top herd average honors over all breeds. His top 4 bulls had an average daily gain of 3.23 lbs. per day, and his entire group of eight head had an average gain of 3.05 lbs.

In the Polled Hereford breed the highest gaining bull belonged to Joe Edington, Barnsdall, Oklahoma. Edington's high gainer completed the test with a 3.28 lb. daily gain. Edington also had the highest herd average for the breed with a 3.11 lb. average on 3 bulls. The second highest gaining Polled Hereford was owned by F & F Ranch, Coalgate. This bull ended up with a 3.23 lb. gain.

In the Red Angus division, George Chiga, Guthrie, had the highest gainer. The Chiga bull completed the test with a 3.22 lb. gain. He was followed by a 3.00 lb. gainer belonging to Roy Beeby, Marshall.

The night preceding the sale, March 17, the Annual Clive Murray Bull Dinner will be held in the College Cafeteria at 7:00 p.m. Registration will be held in the Student Center prior to the banquet. This event is held by the breeders for prospective buyers and those interested in producing cattle through performance testing. A short program is planned at which time certificates and awards will be presented to the highest gaining bulls of each breed.

A total of 170 head of these top quality, high gaining bulls will be offered for sale at the Murray State College barns on March 18 at 12:00 sharp with Col. Guy Shull and Col. Ray Sims as Auctioneers. The offering consists of 85 Herefords, 24 Polled Herefords, 56 Angus and 5 Red Angus. This will be a real opportunity to secure some outstanding, high gaining bulls, (Continued on Page 4)

ARE YOU HELPING OR SHIRKING?

So you belong to a club, eh? Or clubs? Of course you do, since membership in some organization supposedly makes you a well-rounded student and a charming personality.

Well, I'd like to put a "bug in your ear," my friend. Anybody can belong to a club, but just how many of you actually take the time and effort to help promote your club's activities? Do you attend any of the meetings or participate in any of the programs?

Members Make Clubs Worthwhile

An organization is only what "you" make it. Just how do you expect to maintain your club's existence on Murray Campus if you don't give it your full support?

One only has to attend a regular club meeting in order to see the depressing situation of our campus organizations. Something has to be done and, if we, the students don't care enough to put life and spirit into our extracurricular activities, drastic measures may have to be taken. That is, some of the clubs may cease to exist if conclusive evidence cannot be given to justify a club's purposes for existence.

Naturally, you may be thinking of numerous "reasons" why you don't have time for your club's activities. If you are one of these people, I have only one thing to say: "Why did you join the club?"

Clubs are Educational

Whether you realize it or not, educational values as well as pleasure are derived from the extracurricular activities. You have the opportunities of working with others, sharing with others, developing your skills, character, personality, and knowledge and promoting your school's spirit and achievements.

You never gain something for nothing. You will never be recognized by sitting on the side lines. True, good leaders are necessary, but good followers are in even more demand.

Spirit Lays

Whether you are a leader or a follower, Murray College needs you. Spirit is the key word as of now. What we need is a revival of unified spirit towards our school and its activities. Do you want your school to be one you can speak of with pride, or do you want to lower your head in shame because it is lacking in something of which you are a part?

Call it spirit, get-up-and-go, initiative, or spunk! What ever you call it, we Murrayites haven't got it so far as our campus activities are concerned. It's too bad our "spirit" collects in the Student Center instead of in our clubs.

Be a Participant

What are you going to do about it? Are you going to sit back and let the "other fellow" struggle with the situation, or are you "spunky" enough to throw some life into the party?

The decision is yours. You have the chance to remedy the complaints of "what to do here on campus"—either you can remedy these complaints by doing something about your club activities or you can continue to complain! Which will it be?

ROTC Diary

Twenty-three ROTC cadets recently were guests at Perrin AFB. Lieutenant Saller conducted the cadets on a tour of the base after which they were shown a film, "New Sound of Freedom" by Sergeant Ponce.

Captain Robinson gave instruction on equipment and men on the base. A great deal of stress is put upon the phases of instrument training and radar.

The cadets ate lunch in the officers' show hall.

After lunch they went to the pilots' briefing room and were briefed on the phases a pilot must pass before he can be accredited.

Bad weather kept the cadets from getting a ride in a jet aircraft, but nearly all of the cadets did get to fly the jet trainer simulators. These simulators are the actual cockpit of F-86L and T-33 aircraft, and flying these "birds" is just like the real thing.

Cadet Major Ernest Ray flew one of the trainers, but he did not do very well. In trying to land he tore both wings off and landed three miles east of the runway.

Cadet Captain Pryor did not do much better. It seemed as if he enjoyed flying the jet straight up rather than in level flight.

Cadet Sharp (not very "sharp") crashed as soon as he took off.

Cadets were restricted from flying the P-502 "Delta Dagger" because of the Top Secret information in the cockpit.

Drill competition between squadrons and flights will start during March. Each squadron commander will select his best flight to repre-

Miss Linda Rush Weds Billy Thomas

Miss Linda Rush and Mr. Billy Mack Thomas were united in marriage Thursday evening, February 23, at the First Baptist Church, Tishomingo.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dress of Chantilly lace and tulle over satin with lace scallops tracing the Sabrina neckline. Her veil fell from a tiara of sequins and seed pearls. The bride's bouquet was an orchid with lilies of the valley.

Miss Carolyn Belcher of Tishomingo was maid of honor.

The bridesmaids were Miss Diana Smith and Miss Gwen Kennedy of Tishomingo. They wore emerald green taffeta dresses with matching Dior bows. Their bouquets were white rosebuds.

Mr. Willie Hathaway served as best man.

Mr. Reggie Davis, Mr. Richard Nichols, and Mr. Woody Oliver were ushers.

Miss Jeanene Hilton and Miss Charlotte Harbert were candle lighters.

Debbie Thomas, sister of the groom, was the flower girl.

Miss Kay Radtke presided at the guest book.

Mr. Roger Bill Rush, cousin of the bride, sang "Through the Years." He was accompanied by Mrs. Sybil Taylor, organist.

Mrs. Thomas is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rush, Tishomingo.

Mr. Thomas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Thomas, Tishomingo.

Following a short wedding trip, the couple will establish a home in Ada, where Mr. Thomas is a student at East Central.

Guests from out of town were Mrs. George Kallio, Fort Worth; Mrs. O. H. Keith, Oklahoma City; Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Maxwell; and Mrs. Billie McCathern, Amarillo, Texas.

Guests from Ardmore were Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Railis, Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Railis, Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Railis, Mrs. Jess Kemp, and Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Kemp.

sent his squadron during the competition. Flights competing will perform a series of drills which will be handed to the flight commander just prior to the competition. The flight commander will drill his flight in front of a group of judges, who will be watching for no mistakes in carrying out the series of drills, the correctness of performing flights, sharpness, and planning on the part of the flight commander. The winning flight squadron will be excused from the next hour of drill (upon official notification).

Aggies Blast Northeastern to Close Basketball Season with 15-7 Record

Murray Aggies blasted Northeastern 80-67 in the final game of the season.

The Aggies have not had an all-victorious season, but the credit side of the ledger far outbalanced the debt side.

The Aggies are not a tall club. What they have lacked in height, they have made up in desire, hustle and the will to fight when the chips were down.

The Aggies played 22 games during the regular season with a 15-7 record. They have a record of which to be proud. They lost three games by scores of three, one, and one. The Aggies have scored 1335 points to 1112 by their opponents.

During the regular season, Decatur Baptist was the only team to defeat the Aggies from the floor.

Next year Coach Massey will miss the services of sophomore Buster Forbes, Travis Stevenson and Bob Gunter.

Some rebuilding will have to be done, but with the present freshmen on the squad and some prospective players, Coach Massey is confident that he will field a good team in 1961-1962.

Student Health Services Available At College Infirmary Are Explained

Murray State College retains the part-time services of a physician and nurse service at Johnston Memorial Hospital for all regularly enrolled students. Except in emergencies, students who are ill are expected to report to the nurse in the infirmary of Johnston Memorial Hospital at 8:00 a. m. to receive services.

If in the judgment of the nurse the services of the college physician are required, she may refer the student to him. Faculty members, staff and other college employees and their dependents are not provided free infirmary services.

Services Given

Below are listed the services offered and conditions under which infirmary renders its services.

1. Medical advice, consultation and referral.
2. First aid including antiseptic and bandages.
3. Medical treatment of colds, minor gastrointestinal disorders (stomachache) and minor cerebrovascular disorders (headache).
4. Physical examination when authorized by the College.
5. Immunization for typhoid, smallpox, diphtheria, and polio when authorized by the College.

Insurance Available

The College does not furnish students with medical or hospitalization insurance. However, students may purchase Blue Cross-Blue Shield insurance through the College at reduced rates.

The College has a medical inurance policy which offers protection against the cost of serious injuries sustained by student athletes while participating in practice, play or supervised group travel in intercollegiate—not intramural sports.

Food Report Adopted By Student Senate

A special meeting of the Student Senate was called March 1 to consider a report on the food that is served in the cafeteria. The report was submitted, discussed, and accepted by the Student Senate.

It will now be presented to the faculty committee, President Murray, and the chief cook. When they have considered the report, it will be returned to the Student Senate for further discussion.

Candles Limp, but Party Was Success

Bessie Poe, Room 206, was the scene of a surprise birthday party for Arvella Pitmon on the night of February 27.

A beautiful cake was placed on her dressing table; then the candles were lighted. To the girls' dismay, the candles melted before Arvella arrived.

Arvella received a lovely gift from the hostesses, her dorm mates.

Forbes Bows Out As 'Mr. Basketball' As Season Closes

Little Buster Forbes, "Mr. Basketball" to coaches and fans, has donned the Aggie colors for the last time.

Buster is a little fellow, but his desire and skill make him rank as a "big fellow" on the court. Not only is Buster a good ballhandler, but he is also a good squad leader.

Buster has made marked improvement during this season. Last year he hit the basket for 283 points with a 10.4-point average. This year he made 395 points with a 19.7-point average.

Of 385 points produced this season, 217 of them were made on the opponent's court. Only 177 of his points were made with the help of friendly rooters.

Buster made his most points, 34, at Eastern A. and M.

Buster's skill, perseverance, and attitude are contributing factors in his winning conference honors.

Buster has been honored by having been chosen the number-one player in the conference. Buster received the unanimous vote of the coaches in the conference.

Good luck, "Mr. Basketball." You will be missed on the Murray campus.

(Continued from Page 1) other junior colleges of the state. In fact, its course offerings are greater than those in most of the colleges. The department offers eighteen courses in its curriculum; this is a total of fifty semester hours.

Accounting, typewriting, and shorthand courses meet five days a week in order to give students the maximum amount of training possible. This is an advantage to the student and one not enjoyed by students in a number of other colleges, where, because of scheduling difficulties, these classes can meet only three days a week.

Murray's business Department is one of the few junior college business departments in the state that offers advanced shorthand and office procedures, which are considered a finishing course for secretaries. It is the only junior college business department authorized to offer a terminal course in income taxation.

Both business and secretarial administration students acquire an above average number of hours in business; this enables them to continue their majors in a senior college or university without any deficiencies to make up in their major.

Terminal Courses Provided
Terminal programs are offered for students who do not wish to work toward a degree and who do not plan to continue their formal education after leaving Murray. By taking a concentration of business courses, they qualify for immediate employment in the fields of

Counseling Offered Area H. S. Seniors

Dean Ora E. Roades is now beginning a pre-enrollment counseling program for the area high school seniors.

Dean Roades plans to talk to the senior students on such subjects as "Why Go to College?" "How to Choose a College," and "Opportunities Offered by Murray College." He will also distribute pamphlets, brochures, and catalogs of information about Murray.

secretaryship, stenography, typing, bookkeeping, and general clerical occupations.

Audio-visual Method Used
Extensive use is made of audio-visual equipment in typewriting, shorthand, office procedures, and economic geography classes. The tape recorder is used both for classroom instruction in typewriting and shorthand and for out-of-class practice by students. In this way, students can get in as much practice as they wish, even though Mr. Rainey is not available to work with them individually. Commercial tapes and records are available for practice purposes, as well as those prepared by Mr. Rainey himself.

This semester students in typewriting, office procedures, and economic geography are receiving part of their instruction through viewing and discussion of films and film strips which are related to the subject matter being studied. Geography students, particularly, are fortunate in being able to see some exceptionally fine films relative to the world's climates, peoples, natural resources, and modes of making a living. The department has recently acquired several outstanding color filmstrips and slide sets for which Mr. Rainey has taped lectures to provide a full class period of lecture instruction accompanied by visual instruction at the same time. Taped lectures and filmstrips slides to be used in the near future are:

1. "The Highest Village in Europe"
2. "The Historical Geography of Southern Italy"
3. "The Ohio and Mississippi Rivers—Cincinnati to New Orleans"
4. "Western Montana"
5. "The Tropical Rain Forest"
6. "The Desert"

Other tape recording filmstrip/slide presentations are in the process of being prepared by Mr. Rainey.

DULLES CHIDES COMMUNISM

Allen W. Dulles has called for an expanded program of teaching "the theory and practice" of Communism in American schools, to combat what he calls a "dangerously complacent attitude among many people in the United States today." The director of the Central Intelligence Agency says in a recent issue of The Reader's Digest that "too many Americans, lulled by wishful thinking, grasp at every Soviet whim . . . to jump to the conclusion that the Communist leaders really want to settle down and live in peace with us."

An intelligent study of Communist history and of those who staff the international Communist movement would reveal the dangers in this attitude, says Dulles. "For this is not just an international conspiracy of evil men. Many Communists are not mere conspirators but dedicated men with genuine revolutionary fervor," he says. To fight such men America must be tough, informed and flexible. He insists we cannot meet the threat of Communism merely by setting up new government machinery to fight the Cold War. Instead, "our people must be sufficiently educated in all the ramifications of the movement, its intrigues and historical background, its purposes and programs, to contribute toward an effective answer." Dulles says that major responsibility to furnish such education lies with our schools. He laments the current lack of secondary school courses in the theory and practice of Communism, and offers specific proposals for increasing our knowledge of Communist history and policies.

The Meaning of Easter

When Jesus hung on the cross His body became a vast question mark against the skyline as He cried, "My God, My God, Why?" Into that cry He gathered all the questions that men ever cry in their torture. The Son of Man cried for the sons of men.

What were some of the questions He gathered up in His tortured body? These were some of the questions He raised: How far can lies succeed in this world? They can go a long way—they can crucify the Son of God on twisted misquotations. How far can evil go in a world of God from his throne and a long way—it can tear the Son of God from his throne and put Him on a cross. How far can force go? A long way—it can still the purest heart that ever beat.

These questions were raised in his body not as verbal questions but as vital questions. And the answers raised in His body were answered in His body. The cross raises the questions and the Resurrection answers them where they were raised, namely in His body.

Don't tell me that He arose in the spirit and not in His body. That wouldn't be the answer. For He would in that case raise the questions in His body and answer them in His spirit which would not be the answer. He raised them in His flesh and He answered them in His flesh. And the answers were these: Today, tomorrow they succeed but not the whole way. The truth arises and lies are dead. How far third day, no! The truth arises and lies are dead. How far can evil go? A long way, but again not the full way. Today, tomorrow, evil can hold the upper hand, but not the third day, for goodness arises, and evil slinks away shamed and beaten. How far can force go? A long way, but not the full way, for Jesus arises, and the keepers of force were like dead men.

God puts His seal of acceptance upon the offering of Jesus of Himself on the cross by raising Him from the dead. God's last word is Victory. The word of victory became flesh.

We Christians do not have to cry "O, Jesus, we are orphaned without you; rise again from the dead and come back and lead us." No, to us, He is arisen and alive forever more! The word of promise of victory has become the Word of Performance of Victory. Jesus is Lord!

Jest'n Fun

The hill country minister was preaching when a violent storm arose. A jolt of lightning hit the steeple and smashed the windows in the church. The minister said: "Lord, You know what you are doing."

A strong gust of wind came and blew off the roof. Again the minister said: "Lord, You know what you are doing."

Then came a flash of lightning and smashed the mailbox in front of the church.

"Now," said the minister. "You do not know what you are doing, Lord. You're fooling around with the United States Mail."

An old Indian stood on top of a hill with his son, looking over the beautiful valley below them. Said the old Indian: "Someday, son, all this will again belong to the Indians. Palefaces all going to the Moon."

"I suppose this horrible thing is what you call modern art?" asked a woman in an art shop to the dealer. "No, madam," he replied. "You're looking in the mirror."

A lady got on the street car with seven or eight children. A man asked: "Are these all yours, lady, or is it a picnic?"

"They're all mine, and it's not picnic," replied the lady.

The only exercise some people get is jumping to conclusions, running down their friends, sidestepping responsibilities and pushing their luck.

An American is a man who one day worries about going to the poor house, and the next day buys an automobile.

A person's conscience isn't the only deterrent to the ability to sin. For example, a short-armed fisherman isn't as big a liar as a long-armed one.

Some minds are like concrete—all mixed up and permanently set.

America is still the wealthiest nation in the world. Where else could we have such a prosperous recession?

An Easter Hymn

Christ is risen! Hallelujah!
 Hark, the mighty chorus rings:
 He who conquered death forever
 Is today the King of Kings!

Angel voices join the chorus;
 Christ is risen! Weep no more!
 Every woodland, field, and meadow.

Every wave from shore to shore
 Joins with us in adoration;
 Christ is King forevermore!

Christ is risen! Hallelujah!
 Hark, today the whole world sings:
 Hallelujah! Hallelujah!
 Christ is risen! King of Kings!

Phyllis Holbrook, why won't your boyfriend let you keep his car anymore? Couldn't be your driving could it?

Dr. A. E. Shearer Will Speak At Commencement

President Clive Murray has chosen the speakers for commencement exercises, May 21, 26, 1961.

For the baccalaureate services, May 21, the speaker will be Rev. John J. Mueller, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, Durant.

Dr. A. E. Shearer, president of Southeastern College, will be the commencement speaker, Friday evening, May 26.

Both exercises will be held in Beames Hall.

Prospective Grad List Released

Mrs. Louise Craven, registrar, has recently released the list of prospective graduates at the spring commencement.

A few changes in the list will depend upon the semester examinations before the graduation date.

A severe drop in grade points would prevent graduation for some whose averages are low.

A student must meet all requirements of graduation but fail to receive his diploma because he does not have sufficient grade points. A student must have 120 grade points. This is a little more than a "C" average.

Nat'l Library Week Is April 16 to 22

National Library Week April 16-22, will call attention to the vital role of the printed word in our national life. Its activities serve as the focus of the coordinated, year-round reading development programs conducted at all levels—municipal, state, and national.

The results have been most impressive in previous years, with many of the 5,000 participating communities reporting major gains in reading circulation. Most important, the program has created a revitalized climate for expanding public awareness of reading as a necessity of the democratic process. A drive for a "better-read, better-informed America" is important.

A Dutch Lunch will be held in the Murray College Cafeteria at 1:00 p. m., March 30, 1961, for the purpose of completing all arrangements for observance of National Library Week in our area. Invitations have been sent out for those attending the Lunch.

Students here on Murray campus are urged to get behind and support the coming activities scheduled for National Library Week, April 16-22. Be on the lookout for further details.

One vehicle crashes accounted for 36.5 percent of all fatal traffic accidents in Oklahoma in 1960.

Two New Books Get Favorable Comment From Reviewer

Two gift books, lovely in binding, illustrations, and high quality paper, drew my attention this week while I was browsing through the library.

"Three Hundred Years of American Paintings" by Alexander Elliot, art editor of "Time," with an introduction by John Walker, director of the National Gallery, is a book worthy of any library. It has two hundred and fifty reproductions of outstanding American paintings. It takes one from the earliest pictures which claim to be American to the canvasses almost too new to be varnished. The paintings of each era reflect a different spirit and we are told that although the painting techniques are international, the subject matter has remained unmistakably American and provides an insight into our nation's life, past and present.

I learned that the average American knows little about American painting; yet America has produced a school of painting which, in the last hundred years, has been second to France and today challenges even that country for leadership. I learned that we should be as proud of our art as of our natural resources, our comforts, the size of our country, and our cities.

Another very interesting recent book is "Tobacco and Americans" by Robert K. Herriman. It is beautifully bound in a rich tobacco color, which itself lends an introduction to the subject matter.

The tobacco companies spend 150 million a year alone on advertising. The book is not only an industrial chronicle but a lesson in economics, social science, and history.

It was interesting to learn that tobacco has been locked upon as a religious ritual, a liturgical quencer, a primitive balm, a vile, heathen intoxicant, and a medicine. When it was first used in some countries as Russia, Persia, Turkey, and India, the users were put to death. First users in England, Switzerland, Greece, and Italy, were sent to prison.

King James I in 1604 issued his "Counterblast to Tobacco", in which he characterized it as a "vile and stinking custom". Although it was America's first business, none of the early explorers or pioneers looked upon it as a capitalistic enterprise.

The book is richly illustrated, and interesting stories are told of the naming of tobacco, the beginnings of pipe smoking, the tobacco pouch, the "chaw", the use of tobacco as a primitive herb, and the fashionable use of snuff

There are a few people who believe that a junior college is just an advanced high school. This is not true. A junior college is simply a college with a two-year academic program, plus various vocational and terminal courses. There is education to be obtained at a two-year college which is just as advanced as that obtained in the first two years of any accredited four-year college.

A junior college has many advantages over a four-year college in that its tax appropriations can be concentrated upon equipment needed for only two years of instruction instead of having this spread over a four-year program. South Plains College, for example, has business machines, laboratory equipment which is superior to that available for freshmen and sophomores in many senior colleges. By next year our college library volume will equal that in many senior colleges.

Cost Is Less
There are several other advantages in attending a junior college. The cost to the individual student is less. The reason for this is that junior colleges do not have many of the expenditures and expenses of a senior college and therefore the individual students do not have to share in this additional expense.

Most junior colleges are smaller than senior colleges; therefore, there is much less likelihood that the student who comes from a small high school will become lost and bewildered in the crowd. It is easier for the students in a junior college to get acquainted and to take part in more activities on the campus. There are fewer persons to compete with for elected offices, honors, positions on athletic teams, and position of leadership. In the words of Confucius, "Better to be big fish in small pond than to be small fish in big pond."

Better Guidance
Also in a junior college, the classes are smaller. The students and instructors get to know each other. A junior college instructor's students are never "just numbers" but are individual personalities who may need special help and guidance. All junior colleges have counseling programs in which each instructor is directly responsible for keeping close watch on the welfare and progress of those students who are assigned to his particular care. The individual guidance is quite often the determining factor in encouraging students to continue their higher education.

High Qualifications
Another factor in favor of junior college education is that junior college instructors are highly qualified personnel. In several respects the academic requirements are higher than those for instructors of freshmen and sophomore students in some senior colleges. Also, since junior colleges are the coming thing educationally; many young educators are being drawn into their instructional programs. These instructors who have recently finished their graduate work are only aware of the latest trends, the most recent research, and the most modern methods of instruction, but they have the enthusiasm to put this knowledge into actual practice in their educational methods.

A junior college can offer many advantages to its students. Among these advantages are: a high level of academic instruction coupled with individual guidance of students, more opportunities for students to participate in activities and leadership training, and less expense for each student. Those of us who have attended a junior college can vouch for its excellence and its advantages in many respects.

AGGIE CLUB WESTERN DAY TO BE MAY 4

A beard-growing contest will commence April 10, 1961 with all participants starting with clean-shaven faces, and will end "Western Day", May 4, 1961.

The Student Union will be decorated Western style, and the costumes will be of the typical Western flavor: bartenders, dance-hall girls, hanging judges, etc. All faculty members and students are urged to participate in this Western event or else . . .

A bucking barrel will be installed on the campus to separate the real cowboys from the drug-store cowboys. The Aggie Club or college is not responsible for broken necks or whatever you land on.

A girls' goat roping contest will take place in the afternoon. In the evening a "good ole western barn dance" will take place. The only charge will be for the "Beardless" cowboys. The charge will be 50 cents.

The club is considering Hank Thompson and all of his Brazos Valley Boys, with Wanda Jackson and Minnie Pearl (considering). Don Taggart will be the head caller for the square dance music.

Let's all have a good turn out for the most active club on Murray campus.

Former Instructor's Son Is Doing Well

Wilford W. Horne, former Murray instructor who lives in Natchez, Mississippi, has written friends telling them of honors recently won by his son, William Tucker.

William, a Baylor University senior, was recently named "Premed Student of the Year" by Alpha Epsilon Delta, national pre-medical fraternity.

William, a chemistry major, received an engraved plaque at the annual AED banquet.

At Baylor he is president of Kappa Kappa Psi, national fraternity for handmen, and a member of the Golden Wave Band. He holds membership in Alpha Epsilon Delta, Beta Beta Beta, national biology fraternity and Alpha Chi, national scholastic fraternity for juniors and seniors.

SCA to Show Film Wednesday Night

The SCA met Wednesday night March 29 in the Bessie Poe Dormitory.

Helen Smith gave the "Easter Story" for the program.

Wednesday night, April 12, at 6:30 a film will be shown in the projection room at the library. This film, "Driven Westward", will be about the Mormons and their search for a permanent home.

We wish to encourage everyone to attend this meeting.

Home Ec Club Has April Showers Dance

The Home Economics Club had an April Showers dance at the Student Union, Thursday, April 6.

The Home Economics Club decorated the ball room with umbrellas and crepe paper to harmonize with the theme of the dance.

Refreshments of cookies and punch were served. The music was provided by the "Highrollers".

Plans Made for Nat'l Library Week Observance

The plan for National Library Week, April 16-22 is three-fold.

1. To spread knowledge in regard to the purpose of National Library Book Week.

2. To contribute worthwhile work.

3. To encourage use of the library.

Grade-school children, high school and college students will cooperate in the plans.

Grade-school children are preparing posters. The best will be selected and displayed in downtown store windows. The room contributing the best work will have as a reward a tour through the college library.

The high-school art class under the direction of Mrs. Bud Davis will have a National Library Book Week exhibit together with "win or place" art work of her class shown at the Art Festival April 13 in Ada. The exhibit will be displayed in Armstrong's store window.

Examples of the following will be shown: opaque, transparent, design, cartoon, posters, free-hand drawing, craft work, weaving, leatherwork, tile craft, ceramic, metal craft, wood craft, and photography.

College students under the direction of Mrs. Boyd, Mr. L. W. Murray, and Mr. Fletcher will contribute written articles to the Aggieelite. The best have been judged in English classes. The Library will have a book exhibit and prepare posters for advertising National Library Week on the campus.

Fines on all overdue books returned during National Library Week will be canceled.

Club Youngsters to Be on Campus Friday

About 500 club boys and girls will be on campus Friday. They will give speeches and demonstrations.

At this meeting the boys' appropriate dress contest will be held. This meeting is under the direction of Mrs. Vera Taylor, Grant Praytor, and Jack Ryan.

Legislator Will Be Speaker for Government Class

State Representative Kenneth Converse, a Murray grad, will speak Friday, April 21, to the government classes. He will speak three periods; all students are invited to attend.

Representative Converse will discuss how legislation is passed, the difficulties involved in forming judgments on the bills which are pending in the legislature, and the good and bad features of lobbying. At the end of the talk there will be a question and answer session.

Cast Your Vote in Conference Room At Student Center

Have you ever considered "running for an office? Check your qualifications. Balance them with the attributes of a good leader. If you feel that you are a good leader, and that by making your talents available you will be helping to better Murray College, then "toss your hat into the ring!"

Students, in choosing your Student Senate officers for next year, use good judgment. Do not take the choosing of officers lightly. Do not choose them because of popularity only. Along with popularity, there must be the willingness to give time and constant effort in leading the student body.

Those elected should have worthwhile principles and the courage to fight for those principles.

There will be an election of Student Senate president, vice president, and secretary-treasurer on April 26th. The polls will open at 8:00 a. m. and close at 4:00 p. m. The election will be held in the conference room in the Student Center. Members of the Student Senate will be in charge of the election.

Nominations for the offices of president, vice president, and secretary-treasurer shall be by petition signed by at least twenty members of the student body. No person shall be qualified for vice president or secretary-treasurer of the Student Senate unless he has completed, at the time of the election, 16 hours with an average of at least "C".

No electioneering shall be permitted around the poll area. Any candidate for office who uses campaign literature printed by a commercial printing concern will be declared ineligible for office.

The bride had no attendants, and the only guests were relatives of the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Bain have established a home in Tishomingo and will continue their educations at Murray.

The Oklahoma Highway Patrol arrested 1,350 motorists during February 1961, as compared to 864 arrests for the same month last year.

New Aggies from Iran Find Our Customs Odd, Interesting

Fattah Razavi

The two new foreign students enrolled at Murray this semester are Marnal Habibipour and Fattah Razavi, both from Tehran, Iran.

Marnal and Fattah did not know each other before they came to America. Both graduated from high school in Tehran but from separate schools.

Both students find the American people quite friendly. Though both are Moslems, they have attended various churches here in America. They find going to church on Sunday strange for they attend church on Friday.

They have both found the English language rather difficult to learn. In Tehran, students are required to learn two other languages besides the official language (Continued on Page 4)

For A Richer Life!

For a richer fuller life—read, read, read.
 This is the motto that libraries all over the nation will be displaying April 16-22 in recognition of National Library Week.

With this slogan in mind, we should all take advantage of the intellectual freedom that is offered to us.

There is a big job to be done if we are to keep this intellectual freedom. There are twenty-four and one-half million people in rural areas today who are still without library services and there are approximately 215 counties still without any public library service within their borders.

We should be proud that the United States leads the world in its efforts to provide free libraries for all the people. But, even so, only about three-fourths of the people in the United States have access to any kind of public library.

Naturally, we are one of the few nations in the world whose intellectual freedom, as well as our many other freedoms, is not suppressed by government control. Among these free nations we can count England, Canada, Denmark, Norway, and Sweden.

Libraries have always been in danger whenever a powerful government wants to suppress free thinking and public opinion. An absolute government will usually without cause, have all books and pamphlets destroyed contrary to its way of thinking and will substitute written material designed to make people accept its beliefs.

Yet, our nation, which offers free opportunities from every side, could very well become absolute if we, the people, do nothing to support the freedoms we have.

There's knowledge all around us. All we need to do is have the energy to pick up a book and turn the pages. Yet, we sit idly by while there are thousands who have no access whatsoever to learn but want it so desperately.

If ever there is a time to act, it is now. We, the students of America, have the greatest advantages of using this intellectual freedom. That is why we are students, students of knowledge. How else can we contribute to the American way but through this freedom?

Let's show appreciation for this freedom. Let's do everything possible to make National Library Week a successful campaign here on the Murray campus.

For a richer, fuller life—read, read, read.

SPRING IS THE TIME

Spring is the time a boy must find
 Earth's trembling magic to light his mind,
 And probe and know the why and where
 Of everything that makes him stare
 Bewildered at each flower curled,
 That he may face tomorrow's world
 Knowing, in springtime's eager hour,
 As trees are greater than the flower,
 As skies are wider than the sea,
 There is a greater power than he,
 And knowing this on a greening day
 May be the lamp to guide his way.

"My mother can talk on just about any subject," said one small boy proudly.

"Phooey!" retorted the other. "My mother can talk without any subject at all."

"How are you getting on at home while your wife is away?"

"Fine. I've reached the highest point of efficiency. I can now put my socks on from either end."

Teacher was discussing the wonders of science with her class of nine year olds. They were each naming the most wonderful machines in the world—television, airplanes, submarines, etc. One little girl spoke up to say she thought a hen was the most wonderful.

"Why a hen?" asked the teacher.

"Well," answered the little girl, "do you know anything else that will take all our table scraps and turn them into fresh eggs?"

A little boy's pleadings were finally answered, and he was given permission to watch a late TV program. He sat quietly until the gangster program was over. He won six prizes as a youth and finally a $2,000 university scholarship, and this led to a place on the exclusive team of designers for General Motors.

Athletics, Religion Are Not Unrelated

Author Unknown
Some people feel that athletics and religion are two completely separated fields, but this isn't true. Athletics are mentioned several times in the Bible. In one instance, a race is mentioned. A Christian life is compared to a race in which all the bulky, worldly objects are laid aside, the lighter attire of Christianity is put on, and the prize is put on, and the prize is won at the end.

Many times it is a challenge just to be an athlete and a Christian. Athletics is a field where "men are men," and almost all athletes want to prove it. If one person differs from the rest or stands up to what he feels is right, he is looked down upon and considered "chicken." Prayer plays an important part in an athlete's life. Just before an athletic event, a short talk with God will do wonders for a player's moral. Yes, indeed, an athlete, a good one, makes religion the dominant factor in his life.

The amounts spent by the States on driver improvement and driver examining programs average less per year than the price of a gallon of gasoline.

Oklahoma State basketball teams under Coach Henry Iba are famed for defensive play. The Cowboys have ranked No. 1 nationally on defensive play 16 seasons of the last 25 years, and have never been lower than third in that period.

Campus Scene for Annual Dress Revue By 4-H Club Girls

In keeping with its policy of making its facilities available to the community, Murray was host recently to a 4-H Club dress revue. Two hundred and four 4-H girls representing 16 clubs completed clothing projects to enter the 1961 4-H Dress Revue on Wednesday, March 29, in the Murray College auditorium.

Jo Ella Reed, Wapameka, won the Johnston County Dress Revue Championship for the third consecutive year. Reserve was Nancy Raggatt of Coleman.

Jo Ella styled a 3-piece suit she had made of beige and white check and plain cotton, featuring a reversible jacket, pleated skirt, and over-blosure with beige accessories. She will represent the county in the State Dress Revue contest during Round-up, May 30, to June 2. Nancy was perfectly dressed for a party in her blue lace over taffeta frock with white accessories.

Judges were agents, Mrs. Helen Smith, Carter County; Mrs. Irene Cooper, Bryan County; Miss Carolyn Combrink, Okfuskee County; and Miss Valdene Kozel, Murray County.

The Style Show that followed the judging was planned and carried out by the girls. Jo Ella Reed was narrator. Marilyn Pigg of Coleman played a piano selection, "California," to start the show. Louise Fild, Milburn, and Donna Martin, Tishomingo, played soft music during the time the girls styled.

Refreshments prepared by Mrs. Rosa Rainey and the College Home Economics class were served. The girls and leaders following the Style Show.

Former "Aggielite" Editor Encourages Budding Authors to Join Critic Group

Cal Bone, class of 1953, has written the Aggielete staff to tell them something of himself.

Mr. Bone stated that he has fond memories of Murray. He declared that his being associate-editor and then editor of the "Aggielete" inspired him to become a free-lance writer.

Making Dream Come True
Mr. Bone still has the dream and has taken steps to make his dream become a reality.

Mr. Bone's letter follows:
"I received my copy of the 'Aggielete' last week and, as usual, it brought back memories of when I was at Murray, of Mr. Patton, and the hours and fun I had while the associate editor, then editor of the 'Aggielete'." I also remember that I had dreams of becoming a free-lance writer.

I still have my dreams and wonder if any of you have similar dreams. I have taken steps to make my dreams a reality, and I would like to tell you about them.

At present, I am teaching elementary speech at Tulsa, but I have also joined two writers' clubs — The Night Writers of Tulsa and The Armed Forces Writers' League. Both are helping me in the realization of my dreams, but it is the AFWL that I want to explain because The Night Writers is a local branch of the AFWL.

The AFWL was established in 1954 in Honolulu by members of the armed forces to help themselves become published writers. Many people became interested and the idea grew until, today, there are members and branches all over the world. Many of its members are now professional, free-lance writers. With its growth, its founders have never forgotten that it was established primarily to help beginning writers who have the necessary talent become professionals.

Since its beginning, it has established a criticism service (given by published members for only $2.00 per story—barely enough to pay for postage) and a marketing service that has sold stories for previously unsold writers.

Sees Great Worth
It has taken as its duty the challenge of combating communism through the written word and has adopted the slogan, "Help Write America Right." One of the biggest steps taken in this direction was by an AFWL member, William Lederer, in his book, "The Ugly American." President Kennedy, in establishing his Peace Corps, seems to be employing some of the tactics

Lettermen Haven't Lost Marbles, Just Their Dignity (?)

If you have noticed some of the Lettermen in unusual wearing apparel this week, fear not. They haven't lost their marbles, only their dignity. It is merely the M-Club initiation.

Tomorrow, at 9:30 a. m. there will be an outside assembly in which the initiates will be required to perform unique stunts. This you won't want to miss. It will be fun for all.

In combating communism suggested by Lederer in his book.

Yes! All of these statements and explanations are leading to something. It has occurred to me during the past week that some of you or some of the readers of the "Aggielete," students, and alumni, might be interested in becoming members of the Armed Forces Writers' League.

Before you stop reading, let me explain a few things. I'm not trying to put across a high-pressure sales talk. Naturally, though, I'm impressed with AFWL and would like to tell interested parties about it.

The reason that I am promoting AFWL is that recently I have been appointed deputy director of the four-state area of Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana, and Arkansas. I do not receive pay for doing the duties of this office (the principal duty being that of recruiting new members in this area), but I do have the privilege of informing some people of AFWL and of seeing AFWL help those who become members sell their stories.

The membership is now open to military personnel and civilians alike. Its membership fee is $3.00 a year (very reasonable, I think). Recently, the AFWL, in hopes of attracting young, vigorous, talented, college students, adopted a special membership fee for full-time college students—$3.00 a year.

If any of you, or if any of the Murray students want to know more about AFWL, a letter to one of the three following addresses will bring answers to the questions.

Cal Bone, 3209 E. 3rd Street, Tulsa 4, Oklahoma
Katharine Hurst, AFWL Area Director, 1127 S. Peoria, Tulsa, Oklahoma.
Armed Forces Writers' League, P. O. Box 218, Mary Esther, Florida.

Sincerely,
Cal B. Bone

Survey Shows Aggie Magazine Readers Like 'Post' Best

Bennett Cerf said, "Reading is a pleasure of the mind, which means that it is a little like a sport; your eagerness and knowledge and quickness count for something. The fun of reading is not that something is told to you, but that you stretch your mind."

A recent poll of 100 Murray students by the librarian to learn what magazine they preferred most to read, grew out of an article, "The President's Voracious Reading Habits," written by Hugh Sidney in Life magazine, March 18, 1961. Mr. Sidney states that the President reads five newspapers and seventeen daily magazines. He skims through movie reviews, touches on drama and sports, and takes a close look at the financial page. His reading, however, is not limited to magazines, newspapers, and reports. He loves books; no one knows how many books he has read or looked into during his first week in office. Just how fast he reads has not been precisely determined but his speed is at least 1,200 words per minute. (The average person reads 250 words per minute.) He not only reads but also remembers what he reads. Recently it was noted that he read a 26-page economic memorandum in 10 minutes and then asked 25 questions about it—intelligent questions.

The poll taken on Murray students placed "Saturday Evening Post" first in popularity, "Life" second, and "Reader's Digest" third.

Junior Colleges Fastest Growing Form of Higher Education in United States Today

The fastest-growing form of higher education in the United States today is the junior college. These colleges meet specific and urgent needs.

Today there are more than 700 junior colleges serving over 900,000 full-time and part-time students.

If it were not for junior colleges, many young people would never go to college. Some could not attend because of lack of finances, and some could not attend because of their shy, retiring nature.

Junior colleges are an important means of making higher education available to everyone. These colleges take the pressure off the crowded four-year colleges; the senior colleges could not possibly take care of even the higher one-third of high-school graduates.

The student who is limited in finances, or who wants to get specialized training sooner, can find what he needs in the junior college.

The junior college can give a student who can not afford four years after high school a taste of college life, its friendships, its broadening influence, and its inspiration. Junior colleges offer a good liberal arts foundation. Most of them provide secretarial training. In fact, one can go to a junior college and study in almost any field he chooses.

Students who have deficiencies but college-level ability would do well to choose the junior college. This does not mean that the junior college is low in standard, but that it is likely to be more flexible.

Students who are admitted with low grades in mathematics or English are given a chance to catch up and find themselves before transfer to one of the huge colleges.

A college education is almost a must today. Americans must seek higher education.

If for the college bound the four-year colleges seem unattainable, frightening, or unsuitable, consider the junior college. The junior college has come into its own. No longer is it the poor relation, so to speak, of the senior college. The senior college has welcomed the junior college as an able colleague in the game of educating Americans for happiness and survival.

During his spare time, Mamal enjoys visiting with friends and listening to music. He also enjoys such sports as tennis and basketball.

Mamal's father is a merchant in Teheran. He has a sister and a brother.

Fattah was enrolled at Southeastern State College before coming to Murray. He is majoring in electrical engineering. He plans to attend a California university after leaving Murray.

Fattah enjoys hunting and gymnastics. Most of his spare time is spent studying however.

State Library Annual Scholarship Offer Of $1,500 Renewed

Continuance of the Oklahoma State Library's annual staff scholarship for the year 1961-62 was announced this week by Ralph Hudson, state librarian. Recipient of the 1960-61 $1,500 grant is Miss Betty Lou Neel of Tulsa, who is attending the University of Oklahoma school of library science.

To be eligible for the scholarship, it is necessary to be a resident of Oklahoma and to agree to work in an Oklahoma library for a period of two years after receiving a degree from a graduate library school. Full details and application blanks may be obtained from Miss Lucy Ann Babeock, chairman of the staff scholarship committee, Box 3217, State Capitol. Deadline for application is May 1.

Oklahoma's need for trained librarians is the subject of the State Library's exhibit at the "Made in Oklahoma" exposition at the Municipal auditorium's Zebra room this week-end. (November 17-20) Varieties of positions open to trained librarians, plus qualifications in displays and brochures.

Applicants for the staff scholarship may be either men or women. Nationality, race or religion will have no bearing on qualifications. Only factors considered are academic stature, character, health, personality and general aptitude for librarianship.

Needs of the complex modern world make the librarian's job of collecting, evaluating and channeling information, one of the most demanding and rewarding professions today. Mr. Hudson said in announcing the scholarship. Readers' assistants, reference librarians and cataloguers, adult education and children's workers are needed, as well as even more specialized librarians in the fields of medicine, law, science, business, legislative research and reference. Cultural interest such as music, art and the drama may be used in departmental libraries, while regional libraries offer travel and challenging goals in the library extension field.

Oklahoma motorists paid $161,111,000 in state and federal gasoline taxes and other automotive levies in 1959. Out of the gasoline tax the state took $57,675,000 and Uncle Sam got $215,804,000. Oklahoma imposes a 6.5 cent per gallon tax and the U. S. a 4 cent levy.

Coed in Red China Finds College a Propaganda Mill

Toni Merrill, a coed from the University of Redlands, California, was an exchange student to Hong Kong. The following is a report that she sent to her college paper, the "Bulldog".

April is a very warm, friendly person, one I felt almost immediately close to. She boarded the ship at Japan and is sailing with us to Hong Kong to study at Chung Chi.

In 1953, April entered Red China in search of answers which she felt communism offered.

Inside Red China, she enrolled in school at Peking. The room which she was given to live in was shared by five other students—two of them affiliated with the government or members of the Communist Party.

The academic climate at this "school" was strange by comparison with schools in the free world. Here the students were not permitted to say anything against the government—no freedom of speech is tolerated. Small groups of even two or three people could not talk without being under suspicion.

There wasn't very much studying at the Communist school. If one wanted to study, he would be criticized for trying to be an individual.

Lectures With Meals
At meals Party members lectured to the students, later discussion groups were held to analyze what the lecture had said. When evening came the students often had to walk miles out to a collective farm and hand plow the earth to soften the winter soil.

If a person balked at the party line they were criticized and questioned. Criticism is an experience which the Communists call "struggle" which involves everybody in a group bitterly attacking the offending individual in an attempt to change him.

Even the husband and wife find no trust in each other. Seldom do they talk about the government and its place in their lives. Few are the moments when they are alone for they are required to attend meetings, participate in health programs and labor, sometimes for 24 hours without a break.

I asked what was the average amount of sleep April was able to get under this system of indoctrination and labor. She replied that when there were no rebellions taking place, she was allowed to sleep from midnight until 6 in the morning.

I also asked about suicides and mental illness resulting from the constant suppression under which the people lived. April answered that no suicides were ever listed, but there were many she knew of from personal experience.

Prof Hangs Self

A young professor hanged himself; a friend of her's, a scientist, attempted suicide but failed. Another close friend—an American—had been doing well in his profession in China. Too well in fact. He suddenly came under suspicion. Unable to stand up under the strain, he also attempted suicide. April is very pessimistic about hope for change in Red China. All she says is that "it is horrible, horrible."

"People are ruled and manipulated so that there is no trust, there is no rest, there is no thinking, there is no peace. The only duty is to exist and repeat what you are told and taught to say until you finally begin to believe it as the truth."

Now, if you have read this far, say a prayer of thanksgiving for the privilege of living and attending school in wonderful America.

A total of 435,000 or 63 per cent of Oklahoma residents are home owners. In 1959 residential building in the state was valued at $550 million, with 14,241 new homes being started. Some 10,700 persons are directly involved in home building and the payroll hits $46 million per year for these construction workers.

See Diana Smith and pay her your "moola"—just a wee 50-cent piece is all that I'm asking of you.

M Club Initiation Parade Is Quite A Spectacle!

The odd costumes of the "M" Club were cast aside Wednesday, April 12, when all of the pledges marched double file downtown through Main Street and into Pennington Creek. After a rather wet demonstration, they returned to files and proceeded to the Murray Gym for the final initiation.

Traffic was slowed while a student salute was given to Bill Duke. Various gestures to onlookers were given also. Being out of step caused initiates to be penalized and they had to march barefooted.

During a three-day period the pledges wore dresses, tennis shoes (no socks), and ladies' hats. The last-day costumes were overalls, shower shoes, and old hats. Each pledge carried a paddle which contained 17 names of let-terms and coaches. After securing each signature, the initiates found that each name was considered a pain.

The pledges are now members and are looking forward to the "M" Club initiation of next year.

This is a very important election in regard to your school's achievements—don't let the chance slip by to exercise your right to vote for a representative school government.

The slate of candidates for this year's election indicates an enthusiastic interest in the big event of the year. You will make your choice of Student Senate officers tomorrow from the following:

STOICS ON RIGHT TRACK!

Mr. Goss, sponsor of the Stoics, deserves much kudos. By presenting life situations and having the members function in these situations to be met when they become "Mr. and Mrs. Tomorrow," he is rendering them an invaluable service. It is regrettable that more students are not taking part in the activities of the club.

Who knows how far reaching his instruction will be? Perhaps in this club he will sow a seed that will germinate into an unthought-of profession for some Murrayites. Maybe some of them will become "legislative interns."

Five years ago the Ford Foundation started a valuable political training program in California. Today in eight states matching Ford funds and state funds pay the cost of training some 300 graduate students from 31 colleges.

These "legislative interns"—young law students political science majors, and journalists — are being plunged straight into the exciting hubbub of practical politics. They are assigned to work with legislative committee staffs, clerks, research departments and with the offices of majority and minority leaders, speakers, etc.

Contact between the academic side of political science and the applied side makes sense. It gives the student the kind of experience that he cannot get by field trips to the various legislatures.

There is a strong probability that this training and experience will inspire many young corporation lawyers and others to enter politics.

Democracy is in dire need of well-trained, intelligent, young politicians. Many of our politicians trained by the school of experience are quite old. Somebody must take their places.

Furthermore, it will not hurt our present lawmakers to be aware that their caucuses, their off-make behavior at hearings, and their reaction to visiting lobbyists are being noted by critical, candid, young observers.

What about you? Have you definitely chosen your life's work? Are you sure that America will remain a safe place in which you may strive for success?

Maybe you had better stop and ask yourself, "What can I do for America? Should I train myself to help guide the political destiny of my fatherland?"

Think about these questions, but remember that thinking is not enough to preserve our freedom. Action! There must be constructive action on your part if you expect God to continue to "bless America."

Irrigation wells are coming to be a common sight in Oklahoma, with 60 of the 77 counties boasting of them. Texas county has the largest area irrigated from wells—40,000 acres—but Caddo county has the most wells—590. About 83 per cent of the well-irrigated land is west of Oklahoma City and nearly one fourth is in the Panhandle.

'Where Most People Trade'

Season Now Closed, But Fish Giggling Memories of Pennington Still Remain

By Bill Gardner

Jest'n Fun
Jones: Was your garden a success last year?
Brown: I'll say it was! It enabled my next door neighbors, chickens to take first prize at the poultry show.

The small boy was watching his mother put a diaper on his baby brother, and she forgot to powder him. "Hold it, hold it," said the little boy. "You forgot to salt him."

My small nephew, whose father is a minister and also a great fisherman, quoted the 23rd Psalm: "Thy rod and thy reel they comfort me."

Boy: May I kiss you?
Girl: (Silence).
Boy: May I kiss you?
Girl: (Silence).
Boy: Are you deaf?
Girl: Are you dumb?

A tomcat and a tabby cat were great friends on a back fence. The tom leaned over and said to the tabby cat, "I'd die for you."

The tabby gazed at him, lowered her eyelids, and purred, "How many times?"

A mother overheard her small son, age five, telling his little sister how babies got their tummy buttons. "You see," said the little boy wisely, "when God finishes making little babies, He lines them

Giggling is now a legal sport in Oklahoma. All that the state requires is a fishing license.

Although the giggling season has just closed, I'm writing my story anyway.

Additional equipment needed is a gig, a strong light, and a boat. Boats can be rented downtown at reasonable rates. Gigs can be made, and a car headlight and a battery make a good light.

To me there is nothing more sporting than to shine a light into the dark, shallow waters of Pennington and spear the fish out of the water into the frying pan—"cleaned" of course.

Quiet and correct balance are a must while one is in the boat. Noise will drive the fish away. One wrong move, and it's swimming for sure plus losing a great deal of dignity and equipment.

Information on this sport can be obtained from some of the more experienced giggers on the campus.

Those who enjoy the sport and some hazards attached are Jim Griffin, Buddy Simpson, and Richard Choate.

From these students the do's and do not's can be learned.

Does battery water eat holes in clothes? Ask Griffin and Rutherford.

To Buddy's surprise, he found that it's better to gig fish than people.

What happened to Choate? Let me tell you. He found out on a dark, winter night that the water in Pennington was very cold and really and truly wet.

all up in a row. Then He pokes each one in the tummy with His finger and says, "You're done . . . you're done . . . and you're done!"

The wife got herself snarled up in a terrible traffic jam. "What shall I do?" she wailed to her husband.

"I don't know," he answered, "but I'll bet if you climb into the back seat, you'll be able to figure out something."

A man took his younger son out for a walk. After a few blocks he noticed the boy was having difficulty keeping up with him. "Am I walking too fast?" he asked. "No," the youngster replied, "but I am."

New Maid: Should I say, "Dinner is ready," or "Dinner is served?"

Head of the House: If it's like it was yesterday, just say: "Dinner is burned."

SOLON TELLS PROBLEMS OF LEGISLATION

Kenneth Converse
Rep. Kenneth Converse was the speaker in assembly Friday morning, April 21. He was sponsored by the government and history classes.

Representative Converse stated that he felt honored to serve in the legislature, and that he had found it to be an educational experience.

He told of legislative procedures. He told that the newly elected members are sworn in November 20 following their election. At this time a legislative committee meets to elect the speaker of the house for the session convening in January.

When the legislature convenes, the house administration assigns desks and offices.

When the session proper begins, each member is assigned to four committees, only one of which may be one of the major committees—roads, mental health, and agriculture.

Representative Converse then went into detail telling all the steps in forming a bill until its acceptance as a law.

Cites Problems
Problems are multiple in this session. There is great demand for an increase in appropriations for progression in Oklahoma. Additional appropriations can not be made if the budget is to remain balanced.

Proposals for an additional sales tax of one per cent has been made. A danger lies in this increase. Businesses in counties bordering on states with no sales tax would suffer.

The speaker stated that this present legislature contains many brilliant men who are dedicated men and are doing what they feel is of greatest benefit to Oklahoma as a whole.

Representative Converse does not feel that the legislators are dilatory in their actions. Progress is slow because of the multiplicity of problems which they must solve.

STOICS HOLD NOMINATING CONVENTION

The Stoics met in a nominating convention for Student Senate officers for 1961-62 school year in the student lounge, April 19, 1961, with Joe Don Skimmer presiding.

High points of the platform were as follows:

"We, the Murray Stoics, and our candidates pledge ourselves to an expanded, well-planned program in student activities; to a policy of active representation of student interest instead of a policy of docile resignation; and to the general betterment of student life on the campus. Our platform includes:

1. More and better planned dances.
2. Activities other than dances—

Acquire Reading Habit and Learn Way To Richer, Fuller Life, Says Writer

By Jo Thompson

Books are the counselors and teachers of man. A person who reads widely has found the key to a more abundant and enjoyable life. The subject matter of books is as varied and interesting as real life. Through reading, one can gather ideas, beliefs, and concepts that have proved their worth through centuries of use, and he may consider them for use in his own life.

Through reading a person may

- such as halloween carnivals and hayrides.
- 3. Keeping the student center open on week-ends.
- 4. Later hours for girls on week-ends.
- 5. Issuing food units in the cafeteria.
- 6. Coke, candy, and gum machines in the dorms.
- 7. Washers and dryers in the dorms.

Ernest Ray gave the keynote address. Mr. Ray emphasized the importance of the convention as a chance for the entire student body to take an active part in the Student Senate election in order that they might take the advantage of free expression for changes in school government. He stated that this election would determine how successful the 1961-1962 school year would be.

Roger Bauer made the nominating speech for Richard (Dick) Sharp for Student Senate President. In listing his qualifications, Mr. Bauer stated that Mr. Sharp is a true freedom man and is quite capable. He stated that Mr. Sharp was quite active in high school activities and is a man of intelligence.

The seconding speech for Mr. Sharp was made by Ernest Ray. Larry Edwards made the nominating speech for Dale Dowdy. Mr. Dowdy was pictured as being well qualified for the office of vice-president as he was quite active in high school and, living on campus has the interest of the students at heart. Don O'Dell seconded the nomination of Mr. Dowdy for the office of vice-president.

Richard Hancy made the nominating speech for Charles Kerr for the office of secretary. He stated that Mr. Kerr has been outstanding in high school activities, including track events. One of his highest honors is that of being an Eagle Scout.

Harvey Baine seconded the nominating of Mr. Kerr.

Tommy Odum led the convention in the benediction. The meeting was adjourned by President Skimmer.

profit from the mistakes and experiences of others without having to experience the situation personally. Wide reading provides an insight into the many variations of human character and behavior, and this helps a person to understand himself and his associates better. It fosters a feeling of appreciation and compassion for life itself.

Dr. Thomas A. Donley's book, "The Edge of Tomorrow," vividly illustrates this fact. Mark Twain's writings, though more humorous, are also classic examples of the revealing scope of human experiences that may be found in books.

Reading also has tangible, practical advantages. It enables a person to help himself up the ladder of success. The student who possesses a broad background in reading has a better understanding of material presented in the classroom. This will show results in higher grades. Either a business executive or a farmer may profit financially by employing new methods of management that were found by reading.

"A man ought to read as inclination leads him," said Samuel Johnson. Some people read for pleasure, relaxation, or entertainment; others read primarily to increase their comprehension of a specific subject. Whatever their reason, they are certain to profit from the almost limitless store of wisdom, knowledge, and understanding that can be found between the covers of a book.

ENROLL NOW AND AVOID CONFUSION

Class schedules have been completed, forms are available, and enrollment for the fall term has started.

Dr. Roades urges all freshmen on the campus and others who are not graduating to enroll now.

Dr. Roades insists that if you have not already enrolled, that you do so now. Do not wait until the final week when you, the advisors, and those in the registrar's office will be so concerned with closing activities of school that they can not take sufficient time to help you properly.

Academic, ROTC Honors Announced At Awards Assembly

The annual award assembly was held in the auditorium May 12, at 9:20 a. m.

This was joint-award assembly. Academic and ROTC awards were presented.

Mr. Fletcher was master of ceremonies and called upon various instructors to present awards.

Academic awards were: annual husbandry, Harold Davis; business administration, Charrel Lambert; chemistry, Ronnie Hale; drafting, James McKown; engineering, Wendell McCurry; home economics, Gwendolyn Rowe; journalism, Charrel Lambert; mathematics, Ronnie Hale and Dale Dowdy; secretarial administration, Wanda Horath; speech and drama, Ernest Ray.

Dr. Roades presented the AFROTC awards to the outstanding cadets.

Cadet Choice A. Taylor was chosen as outstanding freshman. He has shown the greatest growth potential from the point of view of the U. S. Air Force. His award was a model of the F-86 Sabrejet.

Cadet Major Gerald Jeter was the outstanding sophomore. He was selected as the one who had contributed most to the overall development and effectiveness of the corps. His award was the F-100.

Cadet Major Ernest Ray was given the Reserve Officer's Association medal. This medal is given to sophomore cadets who meet certain qualifications and who indicate a desire to become an air pilot.

This medal is one of 176 similar awards given yearly in the U. S. The following criteria were used in selecting Cadet Major Ray: personal appearance, courtesy and promotion potential, a positive attitude toward AFROTC work and service, and a grade of A for two years.

Cadet Colonel Larry Edwards was the winner of the Lockheed F-104. Colonel Edwards was chosen as the outstanding cadet of Murray State. His qualifications include military achievement, and outstanding leadership ability.

Grad Speaks

The speaker for the occasion was Mrs. Jo Ann Lauderdale, a former Murray student who is now publicity director for the Noble Foundation, Ardmore.

Mrs. Lauderdale's subject was "The American Heritage." Her ability as a speaker and the timeliness of her topic drew complete attention and applause from the audience.

On May 5, in spite of the weatherman, the Freshman Prom rang down the curtains on strictly social events on Murray campus, but the remaining days will be packed with pre-enrolling, study, and final exams.

On May 20, the Alumni Association will entertain the grads at a banquet in the cafeteria.

Baccalaureate exercises will be in Beames Hall Sunday evening, May 21, at 8:00 p. m. Mr. John J. Mueller, pastor, First Presbyterian Church, Durant, will be the speaker.

Commencement exercises will be held in Beames Hall, Friday evening, May 26, at 8:00 p. m. The speaker will be Dr. A. F. Shearer, president of Southeastern State College.

There will be an aura of sadness at this commencement. President Murray will confer diplomas, which are in reality certificates certifying that the recipients are ready to begin a "commencement" of higher education. For Mr. Murray the conferring of the diplomas will be his "farewell" at such an occasion at Murray.

Dr. O. E. Roades, Dean of the College, will present awards to outstanding students.

Members of the Tishomingo Ministerial Alliance will assist in the ceremonies, and college students will provide the music.

Clubs Hear of NSF Education Offers

Dr. H. B. Bliss conducted a seminar for the benefit of the Science and the Engineer's Club, Monday, May 15 from 7 to 8 p. m. in the College Library.

Dr. Bliss spoke to the group on "Opportunities for Continuing Education through NSF Programs."

Most Grads Will Continue Educations After Murray

The 1961 graduating class is to be commended, for most of them have signified intention to attend another college.

Most plan to attend OSU. Some will attend OU, Southeastern, Central and East Central. Very few have not decided what college to choose.

Cadets who qualify for advanced training will be more or less restricted in their choice of college, as they must attend one that offers that training and where the quota is not already filled.

Following is a brief sketch of members of the graduating class: James Thomas Ames, Tishomingo; Liberal Arts, attending East Central.

Deanna Auld, Lafayette, La.; Education, Goal Diggers, will attend East Central.

Charles Barber, Madill; Engineering, Engineering Club, president BSU, president Student Senate, vice president Student Senate, treasurer Phi Theta Kappa, Dean's honor roll, best personality, will attend OSU.

Kenneth Barrett, Wilson; Engineering, Engineering Club, secretary Rodeo Club, will attend OSU. James Bauman, Tishomingo; Engineering, Dean's honor roll, undecided about college.

Neomia Bearden, Tishomingo; Education, Student Senate representative, Goal Diggers, will attend

A DOOR CLOSSES

Doors open and close. Sometimes they are opened with eager anticipation and closed with sadness and regret. Any college commencement time is always filled with the sound of doors being closed upon old associations and old friends, but this particular commencement at Murray seems to have an unusual number of doors being closed with a sound of sad finality.

The door to the office of the President of the college has this sound.

On September 1, 1921, a young man opened a door to a Murray College classroom and entered it as an instructor in agriculture. On June 30, 1961, the same man closes a door, but that door is marked "Office of the President."

Between that first opening and final closing lies a span of forty years of devoted service—service as a citizen, as a soldier, as an educator, as a leader, as a friend; and to each of these services there has been added that spirit of quiet dignity and strength that has won the love and admiration and respect of both faculty and students.

President Clive E. Murray is closing behind him the door of the office of President of Murray College. Faculty and students alike join in expressing the hope that he is opening the door to a retirement that will be filled with doing those things he always wanted to do.

IT'S BEEN A PLEASURE!

Round and round we go, and where we stop nobody knows.

True, we are on a merry-go-round that whirls us to and fro, but one thing I do know. This year is coming to a close; this is the last "Aggielite" you will read this year, and it has been a merry-go-round in many ways.

First of all, it has been fun! The "Aggielite" staff has been fortunate in the many opportunities we've had to meet you and to get to know you.

Second, we've learned a great deal about finding news that we didn't know at the beginning of school.

Third, we like the idea of having been of service to our school and to you.

I could go on and on, but I'll put it just as simple as possible: It has been a real pleasure and an enlightening experience for the staff to present the news to you to the best of our ability.

We extend our deepest wishes for your future success and hope that you have enjoyed reading what we've endeavored to publish. Remember, we haven't claimed to be professionals—but we've tried to publish a paper with you, the students', interests at heart.

We bid you fond farewell and hope that you will give your complete support to next year's staff.

Engineering Club Laws Are Revamped

The Engineering club meeting was called to order by president Keith Whitfill. The first matter of business was the undertaking of the task of amending the present constitution to meet the present needs of the club. The constitution was read and discussed and Mr. Whitfill appointed a committee to take the old constitution and amend it.

Larry Edwards moved that all engineering majors who are enrolled in 12 hours or more at Murray State College be assessed the amount of one dollar per semester to be paid at the time of enrollment along with the regular tuition. Dick Sharp seconded the motion and it passed with a unanimous vote.

In conjunction with the Science Club, the Engineering Club voted to ask a speaker to Murray during May to speak on the subject "Saline Solution."
 The meeting was adjourned.

Jest'n Fun

Harvey Baine: "Married life isn't so bad after you get so you can eat the things your wife likes."

Neomia Bearden: "The Communist yelled: 'Workers of the world, arise' and everyone got up for the coffee break."

Jerry Beavers: "He who itches for fame has a lot of scratching to do."

Sandra Thurman: "One of life's great satisfactions is parking on what's left of the other fellow's dime."

Harold Davis: "Try praising your wife, even if it frightens her at first."

Mickey Rowe: "Then there's the toast of the Hay Fever Club: 'Here's looking at choo!'"

Charlene Lane observed the following: A woman clad in a suit jacket and slip approached the Lost and Found Department and inquired anxiously: "Has anybody turned in a black skirt with five children from two to six hanging on to it?"

When the atom bomb was tested in New Mexico, William Bohannon was sending a love message by smoke signal to his girl friend. A mushroom cloud suddenly covered the sky with smoke. William was peeped and stared at it for several minutes, then exclaimed enviously, "Gee, if only I had said that!"

Clay Shannon: "Just why do you want a married man to work for you, rather than a bachelor?"
 James Bauman: "Well, the married men don't get so upset if I yell at them."

Joe Don Skinner was hauled into court for catching ten more black bass than the law allowed.

"Guilty or not guilty?" asked the judge.

"Guilty," replied Joe Don.

"Ten dollars and costs," said the judge.

After paying the fine cheerfully Joe Don asked, "And now, your honor, if I may, I'd like several copies of the court record to show four friends."

GREETINGS

Please permit me to extend greetings and a most cordial welcome on behalf of our faculty. We are always happy to see former students return for the new school year and to meet members of the freshman class.

May the current school year be the happiest and most profitable that you have ever known. Those of us connected with the college will do all that can be done to make this wish a reality. However, faculty effort alone is not enough. You as a student must cooperate by devoting yourself with some consistency to your books. This can be done with sufficient time remaining for necessary relaxation and play. Good students are usually happy students. These students realize to the highest degree the purpose for which the College exists. May I urge each of you to resolve to do the best work of which you are capable while attending Murray State Agricultural College.

As your new president it is my desire to know each of you by name and the only way I can do this is for you to introduce yourself to me. Please give me the opportunity to know you.

Sincerely,
CHARLES GRADY

CAMPUS CARS MUST NOW BE REGISTERED

This year, for the first time, Dean Basil Johnson has announced that students' cars are to be registered. Stickers are provided to be displayed on the lower right hand corner of the windshield.

Dean Johnson stated "we are not trying to make anyone mad at the faculty by putting in the new checking system; it's done in some of the biggest and best colleges." He also says that the new hand book for 1961-62 will tell everything a student needs to know about the new rules.

He announced that stop signs will be installed at all intersections and strict enforcement will be observed.

Both city police and the night watchmen will be watching all cars for stopping or speeding. Tickets will be given at the college too.

Dr. Jerry Martin Is New on Faculty

Dr. Jerry J. Martin, a new instructor on the faculty of Murray State College, will be teaching animal husbandry this year. He will also be the sponsor of the Aggie Club and the manager of the beef performance test. He stated, "We expect to have a real active Agriculture Department with relation to animal husbandry."

After graduation from Antlers High School, Dr. Martin enlisted in the Marine Corps. Following his service he enrolled at O.S.U. Here he received his B.S. degree in 1954, his Masters degree in animal husbandry in 1959, and his Ph. D. in animal nutrition in May, 1961. On July 1, 1961, he joined the faculty bringing with him his family which includes two sons. When asked how he liked Murray he replied, "So far I like it real well."

Sometimes Mrs. Rosalva Rainey notices a puzzled expression on husband Bill's face at the breakfast table. Then she suddenly realizes that she is speaking Spanish. A native of Mexico, Mrs. Rainey speaks fluent English, but occasionally it deserts her early in the morning.

A versatile person, Mrs. Rainey is teaching classes in Spanish, Home Economics, Reading, and Religious Education.

Six years ago she came to Murray to teach Spanish. Two years later she decided to stay at home to raise her family.

This summer Mrs. Rainey attended school at North Texas State University where she received her Master of Arts degree.

Mr. Rainey had to stay home while his wife went to school to take care of the children.

He said that he worked around the house doing some repair work. He also did a little writing for the Educational Journal. Mr. Rainey, head of the Business Administration department, said that he had small classes this fall.

Jim Woods Heads Engineers' Club

The Engineers' Club, sponsored by Mrs. George Calvert, discussed plans for a trip to be made during the semester when they held their first meeting September 13. They plan to visit some plant or company within a reasonable distance of Tishomingo.

Officers of the Club were elected as follows: Jim Wood, president; Tony White, vice-president; Keith Whitfield, secretary-treasurer; and Gerald Beal, Student Senate representative.

Tina Looney was chosen as their homecoming queen candidate. The club has 38 members this year.

Seventy of Oklahoma's counties are producing oil and gas, a larger proportion of its area than any other state in the union.

The annual election of the homecoming queen will be held Wednesday, September 27th. The polls will be open from 8:00 a. m. until 4:00 p. m. Place of voting will be in the conference room of the Student Union.

Voting will be done by secret ballot. The candidate receiving the highest number of votes will be elected queen and the next three highest will be the attendants.

The four finalists will be announced immediately following the election. The queen will not be announced until the coronation at the homecoming game, Saturday, September 30, at 7:30. Organizations sponsoring the four finalists will provide attendants for their candidate during coronation ceremonies.

60 BANDS ARE INVITED TO CAMPUS AFFAIR

The music department has had its hands full the first two weeks. The ROTC Cadet Chorus and a girls "barber shop" quartet have been formed and preparations have been made for Murray College Band Day.

The girls' barber shop quartet consists of Charlotte Gresson, 1st soprano; Wilma McCoy, 2nd soprano; Kay Vaughn, 1st alto; and Margaret Ann Lokey, 2nd alto.

Band Day will be held on October 28, this year, as announced by Jack Reid, head of the Music department. This year 60 bands have been invited to take part in Band Day.

The Cadet Chorus was formed Tuesday, Sept. 19. It is open for anyone, whether he is enrolled in ROTC or not. The chorus is offered to ROTC students for merits and as a college credit for those not in ROTC. Later in the spring they hope to take trips to spring in various high schools. The members are: Alvester Bowens, Wayne Hunter, Oklahoma City; Jerry Martin, Bob Wilmoth, Idabel; Tom Kerr, Madill; Benny Cash, C. E. Mason, John Faulkenberry, Tishomingo; Darrell Martin, Velma; James Hester, Colbert; Ronnie Whitley, Duncan; David Wilson, Maud; Phillip Seagins, Denison, Texas; Don Pogue, Chickasha; Neil Wall, Anadarko; Larry Pope, Jerry Mason, Macomb; Tommy Odom, Gary Pate, Lexington; Tom Whistler, Pontotoc; Glen Kuykendall, Stratford; Gary Gandy, Larry Gahagan, Healdton; Charles Gill, Thomas Luckinbill, Ardmore; Darwin Scarberry, Wilson; Hugh Pool, Charles Topia, Walter Battles, Savanna; Carl Davis, Phillip Marshall, Fox; Mike Slagel, Alma; Larry Roberts, Durant; Lawrence Sapp, Sulphur.

The OSU agricultural experiment station has contributed outstanding new varieties including Concho wheat, Wintok and Tonka oats, Goldenrod peaches and four excellent new varieties of sweet potatoes.

Instructor Returns After Two Years in Ethiopia

One of the most interesting new faces on campus is that of Mr. Gerald Shryock, new instructor in Chemistry and Mathematics. Mr. Shryock returned to Murray after a two-year absence teaching in Ethiopia, and vacationing in Europe during July.

The new chemistry instructor states that Ethiopian students excel in memorizing far above the average United States student, but that the U. S. student leads in learning. The students, in the alternate Ethiopian colleges, must pass an entrance exam before starting school. Also of interest is the car situation: No student owns an automobile, and the nearest town being twelve miles away, this cuts down on attendance problems.

Mr. Shryock states a few of the many dangers of Ethiopia as malaria, leprosy, yellow fever, and polio. Each day, he and his family were confronted with dangers fortunately unknown to our small,

PREPARE FOR A SHOCK—

And time goes tick, tick, ticking along—never waiting for anyone.

Murray College has been here for quite a number of years. Spiritually, morally, it hasn't changed. It still stands for opportunity. It still stands as a storehouse of knowledge. It still stands as a gate into which opens a new world. And, it still stands as a stepping stone from something good to something even better—that of further education and a sound investment for the future.

Where does time fit in? Students are actually the same. They all follow the same familiar patterns, from becoming young adults to finding their special slot in life itself.

However, time takes its toll. Students come and go through the years. Many may succeed in achieving their goals, but many more will fail. Why will they fail? These students who wander endlessly through a sea of oblivion fail because of wasted time. They let time slip through their fingers without taking hold of the opportunities that face us day after day.

Here it is another year, another group of students who shall either use the stepping stone of opportunities to go on to further heights in their particular chosen vocation, or who shall leave the "storehouse of knowledge" behind to enter a new world of facts—not fiction.

Whatever your plans are after leaving Murray, let's hope you use time in the best possible way—don't let time use you.

Prepare yourselves for a shock. There are great responsibilities, king-size problems awaiting you.

VACANT SEATS NEED FILLING—

School Spirit! Esprit de Corps! These terms have been belabored loud and long in the years past. The Murray Band has always been a contributing factor in our school spirit. This year should be no exception. We missed the band at our first pep assembly and at the first ball game. There are at least thirty-five students who have indicated that they played instruments in high school; however, only nineteen have seen fit to meet with the Murray College Band, where is the school spirit of these others?

The non-participating students offer various excuses, but none of them seem to hold water. If the members of the student body would ask these students to "get on the Band Wagon," they would probably feel needed and would be willing to join. We need every one to carry on traditional school spirit.

So, let's all get behind the members of the band and encourage the non-participating students to help fill up the vacant seats of the "pride of Murray College." With this in mind the following list is submitted to the student body.

The participating members are as follows: Freddie Paz, trumpet; Bobby Patton, bass; Nelson Dixon, sax; Rick Scarberry, sax; David Wall, baritone; Charles Wilcox, trombone; Keith Whitfill, trombone; Thelbert McGinness, drum; Darwin Scarberry, trumpet; Jessie Bower, drum; Nita Sue McKown, clarinet; Jeanette Looney, sax; Don Rutledge, baritone; Ronnie Whatley, trombone; Charlotte Greeson, flute; and Dwaine Wood, sax.

Home Ec Club Elects

The Home Economics club, and their sponsor, Mrs. Rosalva Rainey, met Monday, Sept. 18, to elect their homecoming queen candidate and discuss pending issues. They selected Judy Harwell to represent the eleven members.

The officers of the club were elected during the last week of Spring semester last year. Those elected were Kay Cape, president and vice-president; Wilma McCurry, secretary-treasurer; and Paula James, reporter and student senate representative.

ROTC Diary

The R.O.T.C. Cadet Corps staff has been organized, as follows: Cadet Colonel, Bill McNeil; Cadet Lt. Colonel, James Gist. The following are Cadet Majors: Lanny Mayberry, Anthony White, Dale Dowdy, Jimmy Wood. The commissioned officers' names have been posted, and it looks as if we are going to have a good cadet group this year.

Mrs. Stuckey Is New Dorm Mother

Mrs. Sadie Stuckey, Holdenville, Oklahoma, is the new dorm mother for Bessie Poe Hall. This is her first year at this type of work. She says that she thinks that Murray is a fine looking college with lovely grounds. She is very happy in her work, and reports that there has not been any problem—so far.

First Boy Scout troop organized in America was at Pawhuska, May, 1919, three years before there was a national organization, and two of the original troop still reside in Pawhuska.

AGGIES TIE NORTHERN IN GRID OPENER

The Murray football team opened its season with a fine show of spirit Saturday, September 15. The game was a hard-fought opener with each team displaying form acquired through long hours of practice.

Murray gave its fans a thrill by scoring in the first quarter when Carpenter carried between tackle and end from the three yard line for the tally. Freddie Jones kicked the extra point, and the first quarter ended, Murray seven Northern zero.

Later in the second quarter, Northern scored after driving the ball to the two yard line. Their extra point was good, and the scoring was over for the opening game.

In the second half, both teams fought hard to score, and both came close, but the game ended in a 7-7 tie.

Murray's outstanding runners were Lows, Carpenter, and Guess, whose knee was injured late in the 3rd quarter. Guess will miss at least three games before he can resume football.

New Head Football Coach from O.U.

Benton C. Ladd
The new head football coach at Murray State College is Benton C. Ladd, who recently came here with his wife from Hobbs, New Mexico. He had been in Hobbs for two years where he was a high school football coach.

Mr. Ladd is a graduate of Oklahoma University, where he received a degree in biological science. He lacks only 8 hours having his Master's degree in Administration.

According to Coach Ladd, the football team is in "pretty good shape, but could be better." Coach Ladd and the team have worked hard in preparing for the first two games.

Mantle's Home Runs As Well as History, Interest Professor

No one can say that Murray's faculty isn't up to date. Mr. Lloyd Goss, head of the Social Science Department, is not only interested in past history but states that his main interest right now is whether Mickie Mantle will hit 60 home runs this season. That's current enough for anyone.

That's not the only thing that will help keep history up to date. The department will add 30 new Euro-Goal Diggers Let Down Bars, Mere Men Can Join Up!

"Goal Diggers" used to be thought of as blonde and feminine, but that's past history. Masculine "Goal Diggers" are "what's new" on campus. The club, sponsored by Mrs. Capitola Boyd, is now inviting male members to join.

The club met September 8 for the first time this semester, to elect officers and discuss coming events. Officers elected to serve for the coming year were as follows:

Kathie Brooks, president; Gerald Jones, vice-president; Jeanette Looney, secretary-treasurer; Sylvia Askew, reporter; and Kay Cope, Student Senate Representative.

Finances were discussed, and dues were set at fifty cents a semester per member.

A pep assembly was held September 15 in the Student Union ballroom, and a dance was sponsored by the Goal Diggers in the ballroom on September 14. The jukebox provided the music.

Gilcrease Museum in Tulsa contains more than 3,000 oil and water-color paintings and has one of the largest collections of Remington sculptures in the world. Its library contains more than 50,000 rare books and documents relating to the 15th and 16th century Spanish explorations and American history.

pean History maps this semester, 30 new American History maps next semester, plus 300 new history books in the library.

Something else which helps students keep up to date is the Stoic Club, formed and sponsored by Mr. Goss. The members of this club discuss current problems of the world and various solutions to them. Last year the Stoics went to Oklahoma City to visit the legislature, and are planning many such events for this year. Watch for posters announcing the first meeting of the Stoics. Everyone is invited.

AGS TO PLAY CONNORS HERE ON SATURDAY

Murray Aggies play Connors on the Murray field at 7:30 Saturday night.

The game at Wilburton last week, the second of the season for the Aggies, was hard fought all the way.

Eastern scored an early touchdown on a long run from their 45-yard line soon after the opening kickoff. Later in the first quarter Eastern scored again from the 2-yard line, gaining a lead of 12 points.

In the second quarter Murray held Eastern and scored from the 16-yard line to make the half-time score 12-6.

Early in the second half Eastern recovered a Murray fumble and finally, after the ball changed hands twice more, scored from the 1-yard line and kicked the extra point.

Murray scored twice in the third quarter and for a while it was a tied ballgame.

The last quarter saw yardage being gained the hard way. Both teams tightened down defensively, although Eastern managed to score once on a long run from their own 33-yard line. The game ended: Eastern 25, Murray 19.

Mrs. Wynema Dietrich is the new house mother at Patton Hall. This is her first year and she has had no problems thus far. She stated that she liked the college and the town and added that everyone has been extremely helpful and friendly.

Mrs. Dietrich thinks it is very pretty here and wonders why she didn't come sooner. She hails from the Oklahoma town of Holdenville. As to the question, "Would you prefer to be a house mother of a girls' dorm or boys?" she wholeheartedly admitted that she preferred girls.

At present there are 199 girls in Patton Hall.

Drill Team, Four Field Trips Are Planned for Cadets

The 20th Air Force R.O.T.C. Group at Murray will have about 220 cadets this year, according to Air Force Captain Robert W. Elkins, assistant professor of air science. The R.O.T.C. group here is directly under the 670th Cadet Air Division at Oklahoma State University at Stillwater.

According to Captain Elkins, a Drill Team and four field trips are being planned for this year. The only field trip which is under consideration is a trip to Nellis A.F.B. in Las Vegas, Nevada, he stated.

The sophomore R.O.T.C. students can remember Capt. Elkins from last year. He came here from Athens, Greece. Besides being an assistant professor of air science, he holds a B.S. Degree in Engineering from Texas A. & M. College.

Capt. Elkins, who lives in Tishomingo with his wife and four children, spent the summer at R.O.T.C. camp in Waco, Texas. He plans on making the Air Force a career after being commissioned an officer through R.O.T.C., and already has 10 years active duty behind him.

Friday Was Holiday

Holidays already! Word passed from student to student last Tuesday when the bulletin was sent out. The county O.E.A. unit had a one-day workshop in Tishomingo last Friday. The students had a three-day weekend as a result of this. School resumed as usual on Monday with the same "gripes and growls" for the 7:30 classes.

MISS DRAPER IS 'TEACHER OF THE YEAR'

Miss Ella Draper

Miss Ella Draper, head of the mathematics department at Murray State College, has won the O.E.A. "Teacher of the year" award from the Murray unit. Miss Draper is one of 104 Oklahoma teachers who will be honored guests at the Oklahoma State Fair. A plaque will be presented to each teacher, hotel rooms will be provided, and the teachers will be guests at the Follies.

The award is based upon length of service and activities in which the teacher participates. Miss Draper is in her 48th year of teaching, in her 30th year at Tishomingo, and her 15th year at Murray College.

She graduated from high school and earned her first teaching certificate at the early age of 16, and began teaching in the fall term at it.

Her first school, she recalls, was a two-teacher rural school in Grantham, Marshall County, near Madill. The salary then was $50.00 for a 7 months term. She taught for ten years in Marshall County, was high school principal and math teacher at Lone Grove and Wapanucka for two years, and taught in Mill Creek and Frisco.

"I taught several subjects in the grades," she states, "and moved up from a two-teacher school to the college."

She received her Bachelor's Degree from Southeastern State College in Durant in education and math, and her Masters of Education at O.U. She has also attended school during several summer sessions.

Organizations in which she is an active member are the Business and Professional Women's Club, and the Tishomingo Daughters. She is county chairman of the National Foundation and president of the County Tuberculosis Association. She is a member of Delta Kappa Gamma, a teachers' professional sorority which has an invitational membership. She belongs to N.E.A., O.E.A., the Oklahoma Council of Teachers of Mathematics, is active in the Church of Christ, and teaches a ladies Bible Class.

Murray President To Be Interviewed

Dr. Charles Grady, new president at Murray State College, has been invited to appear before the Board of Regents of Oklahoma College for Women on Friday, October 6. The Board is seeking a new president to replace Mr. Freeman H. Beets, who resigned his position at O.C.W. to go to work for a federal agency. There were eight applicants for the position, who will also appear.

Dr. Grady stated "I have enjoyed my beginning here at Murray, and am looking forward to a fine school year."

Major Carter Comes From Germany to Head A.F.R.O.T.C.

Major Billy J. Carter, his wife, Betty, and 13-year-old daughter, Kathy, moved here early this summer from Wisbaden, Germany, Headquarters for the United States Air Force in Europe.

Major Carter said that the duty of the three military personnel at Murray is to teach. The purpose is not to draft men in the Air Force, but to cultivate their knowledge of military and civilian life, and how we can or will face problems of tomorrow.

Major Carter is making a career of the Air Force. He has 18 years of service already and is trying for 12 more years.

Major Carter said the Cadet Chorus is to be formed very soon. Plans will be announced. Anyone taking R.O.T.C. can join.

New Instructor on Engineering Staff

George Cecil Calvert

Mr. George Calvert, the new Engineering and Industrial Arts instructor, recently arrived on campus fresh from summer camp at Fort Chaffee, Ark. While there, he was a member of Co. E, 2nd Battalion, 377 Regiment, of the 95th Division.

Mr. Calvert received both his Bachelor's Degree and his Master's Degree from Oklahoma University, coming there from his home in Charleston, South Carolina. He is the sponsor of the Engineers Club and reports everything in top condition, with a committee working on the homecoming float already.

Mr. Calvert is a bachelor and reports "I've been impressed with the friendliness of the people of Tishomingo and the college."

Radiation Biology Institute Attended By Paul J. Park

Mr. Paul J. Park, head of the Science Department, attended a Radiation Biology Institute at the University of Washington, Seattle, this summer. The course, sponsored by the National Science Foundation and the Atomic Energy Commission, lasted eight weeks. It was taught by a series of lecturers with distinguished backgrounds, according to Mr. Park.

Radiation biology is being taught by any number of high schools and colleges, Mr. Park states. It is estimated that some 1800 people have participated in institutes held in several states.

Phases of the Institute were radiation chemistry, radiation physics, how soils affect isotopes and radiation biology experiments.

The equipment was loaned to each participant by the Atomic Energy Commission. It consists of an electroscope which measures the strength of particulate emission; a spectrophotometer otherwise known as an alpha counter; a cloud chamber for demonstrating the path of the emitted particles, and a scaler-ratemeter, which counts the rate of particulate emission.

The instructor may keep the equipment as long as he will use it in his classes and as long as he is teaching. If he stops using it or quits teaching, he is to return it.

Mr. Harold Winburn, shop department head, is at present building a portable locker for storage of the equipment. The unit will have rubber wheels for transfer to various classrooms.

College to Offer State of Speakers For Civic Groups

A Speakers' Bureau is again being organized by Murray College as a service to the community and surrounding areas.

The Bureau has sent a questionnaire to the members of the faculty and administration, to find out what topic each instructor feels most qualified to speak on.

Lists of these topics will be sent to the various civic organizations in the surrounding five or six counties. These groups are encouraged to take advantage of the services offered if they so desire.

REPORTERS TO MEET

Reporters for all campus classes and organizations are to meet at 4:30 p. m. Thursday, Oct. 12, in the library.

COLLEGE CLUBS BUILD FLOATS

The past week, the big activity on campus was float building. Almost the whole student body worked on floats for clubs, classes and organizations.

Not even a 20-minute power failure Wednesday night could stop the frantic napkin stuffing. Boxes upon boxes of paper napkins were stuffed into holes in many feet of chicken wire. Funeral grass from all the funeral homes in the vicinity was borrowed, along with trucks and trailers from the agricultural department.

The Tishomingo armory seemed to be the chosen spot with several floats built there.

Wednesday night before homecoming the lights went out in an electrical storm. The students continued stuffing napkins in the dark, and when the lights came back on the napkins were somewhat distorted around the floats.

When the last problems were solved and the beautiful creations were constructed, the question was: Would they go through the door?

Jeanette Looney Reigns as Queen Of Homecoming

Miss Jeanette Looney, sophomore, was crowned Homecoming Queen September 30 by Harley Linke, president of the student senate. The crowning took place on the football field at the Connors game during half-time ceremonies.

Her attendants were as follows: Kay Vaughn, escorted by Lloyd Hughes; Tena Looney, escorted by Mike Simpson; and Linda Copeland, escorted by Richard Haney. They represented Goal Diggers, Engineers Club, and Freshman Class respectively.

Jeanette was a candidate for the Aggie Club and escorted by Phillip Nation.

Dixie Thompson and Shirley Green, cheerleaders, accompanied Harley Linke to the center of the field. They carried the queen's crown and bouquet.

The finalists rode onto the field in cars driven by Ronald Irwin, Paul Patterson and Danny Duke from the college, and Hi O'Brien from Tishomingo.

The election was held in the student union conference room. The four finalists were announced at 4:15 p. m. after all votes were counted. The winner of the race remained unknown until the crowning.

Small Confusion Caused by Storm

Where was everybody when the lights went out Wednesday night, September 29? At the library people were falling over chairs, and there were books left open on the tables the next morning.

One accidental means of providing light in the Betty Fulton Dorm was a trash can filled with paper and set fire.

Business at the Dairy Land went on as usual with the aid of a flashlight, although they issued no guarantee on which flavor you would get. You might order strawberry and get cherry.

Electric service was disrupted by a thunder storm, stopping clocks, and putting a "temporary" end to studying.

Workshop Held to Show P.A. System

A one hour workshop was led by Mr. Gerald Alloway, science department, Wednesday, October 4, in the Administration Building. Its purpose was to teach several members of the faculty to operate the public address system.

Members of the faculty who were invited to the meeting were Mr. Harold Winburn, Mr. A. W. Beames, Dr. Martin, Mr. Stovall, Mr. Geary and Mr. Elmer Massey.

Phi Theta Kappa Dragon Winner Of First Prize

The Phi Theta Kappa Dragon, with its theme "Drag 'em" won first prize of $25 in the homecoming float contest September 30.

R.O.T.C. won second prize of $15 with the theme "Mow 'Em Down." The Engineers' Club won third prize, $10, for their float depicting an airplane crash. The theme was "Crash 'em."

The parade, originally scheduled for 10:30, Saturday morning, was postponed due to rain. The floats were shown during half-time at the Connors game Saturday night.

The best help that one can get is self-help.

It is human nature to put the blame for everything on somebody else but a man begins to make some progress when he blames his shortcomings on the proper person.

Miss Linda Copeland, Ringling, has been announced winner of the 20th Air Force ROTC Group's honorary cadet election, held last week at Murray State. Miss Copeland was elected by vote of the 250 Cadets of the 20th ROTC group at Murray.

The six runners up will be honorary majors, serving for each of the four squadrons, one for the band and one for the drill team. They are Dixie Thompson, Lone Grove; Kay Vaughn, Anadarko; Tina Looney, Mannsville; Shirley Green, Davis; Gwen Kennedy, Tishomingo; and Sandra Fisher, Ardmore.

The seven girls will be honorary members of the Corps, and will attend all R.O.T.C. social events of the year. They will also participate in all formal military ceremonies.

Miss Copeland will be officially crowned Honorary Cadet Colonel at the Military Ball, whose date has not yet been set.

This year, the honored girls will have special uniforms of Air Force Blue, similar to those worn by airline hostesses.

Aggie-lite Admits 'A Few' Mistakes

For the first time this semester the Aggie-lite appeared around campus Tuesday, September 26.

There were a few (?) typographical errors that should be straightened out.

First, we presented Mr. George Calvert with a wife, which he searched for at length Tuesday.

Tena Looney had several different spellings for her name.

Mrs. Dietrich has been hunted by the boys on campus for the 100 missing girls who haven't registered yet. The figure was given 199 instead of 19.

Connie Young is missing, along with her little red and white car, having resigned from college.

We're sorry for these errors, and we hope that we don't do any worse in the coming issues.

Science Club Is Organized

The science club, sponsored by Mr. Paul Park, has elected officers for the year. Mickey Rowe was chosen president; David Bland, vice president; Freddy Williams, secretary-treasurer; and Danny Hull, Student Senate representative.

The club also appointed a program and assembly committee. It will present an assembly program in a few weeks.

Mickey said the club's purpose is to give students interested in science worthwhile experiences in addition to those found in the classroom. An example is their guest speaker, Dr. F. E. Webb, local M.D., who spoke October 2.

Everyone interested is invited and the club invites new members.

Cheerfulness, it is rumored, is largely a matter of keeping one's income above one's outgo.

Whenever we hear an old man lambasting the youth of today we wonder what kind of child he was.

A boob is a son who thinks he has to wait until Mother's Day to show his regard and affection for his mother.

YOU REAP WHAT YOU SOW!

"There's nothing for us to do here at Murray!" How many times have you heard that remark, or maybe said it? What are you doing to help things out? Do you help plan worthwhile activities for yourself and others? Are you keeping your talents hidden? Do you participate when given the opportunity? Are you around when someone is needed to help out, or are you the fellow who stays away from assemblies, pep rallies, and class meetings? Do you belong to a club on campus? BSU? SCA? If so, do you attend all meetings, help when you're needed, plan activities?

Murray College is YOUR school. It is what you make it. One reaps only what one sows. Don't tear it down—Build it! Help boost it when given the opportunity.

Before you criticize the school and its activities, evaluate yourself. Maybe it's you. Are you a credit to your school? Do you contribute? Remember that if you want a good activity program, YOU must work as hard as the others.

Most of you have dreams of being leaders. Now is your chance. Anyone has ideas and everyone has the privilege of voicing those ideas. Maybe you have the potential of being a great leader, but a lack of self-confidence stops you before you ever take the chance to find out. Gamble on it—suggestions make something good into something great.

Be alert to opportunity! Watch for it. Take a chance on improving your school. Do what needs to be done to improve student activities at Murray.

Whatever you put into college, you'll get back twofold. Murray is here to help you, and you are here to grow and expand in knowledge. Take advantage of this opportunity and grow in leadership as well as scholarship. Help Murray as Murray helps you.

Three from Staff Take 7,600 Mile Vacation Jaunt

Miss Beulah Zimmerman, chemistry instructor, Miss Dorothy Clark, chief clerk, and Miss Ella Draper, head of the mathematics department, made an interesting trip this summer, covering the western part of the United States and part of Canada.

They visited Banff National Park, the Columbia ice fields in Alberta Province, Victoria and Vancouver in British Columbia Province.

In the States they visited Glacier National Park, Mount Ranier National Park, Grand Coulee Dam, and Crater Lake National Park.

At Glacier National Park, Miss Clark had to leave the trip and return to work.

They also visited Mount Rushmore and the Black Hills of South Dakota. They stopped off in Ekalaka, Montana, for a brief visit with Miss Zimmerman's brother and his wife who were working as fire lookouts on Mount Scott, which is in Crater Lake National Park and is some 9,000 feet high. While there Miss Zimmerman walked to the summit of Mount Scott, although she admits that she did not start at the bottom of the mountain.

Miss Zimmerman's Falcon really rolled up the miles, totaling over 7,600, returning home with more cantaloupes, jams, jellies, and black cane syrup than a Falcon should hold.

Mrs. Boyd Jets to European Vacation

Mrs. Capitola Boyd, English instructor, spent several weeks abroad last summer. She flew on a KLM jet from Dallas by way of Houston, Montreal, and Amsterdam, to Frankfurt, Germany. The trip consisted of visits to Holland, Germany, Austria, Italy, France, England, Belgium, Denmark and Sweden. The tour was not an organized one, but one guided by friends in Germany.

Mrs. Boyd found that the ways of the people abroad differ a great deal from ours. They work very hard and have little.

The return trip was made from Frankfurt via Paris, Boston, New York and Washington to Dallas. Upon returning she spent two weeks in California.

Ardmoreites Are 'Sticking Together'

Ardmore is well represented on the R.O.T.C. Drill Team this year. Six Ardmoreites can be seen marching in the ranks. They are John Burton, Buddy Morton, Carl Holiday, Hilton Whitfield, Thomas Luckinbill, and Jesse Reed.

Besides being together on the drill team, the Ardmoreites stick together outside as well. Burton and Morton are roommates, and Holiday and Whitfield room together.

Don't Breathe It

The Wapanucka girls had a rather rocky shock last week—Right Girls? Rumor has it that Doug Rudd, Loyd Hughes, Buddy Simpson, Gerald Jones, and Lyndon Jacobs played havoc with a curve on the way back from Wilburton.

Neal Wall—Caught in the cookie jar, the night the lights went out. Dick Sharp—5 demerits is pretty bad isn't it? Tony White—Real tough on the Drill Field—oh?

Heard something about a fire in Hackell Lucas. Anyone know anything about that?

Harley—What's the new rocking chair for?

Vernon Davis—Do you like strawberry ice cream? Paula James has been getting lots of foreign mail. Japan, isn't it? Bob Pickens, Hugh Pool, and Albert Johnson looked pretty tired coming out of the gym the other day.

They don't call Mr. Goss hard-hearted for nothing, do they Doris L?

Wilma—Heard something about a set of rings. Is there anything to it?

Buddy Morton—Why are you inquiring about married couple housing? Trying to keep it a secret?

Foreign Students Increasing in U. S.

A record number of foreign students were in the United States last year, reflecting the growing demand for education throughout the world. This is the findings of the annual OPEN DOORS 1961 survey just released by the Institute of International Education.

In 1960-61, 52,107 foreign students from 143 countries and political areas were enrolled in 1666 United States colleges and universities. This is almost a 10% increase over last year when 48,486 students were reported by the IE survey.

This substantial rise was accounted for by the growing number of African and Asian students coming to study in the United States.

There were 26 countries that had more than 500 students in the States. Canada continued to send the largest number 6,958, with China (5,394), India (4,835), Iran (2,880), and Japan (2,434) next in order. Egypt and Indonesia, both of which had fewer than 500 students last year, were represented by 837 and 526 students respectively.

Engineering continues to be the most popular course of study, with 25% of the visiting students in this field. The humanities (19.6%) and the physical and natural sciences are the next choices.

Homecoming Draws Former Students

This year's homecoming game September 30 brought a number of Murray Alumni back to see their alma mater at work on the football field again.

Among the visitors was a former Murray football queen, Myrt Oakley, now attending O.C.W. at Chickasha.

Other visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Latham, Carl Wessel, Cheryl Lambert, and Woody Oliver.

Phi Theta Kappa Has Wiener Feast

As a combined victory celebration and tearing down of the homecoming float, the Phi Theta Kappa held a wienner roast Tuesday, October 3. Everyone who worked on the float was invited. They met in front of Harley Linke's apartment at 5:30.

The float was dismantled by teary-eyed members who looked back regretfully on all the hours of planning and work. The entire float was covered with fresh green leaves.

Afterward they adjourned to the Wild Life Refuge for a picnic to restore their good spirits.

Players of the Week

Coach Benton Ladd and his staff have chosen Phillip Edgemon and Bennie Cash for the players of the week in the game against Connors.

"Phillip Edgemon was the defensive standout at linebacker, where he made twelve individual tackles and was one of the main reasons Murray held Connors to 91 yards rushing," Coach Ladd reported.

"Cash was an offensive standout at left tackle. Many times he threw the downfield ball, that allowed Murray's backs to run for yardage," said Ladd.

Both boys were interviewed over KMAJ radio station at Madill, Oklahoma, October 4, for this achievement.

Coach Ladd announced that each week two players will be chosen by the coaching staff for this honor.

AFQT Test to Be Given Monday

The Air Force qualification test will be given Oct. 16, in room 114. This test is on a volunteer basis; there is no obligation to the Sophomores who take the test. The purpose of this test is to select those who want to enter the Air Force, and those who are qualified, and want to make a career of the Air Force.

There are at the present time some 66 Sophomores who have signed up to take the test. The test will last for eight hours. Those who take the test will be excused from their classes, at the time of the test.

Massey Tries Cheer 'Leading'

Mr. Elmer Massey, coach, has been conducting small-size pep assemblies in the student union, the past week.

During the girls' physical education period, Mr. Massey led them over to the union where they proceeded to give several yells. In some instances, Mr. Massey gave the cheerleaders a boost.

LADD TOWERS OVER CLASS

Mr. Benton Ladd has devised a new method for watching for roving eyes and unnecessary papers during tests. Students in his Physical Science classes were amused when he had the alternate rows turn their seats around, but they were surprised when they glanced up from their test sheets and saw him perched in a chair on his desk.

Contrary to most shining examples it is possible for an individual to be healthy, wealthy and wise.

Northeastern Is Rough on Aggies

The Murray Aggies came out on the "little end of the horn" against Northeastern at Miami, October 7, with the score an uneven 55 to 14.

One touchdown was made on a pass from Robert Carpenter to Ardel Murphy, which covered about 70 yards. The other TD was scored by Aubrey Laws.

Hal Jones, tackle, brought in two extra points by bringing down a Northeastern player in the end zone.

Neal Wall, guard, was hospitalized in Miami over the weekend, receiving treatment for a bruised kidney. He was released Monday.

Both Coach Ladd and Coach Massey feel that great improvement is needed and is possible for this year's Aggies.

"Football is a game of blocking and tackling, and we didn't block and tackle," said Coach Massey. Both the team and the coaches feel that the team has more potential than has yet been developed.

"We are working to develop that potential," Coach Massey stated. The Aggies go to Corsicana, Texas, Saturday to play Navarro and on Oct. 19 play Connors at Warner.

ROTC Diary

The R.O.T.C. Department has supplied most of the Cadets with uniforms. Those who did not get uniforms when they were issued will receive them in the next few days.

This has been a long week for the Cadets for the float had to be built. The Drill team has had a rough time on the field. You can still hear Cadet Major Philip Marshall harking at the drill team. The Band has been working pretty hard also. The Cadets hope to have a better band this year than ever before.

MURRAY DOUSES CONNORS 31-6

The Murray Aggies really made the homecoming game, September 30 a success, defeating the Connors Aggies 31 to 6.

The first quarter Murray moved the ball well but couldn't seem to drive it over for the score.

In the second quarter Murray romped, starting with a scoring drive from the 45-yard-line. They drove the ball to the three-yard-line and Carpenter carried around left end for the score. The second touchdown came after driving the ball to the five and being penalized back to the 25. Wood carried the ball around right end for six more points. Then Murray held Connors around her own 20-yard-line and forced them to punt. Murphy caught the ball and ran 60 yards to make the score 18-0 at the half.

After the halftime ceremonies Connors showed a little life and scored a touchdown, driving it from the 25-yard-line and scoring off-tackle from the five-yard-line.

Murray scored two more touchdowns the last quarter, one climaxing a drive from their own 35-yard-line when Carpenter passed to Laws for a 25-yard touchdown pass. The extra point was good. Later a Connors punt was received by Murphy who carried the ball from the 50 to the 11-yard-line, setting up a touchdown pass from Carpenter to Wood. This ended the game with the score, Murray 31, Connors 6.

Leading a fine defensive game were Edgemon, Johnson, Wall, and Parrish.

They Do It 'Just For the Yell of It'

Students at the football game September 30, witnessed a first for Murray College — 'man-sized' yell boosters.

Lloyd Hughes, Gerald Jones, Doug Rudd, and Tom Costen were initiating new yells, keeping the student yells going, and in general raising school spirit. The boys, dressed in white shirts and slacks with black suspenders, and jerseys, aided the cheerleaders in their debut on the field.

You can make some progress if you will give your attention to self-improvement and let other people do the same.

Twenty Years Ago . . .

A U. S. Savings Bond was a Share of Freedom It Still Is!

In the dark, uneasy days foreshadowing World War II, United States Savings Bonds became "Defense Bonds". Then Pearl Harbor, and millions of Americans lacked the attack with War Bonds. . . the appeals by top sports figures like the Sultan of Swat, Babe Ruth, and the Marquis of Queensbury — movie stars like Lucille ("I Love Lucy") Ball, Fred Astaire, James Cagney and Greer Garson? People at home and even our fighting men overseas bought Bonds for victory.

Since the war, the peace we thought would be lasting has been threatened time after time. The need for keeping America strong — strong to keep the peace and the freedoms we cherish — is more urgent than ever.

By buying U. S. Savings Bonds regularly, you share in that job and at the same time you save for your own financial security in the years to come.

Let's mark the 20th Anniversary of Savings Bonds by buying them regularly. They're still shares of freedom!

Mrs. Dietrich Has Visitors

Mrs. Wynema Dietrich, house mother at Patton Hall, was visited last week by three prospective fishermen, or more correctly, fish-women. Her two sisters, Mrs. H.B. Schaff and Mrs. Jewell Jackson, and friends Violet Holmes and Mrs. Stuckey, from Holdenville, to visit and to check on fishing sites for a future trip in the spring. They all thought Patton Hall was lovely and that Mrs. Dietrich had a nice home.

New Dorm 'Mother' Is from Sulphur

Mrs. Lera Jewell is the new house mother at Fulton Hall. She has had no trouble with the boys and thinks they are "extremely nice." Incidentally, she prefers boys. At last report there were eight rooms crowded with three boys to a room and about 90 boys in the dormitory. Mrs. Jewell came from nearby Sulphur and stated that Murray was a good school and a nice campus. She added that everyone was friendly.

Mohsen Fardi Enters Last Semester Here

Mohsen Fardi has returned for his last semester at Murray. As many know he came from Teheran, Iran, and is majoring in Agriculture. His home town is a modern city complete with cars and televisions but in fewer number than in the good ole U.S.

He was raised in a country where the average age of a college graduate exceeds 26 years and also where high school students must take Arabian (the language of their religion, Mohammedanism), plus a choice of one other language, French, German, Russian, or English.

Mohsen noticed important differences in academic college life. A select 20% can attend college and are given few chances to do better before being dismissed because of unsatisfactory work. "Here," Mohsen says, "college is more fun."

Sees Moscow

Mohsen's journey to Oklahoma was far from a beeline type. Three years ago Mohsen Fardi boarded a train bound to Moscow, Russia. There he was impressed by the fact that most of the youth spoke English. He visited museums, libraries, the Bolshoi theatre and other places of interest. He noted the subways, metros in Russia, were magnificent structures. Upon reaching the subway by escalator you are greeted by walls of splendid tile adorned with murals and beautiful lighting. Obstructing this view are statues of Lenin or Stalin at every stop.

Two weeks later he went to Warsaw, Poland, and then to Berlin and Hamburg, Germany. There were no walls between East and West Berlin at this time. Mohsen also visited Paris and London, finally reaching New York by boat. After six months he found that he had learned English and Grammar in Teheran and American English in New York. There is a vast difference. He then traveled to Oklahoma by bus.

It's Friendly Here
Last summer, Mohsen and some of his friends went to California by car. He noticed that the people in other parts of the country are not as friendly as in Oklahoma.

"When I was gone I missed it," he said, "and when I was coming back I felt as if I was coming home. People in Oklahoma always have time to talk to you and life is more leisurely."

Mohsen expects to finish college at O.S.U. after which he hopes to return to Iran. His father is in the real estate business at present but will move to the country to farm. Then his training in Agriculture at Murray and O.S.U. will be put to the real test. He hopes to introduce America to his country as he has tried to introduce his country to us.

Jeanette Looney was chosen homecoming queen candidate by the Aggie Club at its first meeting of the 1961-62 school year Thursday night, September 14. Jeanette is a sophomore from Kingston.

The first order of business was the selection of the queen candidate to represent the Aggies, and then the election of the following officers: Jack Linn, President; Dan Croon, Vice-President; Gerald Bryan, Secretary-Treasurer; Billy Hodges, Reporter; and Frankie Harrisfield, Student Senate Representative.

A committee was appointed to make arrangements for the homecoming float.

Adult Education Conference Held

A conference on Adult Education was conducted by Murray College Monday evening October 16 in the college cafeteria.

Twenty professional and community lay leaders discussed problems involved in an adult education program in this community.

A Steering Committee headed by Dr. Charles Grady, President of Murray College, and Mr. J. C. Cobb, President of Tishomingo Chamber of Commerce, was created to study and coordinate community efforts to promote Murray College. Other professional and lay leaders in the community will be added to the committee.

Dr. Joe E. Timken, Specialist in Adult Education, University of Oklahoma, was principal speaker. Dr. Ora E. Roades, Dean of Murray College, presided.

Dr. Horne to Give Hypnotism Lecture

The first in a series of educational and entertainment programs sponsored by Murray State College as a community service is scheduled in the college auditorium, Tuesday, October 24, at 8:00 p.m. Dr. Malcolm Horne, Ardmore physician, will give an educational lecture and demonstration for hypnotism.

The public as well as the student body is invited to attend. There is no admission charge.

The United Nations observes the 16th anniversary of its founding the week of October 22-28, facing one of its gravest crisis so far. With the world teetering on the brink of nuclear destruction, the Hoving Reporter this week asked a number of students at Murray the following question:

Do you agree with President Kennedy's statement that the United Nations is the last hope for the survival of the world? Why?

Surprisingly, many students appeared completely uninterested in their own fate. Others knew little or nothing about the meaning and purpose of the U.N. But a few who were questioned had done some sound thinking and had an opinion to express. Results:

"I don't think the United Nations will fold up. I believe this assembly and the power it has, has averted war between many countries. I think, had it not been for the U.N., Russia would have given support to many countries that were against democracy and for communism. And, too many nations depend on the U.N. for support and for enforcement of the national laws. Therefore, there is a need for this type of power; and where there is a need, I don't think nations will disband.—Everett Crawford.

"The U. N. will be powerless if they concede to USSR's proposition of the three man power."—Lanny Mayberry.

"I think that the U. N. can help the U. S., but I don't think that it will help the U. S. or any other nation if the USSR succeeds in getting a troika to take the place of the Secretary-General's post."—Keith Whitfield.

"The U. N. could be a great thing if the men running it could agree to anything. It could help the U. S. and the whole world, but there will have to be a big improvement over what they have done in the past. No, I don't think the U. N. will help the U. S."—Lowell Bridgman.

"The U. N. will definitely help the U. S. for it is the bringing of our allies together so in case of war we will not be alone."—Harry and Neal Freeman.

"Since Hammarskjold's death the U. N. is in too much turmoil to help anybody."—Billy Hodges.

"Yes, I do think it is, because Nations have a chance to work out issues, such as the Berlin crisis and the Congo situation."—Charles Kerr.

"I think we might be able to keep it from cracking down, but as the past proves, the UN cannot help the present crisis."—Mohsen Fardi.

BAND DAY TO BE HELD ON OCTOBER 28

Murray's annual Band Day will be held October 28. There will be a marching contest between 7:30 a. m. and 2:00 p. m.

At 3:00 p. m., lasting until 4:00, there will be a street parade. The top two bands will march at the halftime of the Murray-Eastern football game. Also these two bands will receive trophies and the best Drum Major or Majorette will be presented a beautiful baton.

At present seven bands have replied that they would be here. They are Headton, Davis, Fox, Sulphur, Kingston, Denison, and Tishomingo.

Mr. Jack Reid, head of the music department, went to McAlester October 17 to the State Band Marching Contest, to invite more bands to Murray for band day.

Soil Samples To Be Tested

Soil classes are beginning the testing of soil according to Mr. Ringwald. Students have been asked to bring in some soil samples of their own land. They will be checked for acidity, phosphorus, potash, and organic matter. From the results of these tests, fertilizer regulations can be made and a better concept of the individual's own land will be gained.

Murray Cowboys Place in Rodeo

The Murray Rodeo Club had its first competition this year in a match rodeo with Southeastern State College at Colbert, October 8. Although the club did not win the match as a whole, several members placed in some of the top positions.

Entered in the calf roping from Murray were Ernie Taylor, Elvis Howell, J. A. Saxon, and Gary Baugh. Their opponents from Southeastern were Ronnie Bowman, Lynn Bowman, Richard Mullin, and Jerry Daniels. The results in the calf roping were: 1st place, Ronnie Bowman, S.S.C.; 2nd place, Lynn Bowman, S.S.C.; 3rd place, Ernie Taylor, Murray.

There were no results in the bareback riding event.

In the bull riding contest, Don Rigby and Calvin Winburn from Murray rode against Bonnie Bowman and Bobby Dobbins from Southeastern. Coming in first was Don Rigby, Murray, and second was Ronnie Bowman, Southeastern.

The final score was seven to four in favor of Southeastern.

Halloween costumes should consist of white or light-colored materials according to Commissioner of Public Safety, Ray H. Page.

Tryouts for the two plays were held during the past four weeks, with both casts now chosen.

Those to appear in "Rest Assured" are as follows: Allen Campbell, Lauricia Williams, Sylvia Askew, Kaye Cope, Charlotte Greenham, Ben Johnson, Bill Melver, Kathie Brooks, Marcella McGahey, Jerry Mason, Kenneth Winninger, Imogene Morse, Bill Howerton, and Mike Simpson.

The cast for the one act play is Bill Melver, Allen Campbell, Kaye Cope, Bill Howerton, Marcella McGahey, Kenneth Winninger, and Jerry Mason.

"SAY CHEESE"

Who were the distinguished looking young men on campus October 16, 17, and 18? Did you notice the dark coats and ties? They were Murray's own students dressed for their annual pictures.

The guys and gals were dressed appropriately for the occasion. The girls, with the late style hairdos and dark blouses, stood patiently in line with the prominent looking gents.

Carterites Top Enrolment List

For the first time in several years, Carter County has outdistanced Johnston County in the number of students enrolled at Murray. 95 are here from Carter while Johnston has 69.

In third place was Murray county with 37, and Pottawatomie county was fourth with 25. Garvin and Stephens tied for fifth place with 16 each.

Eight counties came up with not one student. They are: Beaver, Cimarron, Garfield, Haskell, Jackson, Muskogee, Payne, and Tillman.

Five other states have students attending Murray this year. Texas has 11, Arkansas one, Michigan one, New Mexico one, and Wyoming one.

Iran is the only foreign country represented with one student. This year's total enrollment is 403.

Engineering Dept. Selects New Books

Mr. George Calvert and Mr. Harold Winburn of the Engineering Department are personally surveying new engineering books to be put in the library. They have selected about twenty so far, Mr. Calvert stated.

Patriots to Wear Blue Sweat Shirts

The campus will soon be decked with Murray College patriots. Mr. Basil Johnson, Dean of Students, announced that navy blue sweat shirts with "Murray College" in bold white letters are being ordered.

A list of 24 student purchasers was submitted to guarantee the purchasing of the sweat shirts. The College plans to order at least 36, with the provision that more will be ordered on demand. The price will be approximately $2.50.

AND WHERE WERE YOU?

How many Murray students take advantage of the library? Do you? Would your grade point rise if you did? When was the last time you used a reference book or encyclopedia?

The answers of most of the Murray students to the previous questions would probably be a slight shrug of the shoulder or a meek negative reply.

These are, however, questions that are noteworthy. Now is the time for the development of good study habits, not later.

There is no way of accurately stating how many students use their breaks between classes to study or review, but the following observation was made:

During activity period one morning this week there were two people studying in the library. At the same time in the student union there were 37 students. This figure does not include those absorbed in television, the pool fiends, or those doing other activities other than scholastic ones.

Why not study more and take fewer Coke breaks?—L.R.

WHY GO TO COLLEGE?

Industry has announced that about two percent of its workers will be replaced by automation in 1962. About 350,000 workers will be affected.

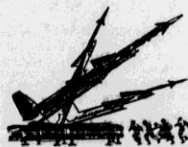

With the workers of the United States already facing high unemployment, what effects will this have on new workers—those entering the job hunting lines for the first time? For the untrained the outlook is grim. New workers with nothing more than highschool diplomas will find it increasingly difficult to find a good job.

College graduates stand a better chance of finding good jobs than ever before. The reason is simple. By receiving a degree from college he has demonstrated to the potential employer that he has the ability to learn the job at hand. In this day of great technical advancement it is important that the employee be able to adjust to new techniques.

Business is turning more and more to the machine to do the work that once was done by man and muscle. The machine does a better job faster and with less overall expense.

Training employees is an expensive undertaking. It often takes at least two years before the new worker begins to "earn his keep." With cost of operation in mind, why should the business man take a chance on a highschool graduate when the law of averages shows the college graduate is more likely to be successful? It is like the baseball manager who, during a tight ball game, orders the pitcher to bunt the runner to second rather than take a chance on a homerun. Business, in a free enterprise system, cannot survive without profit.—The Vista, Central State College.

SPOTLIGHT

This week's spotlight is Jack Linn. Jack is president of the Aggie Club, and Student Senate Representative from the Rodeo Club. He calls Bowlegs home, and is majoring in animal husbandry. Among his list of favorites are: song, "Big John"; singer, Hank Thompson; color, red; food, chicken; and pastime, rodeoing. In high school, Jack was a three year letterman in baseball. On graduating from Murray he plans to finish his work in animal husbandry at O.S.U. When he gets out of school, Jack plans on rodeoing. He has been a professional rodeo clown for the last five years.

Jeanette Looney, the 1961 homecoming queen, is majoring in Secretarial Administration. At Kingston High School she was the secretary of the Junior class and the student conductor of the band her senior year. At Murray she is the secretary of Goal Diggers, Music chairman of B.S.U., and is a member of the mixed chorus and the band. She lists her favorites as: color, light blue; song, Crying; singer, Pat Boone; food, hamburgers; movie, "Parrish"; pastime, Ronny Oliver. Her pet peeve is for someone to start telling her something and not finish it.

October 27 to Be School Holiday

October 27 will be a school holiday for the students, while faculty and members of the Administration attend the annual O.E.A. Convention in Oklahoma City. The teachers usually return full of new ideas and inspirations from attending the convention, but with tired feet and flat pocket books.

ROTC Diary

Fifty-eight students took the Air Force officers qualification test given Monday, October 16, by ROTC. Others wishing to take the test may get permission from Major Carter or Captain Ekins. The next date set for testing is in February. The results from the previous test will return in about six weeks.

Colonel Earl Sneed visited the ROTC staff Tuesday, October 16, and received a briefing from the officers. He, also, had a visit with President Grady.

Mrs. Boyd Proves To Be No Quitter

Tradition was almost broken this year by Mrs. Capitola Boyd, freshman English teacher. For the past 16 years she has attended the Texas-O.U. football games. For the past 11 years she has occupied a choice seat on the 45 yard line in the shade of the press box. This year she decided to pass the game up.

A ticket was furnished her by a friend, but after many "I will's" and "I won'ts" she finally called the friend and said, "I am mailing you your ticket in the morning."

A pall of sadness hung over her the following Monday. Tuesday, and until 10:45 Wednesday morning. She began wondering what had turned her world topsy-turvy and she realized that she was a quitter. Always before, as long as O.U. was in the chips, so to speak, she was there rooting, but now she couldn't share a little of their misfortune.

A telephone call came just at the right time to persuade Mrs. Boyd to change her plans. The friendly voice on the wire said, "I am not accepting this ticket I demand that you go to the game Saturday and cheer lustily for my alma mater."

Yes—Mrs. Boyd went to the game and cheered wholeheartedly for the Sooners.

If your car windows are frosted over when you are ready to leave home in the morning, be sure to clean them all. Remember what you CAN'T SEE CAN HURT YOU!

Git Along Dogie! Check Your Weight

"Next bull on the scales," the man shouts, as the stock is prodded along to and from the scales. Shouts of Aggie members herding the bulls through the lanes to the chutes, and the bellowing of the bulls contribute to the mass confusion in the barns during weighing time, October 11. It took a large portion of the members in the Aggie Department to complete the all-day job. Weighing the stock was the official inauguration of the Seventh Annual Murray State Agricultural College Beef Performance Test.

Assisting in the weighing were Jack Ryan, Johnston County Agent, and Dr. Frank Baker, livestock extension specialist from O.S.U.

College personnel assisting were Gene Needham, Buddy Parks, Allen Moore, and Leo Phillips. The bulls are now being fed and cared for by Jack Linn, Louis Carter, Jimmy Rigby, Robert Thomason, and Tommy Odom.

To be eligible for the test, the bulls must weigh a minimum of 475 pounds, grade 86 or better, and be registered with their respective breed associations. Emphasis is placed on weaning weight, daily gain, and quality of the bulls. The average gain will be calculated for each 28 day period, plus weight per day of age. The efficiency of feeding will be measured by each pen or herd.

There are 16 counties represented from Oklahoma, with representatives also from Nebraska, Kansas, and Texas. The test has gained the reputation of being one of the most successful of its kind in the United States.

The public is invited to visit the test at any time and those desiring information on the test should write Jerry Martin, Murray State College, Tishomingo, Oklahoma.

1791 Students Use Library Oct. 1-15

The library reported a booming business the past two weeks, with a total of 1,791 students coming in to study or check out books from October 1 through 15. The figure averaged about 200 students a day, many of them using the library during the evening hours. Book reports, class assignments in use of reference works, and tests accounted for much of the popularity of the library.

A large order of new books is being prepared, and it is hoped to purchase and process these for use before the end of the semester. Faculty members have been busy selecting titles for their departments, and librarians have been checking

Murray Romps Connors 52 to 27

For the second time this season, the Murray Aggies downed the Connors eleven by a wide margin, when they clashed on the Warners field October 21. The defeat, 52-27, was even more bitter for Connors because it was their homecoming game.

During the first half, both teams played a good offensive game, but were weak on defense.

Murray started the fireworks with an early touchdown when Carpenter threw a 40 yard pass to Alvester Bowens. Jones kicked the point.

Connors retaliated and scored on a play around left end, covering 52 yards, but Cash blocked the kick.

Wilmoth and Carpenter connected on an 18 yard pass play, which put the ball on the three yard line. Jones carried the ball into the end zone to score again for Murray. Connors drove the ball 80 yards during the second quarter, scoring on a one yard plunge off tackle. This time the extra point was good.

Murray took advantage of a Connors fumble on their 29, with Laws

The scoring continued, with Murray ruling the second half. A 26-yard pass play brought another TD in the third quarter. Carpenter

The Aggies ran wild in the fourth quarter, scoring four touchdowns. The first came when Carpenter ran 16 yards around right end. Again, after receiving the ball on Connors' 31 yard line, Murray drove in for another score, with Laws and Jones again carrying the ball. Jones ran for the extra point after a fake kick.

Connors scored once during the second half, making a nine yard run around right end after driving the ball from their own 29 yard line, and completing it with the extra yardage backs were Laws, Jones and Woods.

A 38 yard pass to Woods brought the next touchdown for Murray, and the kick was good. The last tally came when Scroggins intercepted a Connors pass on their 23 and ran it to the 13, with Scroggins completing a pass to Thompson. This brought the final score to Murray 52, Connors 27.

Outstanding defensive players were Parks, Cash and Dennie. Top

Navarro Noses Ags 35-30 at Corsicana

It was a close game Saturday, October 14, with Navarro. Navarro ruled the game the first three quarters, but nearly lost out in the last quarter.

Navarro scored first when a blocked punt went out on Murray's seven yard line. Both teams scored in the second half, Murray when Carpenter threw a touchdown pass to Bowers. The half time score was 13 to 6.

During the second half, Navarro scored two touchdowns with only 58 seconds gone. One was scored when they covered a ball in the end zone. Both teams scored again in the third quarter.

The scoring continued in the fourth quarter, with Murray running three TD's, while Navarro scored none. Murray played a passing game in the last quarter, heaving touchdown passes to Bob Wilmoth and Alvester Bowers.

With only 12 seconds left, Murray got possession of the ball and tried to score on two long passes, but the clock ran out with the tally Murray 30, Navarro 35.

How you can receive a check signed by Uncle Sam twice a year

When you buy an H Bond you can be sure of receiving your first interest check in six months—and every six months till maturity. Every year the U.S. Treasury mails out more than 3 1/2 million interest checks worth $149 million to the folks holding Series H Bonds.

Why buy Series H Bonds? H Bonds are especially good if you're living on a retirement income or want to invest for current income.

If you own E Bonds you can trade them for H Bonds at anytime. (A nice feature of trading is you don't have to pay tax on the accumulated E Bond interest until your new H Bonds mature or are cashed.)

Guaranteed growth. Your Bond money now earns 3 1/2% interest held to maturity. Your money can't be lost because Uncle Sam replaces destroyed Bonds. And you can get your money with interest anytime you want it. Every Savings Bond you buy is a share in a stronger America. Why not ask your banker for all the details?

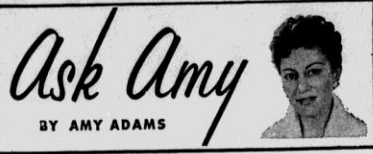

H Bonds pay you 36 checks—once every 6 months. If you buy a $500 Bond, for example, your first 3 semi-annual interest checks will be $4, $7.50 and $6.00. Thereafter you receive $10 every 6 months. H Bonds also come in denominations of $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000.

THIS TIME 'SILENCE IS SILVER'

Dear Amy:

I have two wonderful daughters. One is 22 and the other 24. They're planning a 25th wedding anniversary party for their father and me. They are going to have the party at a local restaurant and are inviting the family and many friends.

We are very happy about all this but there is one thing wrong: No one knows that this anniversary is our 24th and not our 25th. Over the years my husband and I never gave it a thought but now we don't know what to do. We certainly can't tell our girls.

Any suggestions you could offer for a pair of very embarrassed parents would be greatly appreciated.

A Mother and Dad

Dear Mother and Dad:

Some things are better left unsaid when they cannot add to the future happiness of yourselves and your family.

Happy 'SILVER' wedding anniversary!

Dear Amy:

I'm a young fellow in my mid-twenties and I have had the misfortune of becoming completely bald. I'm very embarrassed in company and seldom go out without a hat on. I want to buy a hair piece but my father says it's against nature. He is 25 years older than me and has been bald for 10 years. What should I do?

Hairless

Dear Hairless:

If a hair piece will soothe your vanity, get one. What looks good on father may not look good on you . . . yet!

Dear Amy:

My fiancée and I have a joint bank account in which we are saving towards the day we will marry. All of a sudden, she wants to withdraw a sizable sum and purchase an automobile. She says she is tired of begging rides or taking the bus when we go out on dates. I can see her point, but to buy a car will set our account back at least a year which I do not want to do. Have you anything to offer which will help us resolve our problem?

Carless

Dear Carless:

One small jack can lift a car, but it takes a lot of jack to keep it up. If your marriage is depending on your bank account, being off on the car. Many people who own cars use public transportation. All good things come in due time.

Dear Amy:

I finally met a man who interests me enough to the point of marriage. He is kind, considerate and quite good looking. I haven't said yes to him yet because there is one thing that bothered me. I have been kissed by casual dates and left breathless, but when my boyfriend kisses me, there is a lot left to be desired. Is it possible that real love and tepid affection can go together?

Joanne

Dear Joanne:

Yes, it's possible! It just takes some men a little longer to get started. Tell him you want to 'feel kissed' when he kisses you and I'll bet he changes his tactics.

Dear Amy:

For the past few months I have thought of nothing but a certain man I met. He seemed very nice to me and I fell for him. His job has taken him to another town and I don't see much of him. Last time I saw him, he said he would come to see me next time it rains (he doesn't work when it rains). It has rained twice since and I have waited for him but he never showed up.

My family thinks I'm foolish for wasting my dreams on someone I hardly ever see. Please tell me what to do. I find myself wishing it would rain so that he might show up.

Wishing

Dear Wishing:

Get your mind off your weather man and dry your watery eyes. If you have to depend on a cloud-burst for him to show and he doesn't, you can safely assume he's drying off at another dry-dock.

Find an 'ALL weather' friend you can depend on!

STUDENT SENATE

The Student Senate held its second meeting of the year on Friday, October 6.

The secretaries of each organization are asked to turn in a list of all members and officers to the Student Senate.

Goblins Put Halt To Exam Studying

Rotten eggs, shaving cream, soap, water balloons and all the other trick equipment gave Murray a big send-off on Halloween.

The night started about twilight and ended around 12:30 a.m.

Except for a few industrious students studying for nine weeks exams, the dorm looked deserted. Cars occasionally paraded around campus tooting horns and looking for some "nice" mischievous deed.

Students driving cars parked on campus let out a sigh of relief the next morning to see their transportation sitting unharmed. The ones who braved the battle Halloween night returned to the campus looking bedraggled, spotted and on the whole rather sad.

Sneak previews attracted a score of Murray's students, who had a choice of Madill and Tishomingo. Late leave provided the girls with plenty of time to see the movie and then return to the dorm before bed check.

Only a few misdeeds happened on the campus. We heard about a little spilled paint, something new on the flag pole, a few missing flowers and an accident on the stairs of the gal's dorm (no one injured).

However, it seems Halloween was thoroughly enjoyed by all, with only a few bad deeds, which we can credit to the witches.

Top Brass Visit Murray November 1

The ROTC staff of Murray State was visited last week by Colonel Sneed of Norman. He is Dean of Law School, Air Force Reserve Officer; Colonel Gudge, Professor of Air Science at OSU, and Colonel Coir at AFROTC Headquarters, Maxwell Air Force Base, Montgomery, Alabama.

They were briefed by the Staff, and were honored by the drill team as they marched before them on the football field. They all seemed to be very pleased, stated Major Carter of Murray State.

Variety Show Nov. 9
There will be a special variety type program at 7:30 p. m. November 9 in the college auditorium, to which college students and the public are invited. The program is provided by students of O.B.U. at Shawnee.

Murray College To Get "New Look"

A "new look" is promised for Murray College in the very near future. $600,000 has been allocated by the regents for higher education for modernization and new construction on Murray campus, according to Dr. Charles Grady, president.

A new classroom building costing $350,000 is planned on the site of the present old Fulton Hall boys' dorm. The library and science building will be enlarged and improved in the amount of $130,000, Dr. Grady said.

The appropriation was made available to Murray State from $30 million of bond issue money granted to 18 state colleges. Of this total, $14 million were allocated to the two state universities.

Murray's allocation will be divided, using $120,000 for modernization and $480,000 for new construction, it is planned.

Dr. Grady said it has not been decided yet where to use the $120,000 for repairs. The present administration building is "spreading at the seams," he said, and expert advice would be studied as to the advisability of attempting to repair the building.

"We feel that this building program will do a great deal of good for the college and that the new facilities may well start us on the road to growth," Dr. Grady said.

Construction is not scheduled to start for several months, possibly. Architects generally require about 120 days to draw plans for such construction, and approximately a month more would be required to receive bids from contractors, before the work of construction can begin.

Home Ec Group Visits Old Folks

Cheers Old Folks

The Home Economics Club completed their first monthly project for this year Monday, October 30, when a few members assembled for a trip to an old folks home. Kay Cope, Wilma McCurry, Lutricia Williams, and Paula James served on the committee which constructed a small centerpiece, in the form of a clown. This clown was taken to the old folks home Monday during the fourth period.

The group of girls were shown through the building by Mrs. Shannon, the director. They visited each patient and were invited back.

Those who went were Kaye Cope, Lutricia Williams, Wilma McCurry, Janelle Hale, Paula James and the club sponsor, Mrs. Rosalva Rainey.

Carl Albert Puts Challenge Before Citizens of Today

Congressman Carl Albert, McAlester, spoke on the topic "Citizens Today," to a large audience at Murray State in assembly, October 31. Congressman Albert is majority whip of the house of Representatives, probably the only one ever to come from Oklahoma, according to President Charles Grady, who introduced him. Congressman Albert, who has been an outstanding orator since his high school days at McAlester, had a big part in the celebration at Big Cedar October 29, when President Kennedy was here to dedicate the new highway.

Murray Campus Activities Set For Beat Cameron Week

This week has been designated as "Beat Cameron Week," by a committee on campus headed by Mr. Jack Reid, music department, and Goal Diggers Club. The whole student body, or representatives from every part of it, are working on the theme to promote school spirit for the last home game.

A dance was held Thursday night, November 2, by the Music Club with an admission of one sloan for the Beat Cameron Week. Trophies were given to the best dressed boy and girl.

Other activities and pep rallies promoting the school spirit will be held on every day of this week; Monday—A small pep rally to be held in the cafeteria, with the cheerleaders to lead yells. The Band will be present for a possible Bunny Hop.

Tuesday—Pep Rally to be held on the football field during practice of the football players. Band will be present.

Wednesday—To be designated as "Tag Day" with each student to wear a tag with a "Beat Cameron" slogan on it. Students not wearing tags will suffer the consequences, and will not be allowed in the student union.

Friday—A pep assembly sponsored by the Music Club to be held in the auditorium with skits and songs featuring the chorus.

Everyone is urged to help promote school spirit and boost it in every way you can. This is the last home game, the last game the Sophomores will play here in Tishomingo. A trophy will be given to the individual student who does most to encourage and promote school spirit.

The Oklahoma Highway Patrol is now taking applications for new troopers.

"Murray College is an important institution," he declared. "It will be the most important institution in this area. It is geared to the needs of the students in this area and in the state." Talk of abolishing small colleges has been forgotten, he said, because of our exploding population and our shortage of college class rooms to meet requirements.

"More students want to go to college than ever before," he said. "An eighth grade education is no longer enough today we need highly skilled knowledge. Scientific technology and our rivalry with Russia points this up."

Congressman Albert emphasized the importance of getting the most out of today. "You are citizens today," he stated. You are preparing yourselves for the future, you are living a part of your lives today." Every stage of life is important, he emphasized, and not just a little bit of it at the end.

"We Never Finish"
"We never finish anything," he said. "You are preparing now but you will prepare as long as you live. You have to work just as hard after you leave school as you did when you were in school."

People who become great and accomplish most in the world usually have had handicaps to overcome, he believes. One big handicap of our generation may be the high standard of living of the American people.

"When I was a boy, I had to miss a year of school to go to work," he said. "After I was out I realized what a wonderful thing it was to have the opportunity to go. When I got back to school I was probably better prepared psychologically than anyone else in the school, because I had a need and saw that education was important."

Face Handicaps
"We have the finest country that has ever existed on the face of the earth, and we need to keep it," he said. "But our country didn't just happen. People who made it were willing to face and overcome handicaps."

"Our form of government is being severely challenged today," he said. "I think we are right ideologically because our government is (Continued on Page 4)

Being "Intelligent" NOT Enough

Do you study two hours outside class for every hour in class? If you have four classes a day, do you study eight hours before attending these classes? The answer rests with in each student, but for most of us the answer is no.

The average student carries about sixteen hours; therefore, the average day's load is four classes. There are about seventeen hours that the normal student is consciously awake. If he uses eight hours studying, four hours in class, and three hours for eating, he has only two hours during the day for activities. These two hours are a conglomeration of ten or twenty minutes snatched between study or classes.

Can the average person take this? Of course not. So the solution rests with each student, to solve in his own way, lose sleep, have indigestion from hurried eating, skip activities, or spend less time studying. It isn't meant that you should spend thirty minutes outside class for every hour in it. It simply means to devise your own system of study. This helps to make the most of your limited time, and cuts down on the hours spent studying.

The activities are on campus for your participation, and although they are not the biggest reason for your being in college, they certainly play a large part in college life. College is intended to educate the students mentally, physically, and socially. Just being intelligent will not make a successful person. Personality and social adjustment help in a big way—and these assets are cultivated through participation in activities.

Therefore, to be a well-rounded student, one must participate in activities, as well as study.—K. B.

WHAT PRICE FREEDOM?

What does democracy mean to you, you as a student and a citizen of the United States? What are your ideas and curiosities about this? Congressman Carl Albert spoke to the student body Tuesday, October 31, on the subject of "Citizens Today". Those who heard the speech left the auditorium feeling a little more patriotic and certainly more content in the knowledge that we as Americans have certain privileges that are not bestowed upon all peoples of the world.

We live in a country where tyranny doesn't exist, where the curious mind is offered a pathway on which to seek the answers. From curiosity most of mankind's progress has grown, and will continue to grow. We have a heritage to be proud of and to protect for our posterity. The price of freedom is sometimes very high, and as Mr. Albert stated, the price is sometimes death. But is death too great a fee for so great a cause?—K. B.

Sneakers Invade

The craze of "sneakers" has hit Murray State with a bang. There are white ones, black ones, blue, green and stripes and plaids of all the wildest descriptions. Murray is no different in this respect from campuses all over the United States. Students seem to have adopted sneakers to go with any attire. White bucks are now a thing of the past. The new fad has swept the country as fallout never will. Tennis shoes are cheaper, more durable, maybe not quite so shiny, but certainly more sporty than their leather associates. For classroom wear, campus wear, and even dances, sneakers have wormed their way into all forms of college life. It seems there is a rumor going around about black satin "tennies" for after five wear.

The two colonels were briefed on R.O.T.C. activities by the staff of Murray State R.O.T.C. Cadets, and a luncheon with President Grady was given.

Chemists Mine For Pure Silver

The Chemistry department has found a new way to mine for pure silver. Miss Beulah Zimmerman and Mr. Gerald Shryock were conducting a lab experiment October 25, for their all male chemistry class. The experiment of Oklahoma was to get pure silver from silver copper alloy.

Bunsen burners were all fired up, and solutions were being mixed in test tubes all over the room. The future scientists of Oklahoma seemed absorbed in their experiment. Jesse Reed, Ardmore, had gotten his solution fixed and the crystalline silver formed on a copper wire inserted into the solution.

Bob Upton, Tishomingo, was preparing to start the experiment, after receiving directions from Mr. Shryock.

Other industrious junior scientists noted were Roy Matheny, Blanchard; Sam Hawkins, Bradley; Calvin Winburn, Davis; and Bob Stark, Coalgate. Editor's Note: Don't everyone swamp the chemistry department. They haven't as yet discovered a get-rich-quick scheme.

Capitol Filled With Knowledge

Oklahoma City business personnel were richer but exhausted October 27 after 18,000 Oklahoma teachers "took over" for the annual O.E.A. convention.

Traffic was congested by some 12,000 additional cars, parking lots and motels were jammed, department stores, cafes, and other firms were having their usual convention rush of extra sales to thousands of teachers, who use the time between meetings for their annual "shopping spree."

The huge municipal auditorium was jammed for general sessions in the mornings and evenings. The "Zebra Room," in the basement, with its booths of new teaching gadgets and books, exhibits of school supplies, etc., was mobbed. As one teacher put it:

"I'm not tired. I haven't walked anywhere. I've just been carried along by the crowd."

Teachers scattered to widespread meeting places in schools, restaurants and business buildings all over Oklahoma City for departmental meetings in their fields, business sessions and lectures at various times during the two day convention.

Twenty-three states showed a decrease in traffic deaths at the end of August.

The nation's high schools used a total of 12,346 cars for driver training instruction during the 1960-61 school year. Of that total, 6,711 were loaned free by car dealers.

Players of the Week

Freddie Jones has been chosen "player of the week" because of the running ability he has shown in the last few games. He scored three touchdowns against Connors and kicked three extra points.

Jones is a sophomore fullback from Lufkin, Texas. He went to school in Lufkin and played two years of junior high and four years of high school ball. He graduated in 1959 and attended Tyler College his freshman year.

After Murray, Freddie plans to attend Central or O.S.U., majoring in Physical Education, and become a coach.

Bob Carpenter has been chosen as co-player of the week. He was selected because of the touchdown passes he has thrown and the touchdowns he has run. He threw three touchdown passes against Connors and three against Nazario. He ran one TD in the Connors game and another in the Eastern game.

Bob's home town is Lindsay, where he also played quarterback on the high school team. He went out for basketball and track, in addition to football.

After Murray, he plans to go to O.U. and major in engineering.

Six New Beeves Make Appearance

There have been some new additions to the inhabitants of the Murray College barns. The college herd is starting to calve. Four of the registered Hereford cows have new calves and two of the registered Angus cows have new calves.

After the heifer calves are twelve months old they will go through a selection process. If they are of high enough quality, they will again join the herd as replacements for some of the older members. Some of them will be used by the animal husbandry classes as a part of the course work, and others will be sent to market. Most of the bulls will be fattened and used in class work.

Studying Stars In a Classroom?

One of the more interested students brought pictures of the moon in eclipse, meteors, planets, and drawings of the surface of Mars.

Cheerleaders Work To Boost Aggies

"Victory, victory is our cry," yell the cheerleaders as they enthusiastically jump and clap before the crowd on the bleachers. This, their voluntary duty, is a task which requires plenty of energy, vitality, patience, and practice.

Often their effort receives only meager results.

But win or lose, sunny or cloudy, the girls' spirits aren't dampened.

Those leading Murray's Goal Digger's this year are as follows: Kay Vaughn, Anadarko, who has one year experience accredited to her; Shirley Green, Davis, has had two year's experience in cheerleading; Gwen Kennedy, Denison, is cheerleading for her first time this year; Linda Thomas was a cheerleader two years at Tishomingo High School; Dixie Thompson, who attended Lone Grove High School, was a cheerleader two years in high school; Sandra Fisher, Ardmore, is experiencing her first time as cheerleader.

The Murray yells came from the various high schools which the girls attended, and from the yells taught at O.U. cheerleading camp.

Uniforms worn this year are the same as the ones last year: navy skirts and white wool V-neck pull-over sweaters, with a blue and white letter "M" on them. The cheerleaders' names are inscribed on the "M".

Assembly Program Scheduled Friday

Members of the honors and awards committee, the band, the music department, the athletic department and cheerleaders will take part in a special assembly program in the Murray State auditorium at 10:15 a. m. Friday, November 10.

The first portion will be the presentation of honors awards by the honors and awards committee. Miss Ella Drener, head of the mathematics department, is in charge.

The second part of the program will be musical numbers. The Air Force ROTC Club will sing "U. S. Air Force Blue" and "Climbing Up the Mountain" (spiritual).

The Girls' Trio will sing "It's a Big Wide Wonderful World" and "I'm Gonna Wash That Man Right Outa My Hair."

The School Alma Mater and Fight Song will be sung by the Mixed Chorus. They will try to teach these to the student body.

The final portion will be a pep assembly consisting of several yells and a short talk by Mr. A. W. Beames, Athletic Director. The band will play for the pep assembly.

A career in the Oklahoma Highway Patrol is now open to a limited number of young men between 25 and 35 years of age who weigh at least 165 pounds and are five feet, 10 inches tall, with at least a high school education who have lived in Oklahoma for at least two years.

AG-CAMERON CLASH SLATED FOR FRIDAY

Murray Aggies, with no game scheduled last week, have been sharpening both offense and defense in preparation for a try at humbling the powerful Cameron Aggies from Lawton.

Game time is 8 p. m. Friday on Murray Field.

Eastern Takes Another

Eastern slipped past the Aggies 19 to 13 in a conference game here October 28 when the Mountaineers refused to be troubled by a 20-mile an hour wind which blew continuously during the game.

Eastern won over the Aggies also by one touchdown, 25-19, in the non-conference encounter at Wilburton early in the season.

In the game here, the Aggies were wind driven by an exchange of punts in the first quarter and held for four downs on their own seven yard line. The fine defensive play failed to do much good, however. In gaining possession and trying to boot out of danger from their own 10, the Aggie kick was blocked and recovered in the end zone by Eastern's B. Chapple for a touchdown. Rader's kick for extra point failed.

In the second quarter the Aggies launched a drive from Eastern's 33 yard line. Hal Jones and Dwaine Woods both made 14-yard carries and Johnny Thompson scored from the 9 by skirting left end. Jones' kick for extra point failed and left the score tied 6-6 at halftime.

In the third quarter a 33-yard run by Eastern's fullback B. Wallace made the score 12 to 6. The scoring off-tackle play proved to be a headache for the Aggies for the remainder of the game as Eastern used it consistently for sizable gains.

In the fourth quarter Eastern marched from their own 22 yard line to the Murray 4 where on the third attempt D. Gleason scored to make it 18-6. Rader's kick added an extra point. Murray immediately countered after taking the kickoff on their own 35. Aided by 20 yards of penalties assessed against Eastern for personal fouls (Continued on Page 4) based on logic and reason."

Dictatorship is based on the theory that the individual doesn't count. The theory is that the rights of the individual came from the state and what the state has given, it can take away.

This is wrong, he believes. "Only the individual can think, suffer, laugh, cry, hope, dream. Every little human being goes through this world a separate and lonely man. His house should be his castle, and his conscience his king."

Communists say that communism is best in the trend of governments, that it is the pinnacle, the highest form of government.

Dictators Fall
But Congressman Albert cites history and shows that no one-man government has lasted. The governments of Cromwell, Napoleon, Kaiser Wilhelm and Hitler all went down with their deaths.

On the contrary, he said the government of 180 million Americans stands strong and rugged after more than a century and a half.

"It is our heritage, a heritage worthy of princes," he declared. "Live for it; if need be, die for it, citizens of America."

Dr. Horne Puts Aggies in Trance

Dr. Malcolm Horne, Ardmore physician, lectured and demonstrated on hypnotism in the Murray College auditorium October 24. Dr. Horne has a wide educational background and received his B.A. degree at Phillips University at Enid.

Dr. Horne gave a brief background about hypnotism and corrected many fallacies. He stated that hypnotism is not a form of unconsciousness, although it is a relaxed state. The subject is aware of what is happening and is subject to the hypnotist's suggestions. As a rule he will not act on any suggestion that is contrary to his wishes.

Aid to the Ailing
The body is controlled by the mind, Dr. Horne stated, and the mind can be influenced by suggestions favorable to the subject.

Therefore hypnotism can help cure certain ailments. This was widely proven during and after World War II, he said, when it was used to help soldiers who had endured horrible experiences. Their trouble often was largely psychological. Since the war more and more doctors have taken advantage of the uses of hypnotism ranging from childbirth to the extraction of a tooth.

Dr. Horne stated that hypnotism is not dangerous when practiced by a qualified person. But he warned against allowing an unskilled practitioner to hypnotize you. A licensed M.D. is safest.

The doctor demonstrated hypnotism with Mrs. Florene Parker as his subject.

Takes Xmas Trip

Dr. Horne "took her back" to the first Christmas she could remember, when she was four years old. She then went on to the second grade, remembering a new dress and nearby classmates' names. He asked her to write her name. She wrote her maiden name slowly in a childish hand, as if she were in the second grade. Mrs. Parker awoke from her "sleep" (the word is used for want of a better one) relaxed, and feeling fine.

Eight Murray boys were also subjects of the doctor. He stated that possibly 5 of the boys had entered a light to medium trance. A good subject can enter a deep trance easily, according to Dr. Horne. He reminded the audience that demonstrations were not a part of his job and that he would never endeavor to make guinea pigs of people. He occasionally uses hypnotism as an aid in his work.

Reporters to Meet

There will be a meeting of club and class reporters in the library Tuesday afternoon, November 13 at 4:30. All reporters are urged to attend.

Club Events

MUSIC CLUB
The Music Club met in the Student Center Ballroom Wednesday, October 25, at 12:30. A work schedule was planned for the operation of the concession stand on Band Day.

This day has now passed and the Music Club was well pleased with the proceeds gained from this endeavor.

At this meeting plans were also made for a dance to be sponsored by the Club. This dance was set for Thursday night, November 2.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION
The BSU meets each Tuesday and Thursday night in the basement of the Bessie Poe Hall. Hymns are sung and a devotional is given by one of the BSU members.

The BSU has selected their nominees for the State BSU program. These nominees were sent in hoping that one of these will be chosen to represent Murray College. Each College is limited to one representative for the program.

Everyone is invited to attend our meetings. So far there have been about 25 attending. The BSU hopes to increase its membership.

RODEO CLUB

The Rodeo Club met Monday, October 9, to discuss the possibility of a barn dance. A notice was sent up before the Student Senate for approval. A committee was appointed to check on a band to furnish the music.

The Club plans to discuss a hayride in the near future. Their next meeting will be November 9, when reports of the committees will be heard. Also plans will be made for decorating the place for the dance.

PHI THETA KAPP

Phi Theta Kappa met on Monday, October 30. They made plans for the initiation of new members into the club, and discussed the possibility of a trip to Biloxi, Mississippi, to the National Convention in March.

New members reported at various times Thursday, November 2, to take their tests.

Those students receiving invitations to join are as follows: Katherine Brooks, Ardmore; Kay Cope, Macomb; Wilma McCurry, Wapona; Wanda Perkins, Coleman; Gerald Bryan, Elmore City; Hugh Pool, Savanna; Billy Hodges, Overbrook; Betty Green, Mannsville.

Keith Whitfield gave a report on his meeting with the national secretary of Phi Theta Kappa this past week end.

STOICS

The Stoics and their sponsor, Lloyd Goss, had their meeting in the conference room of the Student Union Wednesday, the 18th of October, at 7:30 p.m. The Stoics elected Gene Rutherford as their new reporter and then discussed Deism.

Everyone is eligible, and is cordially invited to join. The next meeting will be held Wednesday, November 1, in the Student Union. "Ideal Communism versus Communism as it is" will be the subject for discussion.

Most members were present with several new ones attending their first meeting. Dean Basil Johnson visited the meeting and contributed to the discussion.

The STOICS had another meeting at 7:00 p. m. Wednesday night in the Conference room of the Student Union. The Constitution was put into effect. Jerry Butler and Bob Crouch were elected as head of the campaign committee. Kathie Brooks was selected as head of the budget committee.

For the annual trip, suggestions were made to visit McAlester State Penitentiary, Norman Mental Hospital, and the El Reno Reformatory.

The next meeting will be held at

Exams Down Spirits As Nine Weeks End

Nine-weeks' exams are near, so near that everyone can just see those F's jockeying for first position on his flunk slip. Everybody's having nightmares about the week-end home after Mom gets those flunk slips. (Note: Hide all weapons at home.)

Lights stay on late after quiet hours, and students, those who don't fall asleep and let their light burn all night in vain, are getting in their last-minute cramming. That's usually about what it amounts to, one minute of cramming. (Maybe we should say sixty seconds; that sounds a little longer.)

In class we hold our breath for a week until the instructor announces the test date. And, believe me, when he announces the date, you can hear the breath coming out. Questions are shot at him inquiring about material covered since the last test, the nature of the test, and how the test is to be graded. There's more discussion on that day than ever before.

Those who wait till the last minute to do their studying are wanting to know what material to cover so as not to waste their minute of cramming. Those who, perish the thought, actually study regularly want to know the nature of the test so they can review properly, and the gamblers want to know the grading system to be used so they can figure their odds on passing.

If any housemother is wondering why so many rooms are being cleaned, it's because notes have been lost under more notes since 7:00 p. m. November 8, in the Student Union. Everyone is invited to join. Anyone interested can see Lloyd Goss and he will explain the club to you.

The Stoics met previously on October 18, in the conference room. Mr. Lloyd Goss, the club sponsor, and most of the enrolled members were present for the discussion of Deism. A pleasant surprise was Dean Basil Johnson's visit with the club.

Gene Rutherford was elected as reporter.

To Hold Weiner Roast
The Student Christian Association will sponsor a weiner roast Wednesday evening, November 8th.

Each member is encouraged to invite a guest. We will meet in front of the Library at 5:15 and leave there at 5:30.

the last tests. How do you account for the messy rooms during the nine weeks? Well, some are too lazy to take notes, so why clean the room?

Oh well, sanity will return after the tests are over, and everyone can breathe easier—until semester tests.

New President To Visit Here On January 3

Dr. Freeman McKee, the newly elected Murray State College President, plans to visit the campus on Wednesday, January 3, at which time he hopes to be able to meet the faculty and numerous citizens of Tishomingo. His present plans call for moving to the campus on January 16, and enrolling his two daughters in the Tishomingo schools.

Dr. McKee was selected by the board of regents for the Oklahoma A. & M. Colleges to succeed Dr. Charles Grady, who resigned to become president of Oklahoma College for Women, Chickasha. Dr. McKee will take over his new duties effective the beginning of the second semester, January 1962.

McKee, 44, is a native Oklahoman and has had most of his educational training and experience in the state. He has been on the staff of Panhandle A. & M. College for 12 years, and is presently Dean of Instruction there. He has also been a high school teacher at Cordell, and a public school superintendent at Texhoma.

He is a past president of Rotary Clubs in Texhoma and Goodwell, and is a member of the Oklahoma and National Educational Associations. He is married and has two daughters, age 16 and 11.

Dr. McKee was born and grew up on a farm in Washita County. He was graduated from high school at Rocky and Panhandle A. & M. College in 1938. He received both his masters of sciences and doctor of education degrees from Oklahoma State University.

Dr. McKee will be representing Murray State College at the President's Council meeting, Monday, December 18, and will also attend the athletic meeting on the same date.

Dr. and Mrs. Grady will be moving to the OCV campus on January 11 or 12.

5 Staff Members Attend Conference

Several members of the faculty and administration attended the Conference for Higher Education at Central State College, Edmond, December 9. Those representing Murray State were as follows:

Dr. Charles Grady, Dr. Ora E. Roades, Miss Ella Draper, Mr. Lloyd Goss, and Mr. George Calvert.

Drama Club Gives Hilarious Comedy

The Murray Drama Club presented a three-act comedy, "Rest Assured" Wednesday night, December 12, in the college auditorium.

The play centered about a Mr. Morlock whose only interest was money. His family was on the verge of falling apart because of his thirst for success.

Morlock's daughter, Mary, wanted to marry Joe Laroni. Mr. Morlock, or P.U., wouldn't consent because Joe's father was only a poor meatcutter. Joe's father, Luigi tries to convince him of his son's merits but winds up fighting instead. Luigi is taken away because of a bad heart.

P.U. is given several too many sleeping pills by his worried family and timid attorney, George Plew. He dreams that Luigi died because of the fight and comes back to haunt him until he gives permission for the wedding. The dream develops and P.U. finds that he, too, is dead. He discovers that no one grieves because he was so tied up in his money.

Many laughs later it is all found to be only a dream and Morlock abruptly changes his outlook. He gives permission for the wedding, stops his wife from leaving home, and generally convinces everyone that he has finally flipped his wig. His wife is overjoyed that he has finally returned to the lovable way he was years before.

The play was directed by Mr. John W. Fletcher, head of the Language Arts Department, with a cast as follows: Sylvia Askew, Wanda Perkins, Allen Campbell, Marcella McGahey, Kenneth Winninger, Bill Melver, Laticia Williams, Kaye Cope, Ben Johnson, Jerry Mason, Jerry Martin, Kathie Brooks, Imogene Morse, and Tom Luckinbill.

A lot of hard work went into the play with gratifying results. The cast and the director and other people associated with the play are to be thanked for a fine evening of entertainment.

Pre-Enrollment Scheduled for January 3-12

Pre-registration for the spring will be conducted January 3-12. On these dates instructors will remain in their offices except for meeting their classes in order to assist students with their selection of courses.

Students currently enrolled at Murray College who complete their pre-registration will not be required to be present on registration day.

Students wishing to change their adviser should go to the Dean of Students.

Procedure for pre-registration starts in the Registrar's Office where you obtain your registration forms. Fill in the form and then report to your faculty adviser for assistance with your choice of courses.

Your adviser will sign your Trial Schedule and then report to the Registrar for sectioning your classes.

Murray Grad In New 'Who's Who'

James Robert Clark, 1960 graduate from Murray College, has been nominated for "Who's who," in American Colleges and Universities for 1961-62 from Oklahoma State University which he now attends. Clark is a mechanical engineering student at OSU.

Students nominated for the national honor are selected on the basis of scholarship, participation and leadership in academic and extra-curricular activities, and service to the school. Each candidate had to be a graduating senior. Clark is vice president of the Petroleum Club, a Pi Tau Sigma pledge, secretary-treasurer of the chapter, a major in the AFROTC, and a member of the Student Entrepreneurs.

While attending Murray Jim played with the Velvets, a popular combo on campus.

New 'Tribesman' Being Prepared

"Where will we put these pictures?" This and many other similar comments were heard by this reporter on a visit to Mr. Fletcher's office Thursday, November 30.

Paula James, Laticia Williams, and Mr. Fletcher were fast at work on the annual. With standard volumes and many college annuals, they were busily discussing the contents of our own "Tribesman".

Edward Jarman, former student at Murray, has requested a copy of his transcript to attend nursing school at Shawnee. Jarman was last here in 1958-59.

Holidays Begin at 4:35 December 20

Christmas holidays will begin at 4:35 P. M. Wednesday, December 20, 1961, and end at 7:30 A. M. Tuesday, January 2, 1962.

The cafeteria will continue to serve meals through Wednesday, December 20, 1961. Students should be advised to leave the campus by 8:00 P. M. December 20, 1961, as the dormitories will be closed until 12 noon January 1, 1962.

The usual attendance regulations will prevail on the days preceding and following the holidays.

Sen. Monroney Outlines Our Defense Posture in Dec. Talk

"Russia does not want war with the West." This is the opinion of U. S. Senator Mike Monroney, who spoke to a large crowd in the Murray State auditorium in assembly Friday, December 1.

"I don't think Khrushchev is going to risk 40 years of hardship and privation which Russia has undergone to build up a peasant nation into a great industrial country, only to have it become a nation of rubble overnight," he declared.

The Senator regards Berlin as the focal point, the heart of the struggle between Communism and the western powers. Between August and December, in the Senator's viewpoint, Khrushchev has seen the determination of America not to surrender this vital point without a struggle.

"By re-assessing our will to fight," said Senator Monroney, "Mr. Khrushchev has begun to look for a place to turn around."

In clear and forceful words he pictured the situation in Berlin.

"The Communists, representing a billion people, and the West, representing another billion, each with enough thermo nuclear capacity to wipe out everyone on the face of the earth, are facing each other across thin strands of barbed wire," he said. "According to the peace treaty signed after World War II, Berlin was not to be a part of any Communist or western government. Both sides were guaranteed the right of access to both East and West Berlin.

"We have a legal right to be there," he said firmly. "Smaller nations will be forced into alliances with the Communists if we back down in Berlin."

Not First Crisis
This is not the first crisis we have faced in the struggle against Communism, he recalled. After World War II the Communist underground arose and tried to force Greece and Turkey to accept Communism, so they would have a bridge to the West. The plan failed. Also in Great Britain and France, the United States managed to prevent Communists from gaining control by Marshall Plan aid. When the Communists tried to cut off access to Berlin a few years ago, the U. S. supplied the city for one winter with clothes and food in the Berlin airlift. In Korea we entered a 'shooting war' to prevent South Korea from being captured by Communist North Korea and the Viet Nameses.

Speaking to boys of draft age in the audience, Senator Monroney stated:

"You students have a right to ask me 'What is our defense posture?' To answer the question, he compared our relative position with Russia in production of five important members of the weapons family.

The Russians hold superiority in production of the Inter Continental Ballistic Missile, he states. This missile can travel through outer space between Moscow and Washington in 19 minutes. Khrushchev started with production of this weapon because he has no bases overseas, the Senator explained. They still lead us three to two.

Intermediate Range Missiles
Because we have overseas bases in Turkey and Greece, which we saved for the West, the U. S. started with the intermediate range missile. We can reach the heart of Red Russia from these bases with 1500-mile missiles. These are operational with troops

AM I MY BROTHER'S KEEPER?

We heard a speech titled the "Luckless Legion". The Luckless Legion is defined as the many unthinking people who die and cause death on the highways each year. The worst time of the year for these accidents is the holiday season—which is only a week away.

Each year hundreds of Americans find their fate behind the wheel of a car. Many more are permanently maimed, children are orphaned, and families broken up. The holiday season loses all meaning as the death tolls mount up-up-up.

To end this suffering of humanity is left up to every American. It is your job personally to cut down on the recruits for the "Luckless Legion".

Remember this as you drive home for the holidays—On the highway YOU are truly your brother's keeper.

COLLEGE DEGREE IS WORTH $100,000

Why go to college? Why spend four years of your life, and invest hundreds of dollars for this thing called education? Why? Why? Why?

College can be the greatest investment you'll ever make. An education isn't like a new car that will grow old with the years. It is like good wine; it grows better as the years go by.

Once you have it, it is yours. There are no breakdowns, no added expense later. You need no insurance. It is your insurance—of a better and richer life. Education is something neither storm, nor strife, nor Russia can destroy. Our country counts you, a college student, among the future "greats". This is why you should want to invest, and invest wisely. By this we mean, make good your investment! study! Get your money's worth!

But, are you prepared for college? Mother and Dad are no longer around to see that you study. You only have yourself to depend on. Are you dependable? Or—did you start on the wrong track—all social? Campus activities are an important part of college life—but, by no means all of it. Did nine week exams find you unprepared to meet them? Did you complain of all being given on the same day? Is this the instructor's fault or yours? The instructor assumes that you study as you go, and if you don't—you, yourself are to blame.

You're struggling to get an education, like many before you, and with you; and after you're out making your mark on the world—there will still be college students. Students striving toward a goal, struggling to make good an investment. Some will lag, and some will never make it. Will you be one of these soon-to-be-forgotten students? Or, will you take your place among the majority—the college graduates, the students who won the battle?

Being a college graduate carries prestige with it. Statisticians estimate that a college graduate may make $100,000 more in his life-time than the average man without a degree. Can you think of a better investment—$3000 to $4000 to pay such dividends as this?

Yes—there is a reason to go to college, many reasons, and each will multiply as you grow. So strive to stay, and to stay—you must strive!

ROTC Diary

About 23 cadets made a field trip to McConnell AFB Thursday December 13. They left Murray about 9 o'clock that morning and returned to Murray Saturday afternoon. They went to Tinker AFB Oklahoma City, and flew from there to Wichita, Kansas.

The cadets visited the SAC operations, and the Boeing Aircraft Co.

The field trip to Perrin Air Force Base November 18, was canceled because of the death of Senator Sam Rayburn. High governmental officials were to fly into Perrin and other officers from all over the world were to come to the base.

A new trip will be planned and the students will be notified when the trip will take place.

Members of the Murray ROTC Staff, two squadron commanders and the drill team commander, will go to Eastern A. & M. College to visit their ROTC detachment, December 22.

Next semester Murray will be visited by other ROTC groups to observe our methods of training and the way we handle our problems. Our unit will try to give them an interesting trip and one that will be worth while.

The members of the Murray group who plan to go to Eastern are as follows: Billy McNeil, Davis, Cadet Colonel; Lanny Mayberry, Davis, Cadet Major; Dale Dowdy, Duncan, Cadet Major; Robert Long, Ardmore, Cadet Major; Choice Taylor, Madill, Cadet Major; Philip Marshal, Fox, Cadet Major.

Phi Thetas Busy Raising Trip Fund

Phi Theta Kappa met Tuesday night, December 5, to make further plans for the trip to the National Convention in Biloxi, Mississippi, March, 1962. The topic of discussion was possible ways of raising money for the trip. Members decided to hold a raffle in downtown Tishomingo on December 23. The object to be raffled is an automatic Winchester shot gun with a fiberglass barrel. Tickets for the gun may be bought from the members for $1.

Following Christmas vacation, the club will sponsor a car-wash to further increase their funds.

24 Blossom Out in New Sweat Shirts

Patriotic students suddenly appeared on campus Tuesday, November 28, when the sweat shirts with MURRAY COLLEGE lettered on the front finally arrived. The sweat shirts ordered last month looked very appropriate. Each student upon purchasing his immediately tried it on.

The order of two dozen was a complete sellout, leaving many students disappointed. More sweat shirts are in the process of being ordered so everyone be sure to keep three dollars on hand.

TRAVIS AT PANHANDLE

David O. Travis, 1961 graduate from Murray, is enrolled this year in Panhandle A. & M. at Goodwell, Oklahoma. David finished his four semesters mid-year but graduated with the 1961 class.

At Murray State, David received the trophy for the student with the highest scholastic record in 1961. David was recently initiated into Lambda Sigma Tau.

The trophy is an attractive plaque with a raised figure in the center with smaller figures and inscription plate beneath.

Rapid Gains Are Shown by Bulls On College Test

The 56 day weighting of the bulls on test at Murray State Agricultural College Beef Performance Test, Tishomingo, was held Wednesday, December 6. The performance of the bulls for the 28 to 56 day stage has substantially improved over the first 28 day results.

The overall average daily gain at the end of 56 days was 2.77 pounds. The last 28 days of this 56 day period the bulls had an average gain of 3.12 pounds per day.

Turner Ranch, Sulphur, maintained their lead in the Hereford herd averages with two bulls gaining 3.55 pounds per day. Five bulls owned by Dr. G. T. Easley, Sulphur, have gained 3.04 pounds per day for the 56 day period. These two breeders shared honors for the top gaining Hereford bull with a gain of 3.48 pounds. Applicants Needed For Job Registers

The Oklahoma Merit System lists of persons qualified for position in Civil Service show a need of applicants for some positions. Efforts are being made to recruit qualified candidates for examination in the following class positions:

Materials Analyst, Comptometer Operator, Stenographer, Senior Stenographer Clerk, Intermittent Interviewer, Psychological Technician, Geologist, and Veterans Service Officer.

Candidates may take the tests Monday, Wednesday, or Friday. For those who cannot take the test during the week, two Saturdays per month and occasional weekday evening examinations are given.

It is surprising how many people can tell you what is the matter with other people, without knowing what is the matter with themselves.

The next 28 day weighing is scheduled for January 3, 1962. The test will be complete the first of March with the sale of these performance tested bulls to be held March 17, 1962.

Murray College Was Honored At O.S.U. Party

Murray State Agricultural College was honored at a birthday party in Stillwater on December 16.

"Murray was recognized for its many contributions since 1908 in providing higher education to the thousands of young men and women of our state," said President Oliver S. Willham of Oklahoma State University.

OSU was host for the party and is that combined three birthday celebrations into one for this occasion.

December is both the founding month and date when classes were started at the University. Each were made possible by the establishment of the Land-Grant system of education 100 years ago. The party is the University's first major observance of the Land-Grant centennial.

"As part of our celebration," explained President Willham, "we wish to pay tribute to all of the colleges and universities in Oklahoma, both publicly and privately operated, with whom we share a common goal and service."

President Charles E. Grady and another representative of Murray were invited to a luncheon in Stillwater on December 16.

Principal speaker was Dr. Reuben Gustavson, distinguished educator and scientist. He has been president of the University of Nebraska, and president of the national Council for Financial Aid to Education in New York. He is now a professor of chemistry at the University of Arizona. Earlier that day Dr. Gustavson addressed the OSU faculty in a special seminar.

Journalism Profits Qualified Students

The University of Iowa is offering approximately 25 positions as assistant in the field of journalism. The assistantships are worth from $1,260 to $2,000 per academic year for half-time work, and $630 to $1,000 for quarter time work. Appointments can be made for the 1962 and 1963 summer sessions.

The assistantships are of two types: Research, dealing with studies and investigations of various topics. This application must be filed at once in order to terminate the process by February 20, 1962.

The second type is graduate assistants who will be closely associated with teaching and laboratories devoted to various journalistic branches. This application process will end in April of 1962.

Last year students from 46 colleges, in 26 states, Washington, D. C. and three foreign countries held positions as assistants in journalism at the University.

Further information is available from the Aggieite and Professor Leslie G. Moeller, Director, School of Journalism, the University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa.

Bus. Ad. Students Are Acquiring Speed

A survey of what has been going on during the first nine weeks in the ever-popular Business Department reveals the following:

Wanda Horath is writing 110 words a minute; Carol Collins, Shirley Jane Green, and Shirley Sledd, 100, Linda Thomas 80; Linda Colbert, 90; and Janette Looney, 70. Thomas, Colbert, Green, Collins, and Horath are all reading well over 200 words per minute in shorthand.

S. A. 102. Beginning typists have already learned the basic techniques. They are now learning to type letters and tabulate material and are taking timed writings to increase speed and accuracy.

S. A. 123. Intermediate typists are engaged in building speed on both straight copy and production work and acquiring and developing new typewriting skills.

S. A. 102. Beginning shorthand students have now learned the shorthand alphabet and are developing fluency in reading and writing shorthand.

Don't Breathe It

Well, back again—and just before the holidays too!

Heard a dirty rumor about Doc Heiladay and Jack Campbell getting lost. I never did get that story quite straight. Duck hunting at night?? or lost in broad daylight?? Boys, your story sounds a little fishy.

Noted in physical science class the other day: Idabel giving a very detailed explanation of a freak incident—thunder, lightning, and snow Good work Idabel! Maybe that's your call.

By the way, Carroll Satterwhite, what happened to your eye? Shirley, Doris, and Kay seem to be getting a little noisy in Patton Dorm lately. Or could it be they're just at the wrong end of the dorm. Eh-Girls?

What's this about Glen Kuykendall taking a midnight swim? and in the dorm yet—

Butch Haney—We heard you had a birthday. We heard it real loud. Patton Dorm girls drew names the other night for a real splashy Christmas.

Bob Pickens is such a gentleman. . . .

Wayne Hunter, we're glad to see you dressed lately. It seems there's a rumor about you auctioning off your clothes the week before the ROTC ball. Who were your buyers?

For a while it seemed that Dale Dowdy and Dick Sharp had split up their schoolboy friendship, but we just got word that they are still buddies. Dick, we heard you got the worst of the deal.

Sylvia Askew—We're glad you know your part in the play, it's both encouraging and inspiring to such bad actors as this reporter.

Cadets' Formal Ball Draws Crowd

Approximately 200 people attended the R.O.T.C. formal military ball Friday, December 1 in the college gymnasium. Music was furnished by Tommy Harkness and his Stardusters. A girl vocalist sang several numbers throughout the evening. The dance music was slow, as befitted a formal affair.

The gym was decorated with long strips of blue and white crepe paper in rectangular shape above the dance floor. A concession stand set up at the north end, near the band, was much frequented.

The R.O.T.C. members wore their uniforms and the girls wore attractive formals.

Eager Beaver Gnaws Trees and Thus Saves on Toothpaste, Students Say

In the dawning hours of the day, Sherman Spencer and a friend of his were hunting along Pennington Creek when they saw a beaver enter the water. They followed and held a light on him as he swam at least 150 yards upstream underwater. Finally he came up for air, and they shot him. The beaver then doubled back and swam approximately the same distance downstream underwater. Two more shots were necessary before the beaver succumbed.

Spencer skinned the beaver, then brought the carcass to college, where an autopsy was performed in a zoology lab under the supervision of Paul J. Park, head of the science department.

Many things were observed by the students who witnessed the operation. Jerry Perry noticed that beavers have flat tails. Frank Thompson said the beaver had less cavities than people who use Gleem three times daily. Jack Linn is confused because the beaver lives in water, but it has fur, so what is it? Phillip Nation says beavers eat trees? Bill McNeil counted four feet, including forefeet. Is that eight or is that eight. Royce Searey says that, from the looks of the beaver's liver, he'd never heard of Carter.

Excluding these thought-provoking notes, the operation was a success. (The beaver died.)

Scholarships Are Offered Students

Four British and two Austrian summer schools are offering American students the opportunity of liberal arts study for six weeks in July and August of 1962. Applications for study are now being accepted by the Institute of International Education.

The British University summer Schools program allows students to apply for study at one of four schools, each concentrating on a particular subject and period. The four schools are Stratford-upon-Avon, University of London, Oxford and Edinburgh School. The courses of study are respectively: Shakespeare and Elizabethan drama; 20th century art and music history, literature, and the arts of 17th century England; and British history, philosophy, and literature from 1688 to 1822.

A few scholarships, covering part or all of the $254 fee are available.

Both Austrian summer schools include in their program the opportunity to attend performances at Salzburg's famed music festival. Also included are various conducted tours at Salzburg. The fee for the entire program is $245. A few full scholarships are available.

Applications for both the British and Austrian programs may be obtained from the Information and Counseling Division, the Institute of International Education. British Summer School scholarship applications must be received before March 1, 1962, and admission

Jack Linn Is Professional Rodeo Clown

It may surprise most students at Murray to know that Jack Linn, an Aggie Major from Seminole, is a professional rodeo clown, or as he calls it, a bullfighter, working the RCA rodeo circuit each year.

Beneath the thick layer of oil paint on their face and the baggy pants that entertains the kids, a bullfighter is a steel nerved business man whose main job is to try and save the life of a cowboy who leaves the back of a bull, voluntarily or otherwise. The way a bullfighter does this is to divert the attention of the bull from the cowboy to himself.

Start at Bullfighting

Jack got his first job as a bullfighter in 1956 in Gladewater, Texas. At that time he was 17 years old. Buck LeGrand, one of the all time great rodeo clowns and bullfighters, had a great deal to do with Jack's getting the job.

Jack was notified about three hours before show time that if he could find a barrel he could have the job. He hunted around for a while and found an old wooden pickle barrel. Jack didn't have any experience at fixing a barrel to be used in fighting bulls, but he took some old tires and finally padded it up so he could use it.

After about three days of rough treatment, the barrel was about broken into pieces. Buck LeGrand told him to soak it in the water trough and it would tighten up. Jack soaked it, and sure enough it tightened up. It tightened up so much Jack couldn't get all the way back down in the barrel, and that night he had all of himself in the barrel except his head. One of the bulls started butting the barrel and turned it over. Jack couldn't get out and the bull broke his nose.

This accident on his first job almost turned Jack away from bullfighting.

Like most jobs, Jack said he started out scared, but "after a while you get used to it like anyone does any other job."

Jack, like most bullfighters, started out working in the barrel and has finally gained enough experience to work out in the arena.

It's Not Speed

Most people think that a bullfighter has to be fast on his feet, but Jack says that "it's your ability to maneuver and out smart the bull and knowing how he usually reacts is helpful in fighting bulls. The reason a bull fights is because he is scared."

The worst danger is in being stepped on by a bull. The only kind of insurance a bullfighter or clown can have is $500 hospital and $2500 accidental death furnished by the Rodeo Cowboys Association.

Jack has worked in rodeos in the biggest part of the western United States and three Provinces of Canada. The largest rodeo he fought bulls in was in Vancouver, British Columbia, where he worked for 14 performances.

Mule Sees Country

HELP WEIGH BULLS

Students volunteering to help in the recent 56-day weighing of bulls on the Performance Test at Murray College were Elvis Howell, Jimmy Rigby, Kenny Harder, Roy Sliger, Calvin Wood, Eddie Halum, Robert Strunk, Jerry Montgomery and Harold Smith.

All area women are urged to attend one of the two showings of a film sponsored by the American Cancer Society, Dec. 19 and 20 at the Murray College Auditorium at 3:00 p. m. Dr. Ora Roades, chairman of the local committee on cancer education, announces.

Jack said he would like to see a good professional college rodeo here in Tishomingo. He also said that colleges have a professional rodeo association called the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association, called the NIRA. At the present time the Murray rodeo club does not belong to the NIRA.

Jack says that he plans to keep bullfighting at least through the rest of his years in college. If he doesn't make a career in the Air Force he might continue fighting bulls for awhile after college. Jack said that once bullfighting gets in to your blood it isn't easy to stop regardless of injuries.

Bacone Defeats Aggies, 85-75, in Festival Finale

Bacone emerged as the top team in the Murray Aggies Basketball Festival held here last Thursday and Friday but not before Murray Aggies gave them some real competition.

Starting colder than a hound dog's nose, the Murray Aggies let Bacone jump to a lead in the first few minutes of play. But during the last quarter the Aggies outplayed them.

Thursday night Bacone ran over Navarro 92-45 and Murray romped over Cisco 75-48 with Delmar Forbes accounting for 14 points, L. G. Williams 12, Bob Pickens 11 and Bob Wilmoth 10.

Friday night the two winners, Bacone and Murray, clashed with Bacone setting a fast pace, but for Aggies it seemed as if for a long time the ball was too big to fit the bucket. Bacone was ahead 18 to 6 at the quarter, 47 to 30 at the half, and finished victors by a 75-85 score.

But the score fails to reveal that in the last quarter Murray turned on steam and played on equal terms with Bacone.

Forbes lead the Aggie rally and accounted for 23 points during the game. Pickens plunked 17 points and Whatley 10. The Festival was the second game for the Aggies this season, the eighth for Bacone.

Virus Sinks Navarro
 The two losers of Thursday night games, Navarro and Cisco, were scheduled to play each other Friday night but six Navarro squadmen became ill of a virus infection, believed to have been picked up in a Texas cafe while enroute here, and the team went home. Cisco played the Friday preliminary game with the Murray B squad substituting for Navarro.

Miss Carolyn Kaye Belcher

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Belcher of Tishomingo, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Carolyn Kay, to Mr. William Boyd Hathaway, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Epperson, Tishomingo. The wedding is to be in January.

Miss Belcher is a graduate of Tishomingo High school and a sophomore at Murray State. Mr. Hathaway is a graduate of Tishomingo High school and Murray College.

Wilma McCurry and Airman Engaged

There seems to be an extra sparkler making the rounds on campus lately. Wilma McCurry, sophomore from Wapanucka, became engaged over the Thanksgiving holidays.

Wilma's fiance, Paul Todd, is in the Air Force and stationed in Kansas City. They plan to be married sometime next summer.

Wilma is active in the Gool Diggers, Phi Theta Kappa, is student senate representative for the Music Club, secretary of the Home Economics Club, and is also in the annual staff.

Faculty and Staff Hold Annual Dinner

Members of the faculty and their husbands and wives met for a turkey dinner at the Crown Restaurant December 21. About 47 members of the administration and staff attended.

Mrs. Rainey was in charge of decorations of the table. Mr. Fletcher made a humorous talk on the subject, "Building and Construction."

College Costs Given Boost by State Regents

Action of the regents for higher education recently boosted enrollment fees 50c a semester hour at Murray State and at the other five state supported junior colleges.

The increase in enrollment fees decided on by the regents for higher education boosted Murray State's fees fifty cents per semester hour.

This increase brought the total enrollment fee for the average student taking 16 hours to $60 or $3.75 per semester hour. The increase becomes effective in January at the start of the second semester.

Enrollment fees were also boosted 75c per hour for the four year colleges. Their boost brought the semester hour fee up to $5.25. The state universities with fees of $7 per hour escaped a rate increase.

Senator Speaks—

attached to them 24 hours a day, he stated.

We also have an excellent family of tactical atomic weapons, for use with ground forces. These missiles can wipe out an entire division at a distance of 100 miles, with no fallout or danger to civilians. We are greatly superior in long range missiles, according to Sen. Monroney, and should soon have them with a range of 500 miles.

Another weapon in which we have superiority is the atomic submarine. If all land bases and airports are wiped out, you must have other defenses. Atomic submarines can reach about 80% of Russian targets in case of a sneak attack, firing from under the sea. This weapon Khrushchev can never destroy, and we are far ahead in atomic submarines.

Solid Fuel Propellants

Liquid propellant launchers are already old-fashioned, and we did not manufacture many of these. The percentage of failure with liquid propellant missiles is 50%, but with solid fuels it is one in a thousand, he said. The Minute Man is a lighter, stationary launcher, and is also mobile. It can be put on special railroad cars and moved about where it is needed.

Four to One Superiority

Khrushchev is concentrating on missile power to the neglect of heavy bombers. "We are building them to stay ahead in B's with thermo nuclear bombs, ready to take off in ten minutes, with new equipment to eliminate high mortality by anti-aircraft," he explained. Each will carry ten times the amount of destructive power of a Russian missile. Russia has neglected to build such bombers, Monroney stated.

We have trained reservists for a military build up of ground forces and to strengthen forces in western Europe. Russia felt that we would not cronate ten million captives and risk endangering thousands of others through fallout, nor does Russia want to risk losing the results of 40 years hardship to become a nation of rubble, in his opinion.

England and France will reach their greatest productive rate in 1980, it is believed.

"I feel that the war will be economic rather than atomic, but we must provide military strength to be sure we are first, and have the capacity to win a shooting war if it occurs. Our growth rate on farms and in industry must meet the challenge of development that is going on in Europe."

"We must keep one hand on the rifle and one hand on the plow. This was true when our ancestors broke the sod of the West. That must be our posture today, with one hand on the rifle and one hand on the plow."

The sound of history, he quoted, is 'satin slippers coming down the stairs, and wooden shoes going up the stairs.' Many nations have grown soft. The barbarians that sought a place in the sun came down with wooden shoes to take over. We must take the lessons of history, he warned.

We cannot afford the luxury of resting on our laurels, to take casually what our forefathers labored to build up.

"With the same spirit that built the United States from 13 colonies to the mightiest nation on earth, let us not take lightly the feat of peace, nor think we have permanent possession to the place in the sun that we enjoy."

"It is time for us to put on our father's working boots that put us where we are. The victory is worth the effort."

Murray Proves Popular College for Students from Nearby Carter County

By BUDDY MORTON

TISHOMINGO — Murray State College, located in what was originally the capitol of the Chickasaw Indian nation, is popular as an institution of higher learning with Ardmore and Carter County students.

Nearly 25 per cent of the 403 students enrolled at Murray are from Carter County and Ardmore.

There are 55 from Ardmore and 40 from other sections of Carter County now attending Murray.

Johnston County, home of Murray, is second high in the number of students enrolled, with 69.

Other area counties represented include Murray, with 37 students; Marshall, 11; Pontotoc, 9; Atoka, 7; Coal, 4, and Bryan 3.

For the girls attending Murray, it is ideal, if they have aspirations of matrimony or like being surrounded by men scholars.

The males may not like such uneven odds, but the women thoroughly enjoy it.

The college was first established in the 1923-24 session of the Oklahoma legislature, and is one of five state junior colleges under the supervision of the state regents for Oklahoma A&M College.

The school offers agriculture, general education, business, physical education, engineering and education, plus other fields of study which are transferrable to a four-year college.

Also available are two-year courses that can be completed at Murray.

Of great value to the students is the financial assistance that is provided more than half of the students through scholarships, employment and/or national defense loans.

The agricultural school has a high rating in the southwest and conducts one of the most outstanding beef performance tests in the nation.

There are four residence halls on the campus of approximately 20 acres, for adequate housing for both male and female students.

Pulton Hall and Haskell Lucas Hall together house about 250 male students and the two women's dormitories house 80 women in Poe and Patton Halls.

In addition to the excellent curriculums offered for students, there are campus activities and organizations.

They include Phi Theta Kappa, Music Club, Student Senate, Student Christian Association, Science Club, Baptist Student Union, Engineers' Club, Aggie Club, Home Economics Club, Rodeo Club, Sticks, and the Aggie-lite.

The Aggie-lite is the official student newspaper staffed by students enrolled in the journalism classes.

Dr. Charles Grady, Murray president, said a new building program is scheduled to start on the campus in the near future.

"This new building program may well start us on the road to growth," Grady said.
