Pageant To Be Held March 30

The Murray Dames will again sponsor the Miss Murray Pageant on March 30, Mrs. Janace Fogleman, director, announced last week.

Winner of the college pageant will enter the Miss Oklahoma Pageant held to select the state queen, who will compete for the crown of Miss America in the national competition at Atlantic City, N.J., in September.

The event this year will be the second annual Miss Murray Pageant sponsored by the Murray Dames. "We are again serving as sponsors of the pageant this year because we believe it provides a valuable contribution to the college and to the young ladies who will enter the competition," Fogleman said in announcing plans of her organization.

"We believe it serves the community well because it focuses attention on the high calibre of young ladies who are residents of our college and we believe it serves youth well because it provides the opportunity for the young ladies who compete to gain added prose through public appearances and to gain maturity through participation in a college program such as the Miss Murray Pageant," the director added.

"Most important, it will provide the opportunity for the girl who is the winner to continue to seek scholarship awards at the Miss Oklahoma Pageant, which will aid her in obtaining an education at the college of her choice," she said.

In announcing that this organization plans continuation of the Murray Pageant sponsorship, Fogleman noted that it will be held March 30, in the Fletcher Auditorium, here at Murray State College.

"This will be a college endeavor and we in the Murray Dames are sure that most of the college girls will participate and make the Murray Pageant a success," Fogleman said.

Murray enrolling at record rate

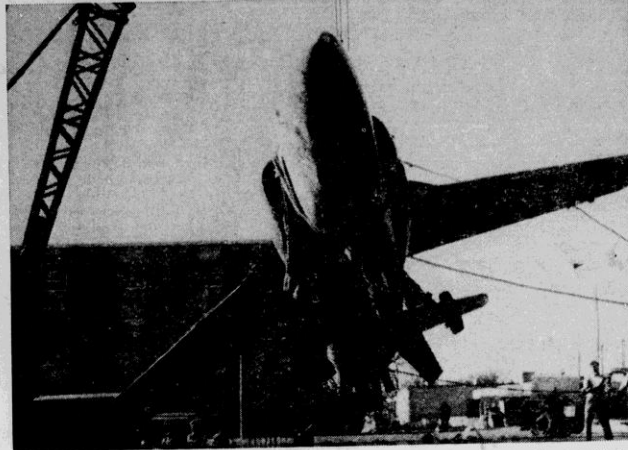

With almost two weeks of registration still to come, Murray State College has already established a new enrollment record for the spring semester of 705 students. The figure represents a 6.2 per cent increase over the final total of 664 last spring.

Registration for a full load (12 hours or more) will continue thru Monday, Jan. 24, and students enrolling for less than a full load may do so thru Monday, Jan. 31.

Tag penalty will begin on Feb. 1

Area residents are reminded they have only 11 more days left to purchase 1972 car license tags if they wish to avoid paying a penalty, according to Corbin O'Bryan, tag agent.

After Feb. 1 a penalty of 10 cents per day will be added to the tag fee and after March 1 the fee will double.

NOPE IT'S not taking off because of the feeling of neglect, it's being placed upon its new home where it will be on display. After two years and nine months since its arrival, the Blue Angel is being placed on its pedestal.

Blue Angel Is Lifted To New Home

"The swept winged F-11 Jet that was flown by Lt. C. O. (Smokey) Tolbert, a former student of Murray State, has arrived at Ardmore Air Park, to be dismantled for transportation to the campus where it will be on display," (Tuesday, April 29, 1969)

"It has been eleven months since the arrival of the Blue Angel plane and so far nothing has been accomplished to put the aircraft on display," (Tuesday, September 22, 1970)

These quotes from past Aggie-lites fortold the long wait that the once proud Blue Angel had to endure, the forgotten promises, vandalism and its mutilation from senseless scavengers.

But last week the proud bird was placed upon its intended destination, high above the heads of citizens so they can look in wonder at the fine display instead of a heap of junk on the ground.

Several navy men from the Naval Air Station at Dallas, Texas placed the aircraft on its provided pedestal in a forward, climbing turn position.

The crewmen could have possibly had the plane mounted last Wednesday, but the crane that was provided by the Federal Refuge could not lift the 10,000 lbs. of metal off the ground.

Thursday, another crane was summoned from Durant to lift the aircraft onto the metal poles.

The crane was not donated so there will have to be payment made to the company owning the crane, possibly the first charge made during the entire operation of mounting the aircraft.

The engine of the Blue Angel was the first main trouble of putting the aircraft on the pedestal. The engine alone weighed close to two and a half tons, the total was seven and a half tons. This was too much tonnage for a pedestal to support, so the engine simply had to be removed.

During the summer of '71, the navy crewmen who were to put the plane on its pedestal, removed the engine from the aircraft. Five months later the Blue Angel was mounted.

Two years and nine months has lapsed since the news of the arrival of the Blue Angel hit the Murray campus, and finally the plane is where it's supposed to belong.

It was also noted by Mr. Pearson, that a fence may have to be placed around the display to keep people from climbing the plane so accidents from falling will not result.

The refurbishing started last Sunday. As of now, no one knows how long it will take, but it is supposed to be finished this week.

At any rate, the plane has finally been mounted, even though there has been a long lapse of time. The worthy donation that the U.S. Navy, and the useful volunteer work supplied by the Navy has been deeply appreciated, without their help and cooperation the Blue Angel might still be sitting on the ground.

Navy Team Will Visit on Campus

A Navy Information Team will be on the Murray College campus Feb. 11 to explain officer programs available for freshmen through graduate students. The team will be located in the Student Union.

The team will explain the programs available which will enable a student to graduate from college before reporting for active duty and will also administer qualification tests without obligation. Physical qualifications vary for different programs. Anyone who is in doubt about meeting these qualifications should drop by and the team will be happy to discuss the situation.

All programs lead to a commission as a Naval Officer and several programs are open to women as well as men.

Meeler Is Indian Counselor

At the last meeting of the Governing Board of Murray State College approved an appointment change of Mr. Kenneth Meeler from Instructor in Language Arts and Director of Public Relations to Instructor in Language Arts and Indian Counselor.

Mr. Meeler will continue to assist in Public Relations during the remainder of the current semester.

Meeler will be working jointly with the Bureau of Indian Affairs located at Muskogee. The purpose of his new counseling job is to find prospective Indian students who will attend Murray, and help them with their personal, financial and academic problems after enrollment.

Recruitment of other students will still be made by Mr. Meeler and Mrs. Jo Conway.

Meeler was appointed to his new position January 1, 1972.

Meeler said, in commenting on his new position, "that as far as the Public Relations went that Mrs. Conway would most likely do the traveling for the recruitment of future students and I will remain on the campus."

Student Union To Remain Open On Saturday

In response to requests from several students, the Murray State College Faculty Fraternity has volunteered its services to keep the Student Union facilities open on Saturday afternoons.

The Fraternity met with Dean Don Martin who explained that the primary reason for not opening the Union on weekends was cost. He pointed out that so few students were here on weekends to use the facilities that the cost of salaries and utilities to keep them open would be prohibitive.

Prior to the meeting, the Student Services Committee of the Fraternity had polled the students and determined that 1-5 p.m. on Saturdays was the most popular time to open the Union. Dean Martin accepted the Fraternity offer to furnish the manpower to keep the Union open during these Saturday afternoon hours.

Fraternity Chairman John Edwards said that opening of the Union would begin on Saturday, Jan. 29. "This does not include the entire Student Union Building," he said, "but it includes the pool room and the snack bar. We will have two members of the Fraternity here during the open hours on a volunteer basis and we certainly hope that the students who remain on campus during the weekends will make use of the Union. If enough interest is shown, then possibly the administration will consent to keeping the building open without having to have volunteer help.

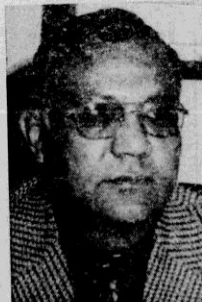

The Fraternity has also received approval from Dr. Kindell's office to proceed with plans for a Senior Day to be held on campus during the spring semester.

"We felt, in view of the fact that Murray needs to grow," Edwards said, "that we, as a faculty organization, should help in any way to accomplish this goal. We decided that a Senior Day might be an effective way of attracting students to the campus. We offered the idea to the administration and they agreed that it could be of benefit to the college and asked us to proceed with it."

A date has not been set and plans are incomplete at this time, but Edwards said that mid-April would probably be the best time. No estimate has been given as to the number of students who might attend, but all high school seniors in this area will be invited.

Wellman Joins Music Dept.

Mrs. Karen Wellman has joined the Murray State Music Department on a part-time basis to teach piano and organ, and to accompany the ensemble and choir. Mrs. Wellman, a former student of Murray State, received her baccalaureate degree in Music Education from Southwestern State College, at Weatherford, Oklahoma.

Bullitt Next Senate Movie, Film Showings Improve

THE STUDENT SENATE will sponsor its third movie January 27, in the Fletcher Auditorium. This week's presentation will be the Warner Bros. film "Bullitt."

The Student Senate will sponsor its third movie this Thursday at 8:30 in the Fletcher Auditorium. The prices will remain the same, 35c for students and 65c for non-students.

This week's movie is a Warner Brothers film, titled "Bullitt." "Bullitt" is a movie about a dedicated San Francisco detective, played by Steve McQueen, who puts integrity above his career.

Some main parts of the movie to look for, are a couple of chase scenes, one of which is around and under a jet aircraft taking off at night, and the second is a car chase scene in which the autos are driven to speeds over 155 mph.

The student senate has improved in producing the movie to the audience, after the first film was a catastrophe.

Ninety-four people showed up to the movie "Four For Texas" and the showing went well, but the sound was a little muffled.

Mr. Meeler, student senate sponsor, said the sound would be fixed before Thursday, so that the movie showings could be perfected.

Aggie-Ettes Play Tonight Afro Club To Have Dance

The Murray State Aggie-ettes go against Texas Womens University tonight with their record of five wins and three losses.

The girls' team won four in a row defeating St. Gregory's, Claremore, Phillips University, and Ranger. The team suddenly started on a losing streak when Quchita defeated them 68-44, and again 65-40. Their last game that the team played was Seminole in which they were beaten 84-61.

The team pulled out of their losing streak when they defeated Northern 73-57.

The boys defeated the Northern boys 72-68 to make their record 12-3.

After the game tonight, the Afro-American Club will sponsor a dance in the Student Union Ballroom.

So far the top scorers of the Aggie-ettes have been Jane Fincher 10.5 points per game, Diane Miller with 9.5 points per game, Nancy Washington with a 8.5, and both Sherry Schoeman and Teresa Winbush with an 8.1 points per game average.

Now Army ROTC pays $100 a month.

If you're going on to a four-year college next year, take a look at the Army ROTC Two-year Program. It's worth an extra $100 a month. Every month for 10 months of the school year. To spend on room and board, dates and ball games. To save for higher education.

But Army ROTC means a lot more than more money. It means management and leadership experience that you just can't get anywhere else. The kind of thing that can land you a better job, and move you along faster once you get it. It means a commission as an officer and everything that goes with it. The prestige, the pay, the chance to travel, the experience.

Now ROTC looks even better. For the money you'll earn today. For the person you'll be tomorrow.

Army ROTC. The more you look at it, the better it looks.

Take it.

Judging Team Places 2nd At Denver Meet

The Murray State College Livestock Judging Team placed second overall and had three individuals rank in the top ten at the National Western Livestock Show and Judging Contests in Denver, Colorado last week.

In taking second place honors with 13 junior colleges competing, the five-member Murray team placed first in sheep judging, second in swine, second in horses, and second in beef. States represented in the contests include Oklahoma, Colorado, Texas, New Mexico, Kansas, Minnesota, California, Missouri, and Wyoming.

In individual rankings, Murray's Orville Cottrell finished in second place over-all by taking second in beef, third in horses, fourth in sheep, and fifth in swine. Cottrell is a freshman pre-veterinary medicine major from Wynnewood. Taking fourth place over-all honors was Danny Glover, a freshman from Marlow. Glover placed first in horses and fourth in beef to get the second place spot. Blaine Story held down the tenth spot in individual rankings by placing fourth in the swine judging. Story is a freshman animal science major from Perkins.

Other team members include Richard Morris from Carnegie and Larry VanZandt from Still-

TWO OUTSTANDING MURRAY AGGIES were named to the All-Tournament Team at the Texoma Tournament on the Murray campus during New Year break. Murray won the eight-team contest and in doing so placed Lynn Hofacket, left, and Winford Newsom on the All-Tournament Team. Newsom is the leading scorer on the Aggie squad, hitting 19.1 points per game. Hofacket is right behind him at 15.2. Hofacket is from Chattanooga, Oklahoma and Newsom hails from Atlanta, Georgia.

Aggies Take 1st in Murray Tournament

Murray State College Aggies won their own tournament over the Christmas holidays, winning three straight games and losing none to take first place in the Texoma Tournament.

Murray edged Temple Junior College 72-62 in the finals to take the top spot in the eight-team tourney. Third place went to Connors, fourth to Paris Junior College. Grayson County took fifth, and Louisiana Tech ranked sixth. Others in the tournament were Clarendon and Southwestern Christian College.

In the first round, Murray defeated Southwestern Christian 87-59 and eased past Paris Junior College 95-81 to set up the final match with Temple Junior College.

Winford Newsom, 6-4, 200-lb. freshman from Atlanta, Georgia and 6-4, 180-lb. Lynn Hofacket, a sophomore from Chattanooga, Oklahoma, were named by tournament officials and coaches to the ten-member All-Tournament team. Murray and Connors were the only teams to place two men on the all-star squad. For the tournament, Newsom poured in over 21 points and 14 rebounds per game, while Hofacket was averaging over 16 points and five rebounds.

water. Alternates who made the Denver trip were Ronnie Davis of Coyle and Wade Smith of Duncan.

The team's next competition will be Feb. 5 in Fort Worth, Texas at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show.

Toews Named Chairman of The Task Force Committee

Dennis Toews, chairman of the music and art department, has been named chairman of the Task Force Committee replacing Jack Reid, who earlier resigned the position.

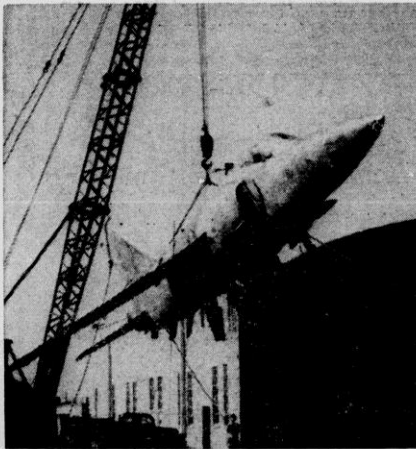

The purpose of the committee is to develop a long range educational plan for Murray State College to cover institutional plans for the decade of the 1970's. The committee is operating in accordance with guidelines set forth by the Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education in their publication, "Oklahoma Higher Education: A State Plan for the 1970's."

In carrying out the study, numerous sub-committees have been designated to study various phases of the campus community and make suggestions and recommendations commensurate with the objectives of the over-all study. Areas under study by these sub-committees include: organizational format, community services; curricular programs; student services; and physical plant.

According to Toews, the Task Force Committee should have its final report ready by mid-April.

A person who has difficulty clearly understanding while attending the theater or at the movie may be suffering from a hearing loss and should have a hearing test.

THE GRUMAN F-11 is shown being hauled up to its pedestal where it will now await its refurbishing plans.

Edwards to Head Committee of Art

John Edwards, history instructor, has been named chairman of a newly-formed committee to develop a popular art series for the Murray State College community.

The committee will be attempting in the near future to arrange for popular entertainers and/or cultural events to be scheduled on the Murray campus.

"We hope," Edwards said, "to have at least one major event each semester and we will be communicating with students to determine what types of entertainment they prefer. Obviously, if we tried to get entertainment based only on the opinion of a few faculty members or a small committee, we probably would not be pleasing the majority of our students."

No plans have been formulated yet concerning when the first event will be held or who might appear, but Edwards indicated a desire to have one function before the end of the semester.

Murray Dames Host Dinner Dance and Party

Murray Dames held a Valentine's Day dinner-dance on Saturday, Feb. 12, hosted by the Dames' Social Committee.

Dinner was served at 7 p.m. in the cafeteria with Mrs. Margaret Patton and Mrs. Bobbi Arthur serving as hostesses for the event. Following the dinner, a dance was held in the ballroom, beginning at 8 p.m.

All faculty and staff members were invited to attend the event.

In addition to Mrs. Patton and Mrs. Arthur, Social Committee members are Jennette Ross and Janice Campbell.

Murray Dames also were hostesses at an informal party in the basement lounge of McKee Hall, Thursday evening, February 10. Purpose of the party was to acquaint the women students with more details about the Miss Murray Pageant and to give the girls the opportunity of talking with members of the Pageant committee.

The Pepsi-Cola Company, Ardmore, furnished the drinks for the evening. Cookies and snacks were provided by the Home Economics Department under the supervision of Mrs. Rosa Rainey, and by members of Murray Dames.

DO I HEAR $5? asks Mike Jones as he sells off one of the slaves offered by the Afro-American Club during their Slave Sale. The project was to raise money for their club.

Contestants To Prepare For Murray Pageant Events

The 2nd annual Miss Murray Pageant will be held March 30. When talking to Mrs. Fogleman, she said, "We hope to have enough interest from the girls to run a two-day pageant."

The theme of this year's pageant will be "An Abstract of the World." When contestants first appear, they will be wearing authentic costumes of various parts of the world.

There will be five judges to judge the girls. The girls will be judged on 50% talent, 25% swim suit, and 25% evening gown.

The winner will receive a scholarship and gift certificates from various contributors of local merchants.

Miss Emma Jones, reigning Miss Murray, will have the honor of crowning the new Miss Murray for 1972.

The Murray Dames are working hard on this year's pageant. They have a schedule beginning February 15 through March 30. The contestants will have improvement courses. Hair stylists and make-up specialists will come to show the girls how to wear their hair and make-up. Also, a fashion show will be presented by Ida's Dress Shop of Ardmore. A charm school will also be provided for the contestants.

Contestants who have already entered the Miss MSC Pageant are: Janie Fincher—Fort Cobb; Sherry Schoeman—Sterling; Rhonda Shurley—Ardmore; Kathy Evans—Holdenville; Sharon Weger—Holdenville; Debbie Autrey—Ringling; Kathy Ballou—Mannsville; Judy Hurta—Fox; Debbie Burnett—Ringling; Carolyn Parrish—Kingston; and Sandi Park—Cleveland.

Reserve tickets for the pageant will be sold for $1.00 and $1.50. Tickets at the door will be $1.50 and $2.00.

Deadline to enter the Miss Murray Pageant is February 21, and there is no entry fee.

Slave Sale Held by Afro American Club

The Afro-American Club held a "Slave Sale" Wednesday, Feb. 2, in CR 202 as one of its money raising projects for the year.

Only members of the club were able to participate. Approximately 16 young women participated in the event, headed by Mike Jones and Jerry Edwards, auctioneers. All sales started at 50¢ and went as high as $4.

After being bought, the girls had to work for the boys the next day from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m., doing such things as ironing, washing and typing.

According to club president, Cleveland Brown, there will be another "Slave Sale" February 16 at 7 p.m. in CR 202 and the females will buy the males with the same rules applying.

New Figure Set In Enrollment

A new enrollment record has been set at Murray State College for the spring semester, with the registration of 738 students. This broke the old spring record of 694 students by 74, for an increase of 11 per cent.

Class breakdown for the current semester shows: freshmen men 229, women 152, total 381; sophomore men 189, women 29, total 218; and special students men 34, women 29, total 63.

Murray President Dr. Clyde Kindell expressed pleasure with the enrollment, noting, "I believe that this academic year has set a new trend for Murray State College, with record numbers of students enrolling each semester. I certainly feel that our growth will be steady and constant, allowing us to better serve our students and community."

Faculty Lounge Near Completion

Work has been underway for some time to transform the basement of Fulton Hall into a Faculty Lounge and a Commuter Lounge.

Volunteer faculty members have worked on the faculty lounge for some time and are close to having it completed. After the completion of their lounge the volunteers will start the Commuter Lounge. The Murray Dames have been asked for color schemes and furnishings for the Commuter Lounge.

"The lounge will fill a real need for commuting students," Mrs. Betty Hill, President of the Murray Dames said. "It will provide them with a place to go during their breaks in class schedules, to rest, to study and to relax."

The Commuter Lounge will also be equipped with lockers and storage places available for books, wet gym clothing and likewise.

Mrs. Hill said, "When we consider that our commuters have no dormitories to call home from, we realize the serious services a lounge will perform."

Tribesman Sale Starts Today

The 1972 Tribesman yearbook will go on sale next week in the Student Union Building. The price will again be $7.50 per book. Institutional policy will not allow students to charge the yearbook, so all orders will have to be paid cash in advance.

Delivery date for the yearbook is set for mid-August, so that the entire activities of the school year may be included. Students returning to Murray next fall can pick up their books when they come back to school. Those not returning can have their yearbook mailed to them for an additional $1.00 charge for postage and handling.

The yearbook staff is presently completing their first deadline of 50 pages. The first section will include classes, Campus Day Queen, faculty, and administration. This year, for the first time, a page will be devoted to each of the dormitories.

Staff members for the 1972 book are: Sandi Park, editor; Debbie Hamilton, assistant editor; Cliff Davis, Bobbi Chapman, and Danny Krebs, layout editors; Pati Johnson, copy editor; Butch Nanny, artist; James Huff, advertising manager; and Wayne Robins, photographer.

INSTRUCTOR VERNON HURST lays down carpet to add to the finishing touches of the Faculty Lounge located in the basement of Fulton Hall. All work on the lounge was provided by volunteers, and as soon as the lounge is finished, they will begin work on the Commuter Lounge.

Editorial

By James Huff

The Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education have a publication known as "A Plan for the 76's." In this publication is a statement which might well be a warning to Murray State College in its involvement with Senate Bill 214.

The plan by the State Regents states that "Minimum and maximum enrollment standards for the operation of all two-year public colleges should be set at 1,000 and 5,000 full-time-equivalent students respectively. Institutions failing to come within the scope of these standards by 1975 should be reviewed to determine whether there is a need for continued operation under the circumstances then prevailing."

Murray State College has never reached 1,000 FTE students in its entire history of 60 years. As a matter of fact, it has never reached 1,000 even by head count. And it is FTE, not head count, which is the official enrollment for funding purposes. FTE is determined for a semester by totaling the number of student credit hours and dividing by 15. For example, if one student is enrolled in 13 hours and another in 17, they would represent two FTE students (30 ÷ 15).

Murray's enrollment grew from 439 in 1960 to 389 students in 1971. The average growth at Murray since 1960 is about 40 students per year. At that rate, Murray State College should have an enrollment of about 989 students in 1975. The FTE of the 389 students will only be around 300, 100 short of the necessary 1,000. To have the 1,000 FTE enrollment, Murray must have approximately 1,200

Murray hasn't had a plan to acquire these students, so Senate Bill 214 was introduced. A plan has to be outlined so that Murray can keep its doors open as an institution of higher education for surrounding area students. If some successful plan is not formulated and we keep on our present path, Murray may well have to shut her doors. Senate Bill 214 may not be the answer, but neither is the status quo. At least, with Senate Bill 214, there is a chance for Murray. Progress is never made by standing still.

Commuter Has a Hard Life

Some are older students who have a home and family. Most commuters have jobs and have to commute to keep them, and some commute to Murray to learn not to commute.

A commuter gets the raw end of the deal. Now the students on campus sure think it's terrible to go to their 8:00 class, but a commuter usually has to leave home about 7:00 just to get to class on time. Sometimes he barely makes it. When you hit the Murray campus and it's 8:00 sharp, you try to park your car, and because you're late, you don't get to park your car in front of the Administration Building, you have to go somewhere else. Your luck doesn't change though, the Armory parking lot is filled, so you go down a little farther. Yep, there's a parking place, down there near McKee Hall. Then the ol' boy looks at his watch and sees he's thirty minutes late for his class, and he knows if he goes in now he'll get the old line from the instructor of "if you're late, don't come at all." So you think to yourself that you will have to get up a little bit earlier next time.

The maintenance of a commuter's vehicle is also a hardship. There's no telling what will happen to a person next: a flat tire, a water hose that might burst, your windshield wipers won't work when it's raining, an over-heated motor, the car won't start when you're at Murray and you wonder why it didn't start early that morning. Also the heartbreak of getting out of class early and you find that your parking lights have been on all morning long and your battery is dead.

But a commuter's life is fun, if he wasn't a commuter he couldn't be blown off the road by trucks, have to buy new tires every time he is broke, and keep the owners of gas stations rich. He would be just a plain ordinary person, not going to college.

Security Men Recieve New Equipment

Murray State Campus Security has received two portable short wave radios purchased through the Oklahoma Crime Commission and the Southern Oklahoma Development Association.

The two units were purchased by the use of matching funds of which Murray was required to pay 25% of the total cost, and the other 75% was paid by the OCC and SODA.

The addition of the radios enables the campus security to reach all local, county and state law enforcement agencies. The call letters of the mobile unit are "Tishomingo 7" and the portable units are "Tishomingo 8."

The two units were purchased from the RCA corporation. The go-ahead to purchase the radios came from the Oklahoma Crime Commission early in August, and the units were received the first of January.

The two radios cost about $600.00 each and have a calling range of 18 to 20 miles. Because of the new equipment, security men Jack Martin, and Richard Shelton can reach each other at any time.

Dean Pearson stated that "he hopes the campus security will receive more of the same type of equipment in the near future."

Glover Takes High Honors At Judging Meet

Danny Glover led the Murray State College livestock judging team to a second-place standing in the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth last weekend.

Glover, a freshman from Marlow, took second-place honors in beef cattle judging and finished high enough in the remaining events to take home the top honors as high individual for the entire show.

In winning second place against 22 teams, the Aggies placed third in beef cattle, third in sheep, and second in hogs. The Murray team scored 2,156 points out of a possible 2,550, finishing second to Northeastern A&M of Miami. The finish was a repeat of the Denver show, where Murray again ended up second to NEA&M.

In addition to Glover, team members were Larry VanZandt of Stillwater and Orville Cottrell of Wynnewood. Alternates were Blaine Story of Perkins and Delton Gerloff of Ada.

Next competition for the Aggies will be in Houston on March 3.

DANNY GLOVER, freshman from Marlow, displays the watch presented to him as high individual in the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show judging contests. Glover's ranking helped lead the Murray Livestock Judging team to second place overall in the show, competing against 22 colleges.

Senate Plans Valentine Dance

MSC Student Senate will sponsor a Valentine dance on February 21, climaxed by the crowning of a Valentine Sweetheart.

Preliminary nominations for a Valentine Sweetheart were held February 14 in the lobby of the Student Union. Candidate choices were by the way of a write-in-vote. All girls on campus were eligible for nomination.

A final vote for the two girls receiving the most nominations in the preliminary election will be held tomorrow, February 16, and the queen will be crowned at the Valentine dance on the following Monday night in the ballroom.

CIVILIZED

A distressing fact reported by the F.B.I. is that a crime of violence is committed each and every minute of the year. Also, a burglary every 16 seconds; larceny of more than $50, every 21 seconds; a car stolen every 36 seconds; a robbery every two minutes; a forcible rape every 14 minutes and a murder every 36 minutes.

Is this the price of being civilized?—The Star-Democrat, Eaton, Md.

DR. WILLIAM R. MOSELEY, Vice-President in charge of instruction at Paris (Texas) Junior College, was on the Murray campus Tuesday, Feb. 8, to talk with the faculty and administration concerning the community services program at Paris. Dr. Moseley indicated that Paris was well-pleased with community services both from the college and the community standpoint. "Whatever the people need," he said, "we give them." Courses can range from specialized management programs to short-term sessions on, poodle-grooming.

THE STUDENT SENATE will sponsor its fourth movie "Bonnie and Clyde" in the Fletcher Auditorium at 6:30, Monday, Feb. 28.

Recruiters To Be On Campus

Going to a four-year school after junior college? How about a full scholarship? Interested in flying? The Air Force ROTC could be the opportunity you have been seeking.

Capt. Harold Mills, Air Force ROTC Admissions Counselor, will be in the Murray Student Center on Feb. 24 to discuss the Two-Year Air Force ROTC Program with interested students.

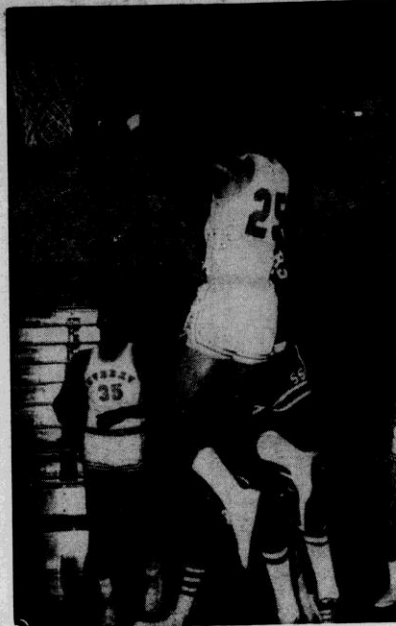

The Two-Year Air Force ROTC Program allows a junior college student to transfer to a four-year college and earn a commission in the Air Force during his junior and senior years. Prior to entry, a six week summer training session must be completed. To qualify, applicants must pass the Air Force Officer Qualifying Test and a physical examination. Most students selected must either be pilot or navigator candidates. Early application is necessary to receive an appointment for the summer training session.

All cadets in the Two-Year Program receive a tax-free cash allowance of $100 a month. Some scholarships will be available including full tuition, fees and a book allowance, in addition to the cash allowance.

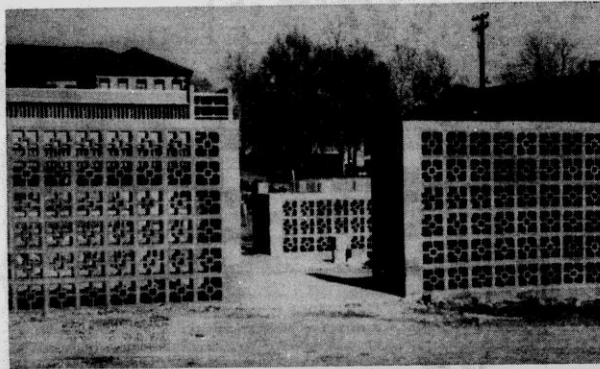

Those selected may choose from over 75 colleges and universities nationwide. Three schools in Oklahoma offer Air Force ROTC.

These are: Oklahoma University, Oklahoma State University and Tulsa University.

After completion of college a student has an obligation to serve on active duty with the Air Force for a minimum of four years. The starting salary for a pilot or navigator is now approximately $825 per month.

GERALD TUCKER, number 25, goes up for two points which brought the Aggies to within a six point margin of Connors. Connors defeated the Aggies 73-63. The loss brings the Aggies' record to 16-6.

THERE IS NO exact finishing date on the Student Plaza but work has already started and some of the blocks have already been placed in position. When completed the Plaza will have chairs, trees and a large fountain.

Aggies Keep 16-6 Record

The Aggies' present record was 16 wins and 5 losses, after defeating Oscar Rose Junior College, February 5 at Midwest City by a score of 76 to 56.

The leading scorers were: Lynn Hofacket, Winfred Newson, both with 18 points and James Hudson, with 10. The men on the boards were: Winfred Newson with 16 rebounds, Gerald Tucker with 9, and James Hudson with 7.

The next battle for the Aggies was with Oscar Rose Junior College on February 8, with Murray defeating them by the score of 80 to 70.

Murray suffered its sixth loss last Thursday at the hands of Connors. The Aggies' lost the game by six points, 73-67.

Intr. Basketball Ends with Finals

After the semester break, intramural basketball resumed play with the BSU girls winning a spot in the finals, over the Moonshiners by the score of 29-23.

On Jan. 27, the Brown Souls got on their winning track again by defeating the Bruins 50-35. On the same night the Bearcats defeated the Dramatics. The Brown Souls are the only unbeaten team in the intramurals and automatically had a seat in the finals that were held Thursday, February 10. The Brown Souls were pitted against the Bearcats in the double-elimination finals.

Hopes came back to the Bearcats and the Bruins as they defeated the Bullshippers 41-35 and the Dramatics losing to the Bruins.

In the girls' finals, the BSU girls played the Grasshoppers for the championship.

Student Plaza Building Starts

Construction is still continuing on the "student plaza" being built between the Student Union Building and the Library Building. When finished the facility will contain several benches, tables and bar-que pits complete with electrical outlets.

Murray President Dr. Clyde Kindell announced that plans call for the plaza to be in operation sometime during the spring semester, although not all facilities may be completed until a later date. "We hope that the students will take advantage of the plaza," he stated. "We are building it in hopes that students can congregate there during the warmer weather and possibly hold impromptu dances and gatherings. It will be there solely for their use."

Committee To Try For Nat Stuckey

The newly-formed Murray Popular Arts Series Committee has reached tentative agreement to sponsor a country and western singer on campus this spring.

Though still in the planning stage, current plans call for RCA recording star Nat Stuckey to appear in Fletcher Auditorium. Stuckey, perhaps best known for his recording a few years ago of "Sweet Thing," will be joined on the show by the Little Okies, of Mannsville.

Committee Chairman John Edwards said tickets should go on sale within two weeks and would be priced at $2 advance and $2.50 at the door. "We feel fortunate," he said, "to be able to bring a singer with Nat Stuckey's reputation to the campus on such short notice. In a sense, this will be a trial run and if it turns out well, we will know a little more about what we are doing. We chose a country and western artist because of a recent poll taken among the students which showed that a performer from this area would be the most popular type of entertainment we could bring to the student. Certainly, we will not limit the committee's activities to country and western singers. We hope to be able to bring a rock group, maybe a folk singer, and hopefully we can establish some type of lecture series and other cultural activities."

The Nat Stuckey performance has been tentatively set at 7:30 p.m. March 23.

In addition to Edwards, the other members of the Popular Arts Series Committee are Kenneth Meeler, Ricky Griffin, Hugh Campbell, Jo Conway, Janace Fogleman and Beta Davis.

Deloris Jones Crowned Val. Sweetheart

Deloris Jones, a second semester sophomore, was crowned Valentine Sweetheart, Feb. 21, during the Valentine Dance in the Student Union Ballroom. The affair was sponsored by the Student Senate and was held from 3:00 to 12:00, after the home ballgame with Eastern.

Miss Jones, attired in a soft pink pants suit was crowned by Student Senate President Ricky Griffin. Griffin gave Deloris Jones the traditional sweetheart kiss and first dance to the tune of "To Love Somebody."

Miss Jones, a 1970 graduate of Tupelo High School is a physical education major. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jones of Tupelo.

Miss Carla McCarrell was first runner-up.

Students voted on the two candidates Feb. 16. The two girls were finalists of the Feb. 14 general election.

The Full Faith from Okemah provided music for the dance.

"I know you believe you understand what you think I said, but I'm not sure you realize that what you heard is not what I meant."

Pres. Advisory Committee Selected

Dr. Clyde Kindell, President of Murray State College, has announced that the President's Advisory Committee has been selected to serve the college for the rest of the year. The selected members have been under consideration for some time.

The committee idea began when the president realized that there was a communication gap between his office and the students. To cope with this problem, Dr. Kindell suggested to the Student Senate that they formulate the plan of the advisory committee. He asked the Senate to nominate seven students to represent various groups on Murray Campus: Indian, Black, dormitory, foreign, married and commuter students and the Student Senate.

The Student Senate presented several names to President Kindell, who interviewed each of the students individually. After several months the president chose those students who he thought would best represent the groups. The students who will serve on the committee are: Debbie Sealy, Indian students; Lyndell West, commuters; Joyce Colbert, Black student representative; Deloris Jones, dormitory; Lana Woods, married students; Roger Allen, Student Senate; and Hisanogubu Uesagal, foreign student representative.

The primary function of the Advisory Committee is to report and/or ask questions about problems that the student body might have.

The president thought that since most of the students did not have access to his office that the idea of the Advisory Committee might work, and he urges all students to talk with these committee members, no matter how small a problem might be.

Haskell Lucas Furniture Late

New furniture for second and third floors of Haskell Lucas Hall should arrive February 28.

Fields-Downs Randolph Company of Oklahoma City will furnish and install approximately $20,000 worth of furniture for Haskell Lucas.

The plans are to install 165 student study desks, 160 wall hung bookcase units and 83 double chest of drawers units. They are manufactured by Royal and are of assorted colors.

Dean Martin said, "Plans to install new bathroom facilities are being made for the summer. Also concentrated efforts are being made to help make Haskell Lucas one of the better dormitories on campus this fall."

Dean Martin expressed his disappointment in the late arrival of the furniture. He hopes it will arrive on the new schedule and regrets that the company has not held up to its obligations.

Students To Have Last Say On Telephones

The installment of telephones in dormitory rooms has not been decided on as of yet, it is still in the planning stage. It will be primarily up to the students if they want the phones in the dorms or not.

Brian Kinney, Business Manager, stated that "This program would be considered a benefit to the students who live in the dorms. Before the installment can get underway the majority of students staying in the dorms will have to approve the installment."

When the telephones are instituted, calling long distance will have to be a collect call. This is to keep other students from putting long distance calls on someone else's phone and to prevent unauthorized use of a student's telephone.

There will be a monthly payment from $1.25 to $1.75 for the use of the telephone. The telephones are to be installed in the two largest dorms, Haskell Lucas and McKee Hall.

The telephones in the dorms might prove to be very beneficial to the student's own personal use. Phones in dorms in surrounding colleges, such as Southwestern State, at Durant, have been quite a convenience.

If anyone may have any questions or would like to find out more about the program, Brian Kinney can provide further information.

PTK Elects New Officers

Phi Theta Kappa fraternity held its annual dinner meeting, February 22, at the Grill restaurant in Madill.

Purpose of the meeting was to welcome new members and elect new officers for the coming year. The members voted Wade Smith, an Ag major from Duncan, as president of the organization, Deaton Gerfat, vice-president; Julie Campbell, secretary-treasurer; Ronnie Davis, reporter; and Diane Miller as Student Senate Representative.

Cordella McLain was elected to attend the annual PTK convention to be held April 13-14-15 at Rochester, Minn. Also attending the convention will be Ralph Bryant, Kent Barnes, Wade Smith and sponsors, Mrs. Alma Hogan and Mr. Hugh Campbell.

Milligan Tells of Experiences in England as an Exchange Instructor

Larry Milligan, art instructor at Murray State College, told of his experiences as an exchange teacher at Birmingham, England at the February meeting of Omicron chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma. Slides depicting the scenes and famous places the speaker visited added to the interest of the lecture. Highlighting the program was a comparison of British educational systems with those of the United States.

Birmingham, located in central England, is called the "black country" because it is a highly industrialized manufacturing center. It is the home of one and one-half million people, whose terraced houses date from the Victorian era. Parks containing famous statues and beautiful flowers are found in the cities.

"Physical education does not hold as large a place in the schools of England as in our country. Theory is given by the teachers, and the students coach themselves in their athletic programs.

Three years of college is required for a teaching certificate, and many teachers never complete the four years required for a bachelor's degree.

"At age 11, the pupil begins his training in 'eleven plus' education, known as the 'A level.' He is tested to determine his individual course in specialized education. At age 16 or 17, he reaches the 'O level' of seriously concentrated training in his special field. British people do not understand the American plan of generalized education.

"England has about 70 colleges, 27 of which are schools of the Church of England. Cambridge and Oxford are the most famous British schools of higher learning," said Milligan.

Mrs. Dennis Toews, music instructor at Murray State College, presented her pupil, Kenneth Wiggins of Ardmore, in a program of vocal music.

Hostesses were Mrs. Irene B. Woods, Mrs. Clara J. Kelly, Mrs. Bruce Hammer and Mrs. Henry Pass. An attractive Valentine motif was observed in refreshments and room decorations.

Dr. Beulah Zimmerman appointed committees and led in formulating plans for the Gamma state convention to be held at Lake Murray Lodge March 17-19. Omicron chapter will serve as hostess for the convention.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Several students who have spent past weekends on the Murray College campus have complimented the school on keeping the Student Union open on Saturday afternoons. All the students agree that this function relieves some of the boredom that seems to rain down on the campus.

The Union is being operated by the teachers who substitute each Saturday. But most teachers who have worked on this project think that if more progress isn't made financially the Union may be closed again and thus the weekend blues will be back once more.

Murray Students Snub Right to Vote

Not so long ago there was an amendment to the constitution which gave 18 year olds the right to vote. Some exercise this right, but others don't.

The majority of students here at Murray State really don't care one way or the other, it's not quite serious to them.

Two government instructors, Mr. Arthur Vernon and Mr. Rex Morrell, took a poll of their government classes to see how many of the students were registered to vote. Mr. Vernon found that 6 of 64 students he taught were registered and only 20 to 25% of four classes under Mr. Morrell were ready to use the right the 26th Amendment gave them.

With those statistics, one may draw a conclusion that there are quite a number of unregistered eligible voters here on this campus.

For a long time politicians debated on the point that most 18 year olds are too immature, to irresponsible and incapable of handling the right to vote, but they passed the amendment anyway. Now that it is passed, Murray State students show an apathetic response to their new right.

When all states allowed the 18 year olds to vote, it scared the wits out of a lot of local townspeople, especially those with colleges. For 18 year olds can swing an election and the students can register in the county the college is in, or register in their home town, students have the choice. But a student has to register before he can vote.

A number of people think that the 18 year old voter will not affect elections all that much, because the young people won't vote. They're right, if most of the nation is like the students here at Murray, they won't even take the time to register, much less vote.

Mid-semester break starts March 6 thru 13 so during that time period, why not register? If you'd like to register here, a booth will be set up in the lobby the week after spring break. So register, and then use the right.

"OH, YEAH! WE'LL JUST WATCH TH' STYLE MY BOY SHOWS ON TH' LAST LAP."

4-H'ers Here On Murray Campus

The Southeastern Okla. District Share-The-Fun contest was held Saturday, February 19, in the Fletcher Auditorium. There were 4-H County groups and individual acts from 17 Southeastern Okla. Counties.

A panel of three judges rated the acts with red, white, or blue ribbons, and determined the winners. The two winning groups, individual winners, and appointed alternates are to perform at the State 4-H Round-up at the Oklahoma State University in May.

Winners for the individual acts are: Rhonda Lowe, Olney, "Our Last Song," and Randal Long, Walker, "Pamela Winthrop." Winners in the group division were: Thackerville seniors, Love County, in "Searching Question," and Tishomingo seniors, Johnston County, in "Slow Business."

The Masters of Ceremonies for this function were Lynne Ferrero, Coalgate, Southeastern District Secretary, and Dennie Locke, Tishomingo, Southeastern District President.

Sgt. Avant, the Army Recruiter for this district, will be in the lobby of the Student Union from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. every Thursday to answer any questions a student may have about programs or enlistment in the U.S. Army.

40 Years Ago they were good for Dad, today they'll be good for his son

Mexican Has Fond Memories of Town, College

Guillermo P. (Bill) Salas showed up in Tishomingo for the first time in 1928. One reason he was here was because no one else around could speak Spanish.

His father sent him up from Monterrey, Mexico, to study agriculture and Murray State College was chosen primarily because no one in the area spoke Spanish. "This way," Salas says, "I would be forced to learn the English language simply to survive."

Salas learned the language quite well. He also learned to think highly of Murray State College and Tishomingo. So highly, in fact, that now, 40 years later, he has returned to make arrangements for his son to enter Murray in February. While here, he also relived some old memories.

"It's funny," he said, "that after 40 years, things would return so clearly. It really seems just like just a short while ago that I first arrived in Tishomingo and one would think that 40 years would dull the memory somewhat."

"My father was fairly well-to-do when I was growing up and I was raised in a rather typical city setting in Monterrey. Even though I had little contact with outdoor life, I felt that I would like to study agriculture, to plant things and watch them grow. My father agreed and thought it best that I attend school in the United States, so we started looking. I learned of Murray through the American Consulate in Monterrey and it seemed to fit all the requirements, that is, it offered the last two years of high school as well as the first two of college, it was far enough away from Mexico, and no one spoke Spanish. This seemed vital to my father. I guess he was afraid that if I could find people who spoke my language, I would never learn theirs."

Salas arrived at Murray as a sophomore in high school and left in 1922 as a sophomore in college. He transferred to the University of Oklahoma where he completed the B.S. degree in geological engineering. "I know I came to study agriculture, but I simply fell in love with geology and chemistry," he says.

Taught Self-Reliance

Salas is a seriously philosophical man, extremely well-read and articulate. "When I arrived at Murray, I discovered something that changed the nature of my whole life. I found that people were working, everybody was working, and not one of them was asking for a medal. I was raised in a sheltered situation and even though I had yearned to do things for myself, I was not allowed the opportunity. We had servants and it was their job to care for me and my family. While this may be fine for comfort, it teaches one very little about self-reliance. The situation at Murray greatly pleased me. I found that I could work, could do for myself, and I have spent the rest of my life trying to do just that, and trying not to ask for things that I do not deserve."

When Salas left Oklahoma, he found the whole world waiting. As a geologist, he has worked in several Caribbean countries, in Venezuela, Argentina, and Columbia in South America, and in numerous European countries, including several months in Russia.

"My most interesting work experience," he recounts, "was in Cuba. I was a mineral adviser to Batista when he left the country to allow Castro to take over. I was asked by some people who had worked for me during the day and fought for Castro at night to stay on with the new government and help to re-vamp the Petroleum Institute. I agreed, and went to work directly under Che Guevarra."

Salas feels from his experiences in Cuba, that Che was "a communist, not for philosophical reasons, but for practical ones." He said that when he left the Castro government was leaning too far left, he talked with Che and asked directly if he was a Communist. "Che told me he was whatever he had to be to liberate the Cuban people. I reminded him that Batista had left the country, and asked what other liberations his people could need. He began then to talk of moral and social liberations and obligations. Soon after that, I left Cuba."

Salas is now Director General of the Council of Mineral Resources in Mexico, headquartered in Mexico City. "I am having to raise my son, Rodolfo, in a city environment just as I was. So I want him to come to Murray to study agriculture as I did. The only difference is that I prefer (Continued on Page 4)

Rev. Ted Maas Will Take New Pastorate

Rev. Ted Maas will leave here Monday to become pastor of the Northern City Baptist church in suburban Duluth, Minn. He is a former pastor of the Bullard Chapel Baptist church for 3 1/2 years and currently is director of the Baptist Student Union at Murray State College.

Mrs. Maas will remain here with the couple's children until the close of school this spring and will serve as interim B.S.U. director.

In line with what he wants to accomplish, Rodolfo will enroll in Murray's Farm and Ranch Management Program, a two-year program designed to turn out people capable of operating agricultural enterprises.

Salas again turned philosophical when asked what changes in Murray and Tishomingo during his 40-year absence had impressed him most.

"The thing that really impresses me," he said, "is that things haven't actually changed. Oh, Tishomingo and Murray have progressed. Both have grown and built new buildings. But, what I mean is, the people haven't changed. I strongly believe that America's strength lies in its rural people and communities. These were good, moral, hard-working people when I met them in 1928 and I find that they still are. Tishomingo is an oasis in the desert, an island in the sea. I work and live in a rat-race, among political sharks, filled with intrigues, so believe me, I can appreciate the pace of life here. Here, there are no false pretenses, no shams, just plain, good people."

Teams Doing Fine This Year

The Murray State Aggies finished 3rd in regional play, but Aggie Coach Kenneth Cobb said his "team has improved during the season and that they may have a shot at winning the Regional Tourney that started this week."

Coach Cobb said the "boys maintained a record of 22 wins and 7 losses, but the record we hold would have been better except for some bad breaks we received near the end of the season." He said the team still has the drive and the will to win, and showed it when they defeated Seminole 104-99.

The Aggie-ettes have shown "good improvement," according to Coach Jack Hedden. He said most of the teams the girls played were teams established at four-year schools. "Since most of the girls are freshmen," he said, "they should show great improvement next year."

"The girls have a real good chance of taking the National Junior College Women's Tourney at Lindsay, but they will need some good breaks to win the tourney at Amarillo, Texas," Hedden stated.

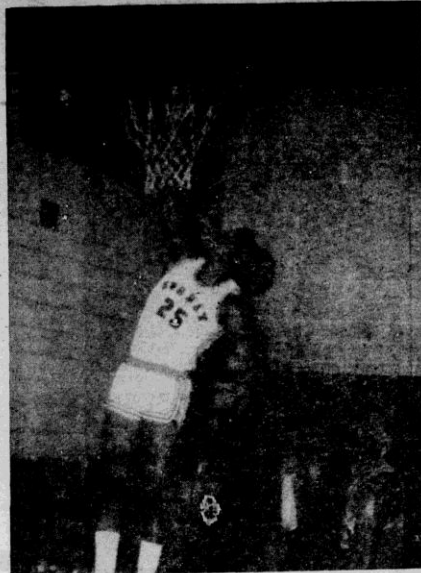

WOULD YOU BELIEVE?

Would you believe, that two cars will be married tomorrow in an open ceremony, at 5:30?

A wedding involving two vehicles, the Ravia Taxi Cab, owned and operated by Robert "Butch" Nanny, will be wedded to a 1960 Ford Falcon named Jesebell, owned by Darleane Belvin.

The wedding will be held Wednesday, March 1, at the park near the swinging bridge here in Tishomingo.

Ceremonies will commence at 5:45 sharp. Wedding invitations have been set out, and anyone is welcome to come. Cake and punch will be served to the people who attend the ceremony while it lasts.

"AN EASY TWO" for Gerald Tucker as the Aggies bring their winnings to 22 and losses to 7. The Aggies placed 3rd in the regionals.

Murray Technology Facilities Inspected by State JC Educators

Eighteen Oklahoma Junior College technical education instructors were on the Murray State College campus Friday, Feb. 18, as part of a National Science Foundation grant to Oklahoma State University to up-grade junior college technology programs. The grant includes sponsorship of representatives from six Oklahoma junior colleges to an eight-week seminar last summer on the OSU campus. The purpose of the project is to develop program material which will be relevant to the teaching areas within technology. Junior colleges participating in the program were Murray, Northeastern, Tulsa, Eastern, Northern and Oscar Rose.

The current phase of the grant calls for visits to each of the six junior college campuses for progress reports from the participants and first-hand views of what is happening on each campus. Project coordinator is Dr. Cecil Dugger of the Technical Education Division, OSU.

While at Murray, the visitors took a tour of the engineering and technology facilities, conducted by departmental chairman R. B. Brisco, and computer specialist Fred White talked with the group on "The Computer as an Instructional Aid."

The NSF grant will be concluded this summer with another eight-week program on the OSU campus for final progress reports and follow-up studies.

Ags Defeat No. 6 Team, Seminole, in Overtime

The Aggies and Aggie-ettes both had revenge Wednesday night against Seminole Junior College and celebrated with a general holiday on Thursday.

The Aggies out-gunned sixth-ranked Seminole in overtime, 104-99, causing only the third loss for Seminole this season. They now stand 23-3 while Murray's Aggies are 22-7.

The battle was tight all the way and seldom did more than five points separate the teams. After a 91-all tie at the end of 40 minutes of play, the Aggies poured in 13 points in the five-minute overtime. During the overtime, three Seminole players fouled out.

The hottest hand for Murray, currently ranked 11th in team defense, was Gerald Tucker with 30 points. Winford Newson hit for 26 points, Stanley Beard 16, Lynn Hofacket 15, David Payne 11, and James Hudson 6.

Greg McDougal led Seminole with 40 points.

The Aggies were out to avenge an earlier 88-72 loss to Seminole, and they may have been fired up by the play of their coed counterparts. The Aggie-ettes had lost to Seminole earlier by 84-61 and came out ready to play, chalking up a 68-51 win.

Leading the Aggie-ettes was Nancy Washington with 29 points, Janie Fincher 16, Teresa Winburst 14, Sherry Schoemann 8, Diane Miller 7, and Melissa Snyder 3.

The Aggies have completed their regular season play and will meet Oscar Rose today in the regional tournament at Tulsa. The Aggie-ettes finish their season today at North Texas State University and are scheduled to compete in two post-season tournaments. They are presently 12-10.

Murray President Dr. Clyde Kindell declared last Thursday a holiday because of the wins.

Aggies Entered in Tulsa Event, Will Play Oscar Rose JC First

Murray State College will enter the Region II junior college basketball tournament at Oral Roberts University, Tulsa, with the Aggies scheduled to play Oscar Rose at 2 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 29.

If Murray wins its opening game it will play again at 2 p.m. Thursday, March 2, against the winner of the Bacone-Southern Baptist match. Winner of the March 2 game advances to the semi-finals scheduled for 9 p.m. March 3. The finals will be at 8 p.m. Sat. March 4. The winner advances to the national tournament at Hutchinson, Kans., March 13-18.

Aggies Get Recognition

Lynn Hofacket, Murray's 6'4" forward from Chattanooga, Tenn., was named to the Region II all-star team and the conference all-star team. Two other Aggies won conference all-star designations, Gerald Tucker, 6'1" guard from Ft. Towson and Winford Newson, 6'4" center from Atlanta, Ga.

Nat Stucky Show Not Exactly A Booming Success

A fairly small, but enthusiastic crowd showed up Thursday night in Fletcher Auditorium to hear Nat Stuckey, The Sweet Things and The Little Okies.

The turnout was estimated at 350, with probably no more than 125 Murray students.

Beginning at 7:30, the music resounded throughout the auditorium for almost two and one-half hours before the final curtain. The Little Okies of Mannsville opened the show and were rewarded with tremendous applause. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Thompson of Mannsville and range in age from 10 to 16. They presented several standard C&W songs and sang two that they had recorded themselves. Finishing out their show was a tribute to the late and great Bob Wills winding up with a fiddle rendition of his famous "Faded Love."

The Sweet Things hit the stage then, playing several songs, and introducing the star of the show, Nat Stuckey. Dressed in a blue suit and with a mod sort of haircut, Nat kept up the pace of the show with his biggest hit, "Sweet Thing." He ran through many hit songs he has recorded and/or written, such as "Wellfare Line" which he wrote and Buck Owens made famous, and his latest hit "Forgive Me For Calling You Darling."

The newly-organized Popular Arts Series Committee sponsored the show with E. W. Thompson of Mannsville as promoter. John Edwards, chairman of the committee, said after the show, "We certainly had hoped for a successful show as a beginning point for the committee and its efforts to bring entertainment to the Murray students. Once we have all the expenses settled, the committee will meet and analyze the results to determine just what our next step will be."

Supreme Court Hearing Held on State Bill 214

The State Supreme Court on March 14 heard oral arguments and is scheduled to reach soon a decision on a case expected to have a great significance for Murray State College and the entire A & M Board of Regents system.

The A & M Regents seek a reversal of a lower court ruling made last December upholding the constitutionality of Senate Bill 214. The bill authored by Senator Bob Trent and Representative Converse was passed by the Legislature last year. The Bill would change the name of Murray State College of Agriculture and Applied Sciences to Murray State College of Technology, and remove Murray from being under the control of the A & M regents. It will give Murray its own seven member board of regents, and change the function of the college to predominately technical instead of agriculture.

MURRAY STATE'S NATIONAL JUNIOR COLLEGE CHAMPION girls' basketball team display trophies won by the team and individuals at the Lindsay tournament. Teresa Winbush (32) was named Most Valuable Player in the national tourney. Diane Miller holds the team trophy designating the Aggie-Ettes as National Champions. Jane Fincher shows her trophy naming her to the All-Tournament Team, and Coach Jack Hedden received the Championship Coach Award. The girls defeated Hiwassee, Tennessee, 61-54 to take the championship.

Girls Take National Championship

The Murray State College Aggie-Ettes made believers out of everybody when they capped off their first season of play by winning the National Championship Tournament at Lindsay.

The Aggie-Ettes accomplished this amazing feat by downing Weatherford, Texas, 65-46, meeting and defeating defending national champs Ranger, Texas in the semifinals 50-47, and taking home all the marbles against Hiwassee, Tennessee in the finals 64-51.

The tourney was all Murray, with sharpshooter Teresa Winbush scoring 16 points in the final game and being named the tournament's Most Valuable Player. Another standout all season for the Aggie-Ettes was Jane Fincher, who poured in 19 points in the final game and won a spot on the All-Tournament Team.

The girls were to travel to an invitational tournament in Amarillo, Texas last weekend and stood 15-10 on the season at that point. Not a very impressive season, admittedly, but when it's analyzed a little closer, it's found that Murray lost only one of those ten games against a junior college. Seminole slipped by them early in the season but the Aggie-Ettes avenged that loss at home by beating Seminole 17 points in a return match. The other nine losses sustained by the Aggie-Ettes were at the hands of such four-year schools as Wayland, Ouachita Baptist, Parsons, and John F. Kennedy. All these teams are nationally-ranked four-year colleges with the Wayland Flying Queens defending National Champions in the senior college circuit.

All this, while the Aggie-Ettes were in their first season of play. "We are going to try and build a real fine program here," commented Coach Jack Hedden. "We have had fine support from the school as a whole and from the administration. We have a total of 15 scholarships to work with and we have every reason to believe that we can attract some of the best players in the area."

The Aggie-Ettes managed to set the stage for a hard season next year, trying to live up to what they have already accomplished. However, they will have the talent to do it. Indications are that the entire starting line-up, all freshmen of course, will be returning, giving the team added experience which they lacked this year.

Hedden continued, "This was what made us so excited and proud of the girls this year, the fact that all of them were freshmen making the difficult transition to college basketball, and were able to go up against experienced girls and beat them."

For the girls, there is substantial difference between high school and college basketball. In high school, they play with six-girl teams, three on either end of the court, playing only defense or only offense and never crossing the center. In college, they play basically boys' rules, five to the team and full-court. The only difference between girls' and boys' rules is that the girls must shoot the ball within 30 seconds or lose possession.

In the Hiwassee game, other scorers were Nancy Washington 13, Diane Miller 9, and Mary Jenkins 4.

MSC Pageant Only Two Days Away

Twelve Murray lasses will compete for the title of "Miss Murray College," March 30 in Fletcher Auditorium. John Edwards will act as Master of Ceremonies for the talent, swim suit and evening gown competition beginning at 8:00 p.m.

The 12 contestants are Sharon Weger, Holdenville; Debra Awtry, Ringling; Kathy Evans, Holdenville; Kathryn Ballou, Mannsville; Florene Johnson, Springer; Joyce Colbert, Ardmore; Judy Hurta, Fox; Carolyn Parrish, Kingston; Joyce Noah, Antlers; Jane Fincher, Fort Cobb; Sandra Park, Cleveland; and Rhonda Shirley, Ardmore.

Reserved seat tickets for the Miss Murray State College Pageant are available now at the office of Mr. Robert Pearson, Director of Student Activities. The tickets are priced at $1.50 and $1.00, according to the location of the seats. Admission price at the door on the night of the Pageant will be $2.00 and $1.50.

All are urged to obtain their tickets in advance, to be sure of getting the most desirable seats.

Mrs. Janace Fogleman, Director of the Pageant, says she is quite pleased with the way Pageant preparations are developing, and feels that this year's Miss MSC Pageant will be even more successful than last year's event.

The college hosted a banquet Wednesday evening, March 15, to honor the entrants in the Second Annual Miss Murray State College Pageant. Attending were the contestants, their escorts, patrons of the Pageant, members of the faculty and of Murray Dames who are participating in the Pageant production, and other guests.

Mr. Danny Glover served as Master of Ceremonies for the evening. Dr. Clyde Kindell introduced.

Local Merchants Contribute to Murray Pageant

Several Tishomingo and area merchants and individuals have contributed time and/or money to see that the second annual Miss Murray State College Pageant is a success. Pageant director Janace Fogleman stated, "I don't know what we would do without the help of these people. Their interest and cooperation is tremendously appreciated by the pageant committee."

Donors to the Pageant include: Patrons: Cobb Drug Store; Armstrong's; Hacker's Cleaners; Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Bell; Lafitte's Pharmacy; Manley Chevrolet-Oldsmobile; B. and E. Sporting Goods; Dr. and Mrs. Paul Laurson; Sharpe's Department Store; Dr. and Mrs. F. E. The contestants have had sessions with representatives from Mary Kay Cosmetics, Sears Charn School, and have gone to a style show at Ida's Fashions of Ardmore.

The contestants will have dress rehearsal on the night of the 29th. They will have an interview with the judges the afternoon of the Pageant.

The Murray Dames will present trophies to the winner, first and second runners up, "Miss Congeniality" and the talent winner.

The winner of the Murray Pageant will be, in the judges' opinion, the best combinations of personality, charm, talent and good looks to represent Murray State College at the Miss Oklahoma Pageant in June.

Nine Towns Represented by 12 Coeds

Nine different towns will be represented by the twelve girls competing for the title of Miss Murray State College.

Representing these towns are: Debra Kay Awtrey of Ringling. Miss Awtrey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Awtrey, of Ringling and is a 1971 graduate of Ringling High School. She is a freshman at Murray majoring in general education. During her high school years she was named F.F.A. Sweetheart and was recipient of the Betty Crocker Home-maker Award in her senior year. Madill is represented by Kathryn Maurice Ballou. Miss Ballou is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Ballou of Route 1 in Mannsville and is a 1971 graduate of Madill High School. She is a freshman majoring at Murray. During her high school years, she was active in basketball and volleyball.

Fox is represented by two young coeds, Sandra Jeanette Park and Judy Kay Hurta. Miss Park is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Park and is a 1971 graduate of Fox High School. She is a freshman at Murray majoring in business. During her high school years, she was recipient of numerous awards, including the John Phillip Sousa Band Award, Outstanding Girl Athlete, American Legion Award, and Citizenship Award. At Murray, she is reporter and member of the Phi Beta Lambda business society and editor of the Tribesman, Murray State College yearbook.

Miss Hurta, also a freshman, is a physical education student. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard P. Hurta. She was named the most popular senior at Fox High School last year, best all-around girl, served as cheerleader for three years, and was named football queen during her senior year.

PTK Initiation Held Last Week

Initiation of new members to the Murray State College Chapter Alpha Epsilon of Phi Theta Kappa, the National Junior College Honor Society, was held on Monday night, March 20 in the student union ballroom.

The initiates were acquainted with the goals and purposes of the organization and asked to recite the Phi Theta Kappa pledge. The letters Phi Theta Kappa, symbolizing Greek words, stand for wisdom, aspiration and purity. Each new member was given a candle to light from one central candle, which symbolized the light of learning.

Those initiated were: Jeanene Gann, Alford Bratcher, Wade Smith, Ronnie Davis, Blain Story, Glenn Colium, Larry Berey, Delton Gerloff, Orville Cottrell, Leschen Baker, Judy Slaughter, William N. Adams, Douglas C. Pharoah, Bernard Luttmir, Paul Wiles, Timothy Smith, Darlene Henley, Darlene Belvin, Rhonda Spencer, Penny Jackson, Freda Matthews, Janie Fincher, Glenda Curry, Beth Akins, Gholamreza Hatami, Larry Check, Bobby Blades, James Bridgeman, Phillip Jackson, Ann Brown, Linda Reeder, Julia Campbell and Myrtle Louis Alford.

A reception followed. The members will receive membership cards and certificates. Sponsors of the organization are Mrs. Alma Hogan and Mr. Hugh Campbell.

NAVY TEAM DUE HERE

A Navy Information Team will be in the lobby of the Student Center here on March 29 to explain officer training available for freshmen through graduate students.

The Team will explain programs available which will enable a student to graduate from college before reporting for active duty and will also administer qualification tests without obligation.

 Supporting Murray for 32 Years

Editorial

For a first year team the Aggie-Ettes sure came off with a good start winning the Junior College Nationals, which was pretty surprising. They host a lot of games but all of those except one were to four-year colleges and universities. But in due process they showed they were the tops in the Junior College division. I only hope they'll be better next year and retain the crown.

The local Chamber of Commerce is running a campaign on cleaning up Tishomingo. It has been suggested that local college students could help clean it up. I seriously doubt that it will get very much attention from the college students, now if it was a campaign for throwing bottles and gum wrappers on the streets, they'd have full co-operation.

They need volunteers and that's one thing this campus hasn't got. It's hard to get anyone to do anything anymore.

I was talking with a couple of Student Senate members the other day and they were kind of disappointed in the way the Senate has turned out. At first they thought a great number of things would be changed here on the Murray campus, such as the point system, but things seemed to have bogged down.

Some members of the newly founded Popular Arts Series Committee seemed disappointed in the turn-out of college students at the Nat Stuckey Show. You can hardly blame them. The show was put on for the college students and only about 125 students attended. This show was an experiment in whether to attempt to provide students with entertainment such as country and western, rock and art programs. With that kind of turn-out, I imagine they will be a little bit leery of putting on a rock group and trying to promote the show.

The young couple decided to buy a compact car, but when they entered the showroom and saw the suggested price they were astonished. "Why, that's almost the same price as a big car," the husband complained to the salesman.

"That's right," replied the salesman. "If you want economy, you have got to be willing to pay for it." —The Nellig (Neb.) News & Leader

Intramural Volleyball Finals Get Underway

The girls' and boys' volleyball tournament got started last Thursday with the BSU boys beating the Bullshippers 2 out of 3 games. The first game went to the Bullshippers 15-5, but the BSU came on strong the next two games, 15-9 and 15-13 to win. The International Club was also victorious the first night of play. They defeated the Misfits two straight, 15-1 and 15-3.

The losses moved the Misfits and Bullshippers into the losers bracket. The Bullshippers are determined to stay in the runnings. The Bullshippers lost the first game 15-8, but got themselves together and won the last two, 15-9 and 15-13.

In the winners bracket the BSU will play the International Club for a place in the finals against the Bullshippers, the winner of the losers bracket. This game will be played during the first week of April.

The girls were ready for the finals, which were played Monday, March 20.

The Fulton Floppers beat the BSU girls 15-4 and 15-6. The BSU girls looked strong the second game when they outscored the Floppers by two, 16-14. In the other girls' game the No Names took two straight from the Grays, 15-8 and 15-9. This moved the No Names and the Fulton Floppers into championship play.

Coach Ross announced that the Sportsmanship awards will be given. "So far," he says, "all teams in the tournament have shown great sportsmanship. It will be hard for me to name the winners of this award."

THE STUDENT SENATE sponsored its seventh film "The Heart is a Lonely Hunter" in the Fletcher auditorium, Monday night.

"We could start a dating bureau and quit business after the first two boys sign up!"

History Department Takes Many Field Trips

The Social Science Department here at Murray State College has taken a number of field trips to such places as Oklahoma City to see the State Capitol, The Supreme Court Hearings and the Cowboy Hall of Fame.

Mr. Arthur Vernon said that "more field trips have been taken this semester than has been taken in the past. We've gone to the capitol to give the students an observation of how our legislature works and how they look in action. We've also been to the Supreme Court hearings on Senate Bill 214 and the students had a chance to see how the courts work, the prosecution and defense in action, the jury and how to react to the court hearings. The students have been to museums to see their past history and we are planning a number of additional field trips before the semester is over. We are planning to observe some surrounding civil court cases."

Mr. Vernon pointed out that these field trips helped contribute to the students' education by experience and noting the complexity of our society. Vernon mentioned that the number of field trips this semester may be broadened the following semesters.

"They haven't slowed down, Joey, but they're beginning to look wistful!"

Student Senate Will Show Last Film April 10

The Student Senate sponsored its seventh movie "The Heart is a Lonely Hunter" in the auditorium Monday night. Its last movie will be shown April 10 at 6:30 in the Fletcher Auditorium.

"The Wild Bunch" will be the last movie shown by the Student Senate. The film, starring William Holden, Ernest Borgnine, Robert Ryan, Edmund O'Brien and Warren Oates, is an adventure drama about the last of the lawless breed who lived to kill.

Pike Bishop (William Holden) and his gang are outlaws of a sort whose exploits 10 or 15 years before might have been considered heroic. But time had passed them by. Even their enemies thought they were reliving past glories.

The student senate sponsored eight movies this last semester, charging the students 35c each and covering the rest of the price for the use of the films themselves. The films were provided by Warner Bros., which included such films as "Bonnie and Clyde," "Four for Texas," "The Wild Bunch," "The Will Rogers Story" and "Up the Down Stair Case."

The films were selected the first semester by a committee appointed by the Student Senate President Ricky Griffin. Certain improvements were made after the first showing of the films and now they are quite unique for the facilities the Student Senate has.

Science Dept. To Host Speaker

Hubert Frings, David Rose Boyd Professors of Zoology at the University of Oklahoma, will be the principal speaker in a general assembly April 6, at 11:00 a.m. in Fletcher Auditorium. This program is jointly sponsored by the science department and the Popular Arts Series Committee.

According to Jim Schammerhorn of the science department at Murray, Dr. Frings will be giving a lecture on animal communication using slides, movies and audio tapes.

Schammerhorn, who set up the lecture, has urged everyone to attend the program saying, "Dr. Frings is a highly dynamic and colorful speaker and everyone should enjoy his program."

After lunch Dr. Frings will answer questions from the science students and members of the faculty.

Students Place In Bowl Tourney

Murray State College took second place in the East Central Fifth Annual Invitational Intercollegiate Bowling Tournament held at the Strike and Spare Lanes of Ada.

Murray State's Jan Chapman took second place honors in the Women's Singles, bowling a three game 623 series.

Jan and Cleve Chapman combined for a 1243 effort to win first place in Mixed Doubles.

Randy Epperly participated in Men's Singles at the tournament.

Approximately 205 entries were counted in the tournament. Schools entered in the tournament were: East Central, Oklahoma Baptist University, Oklahoma University, Southwestern, Cameron, Murray State, El Reno Junior College and Northeastern State College.

Cable TV To Be Installed By Next Semester

Murray State College in the near future will acquire the cable TV hook-ups to the dorms, possibly during the summer. The hook-ups will be under-ground cables run to the dormitories and will be hooked up to the TV's in the dorm patios. The cable will also give the students a chance to hook-up with their individual sets.

The cable will allow students a wider variety of television entertainment with a number of separate channels. The cable will transmit two Oklahoma City stations, two Dallas channels, Ardmore and Ada, an individual station, and channel 13, which is educational.

By next semester the charge for hook-up may possibly be $19.55, with a monthly rate of $5.75. Although the charge for the students is not yet quite clear, it will be decided by next semester.

MODERN WITHDRAWAL
Bank robbing seems to be the latest drive-in service offered by today's gadget-conscious banking institutions.

In Anderson a woman drove up to a bank window, demanded money under the threat of a gun which (she said) was in her covered-up right hand, received about $4,500, and drove off.

You can't beat that for service.

Scores of FFA Students Visit Murray College

The agriculture department at Murray State College was host last week when 1,600 to 1,800 students and sponsors arrived on campus for the annual FFA Interscholastic Contests.

Harold Fogleman, chairman of the agriculture department, said this was the largest number of contestants since Murray has been hosting the contests. "We were extremely pleased with the projected turnout," he said, "and we expected this to be the most successful FFA contest we had ever been associated with."

Contests got underway on Monday, April 3 with competition in speech and chapter meeting. The bulk of the events was scheduled for Tuesday, April 4.

FFA students from throughout the state were competing. Fogleman noted, "This was not limited to any particular area or region of the state. FFA chapters from anywhere in the state were allowed to participate."

Chapters competed in the following events: land judging, farm structures, crops judging and identification, horticulture judging, livestock judging, poultry judging, dairy cattle judging, meats judging, entomology, agriculture economics, farm electrification, farm shop, farm survey, pasture and range, chapter meeting, FFA greenhand, FFA speaking, FFA dairy speaking, rural co-op speaking and banking speaking.

Contestants gathered at 8:45 a.m. Tuesday in the Murray gymnasium. They were welcomed by Murray State College President Dr. Clyde Kindell, Fogleman and Rick Griffin, Student Senate president. Also addressing the group was Cleo Collins, Southeast FFA district Supervisor.

Results of the meet will be tabulated and the winners will return to Murray for an awards banquet today, April 11.

Dr. Hubert Frigs Guest Speaker to Assembly Group

Dr. Hubert Frigs, Professor at the University of Oklahoma, was guest speaker at a general assembly April 6, in Fletcher Auditorium. The program was sponsored jointly by the Popular Arts Series Committee and the Science Department.

The professor gave a lecture on animal communication with the use of films, slides and tapes with various animal sounds.

Students from different phases of the Science Department attended the lecture as well as members from the speech department.

After lunch, Dr. Frigs remained on campus and answered various questions students wanted to ask.

Joe W. Anderson, director of the Muskogee Veterans Administration Regional Office, said 28,205 Oklahoma veterans have trained in the agency's programs out of a total of 68,000 eligible veterans in the state.

MISS MURRAY STATE COLLEGE, Joyce Noah will represent the Tishomingo school this summer in the Miss Oklahoma Pageant in Tulsa. Miss Noah competed against 11 other coeds at Murray for the title. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Rhodes of Antlers and a 1971 graduate of Antlers High School.

Joyce Noah Is Miss MSC

Petite and smiling, Joyce Noah, became the second Miss Murray State College following pageant competition held in the Fletcher Auditorium, March 30. The business administration major's talent was a dance to the song "I Got Life."

The 1971 Antlers High School graduate is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Rhodes of Antlers, Oklahoma.

In a final questioning of the five finalists by emcee John Edwards, Murray history instructor, Miss Noah was asked "How do you feel about the new morality?" She replied that some people believe in it and it is OK for them, but she would stick to the old fashion way.

Along with the Miss Murray title, Miss Noah received a scholarship, an expense-paid trip to Tulsa in June for the state pageant and numerous gifts from local Tishomingo merchants.

Runners-up for the title were Jane Ann Fincher, Fort Cobb

Miss Awtrej was honored by her fellow pageant sisters with the presentation of the Miss Congeniality award. Rhonda Shurley was chosen non-finalist talent winner for her song "Sadie, Sadie."

The pageant was sponsored by the Murray Dames, an organization of women faculty members and wives of faculty members.

Approximately 700 people attended the pageant program of categorized competition and entertainment beginning at 8:00 p.m.

Divisions for judging were swimsuit, talent and evening gown competition. Talent presentations included singing, dancing, dramatic acting and reading, pantomiming and poetry reading.

Miss Johnice Brannon, former Murray instructor, began the program with "Tonight" which led into a medley of songs. Moving along with the spirit of the black-tie event, the contestants sang "High Hopes."

Flowing curtains of soft pastel colors provided an appropriate background for the stage. Special music was provided by Murray students, Sam Stotts, Miss Brannon and the Tishomingo High School Choir.

Following Miss Noah's crowning, she was serenaded by Robert Pearson, who sang, "Here She Is, Miss Murray State." As the last notes died away she began her year's reign as an official representative of Murray State College in school and state pageant affairs.

Finally official, it's now 'Murray State College'

The name of the junior college in Tishomingo was pegged as "Murray State College" in the final week of the state legislature with passage of Senate Bill No. 526 authored by Senator Bob Trent of the Senate and Kenneth Converse of the House.

It may mean the junior college that has been here since shortly after statehood will have a name that will stick. In past years it's been Murray State School of Agriculture, Murray State College of Agriculture and Applied Science and since November it may have been Murray State College of Technology, and was about to be changed to Murray State Junior College until a couple of weeks ago.

Trent told the C.D. about SB 526. "This bill was introduced with the idea of fulfilling the promise to change the name of the college there to 'Murray State College' and to change the words 'predominant emphasis' (in his S.B. 214) to 'greater emphasis' on technological education."

Unchanged by the new bill is a provision in SB 214 that would remove Murray from under the Regents for A.M. Colleges and establish a separate seven-member board of regents for Murray State College. The matter has been contested by the A.M. Regents and a decision is now being studied by the State Supreme Court.

Thurl E. Harris New B.S.U. Head

Thurl E. Harris will assume his duties as Baptist Student Union Director at Murray State College, Tishomingo, April 3. He was formerly pastor of the Rexroat Baptist Church at Wilson. He graduated from Healdton High School and spent three years in the U. S. Army. He attended East Central State College and the University of Oklahoma where he received a B. S. degree in Education and was active as a student in the B.S.U. program there. He is a graduate of the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, Texas, where he received the Master of Divinity degree in December, 1971. He is married and has one son. The family has purchased a home in the Murray addition on west 22nd street.

The Baptist Student Center is sponsored by the Johnston-Marschall Baptist Association composed of the twenty-three Southern Baptist churches in the area, in cooperation with the Baptist General Convention of Oklahoma.

In its annual meeting in October, the association voted to put the B.S.U. work on a full-time status, and Ted Maas, part-time B.S.U. Director since 1968 was asked to assume the full-time duties on December 1st. He resigned March 1st to accept the call of the Southern Baptist church in Duluth, Minnesota. Mrs. Maas will serve as interim B.S.U. Director until April 3.

MSC To Host Seniors

The Murray State College Faculty Fraternity will sponsor a Senior Day on the Murray campus April 19. According to Fraternity Chairman John Edwards, the purpose of the day is to bring as many seniors as possible from the ten-county SODA area to the campus to show them the advantages of attending Murray.

He said, "We believe that a program like this can be of tremendous benefit to Murray. Murray has many advantages to offer prospective students, and if we can get them on the campus, we feel that many of them will attend Murray."

Fred White, engineering instructor, has been named coordinator of Senior Day activities. "Right now," he commented, "we expect over 1,000 high school seniors to participate in the program. We are going to try a new approach to this type of event and have the day's activities student-centered. We plan to involve the student in the activities, rather than just lead him around from one meeting to another."

General registration for the program is set for 10 a.m. in Fletcher Auditorium with an assembly scheduled for 10:30. Lunch will be served to the prospective Murray students from 11:30 to 1 p.m. and individual student activities will be held from 1 to 3 p.m. They will be free to visit any department on campus, complete pre-enrollment papers, or visit with counselors. Also scheduled for that time period are several scholarship competitions. Many of the departments will sponsor contests for the students with a scholarship award to the winners.

Final event of the day for the participants will be a Computerized Rally Race sponsored by the Murray Society of Engineers and Technicians. Visitors who wish to do so may participate in the race, beginning at 3 p.m. The race basically is competition to drive a specified route prescribed by a computer in the shortest time, without violating any traffic laws.

From the Dean of Students: All students who have or have had a Murray State College National Defense Loan whether or not they have it now must meet in the cafeteria, April 12, 1972 at 10:00 for an exit interview. The interview is compulsory before deposits or grades will be released.

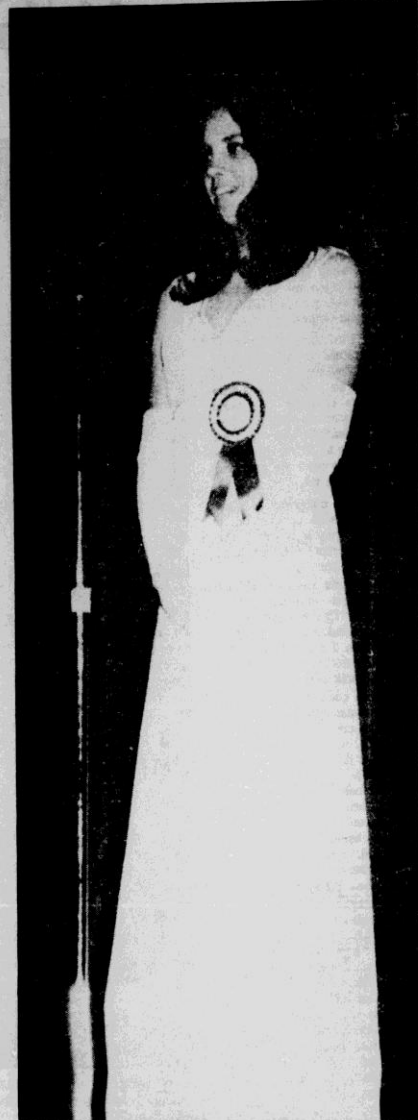

The Federal Highway Administration reports that more than 100 million motor vehicles were registered in the U.S. in 1970, a gain of nearly 3.34 million over 1969.

Nurses Have Capping Service

Sunday, April 9, at 3:00 p.m. in Fletcher Auditorium, a capping ceremony was held for the first graduating LPN's of Murray State College. The licensed practical nurses were honored with Dr. Kindell speaking and Dr. Hill acting as master of ceremonies.

Murray's first year with this nursing program has been quite successful with 23 of the original 36 graduating. The Director of Nursing here at Murray, Mrs. Dunham, is quite enthused about next year, also with the thirty-six students already enrolled. Mrs. Dunham also said that there were more who wanted to participate in the program, but the facilities and instructors aren't capable of handling more for the next year or so.

Mrs. Dunham commented that even though the students don't have jobs for after capping, she is certain they won't have any trouble finding jobs because of the tremendous demand for nurses throughout the state, and especially in this ten county area. The students have been under the instruction of Yvonne Vernon and Judy Nutt in the classroom and in their clinical experience. They have had their on the job experience in Ada, Durant, Ardmore, as well as Tishomingo. In hospitals, health departments, and doctors' offices.

Afro-American Day to be Apr. 17

The Afro-American Club will hold its third annual Afro-American Day April 17. The day will start off with a luncheon at 11:00 a.m. in the Student Union Ballroom. Guest speaker, Mrs. Lennie Toliver from Oklahoma University, will be the speaker at the luncheon. The theme this year for the Afro-American Day will be "What It Is Black Man."

After the luncheon, a program will be held in Fletcher Auditorium at 2:00 p.m. Mr. Ronald Johnson will be the guest speaker for that occasion. Mr. Johnson from East Central State College at Ada, will speak on the theme which the day has been based. There will be other speeches and songs sung by the members of the Afro-American Club.

At 8:00 the Afro Ball will be held with an admission of $1.25 single and $2.00 a couple.

You're Good Man Charlie Brown

The Music Department will present "You're A Good Man Charlie Brown" in the Fletcher Auditorium, April 18 at 8:00 p.m. The play is open to the public and there is no charge.

This year's cast consists of Tom Walker, playing the role of Charlie Brown, Sammy Joeng as Snoopy, Dewey Johnson as Shrouder, Judy Slaughter as Lucci, Judy Smith as Patty and Doug Pharaoh as Linus.

Dennis Towes is director of this musical with Rhonda Shurley as his assistant. Mrs. Karen Wellman will be in charge of orchestra and Mrs. Towes in charge of choreography.

A cutting may be given from the play April 19, but is undecided as of now.

HAROLD FOGLEMAN, Chairman of the department of agriculture at Murray State College, left, and agriculture instructor David McCormick, show some of the trophies which will be presented to the winner in the FFA Interscholastics Contests which were held on the Murray campus April 3 and 4. Approximately 1,600-1,800 students from throughout the state were expected to compete in the annual event.

Editorial

The Student Senate elections were to be held sometime this week, but there won't be an election. It seems like not enough students wanted to run for the offices of the Student Senate. Only one person filed for the election in each of the vacated categories and now they become automatically elected, for they can't run against themselves.

It seems like student interest in such matters is at a low, it has been for quite sometime. It will probably get worse before it gets any better. No one knows how or what it takes to get the spirit going here at Murray, and it might take a long time to find out how to increase interest. At any rate, student interest at Murray has gradually declined through the years and has about hit rock bottom.

The blame cannot be laid upon the shoulders of the administration nor the Student Senate. Both have tried the best they know how to improve Murray. The blame has to be placed on the individual attending Murray State. There are practically no restrictions on what the student can participate in, if he is only willing to accept responsibility.

Several students want changes in Murray, such as the dorm rules and a number of other rules, but the ones who seem to holler the loudest about the faults of Murray College do nothing to change them.

The blame cannot be placed on someone else's shoulders, the blame has to be placed where it rightfully belongs, on the individual, for we are all part of the Murray State College student body.

OAEC To Give Scholarship

Interest in a management career in the rural electric cooperative program is the key to unlocking the door to a substantial scholarship for some young male student in Oklahoma.

Scholarship applications are now being taken by the Oklahoma Association of Electric Cooperatives. One scholarship recipient will be selected from among the applicants.

Eligible applicants for the scholarship with a potential value of from $4,500 to $8,500 are students who will enroll for the 1972 fall term in an Oklahoma college or university as a freshman, sophomore or junior. Czar D. Langston, Jr., OAEC general manager said.

This unusual grant-work-loan scholarship provides $500 for each semester the recipient is in college. In addition, he will also be guaranteed summer employment valued at about $1,000 per summer and will also have available a $500 loan in his junior year and a $1,000 loan in his senior year.

The loan will be made without interest with repayment of one-half, or $750, to be waived for each year the recipient works in the rural electric cooperative program after graduation. The full amount would be waived if the recipient works for a full two years in the program.

"This scholarship program is a means of encouraging bright young students to train for rural electric cooperative management positions," Langston said.

Previous scholarship winners are Kent Elsenor, Tipton; Randy Ethridge, Stroud; George Hand, Prague; and Leslie Hinton, Newkirk.

Deadline for submitting scholarship applications is May 15.

Application forms are available from any college or university in the state; at all 28 local rural electric cooperative offices and the OAEC office, P.O. Box 11047, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma 73111.

Nearly three million veterans and servicemen have trained under the G.I. Bill since the bill went into effect in June 1966.

Student Senate Candidates Meet No Competition

The deadline for petitions that were to be turned in for the 1972-73 Student Senate election were handed in March 22. The election was to be held April 10th and a run-off election April 12.

This year there will not be an election for only one candidate entered the election for each of the vacated offices. These people will automatically take office since there was no opponents for the various offices.

The Student Senate officers for the 1972-73 school year are: President: Delton Gerloff, Vice-President: Wade Smith, Secretary: Ronnie Davis, Treasurer: Larry Van Zant, and Parliamentarian: Glenn Collum.

All the new officers are presently in the Aggie Club. They will assume their duties as officers at the next Student Senate meeting April 12.

Intramurals Are Into Finals

Volleyball intramurals are still underway this week with the championship game in the girls' bracket to be played Thursday, April 13, at 7:00 in the gym.

In girls' volleyball, the No Names beat the Grays two games in the losers' bracket to gain a foothold in the championship. The No Names will now meet the Fulton Floppers, the winner of the winners' bracket in the championship April 13.

In the boys' category, the International Club will go against the B.S.U. and the loser of that game will go against the Bullshippers in the losers' bracket. The winner of the International-B.S.U. game will automatically go into the championship play.

Entries in intramural tennis are now open and Coach Ross would like the entries to be in by April 12.

Speech Contest Given At MSC

Monday, April 10, the Carl Albert Speech contest was held here on the Murray Campus. First prize was $50.00 and a chance at the district meet in Seminole this coming Wednesday, April 13.

The contests, sponsored by Congressman Carl Albert, were given at six colleges in his congressional district. Each of these winners of the six colleges will compete against one another in Seminole for the first prize which is worth $100.00.

The speeches were given at random with no one set subject. The winner of each of these contests will use the same speech to be given in district meet.

141 Students Listed Potential Grads

The registrar's office released a list of 141 students who are potential graduates for the spring graduation date, 1972. Harold Slack, registrar, said that "persons whose name appears on the list should report to the book store at their first opportunity to be fitted for caps and gowns. Also an $8.00 graduation fee must be paid in the Business Office." The following names have been placed on the list:

THE MURRAY AGGIES played at their home field against Northern and defeated them both games of the double-header. Home runs were slugged in that day by Wayne Robbins, Bill Blackwell, David Brigham, Marvin Moorman and Doug Kohutek. Murray beat Northern 8-4 and 7-5.

Ags Take Both Northern Games

Murray State's baseball team opened their spring season Saturday, April 1, by swamping Northern State 8-4 and 7-5.

Doug Kahotek was the winning pitcher of the first game, allowing only 4 runs, while MSC racked up 8 runs with 4 of these being home runs made by Bill Blackwell, Marvin Moorman, David Bingham and Wayne Robbins.

Rocky Arms, winning pitcher of the second game, allowed only 3 runs by the Northern team. Seven runs were made by Murray with only one of them being a home run by Doug Kahotek for MSC.

After the game the Northern coach stated, "They just hit the baseball. Anytime a team can make 5 home runs in one day they deserve to win." Coach Ross said, "It took everyone to win today and I've got an entire team of good ball players."

The next game was April 4 at 1:00. They played Altus at the baseball field here in Tishomingo.

The following is a schedule of the games to be played for the month of April. All games will be played at 1:00 p.m. and will be doubleheaders.

Student Lounge Near Completion

The Commuter Lounge located in the basement of Fulton Hall is near completion according to Jerald Alloway. Alloway said "That there was a small amount of painting yet to do and the furnishings for the lounge have not yet arrived to open the Commuter Lounge." The furniture will be from three to four weeks before delivery because of a special covering on it.

The lounge will be equipped with study tables, lockers and other equipment for the commuters to put their books and other materials as well as a study place.

Student Senate Retreats Today

By Ellen Pittman

The Murray State College Student Senate will hold its second Retreat this year today at Goddard Youth Camp in Sulphur on the Lake of the Arbuckles.

All representatives were invited to attend the all-day retreat as well as both old and new Student Senate officers. Mrs. Jo Conway and Mr. Meeler, advisors of the Student Senate, along with a number of Administration members, went on the Retreat.

There are approximately thirty representatives from the various clubs and organizations. Members of the Administration who attended the Retreat were Dr. Kindell, Dean Martin, Dean Hill, Dean

17 Murrayites Make Who's Who

Seventeen Murray State students have been nominated for Who's Who Among American Junior Colleges, according to Gerald Alloway, chairman of the Honors and Awards Committee.

Out of the eligible sophomores with a 2.5 or better grade point average, the 17 nominated by the students and faculty are Kent Barnes, Ann Brown, Ralph Bryant, Linda Cobble, Carolyn Emberling, Dennis Freeman, Rickey Griffin, Deborah Hinds, Mary Hitchcock, Lynn Hofacket, Sam Jeong, Deloris Jones, Dale Nye, Rick Rose, Paul Wiles, Diana Woods Sanders and Larry Woods.

The main purpose of the Who's Who listing is to provide a democratic, national basis for the recognition of outstanding campus leaders. These listings, gathered from over 500 schools in all 50 states and the District of Columbia, are published annually in a directory form.

The national organization advises nominating committees to select students whose academic standing, service to the community, leadership in extra-curricular activities and future potential are decidedly above average.

The 17 Murray Students nominated by the students and faculty for the 1972 listing are:

Kent Barnes, a 1970 graduate of Perkins High School. An Animal Science major, he holds membership in the Aggie Club, is vice-president of Student Senate and Phi Theta Kappa. He was listed on the President's Honor Roll and a member of MSC's judging team. The Chairman of McKee Hall

Governing Board, Ann Brown is also a secretarial administration major. She graduated from Coleman High School and is a member of Phi Theta Kappa, Phi Beta Lambda, and on the President's Honor Roll. She also was a candidate for Carnival Queen.

Ralph Bryant attended the National PTK convention this year. An Ag major, he is an active member of the Aggie Club, Outing Club, and also president of Phi Theta Kappa. He is a graduate of Norman High School and is listed on the Dean's Honor Roll.

A Music major from Mill Creek, Linda Cobble is President of Sigma Phi Alpha and was a member of the Entertainers. She plans to transfer to East Central State College.

A 1970 graduate of Healdton

High School and a Secretarial Administration major, Carolyn Emberling is a member of Phi Beta Lambda, the Aggie staff, and reporter for Phi Theta Kappa honor fraternity. Also, Miss Emberling was a candidate for Campus Day Queen and a 1971 MSC cheerleader.

Dennis Freeman, a 1970 graduate of Tishomingo High School and an electro-mechanical major, is a member of Phi Theta Kappa and is on the Dean's Honor Roll. Also, he is Student Senate representative from the Engineer & Tech. society and secretary of Patton Hall.

President of the Student Senate, Rickey Griffin, is a 1970 graduate of Baptist High School. He is also an active member of the Aggie Club, Phi Theta Kappa and on the President's Honor Roll. He is majoring in Agriculture Education.

Deborah Hinds, a graduate of Milburn High School, is a Medical Tech student. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hinds and was listed on the Dean's Honor Roll and a member of the Rodeo Club.

A graduate of Wapanucka High School, Mary Hitchcock is a member of Phi Theta Kappa and was listed on the Dean's Honor Roll. She is an elementary education major and plans to transfer to Southeastern.

Lynn Hofacket, a member of the varsity basketball team, is a graduate of Chattanooga High School. He is a General Education major and plans to transfer to East Texas.

Sam Jeong, a 1970 graduate of Marietta High School, is president of the Science Club and an active member of the Drama Club. He is majoring in Physics and Math and plans to transfer to OU.

Valentine Sweetheart was one of the many honors of Deloris Jones, a 1970 graduate of Tupelo High School. The General Education major is secretary of the sophomore class, Student Senate reporter, and a MSC cheerleader. Also, Miss Jones is a member of PTK and the President's Advisory Council.

Dale Nye, a graduate of Lindsay High School and an Ag Education major, is vice-president of the Aggie Club and Student Senate representative from the sophomore class. Also, he is listed on the Dean's Honor Roll and a member of the judging team.

Rick Rose represents Haskell Lucas Dorm in Student Senate as well as being president of the Aggie Club. He is a graduate of Bokchito High School and is a member of the Science Club and listed on the President's Honor Roll.

Paul Wiles is an active member of Phi Beta Lambda and represents this club in Student Senate. He is president of the Outing Club and has been listed on both the President's and Dean's Honor Rolls.

As a Vet. Medicine major, Larry Woods is one of Murray's many commuting students. He is a graduate of Wayne High School and an active member of the Aggie Club and Phi Theta Kappa.

Diana Woods Sanders is presently reigning as Carnival Queen. She was secretary of the Outing Club and an active member of Sigma Phi Alpha, Phi Theta Kappa and Phi Beta Lambda.

Jean Slack placed first in carrying in Murray's rodeo recently. His time of 10.2 seconds netted him $225.00 prize money.

NEARLY 1,000 Seniors appeared on the Murray Campus last week for the Faculty Fraternity sponsored Senior Day. The Students were hosted to an out-side lunch by the Fraternity.

Judging Team Take Trophies At Illionis

The Murray State College Livestock Judging Team brought back almost every trophy in Illinois recently after competing in the National Agricultural College Teachers' Association Invitational Livestock Judging Contest in Carbondale. The contest was held on the campus of Southern Illinois University.

Murray not only won the trophy as high overall team, but won first place in beef, cattle, swine, sheep and oral reasons. Even better, in overall individual placings, the five-member Murray team captured first, second, third, fourth and sixth.

Harold Fogleman, chairman of the Murray agriculture department and team coach, said, "I have never seen one team so completely dominate a judging contest in my career. The only ones that could beat these boys would be another member of the team. It was just fantastic."

A total of 13 teams, including four-year colleges and universities, competed in the contest, traveling from Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, New York, Ohio, Illinois and Mississippi.

Danny Glover of Marlow took top individual honors with a second place in sheep and oral reasons. Second place individual ranking went to Larry Van Zandt of Stillwater, who won first in beef cattle and oral reasons and second in swine.

Taking home third place was Perkins native Blain Story, who placed second in beef cattle. Fourth place went to Dale Nye of Bradley and Kent Barnes of Perkins won sixth in individual rankings.

The win at Carbondale closed out the season for the Murray team.

Editorial—

The last issue of the Aggie-lite has been completed for the 1971-72 school year, and as far as the editor can see it's a great relief.

The Aggie-lite has been short handed this year relying heavily on students from journalism classes to fill the places of reporters. In every journalism class there are some good news writers, but not enough to meet the demand. As soon as the course is completed they drop from sight.

It would appear that someone would recruit students that have a particular interest in newspaper or annual work. But they don't. Thus relying on "top dog" staff members to get the paper or annual out.

There are really no full-time staff members besides the photographer and editor. The rest is voluntary help from students in the journalism class.

Sliced budgets make it convenient somewhere else but not in this department. We can't even manage one full-time paid reporter.

As my last year as editor, there are a number of people who have contributed a great amount of help on this paper.

Wayne Robins, the photographer, who has had his hands full with both the newspaper and Tribesman has proven dependable considering the extreme load he carries.

Roger Allen, the first semester co-editor, who couldn't get the hang of it, but contributed his time and effort.

Pati Johnson who typed the news copy, corrected mistakes and sent out the mailing list which relieved a load off of me.

The first and second semester Journalism 113 classes who contributed the bulk of news stories that went into this newspaper.

And special thanks to Mr. Hugh Campbell who gave me the editor's job, that was quite an experience.

1,000 Seniors Visit on Campus

The Murray State College Faculty Fraternity sponsored a Senior Day on the Murray campus April 19, 1972. John Edwards, Fraternity chairman, said that, "the purpose of the day was to bring as many seniors as possible to the campus and show them the many advantages of attending Murray."

Over 1,000 high school seniors participated in the program. "This event was quite different from the other events on campus because the students were involved in the activities rather than just lead around from one meeting to another," said Fred White, coordinator of Senior Day activities.

General registration for the program was set for 10 a.m. in Fletcher Auditorium with an assembly scheduled for 10:30. The students had dinner in our cafeteria and then attended the final event of the day, a computerized rally race sponsored by the Murray Society of Engineers and Technicians.

Edwards believes that if we have more Senior Days at Murray we will be able to reach a high enrollment in the next few years.

Student Senate—

Pearson and Harold Slack.

The senate members plan to swim, fish and ski, cooking both lunch and supper with a planned rap session later that night.

The senate tries to hold one retreat a semester to get better relations between the Student Senate and the Administration, and try to solve problems that have arisen between the students and the Administration.

The outgoing president, Ricky Griffin, commented that "I feel that a lot of good can and has been accomplished from these retreats and that the quality of our new officers and administration will accomplish much from these retreats."

The Student Senate officers for the 1972-73 school year are: President: Delton Gerloff; Vice-President: Wade Smith; Secretary: Ronnie Davis; Treasurer: Larry Van Zandt; and Parliamentarian: Glenn Cullum.

Delton Gerloff, a 1971 graduate of Latta High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Gerloff of Route One, Ada. Delton is an Ag Economics major.

Wade Smith, a 1971 graduate of Central High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Smith of Route Two, Duncan. Wade is an Agriculture major.

Ronnie Davis, a 1971 graduate of Coyle High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Davis of Route One, Coyle. Ronnie is an Agriculture major.

Larry Van Zandt, a 1971 graduate of Stillwater High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Van Zandt of 1517 Eastern Avenue, Stillwater. Larry is an Ag Education major.

Glenn Cullum, a 1971 graduate of Perkins High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Cullum of Route One, Perkins. Glenn is an Agronomy major.

Each newly-elected officer assumed his duties at the Student Senate meeting held on April 12.

Supporting Murray for 32 Years

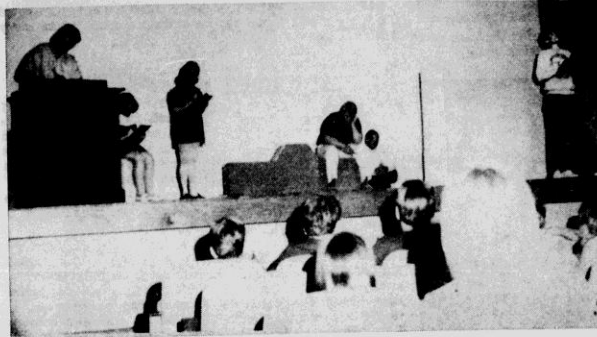

MRS. LENNIE TOLLIVER was guest speaker at a luncheon held by the Afro-American Club, which was part of their activities for Afro-American Day.

THE AFRO-AMERICAN dance topped the festivities as the Afro-American Day came to an end.

THE CAST OF THE musical, "You're a Good Man Charlie Brown" is all together in a scene in the performance they gave to the high school seniors during Senior Day.

Afro-American Day Closes With All-School Dance

By Pat Manuel
The third annual Afro-American Day was held April 13, here at Murray College featuring the theme "What It Is Black Man" and was considered a big success.

The day started with guest and visitor registration in the Student Union lobby at 10:30. At 11:00 the club held its luncheon in the ballroom with Mrs. Lennie Tolliver, Professor of Sociology from the University of Oklahoma, as guest speaker.

Dr. Kindell gave the welcome address with president Cleveland Brown and vice-president Mike Seaberry presiding over the ceremony.

A general assembly was held in Fletcher Auditorium with the Afro-American Club's second guest speaker, Mr. Ronald Johnson, Professor of Sociology from East Central State College at Ada, spoke on the theme "What

It Is Black Man." Other participants of the 2:00 p.m. program was Miss Florence Johnson giving an oral interpretation of "I Want They Cried." Miss Janet Colbert from Ardmore High School presented three songs and ended the program with a heart-warming song entitled "Reach Out and Touch."

Later the Afro-American Club held a rap session in the Student Union lounge from 4:00 to 5:00 p.m. with Mr. Morrell, Mr. Edwards and Mr. Ronald Johnson participating in the session. The session consisted of discussions of ideas and a number of improvement ideas. It was easy to see "What It Is Black Man."

Afro-American Day ended with a dance held in the Student Union ballroom. The dance lasted from 8:00 to 12:00 with the Caprices from Denison, Texas playing for the club. Everyone was invited.

Road Rally Race Senior Day Event

By Mike Hicks
The Murray State Technology Department held the second Road Rally race last week as part of the Senior Day activities. The official elapsed time was one hour and twenty minutes.

The winning time was 1 hour and 22 minutes by the team of Stanley and Watson in a Comaro. Second place was taken by Bridgeman and Olliehall with a time of 1 hour and 25 minutes. Third place was taken by Wood and Wood with a total time of 1 hour and 28 minutes.

Twenty-four entries started the race with only twelve of the twenty-four finishing the race. First place winner Stanley and Watson received $25.00 prize money with second and third place winners receiving $15.00.

The course started from the Engineering Building and covered a distance of 32 miles.

Fred White, sponsor of the Engineering and Technology Society said: "There was some confusion about the directions because of a typographical error, but enough people finished for the race to be declared valid."

Below is a list of the 12 finishing contestants in order that they placed and their elapsed time.

Murray State Road Rally

Car No.	Team	Time
51	Stanley & Watson	1:22
81	Bridgeman & Olliehall	1:25
31	Wood & Wood	1:28
84	Pharaoh & Weger	1:34
80	McBee & Johnston	1:35
47	Loche	1:40
3	Freeman & Blem	1:47
62	Mullins & Shook	1:47
77	Curry & Evans	1:52
4	Miller & Johnson	1:57

58 Kendall & Converse 2:26
52 Owens & White 2:43
This is the official list of finishers in the order of their finishing times. The decision of the officials is final.

The Engineering & Technology Society would like to thank all entrants for their participation.

Pair At Golf Meet

Vernon Daniels and Seigel Hefington competed in the Shawnee Intercollegiate Golf Tournament in Shawnee, Oklahoma.

The two players represented Murray in the Miniature Masters. Both players shoot in the 70's and will test their skills against such colleges as Colorado, Houston, OSU, OU and East Central.

OSU is the top team in the nation.

Semester Exams Scheduled 8-10

The schedule of second semester final examinations for the students here at Murray State College will begin on May 8 thru 10. "Dead Week" at Murray College will be May 1st thru May 3th. "Dead Week" is a week when no activities are to be scheduled so the students will have an opportunity to study for the final exams.

The only activity scheduled this week is the Student Senate Retreat which will be held today. This activity was postponed from the week before.

Many Murray students will stay over the weekend to get in extra studying for their finals.

DARRELL BROWN hangs on to his horse as he beats the time taking first place in the bronc riding category. The rodeo was sponsored by the MSC Rodeo Club at the TeePee Arena in Tishomingo.

BOBBY BARNES WON'T let the bull throw him as he stays on till the buzzer sounds. Barnes was one of the contestants to take money home with him.

Aggies Lose Ace Pitcher in Game

Murray State College baseballers are collecting an impressive record this semester by leading the conference with a 3-1 record. Team hitting average is .281, not too high, but some individual averages are more impressive. Darrel Northcott leads the hitting with an average of .435. He has been at bat 46 times with 29 hits and has 4 homeruns. Joe Ray follows with 406, Mike Hanks with 365 and two homeruns, Marvin Morman has an average of .333, and Dave Bingman is batting .313 and leading in homeruns, with six.

In the Earned Run Average department, Doug Kahotek has an ERA of .188 and Rocky Arms .241. Rocky Arms, Murray's ace left hander, suffered a busted finger during the baseball game against Poteau. Murray lost the double-header.

With the score tied 1-1 during the bottom of the second inning of the first game, Arms attempted a sacrifice. The ball hit him on the finger of his pitching hand, which resulted in three stitches, and sidelined the ace for the rest of the season.

Murray will enter the sub-district tour next Thursday without Arms, but Coach Ross has faith in the rest of his pitching staff, consisting of Doug Kahotek, Wayne Robins and Paul Key.

Speech Contest Won by Campbell

The Carl Albert Speech Contest was held on Monday, April 10, at 2:00 p.m. in room 202 of the Classroom Building. Participants in the contest were: Cleveland Brown, Julia Campbell, Kenneth Roberts and Sam Jeong. Winner of the event was Miss Julia Campbell, freshman nursing major from Marietta. She was awarded a $50.00 prize.

Miss Campbell represented MSC in the district Carl Albert Speech Contest at Seminole.

The contest is held annually at one of the participating schools and is open to all freshmen and sophomore students. The speeches should deal with some facet of patriotism and should not exceed 15 minutes.

Dorm Rates Go up

Each student who lives in a dormitory is charged for room and board. This should preferably be paid in advance for the entire semester; however, payments, again in advance, may be arranged as outlined in the following schedule: First semester payments are due at enrollment, Sept. 15, Oct. 11, Nov. 2 and Dec. 1. Second semester payments are due at enrollment, Jan. 23, Feb. 21, March 21 and April 18.

Payments are: Poe Hall (double room) $104.00 at enrollment, and $75.00 for each month thereafter—TOTAL: $404.00; Poe Hall (single room) $134.00 at enrollment, and $75.00 for each month thereafter—TOTAL: $434.00. Lucas Hall (double room) $117.00 at enrollment, and $75.00 for each month thereafter—TOTAL: $417.00. Lucas Hall (single room) $150.00 at enrollment, and $75.00 for each month thereafter—TOTAL: $450.00.

Patton Hall (double room) $117.00 at enrollment, and $75.00 for each month thereafter—TOTAL: $417.00. Patton Hall (single room) $150.00 at enrollment, and $75.00 for each month thereafter—TOTAL: $450.00.

McKee Hall (double room) $130.00 at enrollment, and $75.00 for each month thereafter—TOTAL: $430.00; McKee Hall (single room) $166 at enrollment, and $75.00 for each month thereafter—TOTAL: $466.00.

All students who live in a dormitory for any part of a quarter will be charged for the full quarter payment for room and board.

During the following listed vacation periods, residence halls and the cafeteria will be officially closed. Room and board rates are established under the assumption that no services will be provided during these periods. If a student must remain on campus during these vacations, at a nominal cost arrangements for room and board can be made through the Dean of Students office by providing at least ten (10) calendar days prior notice. The vacation periods are: Thanksgiving Vacation—Thurs., Nov. 22-Fri., Nov. 24-Sat., Nov. 25; Mid-Semester Vacation—Mon., March 5-Tues., March 6-Weds., March 7-Thurs., March 8-Fri., March 9-Sat., March 10; and Between Semester Break—Dec. 22 through Jan. 6.

Students who move from the dormitory must check out with the Dean of Students and the Business Office. The dormitory clearance, which has been signed and dated by the Housemother and Dean, must be presented to the Business Office immediately in order for the $10.00 room deposit to be returned. Be sure to check out of the dormitory and cancel meal ticket before the next payment is due. (Example: the third payment is due Oct. 11—move from dormitory no later than Oct. 10.)

Fred Fitzgerald took first place in steer wrestling in Murray's recent rodeo with a time of 10.9 seconds. Fitzgerald collected $180 prize money for his first place win.

Earhart Named Vice-President

Ken L. Earhart, former vice president of Gifford-Hill Portland Cement Company, was named vice president of Gifford-Hill & Company, Inc., Dallas, Tex., at the company's board of directors meeting.

A native of Milburn, Oklahoma, Earhart joined Gifford-Hill as manager of the company's cement plant in Midlothian in 1965. He previously was with the Ideal Cement Company in Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

Earhart attended Murray State College and received his Bachelor of Science degree in Chemistry from East Central State College in Ada.

He is active in the Methodist Church, Rotary Club and Chamber of Commerce in Midlothian. He has served on several committees of the Portland Cement Association.

Earhart is married to the former Anna Lou Gentry of Sulphur, Okla., and the couple has two daughters, Kema Lou and Karen.

MSC Prom Held

The annual Murray State College Prom was held April 26 in the Student Union Ballroom. The event lasted from 9:00 to 12:00 midnight, and music was provided by Humpty Buzoo from Durant.

The theme was "We've Only Just Begun," and the theme colors were gold and white. Mrs. Jo Conway and Mr. Kenneth Meeler, Student Senate sponsors, served refreshments and took photographs of the individual couples.

Bobby Barnes took first place in bull riding in Murray's recent rodeo with Darrell Brown taking first in bronc riding.

Graduation May 10

1972 will see 151 graduating students from Murray State College, according to Mr. Harold Slack. This is 30 more than last year and is one of the largest in Murray's history.

Graduation exercises will be held May 10, at 3 o'clock in Fletcher auditorium.

Addressing the graduates will be Mr. Faye O'Dell, football coach at Cushing High School.

Murray Choir will sing special music during the ceremonies.

After the graduation exercises are completed, there will be a reception for the students and their parents in the Student Union ballroom.

A practice session will be held May 3, at 12:30 in Fletcher Auditorium.

Life-Saving Studied

Linda Ralner from OSD, instructed a Senior Lifesaving Course here at Murray.

The course started April 12 and ended April 24. During the course the students were given written examinations every class meeting. On April 24 students were given their skills exam determining those students who were qualified as qualified lifesavers.

The course consisted of different techniques to help a drowning victim and the rescue of oneself.

Those students that completed the two week course were Pat Eden, Jan Chapman, Peggy Kennedy, Kieth Foreman, Paul Hanner and Vernon Daniels. Coach Dean Ross also completed the course.

Two Murray contestants in a recent rodeo here, Jackie Wolfard and Kenneth Hampton, tied for a place in the bull riding event winning $157.00 each. They tied with times of 10.8 seconds.

THE AGGIELITE

Seven new instructors on faculty

Girls' dorm curfew time is extended

Curfew hour for McKee Hall, girls' dormitory, has been extended from 10:30 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. on week nights, according to Bob Pearson, director of student personnel services.

Pearson had several other announcements of interest to students. To aid in speedy identification of the school security car, it has been painted in Murray's school color, a light blue.

A new addition to the dormitories this year is cable television, which was installed in recent weeks.

The armory near the campus is available for use by resident students for basketball and volleyball, Pearson announced. Students may obtain the key to the armory from dorm mothers.

85 Registered as first-time voters

Arthur Vernon, chairman of the social science department, announced that 85 students turned out to register to vote for the first time. Registration was held in the student union lobby September 11, from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m.

Counselor for Indian students attends confab

Kenneth Meeler, Public Relations Director and Counselor for Indian students, attended a workshop for "Counselors of Indian Students in Higher Education" in Huron, South Dakota, on August 14-18. The purpose of this meeting was to establish techniques and procedures in working with Indian students. The program was sponsored by the Educational Professional Development section through the Office of Education.

As a member of the task force, sponsored by the Welcome, Students!

On behalf of the Board of Regents for Murray State College and all of the College employees, I wish to extend a cordial welcome to you as you join this institution for the 1972-73 academic year.

From all indications, we are beginning this year with one of the best student groups that the college has ever had. We hope that the curricular and extra-curricular activities of this institution will provide each of you an opportunity to develop yourself spiritually, mentally, socially, and physically to your greatest potential.

It is hoped that you will become acquainted with the Tishomingo community and share in the many activities it has to offer. You will find the churches, civic organizations and area merchants interested in being of service to you.

—Clyde R. Kindell

Bring varied backgrounds to Murray State

Murray State College welcomes seven new instructors from several states who have joined the faculty this fall. They bring to the staff a wide variety of background, experience and talents.

Five of the new members will teach in the Nurses' Training Department, which is offering its second year courses for the first time this semester. The Social Science and Physical Education Departments have each added one new instructor.

Mrs. Phoebe Crouch

Mrs. Phoebe Crouch, a new instructor in the Nursing Department, is from Marquette, Michigan. Mrs. Crouch attended the School of Nursing, Burlington, Vermont, and earned her BSN degree at Boston University, Boston. Her MSN degree is from the University of Colorado, Denver, and her Nursing Diploma is from Mary Fleeter Hospital, Burlington.

Mrs. Crouch held the position of assistant professor at Northern Michigan University School of Nursing. She will be assisting with fundamentals of nursing which is a class of about fifty students. She will also be a major instructor for the maternal child nursing class.

Mrs. Marion Nathan

Another new member of the Murray Nursing Department is Mrs. Marion Nathan, a registered nursing instructor. Mrs. Nathan obtained her education at Shadyside Hospital School of Nursing, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and attended the University of Art department obtains printer

A new photo sensitive screen printing machine has been purchased for the art department, according to Larry Milligan, instructor in Fine Arts. The machine can be used to print patterns, symbols, or almost any kind of design on cloth. The Afro-American symbols seen on the backs of some of the T-shirts around campus were printed on this machine, an improvement over the old method which required time-consuming, precise "don't make a mistake" cutting.

Milligan stated that there are some promising students enrolled in art, and he is hopeful of having some art exhibits on campus this year. He plans for the art students to make a number of field trips, and said that the facilities of the department are at the disposal of anyone on campus at any time that he is there.

Counseling service is now available

Murray College's recently organized counseling office is now open and providing services to students, according to Don Martin, dean of students.

Director of the center will be Jack Reid, former teacher in the social science department. Assisting in the program will be Mrs. Jo Conway.

The third member of the staff will be Kenneth Meeler, who has been public relations director. Meeler was employed with funds provided through a Bureau of Indian Affairs grant. He will work primarily with Indian students.

The center will provide specialized counseling in vocational, educational, social and personal problem areas. It will also provide a program of orientation for all students.

The student will find at the center professional people with whom he can discuss in confidence personal, social or educational problems.

Office hours will be 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Engineering and Tech. Dept. to get recognition

Murray State's Engineering and Technology Department is in the process of becoming affiliated with the Institute for the Certification of Engineering Technicians of Washington, D.C., according to R. B. Brisco, head of the department, and Fred White, instructor in electro-mechanics and civil engineering.

Murray's affiliation should occur by the end of the year, according to White. When the affiliation is completed, all of Murray's future graduates in engineering and technology will be eligible to submit an application to the national organization for nation-wide recognition. This is an important step forward for the Engineering and Technology Department and their future students.

Indian students offered tutors

Kenneth Meeler, counselor for Indian Students, has announced that applications are now being accepted for tutors in his office, Room 206 of the administration building.

Tutoring and help in study skills are available to eligible Indian students. Tutoring will begin immediately, and any student who needs help is urged to contact Meeler at his office.

Campus organizations are electing leaders

News of other clubs is sought by The Aggielite

"Nominations are now open for president" were familiar words heard around the campus at the beginning of the school year, as a number of clubs, classes and organizations met to plan the year's activities.

Several groups had held their first meetings before the Aggielite's press deadline, and others will meet in the near future. Club reporters are asked to bring news stories to the sponsor of the Aggielite, Mrs. Murrelle Mahoney, in the library; or to Mrs. Jo Conway, journalism instructor, whose office is on the main floor of the administration building.

AFRO-AMERICAN CLUB

The Afro-American Club held their first meeting August 30, and elected officers as follows: president, Willie Loggins, Weleetka; vice-president, Charles Perkins, Colbert; secretary, Katherine Miles, Tatums; student senate representative, Dwight Davison, Tulsa; sergeant-at-arms, Winfred Newson, Atlanta, Georgia. Approximately 60 persons attended. The group decided to charge a $2.00 per semester membership fee.

OUTING CLUB

Danny Stone, Vanoss, was elected president of the Outing Club at their first meeting September 5. Other officers are vice-president, Jim Ambrose, Marlow; secretary, Darlene Belvin, Tishomingo; student representative, Jerry Gravlee, Chattanooga; and reporter, Dee Ann Brown, Pauls Valley. The sponsors of the club are Jim Schammerhorn and Dr. Bob Hill. About 40 people attended the first meeting.

The first event of the year for the club was the hayride which was held September 12. The Outing Club will sponsor many activities throughout the year such as amateur mountaineering, coon hunts, picnics, and maybe a skating party. Regular meetings will be held on the first and third Thursdays of each month at 6:45 p.m.

CHEERLEADER TRYOUTS

Cheerleading tryouts have been tentatively scheduled for Wednesday October 4 at 2:00 P.M. in Fletcher Auditorium.

Anyone interested in trying out should contact Mrs. Conway in Administration 206, no later than September 20.

PHI BETA LAMBDA

Phi Beta Lambda held a general business meeting Tuesday, September 5, at 1:00 p.m. The main purpose of this meeting was to elect officers for 1972-73. Newly-elected officers are Tommy Harber, president; Patsy Richardson, vice-president; Veronica Burris, secretary; Ann Lowe, treasurer; Vicki Conway, student senate representative and reporter; and Rhonda Spencer, historian. Regularly scheduled meetings will be held the first Tuesday of every month at 1:00 p.m.

AGGIE CLUB

The first meeting of the Aggie Club was held August 29. Officers elected were as follows: Orville Cottrell, Stratford, president; Larry Van Zandt, Stillwater, vice president; Marilyn Fairless, Smithville, secretary; Blaine Story, Perkins, treasurer; Kenneth Roberts, Beggs, reporter; and Deriel Moore, Smithville, sentinel.

Enrollment at the meeting was 84 paid memberships, making it the largest on campus. Harold Fogleman, head of the agriculture department stated, "I am pleased with the students who have enrolled in our 'ag' programs this year. I feel that this is the best bunch we have had, and they all seem extremely enthusiastic."

A hamburger fry was held September 11 at Plaza Center. Cooks were Nolan Arthur, Harold Fogleman, and Dean Robert Pearson. The club voted to have a dance September 18 at the Student Center Ballroom.

There is discussion about the Aggie Club becoming a Collegiate FFA Chapter. David McCormick, instructor, announced that plans for the transition are still being formed.

PLAN RECORD HOP

The first meeting of the Afro-American Club was held September 11. Members discussed ideas for raising money for the organization, and decided to sponsor a record hop September 20. They also discussed plans for a talent show.

Meetings will be held each Thursday, and sponsor of the club is Rex Morrell.

FRESHMEN ELECT

Thursday, September 7 at 12:30 p.m., the Freshmen class held its first meeting of the school year and elected officers, as follows:

Keavin Troutman, president; Randy Nease, vice-president; Betty Bivins, secretary-treasurer; and Darrell Moore, student senate representative. Freshmen class sponsors are Ralph Benham and Vernon Hurst.

ENGINEERING-TECH.

"Society for Engineering and Technology Students of Murray State College" is the new name for the Engineering Club. Members of the Society met early in September, voted to change their name, and discussed amending their constitution.

The constitution was amended September 12 when the Society held its second meeting of the year.

The amendments will allow the Society to engage in worthwhile community action programs. The twelve hours enrollment requirement for society membership was changed to allow part-time students to join the society.

A trip is being planned to tour the Arkansas River Navigation Project at Tulsa. The group will stop at Muskogee to explore a U.S. submarine.

A hamburger fry is planned for Thursday, September 21, at Catfish Bay, Lake Texoma, for Student help needed to issue a Yearbook

If you are interested in participating in the production of the 1972-73 Murray Tribesman, please come by Dean Hill's office before September 22 and give the following information:

1. Your name.
2. Exact hours each week you will be able to work.
3. Any previous experience (photography or journalism).

A staff member will be appointed to act as sponsor and coordinator of the yearbook society club members and guests.

Officers elected May 3, are as follows: President, Tom Walker, Muskogee; vice president, Bobby Blades, Wapanucka; secretary and treasurer, Beth Akins, Shawnee; student senate representative, Larry Cheek, Wayne; reporter, James Sampson, Thackerville. Sponsors are Fred White, R. B. Briscoe, and Joe Reid.

Meeting dates will be every other week rotating from Tuesday to Thursday at 1:00.

SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB

Leading the Social Science Club at Murray State College as president this school year is Ollie Hall from Tishomingo.

Assisting Hall is Blaine Story, Perkins, vice-president; Rhonda Shurley, Ardmore, secretary; Julia Campbell, Marietta, treasurer; Danny Glover, Marlow, Student Senate representative; and, alternate John Bengel, Smithville.

Under the sponsorship of Mr. Arthur Vernon, the club had their first meeting September 1.

On September 11, Hamp Baker, candidate for Corporation Commissioner, spoke to the organization regarding his political viewpoints and the important duties which he would assume if elected.

Meeting the second Monday of every month, approximately one hundred and ten members will have the opportunity to hear Ed Edmondson, Dewey Bartlett, and many others speak.

NATIVE AMERICAN

The Native American Club of Murray State began official business September 12, after adopting its constitution. Kenneth Meeler, sponsor of the club, is hopeful that the club will become an active organization at Murray State.

The purpose of the Native American Club is to further the spirit of unity among Indian students; to help achieve and maintain a high social and scholastic standard; and to provide a friendly, helpful and cooperative atmosphere between the Indian and the non-Indian.

Richard DeFord was elected chairman of the club, and other officers are as follows: Bill Manus, Talequah, vice chairman; Lynn Henry, Stonewall, secretary-treasurer; Steve Nail, Fillmore, sergeant-at-arms; Evelyn Smith, Tishomingo, reporter; Darius Cravatt, Connerville, publicity production. However, it is necessary to have adequate volunteer student help for the many painstaking details involved in the production.

It should be emphasized that without sufficient student interest, no yearbook can be published. Due to rising publication costs as well as a reduced budget, funds are not available to provide paid workers for a yearbook.

Murray Students, it is before you. Do you want a yearbook? Let Dean Hill Know.

chairman; Georgia Brown, Milburn, princess and alternate student representative; Steve Factor, Fillmore, warrior and student representative.

Membership is open to all students of Murray. Non-Indian students may hold honorary memberships.

The club will meet twice monthly.

RODEO CLUB

The Rodeo Club, which had its first meeting on Tuesday, September 5, is apparently trying to prove that rodeo is America's No. 1 sport. Forty-nine people, a record number, attended the meeting held in the gym.

The main purpose of the meeting was to elect officers. Randy Boevers, freshman from Chickasha, was elected president. John Woods, Madill, is serving his second term as vice-president. The club decided to elect two secretaries, Connie Craft, Colbert, and Marilyn Fairless, Smithville.

With a larger membership than ever before, the Rodeo Club hopes to be able to sponsor more activities. Already a "Buck-Out" is in the making for this fall, and hopefully there will be a rodeo in the spring.

New members are welcome. If you would like to join, you may contact either of the secretaries, Coach Wayne Cobb is club sponsor.

CAST AN EDUCATED VOTE.

Now that the voting age has been lowered, many of our students here at Murray will be casting their first vote in the forthcoming election in November. That they are anxious to do so was evident by the large number who registered on Monday, September 11, in the Student Union.

Many of our young people who have been strongly indicating that they wish to see some changes made in this country now have the opportunity to make their voices heard by exercising their voting franchise.

This is the American way of making a protest, a choice, and a change as voters select the people on whom we must all depend to run this nation of ours and to make decisions in our name. Our constitutional right to vote is one of our most cherished privileges, but with every privilege there is a responsibility.

The responsibility that accompanies the privilege of voting is that of being well enough informed that one is able to cast an intelligent vote. This responsibility must be accepted if we are to continue as a great and a free nation.

A remark that is too frequently heard if, "I'll just vote a straight ticket. That is what we have always done in our family. It was good enough for grandpa and it's good enough for me." Needless to say, we do not live in grandpa's world anymore, and many things that were good enough for him are not acceptable to us anymore. He was satisfied with an outhouse out back, but on a cold morning we are glad that situations have been improved.

It behooves the voter, then, to become acquainted with the issues at stake and with the stand the candidates are taking on these issues. He should hear these candidates in person whenever possible and ask questions about any point which he feels needs clarification or explanation. The voter should read, listen, question, think, balance one idea against another, consider all the pros and cons, evaluate all information and arrive at an independent decision.

Then on election day he can go the polls confidently and cast his vote with conviction for the person he sincerely believes will represent the best interests of the people on national, state, and local levels.

Show your concern by voting in November, but please help preserve our nation's strength and dignity by casting "an educated vote".

Pittsburgh. Mrs. Nathan has served in the United States Air Force, and held the position of instructor in the Practical Nursing School, Wichita, Kansas.

Crit Clark Choate

Influenced by the beautiful surroundings, new nursing program, and size of the college, Crit Clark Choate accepted his new position as nursing instructor at Murray State College.

He was born in Newcastle, Texas, and has attended North Texas State University and Texas Christian University. Continuing his education, he did graduate work at Montana State University, and Eastern New Mexico University. He received his BSN degree from the University of Oregon.

After spending ten and one-half years teaching high school students in Texas and New Mexico, he taught one year of microbiology at TCU.

Choate spent three years overseas as a medical laboratory technician during World War II. He had an additional eight years' experience in nursing and anesthesia at Lee General Hospital, Hobbs, New Mexico.

His hobbies include photography, tennis, reading, painting and traveling. He is presently living in a mobile home.

Larry Ward Eustace

Larry Ward Eustace, new nursing instructor, joined the staff of Murray State College because he is interested in teaching, students, and upgrading the education of professional nurses.

Eustace attended the San Angelo School of Vocational Nursing, and the Odessa College Department of Nursing. At the University of Texas in Austin, he received his B.S. degree in nursing.

At the Ardmore Seventh Day Adventist Hospital, Eustace held the position of Director of Nurses. Altogether, he has had approximately ten years of experience in the nursing field.

At Murray State College, he teaches those students who are engaged in their second year of training.

His wife, Margaret, is a part-time nursing instructor here, and they commute from their home in Ardmore. The Eustaces' have two children Larry and Rebekah Sharlene. Playing the piano, drawing, painting, riding horses, swimming, and church-sponsored activities occupy much of his free time.

Melvin Imotichey

Melvin Imotichey has joined Murray's coaching staff this year, replacing Jack Hedden as girls' basketball coach, assistant boys' basketball coach, and as an instructor in health and first aid.

He attended Murray State College for two years and was a starter for the boys' basketball team. During his freshman year, Murray ranked as the fourth team in the nation. When he was a sophomore, MSC won the National Junior College Invitational at El Centro, California.

After graduation Imotichey attended Northeastern State College at Tahlequah where he graduated with a major in Physical Education and a minor in Sociology. He is now working on his Masters degree in guidance and counseling at East Central State College in Ada.

Imotichey resides in Tishomingo with his wife, Jan, and two-year old son, Michael John.

Miss Margaret Lovelace

Miss Margaret Lovelace has joined the Department of Social Science at Murray State this year as an instructor in sociology and psychology. She is also one of the sponsors of the Afro-American club.

Miss Lovelace's home town is Yeager, Oklahoma. She is a 1968 graduate of Holdenville High School, Holdenville, Miss. Lovelace attended East Central State College in Ada, where she received a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1971. She was an under-graduate major in sociology and had a minor in both psychology and history.

Miss Lovelace is a 1972 master of science degree candidate at Oklahoma State University.

She expects a very good year, stating that she will probably learn more than she teaches.

Don Martin heads state Aids group

Don Martin, Director of Student Financial Aids, was elected president of the Oklahoma Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators, effective July 1, 1972, through June 30, 1973.

Mr. Martin's duty is to coordinate all student financial aid in Oklahoma. In addition, he will be attending several conferences and planning sessions.

This is the first time a president of this association has been selected from a junior college.

As a result of his new office he was invited to serve on a panel from the Dallas Regional Office to screen all applicants for financial aid in institutions in Louisiana, Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas, and New Mexico.

On Tuesday, September 5, Mr. Martin went to Arrowhead Lodge to attend a planning meeting to set up a training session for new financial aid administrators.

Slugging practice is held by Aggie baseball team

"September 11 was the first day of hitting practice for the Murray State baseball team," commented Coach Dean Ross.

The work-outs started September 4, and will continue about two more weeks. Unlike last year, no fall games are scheduled.

Ross feels that it should be a good season for the Aggies, with a good line-up of "returnees" and a number of "prospects." The names of these players will appear in a later issue of the Aggiewite.

National Council of Teachers of English in conjunction with the Office of Education, Meeler will return to Huron in late May to examine in detail American literature books used in the U.S. to see how much Indian literature and culture is included in these books. This task force will meet four times a year in Chicago.

On August 28, Meeler also attended a federal program meeting in Denver, Colorado. The topic of this meeting was "Developing Institutions and the American Indian." Counselors, college presidents, and research directors met to establish guidelines for the administration of Title III funds, which has 52 million dollars appropriated for developmental purposes.

SPORTS

150 Sign up for varied intramural sports events

Intramural sports came into action at Murray with much interest expressed by the students. A meeting was held Monday, September 11, to discuss the program. According to Dean Ross, Director of Intramural Sports, 150 students were signed up for flag football, softball, tennis, and swimming on September 11, the deadline. A number of students were also already signed up for basketball, volleyball, and table tennis, which will begin later in the year. The deadline for archery competition is September 20.

Any student who is not involved in varsity sports or has not earned a varsity letter at Murray or any other college is eligible to participate in intramural sports.

Swimming is an addition to the intramural program this year and participation is excellent. No girls were entered for the first round of competition, but there will be more swimming next Spring. Competition in softball, tennis, and archery will also return next Spring.

Dean Ross stated that much emphasis will be placed on the Sportsmanship Trophy, an addition to the intramural program last year. One team in each sport, which is voted by the officials and team captains to have shown the best sportsmanship throughout the competition, will receive a trophy.

Everyone eligible and interested is encouraged to participate in the intramural program. All competition will take place on Mondays, Tuesday, and Thursdays. Dean Ross announced that he feels the program has been really accelerated and he expects it to continue to do so.

Janie Fincher tries out for World Games

Janie Fincher, a leading scorer for the Aggiettes basketball team, participated in a U.S. team try-out camp for the World University Games to be held in Russia next year. She competed with 67 other women basketball stars from across the nation at Parsons College, Fairfield, Iowa.

The camp began August 26 and continued through September 9, during which time the women had practices daily and played exhibition games nightly. They also had sessions with a ball-handling expert and a shooting expert, and watched films and video tapes daily.

Twelve of the 67 women were chosen to represent the U.S. in Moscow, Russia in August of 1973. Although Janie was not among the chosen twelve, she was informed that six more were to be invited to attend and to "stand by" because she has a good chance.

Janie is an Oklahoma All-Stater and an Oklahoma-Texas All-Star. During her first year at Murray her team won the National Junior College Championship, and in that tournament she was voted a National Junior College All-American.

The M.S.C. fieldhouse was bubbling with enthusiasm as both Coach Cobb and Coach Imotichey expressed optimism over their clubs' chances of winning the basketball national championship.

The boys' team, headed by Coach Wayne Cobb, are coming off a 23-8 season last year, good enough for 16th in the national polls. Although the loss of four starters by graduation may seem to dim chances of another successful season, Coach Cobb feels that this year's team could be "three times better than last year's."

Coach Cobb said, "We should have enough size, speed, and quickness to be able to run with anyone. I feel we will be a better club than last year if everything jells. I also feel we have the ability to go all the way. Our only weakness will be lack of experience. But as practice continues, I feel our boys will get to know each other's playing style and adjust accordingly." He also stated that he has no set line-up at this time, but any position "is up for grabs".

Winfred Newson, Atlanta, Ga., the only sophomore starter, stands 6'4". Other returning sophomores are Charles Perkins, Colbert, and Bobby Hicks, Durant, both an even six feet, Roy Baker, Butler, and James Hudson, Atlanta, Ga., 6'0" and 6'3½" respectively.

Two new colleges have been added to the conference this year, Oscar Rose Jr. College, Oklahoma City and Claremore Jr. College, but Cobb feels that by the end of the season, "We'll be on top."

Aggie judging teams in demand at fall Fairs

Autumn means county and state fair time, and fair time means a busy schedule for members of the agriculture department's livestock and horticulture judging teams. This semester they are assisting in judging events in at least 13 county and state fairs, according to Harold Fogleman, department chairman.

Members of the team who returned this year as sophomores brought back a fine record of achievement from last year's judging as freshmen. They won 23 trophies and ranked either first or second in national judging competitions at Carbondale, Ill.; Denver, Colorado; Fort Worth and Houston, Tex.

Livestock judging team members are Orville Cotrell, Wynnewood; Danny Glover, Marlow; and Larry Van Zandt, Stillwater. Serving on the horticulture judging team are Carl Forrest, Tahlequah, and Lance Shenold, Stillwater.

The teams were accompanied either by Fogleman, Nolan Arthur or David McCormick, faculty members, on trips to fairs at Ardmore, Sulphur, Lawton, Wynnewood, Duncan, Waurika, Muskogee, Tuttle, Sayre, Norman, and Durant.

Sigma Phi Alphas visit art exhibit

Members of the Sigma Phi Alpha Club of the Fine Arts Department made a trip to Oklahoma City Friday to attend the state fair, and especially to visit an exhibition of art from eight states. They were accompanied by Mrs. Dorothy Toews and Larry Milligan, sponsors.

Sigma Phi Alpha held its first meeting in September to elect new officers. They are: Jean Wilson, Springer, president; Linda Reeder, Wilson, vice-president; Judy Smith, Ardmore, secretary-treasurer; and Cynthia Kernek, Holdenville, student senate representative.

The 23 members of the club are: Jimmy Ambrose, Marlow; Dennis Franklin, Rhonda Shurley, and Norbert Brown, all from Ardmore; Marilyn Cotton, Oklahoma City; Dee Ann Brown, Pauls Valley; David Davis and Jimmy Whittaker, both of Madill; Barbara Johnson, Stonewall; Debbie Summers, Byng; Douglas Thornton, Healtion; Michael Cornelius and Laura Pinkerton, both from Mill Creek; Luci Wooten, Tishomingo; Hal Dickerson, Dickson; Beth Jones, Caddo; Karen Poindexter, Wilson; Judy Slaughter, Vanoss; and Rod Smith, Wapanucka.

'Entertainers' look forward to fun programs, vocalists wanted

Selections were made last week by tryouts for membership in The Entertainers, a musical group sponsored by the Fine Arts Department. The group was chosen by Mr. and Mrs. Toews, music department, on the basis of individual auditions, and will present entertainment at campus functions and at high schools in the surrounding area. Their first program will be presented October 5 for the Retired Teachers Association luncheon in the Student Union ballroom.

The group was started five years ago by Mr. and Mrs. Toews as a girls' ensemble, and in the second semester it was changed to a mixed ensemble. During one year they presented as many as 60 programs, and have visited as many as 20 area high schools in a year.

Mrs. Toews says that like any other class, they have had several very good years and other years not so good, when boys were drafted into the army or had to drop out for one reason or another. This year promises to be as good as any year they have had so far, she believes.

Four girls and four boys were chosen as singers, with accompaniment by a boy playing guitar and another on

Murray Dames hostesses at tea for faculty-students

MSC women students were served refreshments, entertained, and encouraged to enter the Miss Murray pageant at a tea sponsored by the Murray Dames, Thursday, September 21.

The purpose of the tea was to give the women students an opportunity to become acquainted with women faculty members and faculty members' wives.

The tea opened with refreshments after which Beverly Semcoff, Murray

Dames president, welcomed the girls. Next, Joyce Noah spoke of her experiences as Miss Murray State, 1972. Debbie Awtray, Miss Congeniality 1972, related her experiences as a contestant, and Rhonda Shurley, winner of last year's non-finalista talent award, entertained the group with a song.

Before the tea adjourned, Mrs. Fogleman, faculty member, encouraged each eligible girl to participate in the 1973 Miss Murray pageant.

Student nurses elect Jackson state advisor

A large group of nursing students attended the Oklahoma State Student Nurses' Convention on the campus of Oklahoma University, Norman, last week. A Murray student, Charles Jackson, Tishomingo, was elected to serve as state graduate advisor for the 1973-1974 school year.

Jackson has served as past president of Murray State Student Nurses' Association, and is now first vice president of Oklahoma State Nurses' Association.

The Murray State Student Nursing Association met Wednesday, September 20, 1972. Newly elected officers are: Dave Moser, Kekso, Washington, president; Linda Darling, Ardmore, vice president; Cheryl Mitchell, Ardmore, correspondent secretary; Jessie Jolly, Ardmore, recording secretary; Julia Campbell, Madill, treasurer; Brenda Hutchins, Tishomingo, student senate representative; and Christy Moseley, Bromide, historian.

Mrs. Phoebe Nathan and Mr. Larry Eustace are the Student Nursing Association sponsors. Both are new instructors at Murray.

The Nursing Association will have a luncheon meeting the third Wednesday in October.

Murray Aggiettes look for another championship year

The Murray Aggiettes, 1972 National Basketball Champions, have an excellent chance of taking the championship again this year with all of last year's starters returning and some determined freshman additions to the team.

Coach Melvin Imotichey expressed the opinion that there is no reason why the team shouldn't "go all the way," because experience, speed, and height are adequate. Imotichey did make the point that right now the starting line-up is open to any girl who proves she can do the job.

Coach Imotichey is convinced that Coach Jack Hedden's recruiting was very well done, because he recruited girls "around this area." Imotichey seems to think that this will aid the team's ability to "jell" sooner and also increase game attendance by parents and friends of the girls.

The schedule will be similar to last year's with a few minor changes.

The Aggiettes plans to run feature stories on members of both girls' and boys' teams in later issues.

Former professor returns to serve in new MSC role

John Fletcher, Tishomingo, was returned to active duty as a member of the staff at Murray this fall. Fletcher will be the Public Information and Relations administrator.

Fletcher was a former faculty member for twenty-five years at Murray. Starting his career here in 1942, he retired in 1967 and has returned in 1972 with a new job, but one which is only temporary, he insists. He states he is filling in until another person can be found to occupy the position.

In his past years at Murray State, Fletcher inaugurated many activities and programs still being carried on. He was chairman of the Language Arts department, and sponsored the first "Tribesman" yearbook. He

Drama club play cast, officers are selected

The cast for Arthur Miller's play "All My Sons" sponsored by the Murray State College Drama Club, was selected Tuesday, September 19, by Fred Poe and Mrs. Janace Fogleman.

Members of the cast are: Tim Smith as Joe Keller; Julia Campbell as Kate Keller; Steve Hicks as Chris Keller; Judy Slaughter as Ann Deener; Terry Wright as George Deener; Tom Walker as Jim Bayliss; Debra Awtry as Sue Bayliss; Rhonda Shurley as Lydia Luby; and Bert played by David Semkol.

The play will be presented sometime in late October.

On Tuesday, September 12, the Drama Club held its first meeting to install officers.

Teresa Mitchell, Ardmore, was selected to serve as president; Rhonda Shurley, Ardmore, vice-president; Judy Slaughter, Vanoss, secretary; Judy Smith, Ardmore, treasurer; and Debra Awtry, Ringling, student senate representative.

Not only can excessively loud on the job noise subject employees to potential hearing hazards, it also can increase the likelihood of worker fatigue and cut efficiency.

The Aggie Club held its third meeting of the year Monday, September 25, in the A. V. room. President Orville Cottrell presided. The first order of business was the election of an Aggie Club "Princess," a college girl selected to represent the organization in all Aggie Club activities. Miss Debbie Carr, a freshman from Tishomingo, was elected.

The club also selected two candidates for State Collegiate FFA offices. Those selected were Danny Glover, Marlow, candidate for State FFA vice-president, and Marilyn Fairless, Smithville, candidate for State FFA secretary.

Kenneth Roberts and Orville Cottrell were chosen as the club's official delegates to the State Collegiate FFA advisor by the other junior college advisors.

This will be the first time the Collegiate FFA Association has had a convention and attempted to elect a slate of state officers.

Discussed at the meeting was the pig sale to be held November 10 at 1:00 p.m. at the college farm. Plans were made entering some hogs. Also considered was a possible call sale in conjunction with the pig sale. Harold Fogleman said that he would furnish more details to the club as they became available.

To all the members' delight, President Orville Cottrell closed the meeting by crowning the newly-elected "Princess."

Internationals greet newcomers

There are three new students from Iran at Murray State this year. They are Nouri Sabeh, Siamak Rohani, and Sina Hemmati. These students joined the International Club this year.

The club had a meeting and elected officers. They are: Homayoun Jatala, President; Rahaman Tahermandarjani, Vice President; Yazaman Jatala, Secretary; Karim Tahermandarjani, Reporter; Roger Allen, Student Senate Representative; and Hossein Zand as treasurer. Mrs. Katy Rood is the sponsor of the club.

Phi Theta Kappa open to those who maintain B or better average

Phi Theta Kappa is the National Honor Society for junior colleges which requires members to achieve a satisfactory grade average before he may become a member.

Last spring, thirty-eight students were initiated, and the following individuals were elected officers: Wade Smith, Duncan, president; Delton Gerloff, Latta, vice-president; Julia Campbell, Marietta, secretary - treasurer; Ronnie Davis, Coyle, reporter; and student senate representative, Diane Miller, Lone Grove.

To become a member of Phi Theta Kappa, a student must: (1) have completed not fewer than fifteen semester hours of work and not more than fifty-nine at the time of initiation; (2) be enrolled in at least fifteen hours of work the semester during which initiation takes place, unless forty-five hours have been completed with an average of fifteen hours per regular semester, in which case admittance can be attained with only twelve hours; (3) have a grade-point average of 3.2, or above, with no grade below a "B."

Final selection for membership in the organization is made by a faculty committee whose choice is based not only on the scholastic requirement, but also on qualities of character and leadership.

If a person's grade average drops after he has become a member of the club, he is put on probation for a period of one semester. He must then raise his grade average in order to remain a member of the organization.

The organization meets once a month for lunch under the sponsorship of Mrs. Hogan and John Patton.

At the first sophomore class meeting of 1972, the class voted to change their class colors from the old standard gray to blue. This being the first meeting for the school year, they also elected officers who are as follows: Richard DeFord, Norman, president; Mike Hanks, Ada, vice-president; Janice McCluskey, Ardmore, secretary - treasurer; Wade Smith, Duncan, reporter; and Judy Slaughter, Vanoss, student senate representative.

Business is like a wheelbarrow—it stands still unless you push it.

WHAT'S PROPER WHERE

Do school authorities have the right to establish dress codes regulating length of hair, type of shorts or other clothing to be permitted for their students? This question has caused a great deal of agitation and controversy in many schools. On some campuses, students resent being told what to wear, and seem to go 'all out' to show their rebellion against restrictions.

The fact that less emphasis is now placed on expensive clothes for high school and college wear is probably a good thing. However, there is a happy medium somewhere between 'casual wear' and downright sloppiness and even uncleanliness.

Why do many young people want to appear in public not at their best, but at their worst? Why will they be unkempt and sloppy, and appear either in curlers, or with cut off jeans, or dirty bare feet, which detract from, rather than improve their appearance? Is there not a feeling of self respect and pride in knowing that you are well groomed, neat and looking your best? When applying for a much desired position, do young people attend the interview without giving a thought to their appearance?

The old saying "Clothes make the man" seems to have lost favor yet nothing gives more self confidence than knowing that you are well groomed and appropriately dressed for the place and occasion, whether it be a cook-out or a formal dance.

Aggelite reporters this week have been asking students their opinion on this question: "Where, if anywhere on campus, do you consider the following items of dress appropriate? Tank tops for boys? Cut-offs? Short shorts or hot pants for girls? Bare feet? Hair curlers?"

Some of the answers are as follows:

Tank tops for boys: "Anywhere but the cafeteria; depends on how well built the boy is; gym classes; outdoors only; I don't like tank tops on boys; why not let the boys wear them - some of the girls go around half nude anyway."

Hot pants or short shorts for girls: "No where; anywhere except the class room or library; anywhere; not to class or dinner."

Hair curlers: "Dorm only; own room at 12:00 p.m.; not in public; not to class or dinner except before a special occasion."

Barefeet: "Anywhere but the cafeteria; student union; classes; nowhere; OK if feet are clean; I'd rather see them than cowboy boots; if you can't afford shoes, go barefoot."

Cut-offs: "Goofing off; anywhere; not in classes or library."

Teacher of Year honor is awarded

Fred Poe, chairman of the Language Arts Department attended a luncheon at the State Fair in Oklahoma City Friday, September 22 honoring him as 'Teacher of the Year.' The luncheon, sponsored by the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce, was attended by all "teacher of the year" winners in Oklahoma so that the Oklahoma teacher of the year could be chosen.

Mrs. Frankie Minton, who was chosen Oklahoma State Teacher of the Year, is married to a former student of Murray, Dr. Kermit Minton a veterinarian in the Oklahoma City area. Poe, like all other teacher of the year winners, was elected by the local chapter of the Oklahoma Education Association.

Former Professor-

In recognition of his long years of service and accomplishments, our beautiful, well-equipped, modern auditorium bears the name Fletcher Auditorium.

Betty Bivins is chosen to head Home Ec club

Election of officers was the first item on the agenda at the Home Economics Club meeting September 18.

Officers are as follows: Betty Bivins, president; Gerri Jones, vice-president; Virginia Decker, secretary-treasurer; Mollye Wade, student senate representative; Debbie Carr, reporter.

Activities for the year ahead were discussed. They include sponsoring the Hallow'en carnival, and Campus Day queen coronation, as well as bake sales on campus to raise money. Mrs. Rosalva Rainey, club sponsor, as well as the members, displayed much enthusiasm about the plans for the year.

Many details for the Hallow'en carnival, scheduled for Monday, October 30, were planned. Letters concerning it will be sent to the presidents of all campus clubs.

The next meeting was scheduled for Monday, October 2, in AD Room 208.

Student Senate holds 2-hour discussion -but covered nothing concerning you!

Hey! I want everyone to sit back and relax, because this doesn't concern you. The Student Senate held a meeting September 20 which lasted over two hours. The Senate discussed old business and new—everything from "crickets to the American Flag."

The subject of wearing apparel appropriate in the cafeteria was brought up, but will be discussed further.

In order to promote school spirit and pride, the Aggie Club wants to put Murray State stickers on every car. The cost of these stickers are seven stickers for forty-five cents.

It was brought to the attention of the Senate that there has not been a flag flying on the Murray campus. Members volunteered to remedy this situation.

Air conditioning for Patton and Haskell-Lucas was discussed. Patton Hall residents requested a sidewalk from the parking lot to the entrance.

Pool prices seem to have gone up, too! The question "Where is the money going?" was brought up. It was explained that the profits from the Student Center, Patton, and McKee go into paying for the three buildings.

After viewing the insects, the students heard talks by Dr. Zimmerman, department chairman, and Palmer Mosely of the science department.

Milburn students given lab tour

Dr. Bob Hill, academic dean, presented slides on African insects to fifty students from Milburn High School on Friday, September 15.

Following the presentation, Dr. Hill took the students to the biology lab to show them some of the different insects on display.

After viewing the insects, the students heard talks by Dr. Zimmerman, department chairman, and Palmer Mosely of the science department.

Murray State to be represented at Regents' seminar

Dr. Clyde Kindell, Dr. Bob Hill, and Mrs. Louise Craven will attend a seminar October 19 and 20 in Oklahoma City. It will be conducted by the Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education.

The activities get underway with a dinner meeting Friday night, and will continue through Saturday afternoon. Dr. Norman Burns, executive secretary of the Commission on Institutions of Higher Education of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, and Joseph Semrow, associate executive secretary, will be the leaders and key speakers of the two-day meeting.

The seminar will be concerned with the accreditation of all colleges and secondary schools in Oklahoma. Representatives from all Oklahoma colleges have been invited to attend.

In the first round of football games, winners' bracket, the Tish Indians defeated the White Panthers; Southern All Stars defeated Puckerbrush; Haskell Lucas defeated Brown Souls. In the second round of games the Southern All Stars defeated the Tish Indians. In the third round of games the Southern All Stars defeated the Brown Souls. Next the Southern All Stars will play the winners of the losers' bracket for the championship.

In the losers' bracket, first round of games, the Tish Indians defeated Puckerbrush and Haskell Lucas defeated the White Panthers. The rest of the games are yet to be played.

The tennis competition has proceeded only as far as the first round of matches. The results are as follows: Steve Wheeler defeated Delton Gerloff; Bill Manus defeated Steve Lorson; Gary Kendell defeated Joe Biard; Soji defeated Roy Baker; Randy Nease defeated Ronnie Stacy; Jim Ambrose defeated Dennis Horn. Winners will compete in later matches.

Swimming has brought forth two winners thus far. They are Mike Howell, 50 yd freestyle and Billy Ryan, 50 yd butterfly.

In softball the Fulton Flockers defeated the United Team by a score 18 to 3 in 5 innings of play but there is to be a rematch on Tuesday, October 3, for the championship.

drums. Most of the students have had little or no experience in choreography and dance routines until they come here, she says. But one of the main attractions of their performances are the dance routines they present along with their singing, and Mrs. Toews has a special interest and talent in working out the choreography for the group.

The Entertainers made a five day trip to Mexico in 1969 to appear at a number of colleges and universities as part of an international cultural exchange program. In Monterey, the Rotarians commented that there was an average of two groups a week from the United States presenting programs. They stated that Murray's group was the best they had had, partly due to the dance routines they presented.

Of the ten members selected, three of the girls are returning sophomores and the rest of the group are freshmen. Mrs. Toews announces that there are still two openings for vocalists, and one for a piano accompanist.

There is also a college choir, which does no auditions are necessary. Anyone is eligible to join the choir, whether or not he is enrolled in a music class, and may receive one hour of credit with an automatic "A" for regular attendance.

College swine do fine in Golden Pork Chop test

David McCormick, agriculture instructor, announced that Murray State College Agriculture Department entered four head of swine in the recent "Golden Pork Chop" Contest at Oklahoma City. This is the first time the college has ever entered any swine in this contest. The animals were judged live first, Wade Smith and Jay DeBord showing them for the college, and the hogs were then slaughtered.

Two of the College's hogs placed 23rd and 30th out of 125. Both won prize money.

Outing club has fun-learn event on Lake Texoma

Swimming, roasting weiners, and square dancing were enjoyed by members of the Outing Club September 26 at Lake Texoma. Sponsors Jim Schammerhorn and wife, Glenda, gave a lesson in ecology by having a trash-pickup to improve the grounds.

They plan a barn dance which will feature square dancing, polkas, etc. They plan to show mountaineering slides and equipment to members at a later club meeting.

Next meeting date is October 5, at 6:45 in the Library Science Building, Room 102. Everyone is invited.

Murray grad named top Vo-ag instructor in U.S.

Ernest Muncrief, a former student of Murray State College, was named top agriculture teacher in the nation recently by the National Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association.

Muncrief, now teaching at Marlow High School in Marlow, also won an award from the Ciba-Geigy Corp., which included an all-expense paid ten-day tour of farms and research facilities in Europe. He was presented a plaque by Bill Harrison, FFA advisor and regional Vice-President of the National Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association.

Muncrief, who is from Kingston, graduated from Murray State College in 1944. Each year he makes it his practice to bring students from Marlow to enroll in Murray in the field of vocational agriculture which he has been teaching for 27 years.

In those 27 years he has taught a number of Murray State students. David McCormick, vocational agriculture teacher at Murray, was a student of his in high school from 1953 through 1957. Danny Glover, Marlow, who won the Individual Livestock Judging last year, was also a student of his from 1967 to 1971 and is now attending Murray State. Danny stated that Muncrief was one of the best teachers he has ever had.

Nolan Arthur, agriculture instructor here, did his practice teaching under Muncrief, who was responsible for bringing of these former students of his to attend Murray and to further their interest in vocational agriculture.

New study added in Business dept.

A new program of study in Mid Management has been added to the curriculum of the Business Administration department, according to John Patton, department chairman.

A two-year concentration of business courses, the program has the objective of giving students saleable skills in management at the end of the two years. Sponsored by the state department of Vocational Technical Education, it is offered as a major field of study.

Patton stated that more than 15 students are enrolled at present. He feels that there is a definite need for this type of terminal program, as evidenced by the fact that the course has attracted several adults from the business community who wish to further their education and skills in management.

New career courses are being viewed

A number of new courses to broaden the curriculum at Murray are being planned and introduced by Dr. Bob Hill, academic dean, and several department chairmen. Most of these will be two year courses which will allow the student to go directly into his field earning a full salary.

Some successful two-year programs recently introduced at MSC are business management, engineering technology, and nursing. A new farm and ranch management course is already operating well.

Approval of the Board of Regents has been asked for a course in law enforcement. In the planning stages also is a

Girls, want to learn how to throw boy friend around?

If you'd like to learn how to throw your boy friend or husband over your head, or get rid of an unsuspecting burglar in your house, you might want to sign up for a course in Judo.

Plans are being made to set up a course, and anyone interested should contact Debra Awtrey or Billy Ryan immediately. Both men and women are eligible to join.

Contact Gene Schulting, instructor, for information on fees and schedules.

Officers of the Student Senate, Mrs. Jo Conway, sponsor, and Dr. Clyde Kindell, president of Murray State College, dined with members of Murray's Board of Regents Tuesday, October 3 at 6:00 p.m. The purpose of this gathering was for the officers of the Senate to get acquainted with members of the Board of Regents.

Prior to the dinner meeting, the Student Senate held a general business meeting. It was decided the Senate would sponsor a dance after the Halloween carnival. Delton Gerloff, president, will emcee the carnival queen coronation ceremonies.

Other Senate officers are Wade Smith, Duncan; Ronnie Davie, Coyle; Larry VanZandt, Stillwater; Glen Cullum, Perkins; and Cheryl Mitchell, Oklahoma City.

Preparations under way for Halloween Carnival

Candidates have begun collecting money votes to compete in the Halloween Queen contest.

The Halloween Carnival is scheduled for Monday, October 30, beginning at 7:00 p.m. in the Student Union. A dance, sponsored by the Student Senate, will begin at 9:30. Admission will be free.

Monday, October 16, is the deadline for candidate and booth entries, which must be given to Mrs. Rainey, Ext. 69, AD302A. As soon as the candidate's name is submitted, she and her sponsoring club may begin collecting money votes. These must be turned in to Mrs. Rainey no later than 12:00 p.m. on Monday, October 30. The money votes will be counted and kept by the Home Economics club and the winner will be crowned by her escort

Department given expensive goodies

Murray State's Engineering and Technology Department has received approximately $19,000.00 worth of new equipment at no cost to Murray College, through the State Department of Vocational and Technical Education.

Fred White, instructor in electro-mechanics and civil engineering, acquired land surveying equipment to be used with his land surveying, civil engineering, and building technology classes.

Joe Reid, instructor in metallurgical technology, received two universal milling machines, a vertical contour metal cutting band saw, and an abrasive cut-off saw. The milling machine and band saw will both be used in the first course of Metal Machine Tools and for gear cutting in the advanced course of Metal Machine Tools. The cut off saw will be used to cut non-ferrous metals, for welding angle cuts, and stock materials.

WHY HIDE?
Individuals at Murray State College have found a new way to express themselves, but not in a mature manner. The means of communication used is the underground newspaper.

But why the anonymity? If a person feels strongly about a subject and wishes to express his ideas, then he should also be responsible for them.

When asked his comments concerning the underground publication, Dr. Clyde Kindell expressed his disappointment by replying, "I have a great deal of admiration for those who can take the responsibility of their convictions... but other students have voluntarily forfeited their right to freedom of expression."

In all actuality, there is no need for an underground newspaper. If students want to express their ideas on controversial topics, then they may submit their articles to the AGGIELITE for the editorial column. But maybe this isn't what is wanted. After all, the AGGIELITE is part of the establishment of MSC.

Nevertheless, the students of Murray should act like mature, responsible individuals and stand up for their feelings and beliefs on controversial topics in an adult way.

Let other people know how you feel about different matters. Don't hide behind an "underground" identity. —TC Football—Within Limits?

In 1967, inter-collegiate football was discontinued at Murray State, along with three other state junior colleges, because of financial reasons. Cost of the program was judged prohibitive in proportion to the number of students participating.

On September 12, 1972, the Board of Regents met to discuss the feasibility of reestablishing a football program at Murray State on a limited basis.

Dr. Clyde Kindell met with the presidents of the other three colleges to see if they would want to participate in this type of program. Two of the other college representatives decided to discuss the matter with their Board of Regents, while the third president contended that a football program on a limited basis would not be practical.

The limited program would set up boundaries within which to obtain players, designate a specific amount of money for scholarships, and restrict the schedule of games both as to number and place.

If MSC decided to reestablish the sport on a limited basis, several problems would arise.

If players were recruited from the immediate geographical area only, there might not be enough outstanding high school players in one area who would consider attending a junior college with a low scholarship offer.

A conflict might arise if one or more colleges began to step outside of their immediate areas to obtain players.

If the colleges concerned set up a definite amount of money to be spent on scholarships and equipment, then they could only compete against each other. They could not expect to compete in a game with a college having an unlimited amount of money to spend for recruiting purposes.

To start the program, equipment would have to be bought, coaches' salaries would have to be paid, a place to play football would have to be arranged, money would have to be spent granting football scholarships, providing transportation, lodging and meals for the teams; maintaining the playing field and equipment, and for many other items.

For students who wish to participate in sports as an extracurricular activity, Murray State has several different intramural teams, including football.

If you can't play intercollegiate football and win, then the community will soon lose interest, school spirit will not be improved, and much money will be wasted.—T. C.

Fred White drafts two users' manuals for computers

Fred White, instructor in electro-mechanical and civil engineering has written two user's manuals for the Oklahoma State Department of Vocational and Technical Education to be used with their mobile graphic unit.

This unit is the first of its kind in the world, officials say. Officially called the General Drafting Graphics System, (GDGS), the entire unit is a problem-oriented programming system. It will allow students without prior computer experience to solve various engineering related graphics problems.

The mobile unit also will give experienced drafting students a knowledgeable exposure to the graphic system.

The manuals written by White are General Drafting Graphics System Users Manual and Computer Graphics Instructional Units. The two books are the only textbooks being used with the unit and will prove to be helpful in the instruction of students with the resources of the mobile unit.

Also called the Computer Graphic Laboratory, the new unit will make its first trip this year across Oklahoma visiting vo-tech schools that have technical drafting courses. It is scheduled to reach Murray by the spring semester.

Women's lib making gains in Ag Dept.

By Vicki Conway

Amidst the tobacco and leather smell in the agriculture department mingles a new and different fragrance. It is one of perfume.

Women's Lib has come to the Murray State College Agriculture Department in the form of eight lovely young girls.

Each girl has her very own reason for being enrolled in ag, but the consensus is that they all have a love for animals.

When asked her reasons for majoring in agriculture, Marilyn Fairless said that it was because she was more interested in agriculture than in any other field, she loves to work with animals and because of Doug Smith, her counselor in her hometown of Smithville.

Laura Herndon, Ardmore, is majoring in pre-vet because she has always liked animals and she has always taken care of them while she was at home.

Other girls majoring in agriculture are Dianne Alloway and Patricia Fogle, Tishomingo; Barbara James, Alma; Connie Craft, Colbert; Betty Dunegan, Bokchito, and Jamie Dillard, Ringling.

A.-A. talent show postponed

The Afro-American talent show that was originally scheduled for October 15 has been postponed until the middle of November. For the month of October, plans are being made for a booth at the Halloween carnival.

Dwight Davidson, Tulsa, the club's student senate representative, talked about some of the problems he had discussed with Bob Pearson, including the uncleanliness of Haskell Lucas's bathrooms; the installation of a telephone on the second floor of McKee Hall; the charge for cable television of $1.50 per month; and the cost of private telephones in dorm rooms, which is $15.00 deposit and $5.00 per month.

Dorm officers chosen

Dorm meetings have been held to elect officers for the year.

Mrs. Dollie Black, house-mother of Haskell Lucas, announces the officers of Haskell Lucas this year as follows: Steve Venable, Tecumseh, president; Richard DeFord, Norman, vice-president; Fred Barrett, Choctaw, secretary-treasurer; Bill Marcus, Tablequah, student senate representative.

Serving on the governing board are Randall Jackson, Coalgate; Luke Reed, Ringling; David Wheeler, Norman; Eulys Freeman, Elmore City.

Janice McCluskey, Ardmore, will serve as president of McKee Hall this year. Jeanene Gunn, Tahlequah, was elected vice-president; Teresa Winbush, Colbert, secretary-treasurer; Cheryl Mitchell, Oklahoma City, student senate representative.

The governing board for McKee includes Bertha Douglas, Ardmore, chairman; Mettie Ann Cathey, Bromide, secretary; Sue Ann Lowrance, Sulphur; Teresa Mitchell, Oklahoma City; Carleen Besaw, Ardmore; Diane Miller, Lone Grove.

Mrs. Dorothy Adams begins her second year as house-mother for McKee Hall, although this is her fifth year at Murray.

Patton Hall started off its fall semester by electing Roger Griffin from Broken Bow as president. Also elected were Terry Wright, vice-president, Wynnewood; Danny Stone, secretary-treasurer, Vanoss; Tom Walker, Muskogee, student senate representative.

Elected to Patton's governing board were Luciano Kirkpatrick, Devol; Joe Bob Young, Colbert; Orville Cottrell, Stratford, and Doug Pharoah, Maysville.

Mrs. Doris Cude is house-mother for the boys of Patton Hall. She is beginning her fourth year at Murray.

Roger Griffin, president of Patton Hall has really gotten things rolling at Patton. He is attempting to have a monthly social event such as the wiener roast that was held recently at Blue River.

Also in the making is a CLEAN UP DAY for Patton. All the boys will be asked to pitch-in and help with the general clean-up.

Phi Beta Lambda hears speakers from Okla. State

Phi Beta Lambda, business fraternity, had two guest speakers for Oklahoma State University at their meeting Tuesday, October 3.

Jesse Mitchell and Rex Moore, state supervisor of Phi Beta Lambda, gave talks about P.B.L. and related subjects. Both are from the state department of Vocational Technical Education.

In other club business, Robin Aaron, Sulphur was selected as queen to represent Phi Beta Lambda at the Halloween carnival. The club also decided to raffie tickets for a teddy bear, and to sell decorated candles and calendars to raise money.

The next meeting will be held November 2 at 1:00 p.m., in Classroom Building 204.

That's not code, it's Chickasaw coming from depths of Ad Building

By Terri Crouch
 "Hollisso pisa chi bunna?" may be the words you hear as you walk through the basement of the administration building. Don't panic! It's not the voice of a foreign spy. It's only Mrs. Vinnie Humes using the Chickasaw language to ask someone if they want to go to school.

Mrs. Humes is assisting Mrs. Doris Garrett, instructor, in a reading clinic designed for individuals without a high school diploma.

One interesting feature planned for the new program is that eventually the Chickasaw language will be taught to all interested members of the class.

Mrs. Humes, who will be teaching the language, is responsible for the publishing of the first Chickasaw dictionary ever to be written. Along with her late husband, Mrs. Humes spent several years compiling the dictionary.

The clinic began September 11 at Murray State College and is sponsored by the Muskogee

Murray group goes national

The officers of Murray State's Society for Engineering and Technology students met October 4 to discuss joining the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America. Mike Shields, president of the state organization, and Dr. Jess Mitchell, state director of technical and vocational clubs, met with the group and their sponsor, R. B. Briscoe, chairman of the engineering department. After the meeting, the Murray Society decided to join the organization, known as VICA.

Attracting youth to trade and industrial programs is part of the purpose of this organization, which teaches the dignity of work and imparts a status to skilled labor.

Both the American Vocational Association and VICA endorse the development, not only of skills, but of traits of citizenship and leadership to help the student take his place in the industrial community.

Members are eligible to participate in district, state and national contests in drafting, electronics, machine shop, auto mechanics and carpentry, sponsored by VICA for their local chapters.

office of the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

The lab contains $8,500 worth of machines which not only can improve the reading skill of individuals, but can help them pronounce words accurately. This equipment was financed by the State Department of Education and the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

Coordinator of the program is Paul Imotichey, a recent graduate of Southeastern State College, where he majored in physical education and sociology.

According to Mrs. Garrett, twenty-five people are involved in the program at the present time, but more are expected to enroll when the public becomes aware that they began offering night classes last week.

At the present time, a person must come to the campus to participate, but eventually classes will be located in several different areas.

Clubs make report of activities

Additional plans for the Halloween Carnival were made in Home Economics club meetings on Monday, October 2, and Monday, October 9.

Betty Bivins was elected to represent the club in the Halloween Queen contest, and a decorating committee chairman for the carnival was appointed. Also, it was decided that the Student Senate would be asked to sponsor the Halloween dance.

Although the Student Senate has not worked out the Campus Day Queen contest details, the Home Economics club members are enthusiastically waiting to begin plans for the coronation.

The Sigma Phi Alpha met October 9 and discussed activities for the coming month. It was voted to keep the membership dues at $1.00 per year.

A club committee was selected to discuss plans for their booth at the Halloween Carnival. Committee members selected were Cynthia Kerner, Holdenville; Karen Smith, Oklahoma City; Beth Jones, Caddo; and Norbert Brown, Ardmore.

In addition, Lynn Pinkerton, Tishomingo, was selected to represent the club as a candidate for Halloween Carnival Queen.

Diane Miller, Lone Grove, was elected to represent Phi Theta Kappa as a queen candidate for the Halloween Carnival.

Plans for the initiation of new members, an annual dinner, and attending the national convention in Houston were discussed.

The organization is meeting Monday at 4:30 for dinner in the small dining room located in the Student Center.

Sigma Phi Alpha plans visits to Dallas and Tulsa

Larry Milligan, instructor in the Fine Arts Department, met with members of the Sigma Phi Alpha's negotiation committee last week to discuss plans for club trips in the near future. The group hopes to visit art museums and see stage productions in Dallas and Tulsa.

Sigma Phi Alpha also is discussing plans for art exhibits and other entertainments on campus for Murray students.

Complaints on dorm are aired

Mrs. Dollie Black, house-mother of Haskell Lucas, and one-hundred and fifty-three boys were present at their first dorm meeting. Dr. Clyde Kindell and Robert Pearson attended to hear complaints about the dormitory.

Plans for improvements in the lounge include additional furniture and a television set. Cleaning of the dormitory is now in progress. Haskell Lucas Hall plans to meet once a month, and to have a suggestion box.

Outing Club to test skill

Several members of the Outing Club plan to go on a mountaineering expedition October 29, 1972. The group will be accompanied by their sponsor, Jim Schammerhorn. The ambitious members decided to test their skills at the sport after seeing some of Schammerhorn's slides taken in Colorado.

Several new officers were elected at their last meeting. Jane Ray, Norman, will be the new secretary; Doug Pharaoh, Mannsville, student senate representative; and Molly Wade, Ringling, is their Halloween queen candidate.

Engineers have hamburger fry

The Society for Engineering and Technology Students held a hamburger fry at Catfish Bay on Lake Texoma, October 3.

Twenty-five members and guests enjoyed swimming, fishing, and charcoaled hamburgers, cooked by Perry Don Ross, instructor in drafting.

HARDEST WORKING pair on campus are Buster, pedigreed Border collie, and his master, Harold Fogleman.

Instructor and his dog may be busiest Aggies

If you see a sinister black and white creature crouch down in the grass near the road and come charging out at your car, don't be alarmed. It is probably Buster, a Border collie belonging to Harold Fogleman, trying to herd your car.

A born herd dog, Buster is frustrated by the shortage of cows around the campus, so he works on cars instead.

Joe Reid, instructor in the engineering department, probably would not be able to get into his parking place without Buster. He waits for Joe every morning, to herd his pick-up into place. Recently, Joe decided to trip Buster up, and pulled into an unfamiliar space. The dog was confused only temporarily, and before Joe had finished parking, he came on the run to shoo him in.

Occasionally he gets a chance to herd real cows when Fogleman, head of the agriculture department, takes him out to the farm. "He herds cows almost as well as cars," says Fogleman. "The only trouble is, he doesn't know where to take them."

There is some argument as to whether Buster is a borderline genius, or simply retarded, with opinion weighted as to the latter. However, Fogleman leans toward the 'genius' classification, maintaining that he could learn some sense if he had any formal training.

If Buster's intelligence is in doubt, his pedigree is not. He is pure Scottish, a double grandson (on both sides, that is,) of Tweed, international grand champion.

If he isn't too busy herding cars, Buster is often seen tagging after Fogleman's small daughter, Amy, who loads her doll into her toy car and pedals along, followed by Buster and Mrs. Nichols, her nurse. He also loves to chase footballs, and is crazy about badminton games on faculty corner.

course in industrial management.

A class in practical plumbing is being formed, and should begin October 23 in the basement of Poe Hall. Dr. Hill stated. Cost will be $25.00 per student, plus the textbook and materials for class. The fee is charged only to defray the travel expenses of an instructor from Oklahoma City. If the State Department of Vocational and Technical Education approves additional funding, or pays part of this expense, the student may expect a refund. Class hours will be Monday and Thursday nights from 7:00 till 9:00 p.m. No credit hours will be offered.

The course will be taught by a member of the Oklahoma Plumbing Inspectors Association, and is made possible through the efforts of Lee Burton, of the State Department of Vo-Tech Education; Don Miller, of the State Plumbing Inspectors' Association, and Ronald Roberts, of the Johnston County Health Department. Anyone interested should send their name, address, telephone number and the $25.00 to Dr. Hill.

"Thus far very few candidate and booth entries have been made. The date of the Halloween Carnival is fast approaching, so the clubs that are behind better get moving if they wish to claim a good money-making booth and win recognition for their candidate and club," said Betty Bivins, Home Economics club president.

SPORTS

Football, tennis where intramural action is

Intramural sports competition has been completed in archery, swimming, softball, and girls' tennis (doubles). Competition in football and boys' and girls' tennis (singles) is still in progress.

The intramural archery tournament took place September 28, consisting of two rounds and eleven competitors. Bobby Russell, Ardmore, won the championship with a score of 76 in the first round and 80 in the second. In second place was Phil Converse, Tishomingo, and in third place was Larry VanZandt, Stillwater.

"A great deal of interest was shown and very likely we'll hold another intramural archery contest next spring," said Coach Dean Ross, intramural sports director.

Mike Howell, Oklahoma City, won four of five events in the swimming competition has recently been nicknamed "Mark Sptz." He won the 50 yard freestyle, 100 yard freestyle, 50 yard breast-stroke and 50 yard backstroke. Billy Ryan, Tishomingo, won the 50 yard butterfly.

The Fulton Floppers defeated the United Team for the softball championship. The girls' tennis (doubles) championship went to Janeen Gann, Talihina and Diane Miller, Lone Grove.

The Southern All Stars will take on the Brown Souls, who are the winners in the losers' bracket.

Randy Nease, Lawton, has won the winners' bracket of the men's tennis. He must compete with the winner of the losers' bracket for the championship.

October 19 set as deadline for team rosters

Coach Dean Ross is hopefully awaiting the return of team rosters from interested students for the boys' and girls' intramural basketball tournaments, which will begin soon.

Team rosters can be picked up in Coach Ross's office in the gym between now and October 19, which is the deadline for returning them. Each team must be made up of seven to ten players.

Pre-tournament games may begin on October 20, and must be completed before the tournaments start. The date is not yet established.

Tournaments will consist of three games a night played on Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday nights, starting at 6:30 p.m. High school rules will be used and copies may be picked up in Coach Ross's office.

Announcement of sportsmanship awards will take place at the completion of both tournaments.

If there are enough teams, a division-type tournament will be played and the winners will compete for the championship.

"We are presently looking for anyone who is interested in officiating these intramural games," added Coach Ross. Prospective officials should contact Coach Ross in his office as soon as possible.

Lounge not finished but coming along "The commuter lounge has been worked on for about three months, but it's not finished yet," stated Gerald Alloway, chairman of the math department. The fact that commuters now have a place to relax, drink coffee, or study between classes is due to the efforts of a few hardworking members of the faculty and administration.

While in the process of construction of the "masterpiece," several amusing incidents occurred.

It seems that Dr. Clyde Kindell never learned to cut tile in a proper manner to make it fit. And Alloway discovered that taking the fuse from the fuse box doesn't cut the electricity off at all!

Although Alloway, Dennis Toews and Larry Milligan are largely responsible for the long hours of construction work, a number of other faculty members contributed their time and talents. Blueprints for the lounge were drawn by Perry Don Ross, Engineering and Technology Department. The color scheme for the wall paneling and the carpeting was selected by a committee of Faculty Dames, composed of Mrs. Joan Kindell, Mrs. Bob Hill, and Mrs. John Patton.

Thanks to a contribution of $1,000.00 from the Rotary Club, Murray College will be able to purchase handsome new furniture.

Two instructors are publicized in 'The Ranchman'

David McCormick, agriculture instructor, and Harold Fogleman, agriculture department chairman, received nation-wide publicity when their picture was accompanied by an article in "The Ranchman" this month.

The article dealt with the new Farm and Ranch Mid-management program which Murray State College is offering for the first time this semester.

The new program is designed to train individuals to enter agriculture-oriented businesses with considerable practical knowledge. By offering this type of program, Fogleman hopes to see Murray graduates fill the need for middle management personnel and skilled farm employees in the Murray area.

Do you need a new gun for deer hunting season? If so, tickets are now on sale for a 12 gauge Remington, model 1100, shotgun which is to be given away November 20, by the Engineering and Technology Society. Tickets can be purchased from any member of the society or Engineering faculty.

Another project of the Society is collecting aluminum beer cans from local taverns and taking them to the recycling plant at Ardmore. This is their way of trying to improve the litter condition in our area.

Former Aggielite editor to head Nat'l. JC group

W. B. "Dub" Daugherty, a former editor of the "Aggielite" at Murray State College, has been chosen president-elect of the National Junior College Journalism Association, an organization for junior college journalism and public relations educators. His picture and an article were published in the October 10 issue of the Publishers' Auxiliary, national magazine.

"Dub" was editor of the "Aggielite" in the fall of 1962 and the spring of 1963. He was selected for the Top Activity award in 1963. After graduation from Murray, he transferred to Southeastern State College, Durant, where he received his B. S. degree in Journalism. Later he earned his Masters degree at Oklahoma University. Daugherty worked as public relations director and journalism instructor at Southeastern State College, Durant, Connors Junior College, Warner, and is now public relations director at San Antonio Community College, Texas, where he also sponsors the publication of the newspaper and yearbook and teaches journalism.

During their national meeting in Carbondale, Illinois recently, the Junior College Journalism Association passed a proposal listing national guidelines for upgrading junior college journalism programs. The standards were worked out in conjunction with the Association for Education in Journalism.

He returned for a brief visit to Murray State last spring at the end of school. He attended Plainview High School and his home was on Hoxbar Route near Ardmore.

Practical vs. Ideal themes 'All My Sons'

"All My Sons," three-act drama by Arthur Miller, was presented by the Drama Club as their first play of the year on October 24 and 25.

The story deals with the intense dramatic conflict between idealism versus practicality, the greed of a father who manufactured defective planes in which 21 men were killed, and the discovery of the murders years later by his son, who denounces him.

Joe Keller, the father, was portrayed by Tim Smith, Ringling, and his wife was played by Julia Campbell, Marietta. Steven Hicks, Tishomingo, played the part of the son, Chris, who broke with his father, leading to his suicide. Judy Slaughter, Vanoss, played the role of Ann Dever and the brother was played by C. A. Freeman, Wayne.

The conflict of the father and son also involved the neighbors, Dr. Jim Bayless, played by Glenn Elmore, Ardmore; and his wife Sue, portrayed by Debra Awtry, Ringling. Frank and Lydia Lubev were played by Steve Calhoun, Ninnekah, and Rhonda Shurley, Ardmore.

David Semkoff, fifth grade son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Semkoff, played Bert, a small neighbor boy who had grown attached to Joe Keller.

The play was directed by Mrs. Janace Fogleman and Fred Poe, language arts department. Programs and posters were designed by Larry Milligan, art department, Dennis Toews, chairman, fine arts department, assisted with stage lighting and producing a sound track on tape and Mrs. Joan Kimbrough assisted with the typing of the program.

Murray grad is understudy for role in movie

Eddie Cook, a 1970 graduate of Murray State College, is an understudy for a role in the movie "Dillinger", which is being filmed in Ardmore.

Cook, who is from Ardmore, participated in three productions, "Male Animal," "Thurber Carnival," and "Bus Stop" while attending Murray. At present, he is a senior at Southeastern State College, majoring in drama.

Cook will be the understudy for Ben Johnson, who won the Academy Award for best supporting actor in his role in "The Last Picture Show." The production is expected to take three weeks' work.

Miss Georgia Sue Brown, 18 year old coed from Fillmore, was selected Chickasaw Indian Princess for the year at the tribe's annual meeting held Saturday at Byng. She will appear at official functions throughout the year and represent the Chickasaws as the tribe's "princess."

Born at Fillmore, Miss Brown attended school there and graduated from Milburn High School. She is a freshman at Murray State College where she is majoring in secretarial administration.

CUTTING KNIVES YOU

The teacher strolled into the room only to find a small group of students who decided to come to class.

This is what has been happening in many different classes at Murray State College. Many students have become aware that no one is going to force them to attend class.

Any teacher is fully justified for reducing a student's grade if he misses more than one day per credit hour in a particular course.

Every individual has paid a large amount of money to be able to attend this educational institution. If the student himself didn't pay for his schooling, then their parents or other care enough to use their own money. How can these particular students disappoint those who finance their education by excessive absences.

A student does nothing but waste his money and time by enrolling in classes and then failing the course by not having the initiative to go listen to his instructor.

Before you cut your next class, think about what you are actually doing to yourself. When the next roll is called, where will you be?—T.C.

Seven attend B.S.U. conclave

Seven members of the B.S.U. attended a state convention last weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Thurl Harris, directors, and the group from Murray arrived at Oklahoma Baptist University Friday evening to attend group worship. The Reverend Buckner Fanning, pastor of the Trinity Baptist Church, San Antonio, Texas, was guest speaker.

"The Holy Spirit in Relation to His Enabling Presence" was the topic of discussion in seminars which started off the activities for Saturday.

A music festival, held Saturday evening, ended the weekend.

Murray State has three at financial aids conference

Don Martin, Mrs. Alice Reubin and Kenneth Meeler attended a financial aids meeting recently at Arrowhead Lodge.

Martin presided over the four-day conference. On Monday and Tuesday he helped train the new financial aids officers.

A representative from the Dallas Regional Office met with the conveners Wednesday and Thursday to discuss new applications for student financial aids for 1973-74, and the new higher education bill passed by Congress.

Walter Mason, from the Dallas Regional Office of Student Financial Aids, spoke after dinner Wednesday night.

Thursday Mrs. Alice Reubin was in charge of a section on billing and collection of student loans.

A representative from the Bureau of Indian Affairs in Muskogee discussed financial aid for Indian students.

Walter Williams, who is from the State Regents of Higher Education, discussed the Oklahoma Student Loan Program, which is similar to the guaranteed loan students get through their banks.

The next state conference will be held sometime in April at Durant to elect new officers to serve for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1973.

Entertainers perform for 'Boss' event

The Entertainers, Murray College's singing group, entertained B. & P. W. members and their guests in the Student Union ballroom Thursday, October 19. This occasion is known to B. & P. W. members as "Bosses' Night" and is an annual event.

Dr. Clyde Kindell was guest speaker for the occasion.

The Entertainers, composed of 10 students, sang "Paint Your Wagon," "Talking to the Trees," "Put On Your Sunday Clothes," from "Hello Dolly," and "School Days," from "Goodbye Mr. Chips."

Mrs. Dorothy Toews, sponsor of the group, stated, "The Entertainers will not be doing too many programs of this kind. They plan mostly to tour area high schools."

Home Ec Club expects profits

With seventeen girls entering the queen contest, it appears that the Halloween Carnival will be very profitable for the Home Economics Club. They will keep all those money votes that the girls and their clubs have been collecting for the past two weeks to be used for club purposes.

Betty Bivins, Tishomingo, president, has been working diligently making signs advertising the carnival and queen candidates. Betty is also making artificial flowers for the queen and all candidates.

The next club meeting is scheduled for Monday, October 30, to take care of any last minute details and decorate the Student Union for the carnival. Also, the money votes, which were to be turned in no later than 12:00 p.m., will be counted.

Be kind to profs, bash car instead

Would you like to get rid of the frustrations that have been building up against a teacher? Well, just go to the car bash booth, at the Halloween Carnival, sponsored by the Engineering and Technology Society, and take a few swings with a sledge hammer at the car painted with the teachers' names. After that, if you still feel aggressive, try the water dunk booth also sponsored by the organization.

Marlene Hucks was chosen to represent the Society as their queen candidate. Marlene, a 1972 graduate of Wynnewood High School, is majoring in Drafting and Design Technology.

The lobby is being finished, and book lockers will be installed in the lounge for the convenience of the students. When this is done, the lounge, located in the south end of the basement of Fulton Hall, will be complete.

The Carter County Guidance Clinic of Ardmore is conducting a drive against alcoholism. Affecting Carter, Johnston, Love, Marshall, and Murray Counties, the new program has had four orientation sessions for volunteer corps in the Tishomingo area.

The Southern Alcoholic Correction Program's campaign has several goals to be accomplished: to reduce the incarcerated population in city and county jails within this area due to alcohol related offenses; to provide treatment for persons charged with alcohol related offenses; and to develop local resources toward a program so that the offender may be removed from the criminal justice system. An indirect objective of the program is to prevent the alcoholic's problem rather than treat it.

There are many phases of the program for the offender, everything from emergency care to involvement with supporting community groups.

This program plans to take individuals with a drinking problem and counsel with them until an "Enlightened and interesting way of life opens up."

Two instructors

(Continued from Page 1) 19 semester hours in business courses, 19 hours in agriculture courses, and 20 hours in general education courses to obtain the credits needed for graduation.

McCormick stated, "This program needed support from areas other than agriculture. The Business and Technology Departments at Murray helped us tremendously, and cooperation from the Oklahoma State Department of Vocational-Technical Education was essential. Certainly, we are grateful for this support."

Coming to Murray in September of 1971, McCormick began developing the program. The course is designed to include many other types of classes in order to obtain an associate degree.

Within the next three years McCormick plans on training and placing approximately 65 students with degrees in this new program.

Financial egg layed by Profs in quail venture

By Jerald Jordan
In an attempt to lower their food bills at the end of the month, three members of the staff at Murray College went into the extraordinary field of quail raising. After a short while, they discovered why quail raisers are so few and far between and the field is 'extraordinary.'

The three formed a partnership composed of Dennis Toews, chairman of the fine arts department, Larry Milligan, art instructor, and Mrs. Murrelle Mahoney, librarian. Unfortunately, the partnership had a missing 'part' somewhere, as the endeavor led to disaster—almost.

To get their project off the ground, the three ordered some 200 quail eggs from two separate addresses. One order of 100 eggs arrived with six eggs cracked. One of the members suggested that they put Elmer's glue on the cracks, and see if the chicks would hatch. When the chicks finally came out of the incubator, (after being turned twice a day for three weeks by Larry Milligan,) one of them had a limp from egg-cess Elmer's glue in the joints.

From the second order of 100 eggs, 63 were scrambled into a sticky mess, and of the 37 eggs remaining, only one chick survived. He grew up only to be eaten by a skunk, or more likely a Siamese cat belonging to one of the partners.

After the chicks feathered out, Milligan decided they were ready to take out of the brooder and experience what life is all about. But the chicks, with no mama to tend to them, were not ready for life and its hardships. Several of them caught cold and died. The next problem was an epidemic which killed off quite a few and it was finally stopped by putting medicine in their drinking water every day.

There were also the predators, the friendly neighborhood cats and the skunks, who had plenty of 'sense.' (About getting into the pen, that is.)

After all the diasters had taken their toll, 13 quail were left which the partners are trying to keep alive for brood stock. They figure each little chick is now worth about $6 and will be worth much more by the time they can repay their cost by producing eggs to start the cycle over again.

The water used by 90 per cent of the population in the developing world is either unsafe or inadequate, or both.

FUNNY LOOKING balloon, or could it be a baby? Actually, it's a dummy being used by member of a health class to learn mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. Belinda Meyer, Randlett.

New Dummy now in class

If you walked down the hall of the classroom building last week and saw a "person" lying on Melvin Imotichey's desk, you should have gone back for a second look. It was a dummy which Gene Schultingkemper brought from Valley View Hospital in Ada for the use of Imotichey's health class.

Students in the class were studying three types of critical emergencies, stoppage of breathing, ceasing of the heart, and hemorrhaging.

By using the dummy for mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, students can learn the proper method before experimenting with live volunteers in the class.

Schultingkemper brought an infant and adult dummy for the class to use.

Asked about the benefits of the critical emergency study Imotichey replied, "I feel that it is very important. If my students get anything out of the class, it should be how to handle emergency situations. It is both worthwhile and valuable to every person. The knowledge gained in this class could save a life."

Commuters and Student Senate discuss problems

Student Senate officers met with commuting students in Fletcher Auditorium on October 20, with Dr. Clyde Kindell, Mrs. Jo Conway and Don Martin as guests. Purpose of the meeting was to acquaint the commuters with facilities available to them.

Dr. Kindell guided the students in selecting members of a committee to work a direct relation with the Student Senate.

Wade Smith, Duncan, Senate vice-president, told the commuters on behalf of the Senate that they were concerned with the problems of off-campus students, and expressed the willingness of the Senate to help them. Commuters elected to the committee were Tim McCullars, Carter County; Patty Norton, Ardmore; Kenneth Decker, Johnston County; Susie Spicer, Marshall County; Harmon Ford, Murray County.

All students are invited to look over the new commuter lounge in the south end of the basement of Fulton Hall. The Rotary Club of Tishomingo pledged $1,000.00 to furnish the lounge, and plans to install lockers are in the making.

All-Stars win football award

The Southern All Stars have been chosen as winners of the Intramural Sportsmanship Award for football, according to Coach Dean Ross. The team was chosen by a vote of team captains and officials of the tournament.

Puckerbrush 10 was second, but all teams were exceptionally close, according to Ross. The All Stars captured the football championship by defeating the Brown Souls 14 to 0.

Basketball Tourney

As football ended, intramural basketball began with a bang! This year's competition will be a little different from past tournaments. Pre-tournament games have been played, and the actual tournament will begin Tuesday, October 31.

On October 23, the Lone Strangers defeated the Warriorettes 51 to 16. In boys' competition the Brown Souls, winners of last year's games, beat the Haskell Lucas Bombers 51 to 45. In other action, the BSU was out-pointed by the powerful White Panthers 40 to 20.

On October 24, the Brown Souls defeated the Bull Frogs. The Brown Souls, who won the boys' intramurals last year, seem to be the favorite to win again this year, although the competition is considerable tougher.

3 Games Nightly

Interested students are encouraged to come out and watch the games. There will be three each night beginning at 6:30, 7:30 and 8:30.

The tennis tournament is now underway, with Randy Nease, Lawton, champion in the winners' bracket. Steve Wheeler, and the winner of that contest will play Bill Manus, Tahlequah. This will determine the losers' bracket champion, who will play Randy Nease for tournament championship.

Winners of the girls' doubles are Dianne Miller, Lone Grove, and Joanne Gann, Talihina. Three girls are competing in the girls' singles. Winner of the game between Dianne Miller and Joanne Gann will play June Freeman, Ardmore. The winner of that game determines the intramural championship.

Get sky high on bucking broncho

Have you ever ridden a bucking broncho? If not, and you would like to try, just drop by Patton Hall's booth, the "bucking broncho," at the Halloween carnival.

The boys at Patton elected Marilyn Fairless to represent them at the carnival as their queen. Marilyn, a 1972 graduate of Smithville High School, is majoring in agriculture.

The boys have placed a jar in the lobby of Patton for extra coins to help gather money votes for their queen.

Rodeo Club eyes 'Buck-out' plans

The Rodeo Club, sponsored by Coach Wayne Cobb, met October 23 to discuss plans for a "Buck-out." No definite date has been set, but it is being planned for either November 6th or 9th.

The club decided to get J. C. Ward, stock producer from Coalgate, to supply the stock. They want IRA approved stock, Ward's best stuff. The buck-out will be for college and high school students only.

Karen Carter, Colbert, elected by a unanimous vote, was selected for this year's carnival queen candidate.

Later on during the school year, the organization plans to purchase Rodeo Club jackets.

Jeaneen Gann, a returning sophomore Aggiette from Talihina, is one of the most outstanding girls on Murray's campus, for basketball is only one of the many facets of her personality and talents. She maintains a high grade average, has won many honors, and has a very interesting hobby.

When Jeaneen is not playing basketball, apparently she must be studying because in high school she was a member of the Oklahoma State Honor Society and the National Honor Society for her four-point grade average. The Masonic Order of Talihina awarded her "Student of Today," based upon her leadership, scholarship, and sportsmanship qualities. Jeaneen achieved the honors of being a four-year letterman, an all-conference forward, and All-State forward in basketball.

Jeaneen's major is physical education and her minor is math. She does very well in both and in her freshman year she was on the President's Honor Roll.

For her "spare" time, Jeaneen has an unusual hobby. She spends her summers in Oregon at a girls' camp teaching the girls to ride horses. She claimed that she doesn't make much money, but she enjoys doing it "It's kind of like social work," she says.

Jeaneen's thought on this year's Aggiette team was, "I think we have the capability to win nationals again this year, because our team is shaping up well, with both sophomores and freshmen. We hope that student spirit this year is good because we want to win!"

Ross helps get antique cars to movie location

When the movie "Dillinger" is released, Perry Don Ross, instructor in drafting and design at Murray will probably be more interested in five Model A cars appearing in the film than in the big name stars. Ross, one of whose many hobbies is restoring old cars, helped put the vintage models in top running order for their roles in the movie being produced in the Ardmore area.

The cars are the property of Everett Jones, Lindsay, who leased them for use in the film. On October 26, Jones telephoned his friend Ross and asked if he and his family could come to Lindsay for the weekend. He needed help to get all five of the old cars, a 1930 coupe, a 1928 business coupe, a 1939 roadster, a 1931 pickup and a 1931 four-door sedan, slicked up and ready for use.

Ross accepted the challenge, since restoring old cars is one of his many hobbies. He spent all day Saturday working on them, and by 8:30 p.m. they were

Tolbert is missing in Vietnam

A pilot who attended Murray State College in 1958 to "prep" for the U. S. Naval Academy was shot down in flames over Vietnam last week and is officially reported as missing. He is Lt. Cmdr. C. O. "Smokey" Tolbert.

One of the planes Tolbert flew now is on display on campus.

E. E. Tolbert, father of the missing man, was visited at the flyer's ranch north of Tishomingo Nov. 6 by a naval officer who at that time told him his son had been missing for 24 hours.

The Navy informed the family Tolbert was flying a mission over Vietnam when he was observed by a pilot of a companion plane to have been hit by enemy fire in the right wing. Fuel began streaming out

Our auditorium is impressive to Davis visitors

A group of 25 students from Davis High School visited the Murray State Campus November 5 to take a look at Fletcher Auditorium. David Snyder, speech teacher and some of his students attended the drama club's production of ALL MY SONS. He was so impressed with the auditorium's equipment for stage effects, lighting, scenery, etc. that he brought his speech classes to see it.

Fred Poe, chairman of the language arts department, took the students through the auditorium and explained its mechanical equipment and operation. They were impressed with the scenery hoists, the catwalks high above the stage, the complicated lighting panels, the dressing rooms, stage craft workshops and the projection booth, as well as the attractive colors of the comfortable soft seats.

Show pigs and calves are sold at auction here

The annual pig and calf sale, sponsored by the swine breeders of Johnston County, was held November 10 at Murray State College Headquarters Farm and 150 top quality pigs were sold at auction.

The Aggie Club served barbecue sandwiches and the Murray Dames sold home made pie to a crowd of approximately 450 spectators and buyers. Among them were a number of Vocational Agriculture instructors, FFA and 4-H Club sponsors and swine breeders from Texas, Louisiana, New Mexico and Kansas.

Murray students who had pigs consigned in the sale were Billy Kidd, Duncan; Ray Dean Sites, Sweetwater; Jim Carlile, Leon; Wendell Wolf, Locust Grove; and Larry Smith, Mountain View. Other owners were Don Huddleston and J. D. Ray, Madill; Phil Kimble, Hydro; B. E. Parks, Tishomingo; and Murray State College.

Attorney tells of rights under law

Harry Bickford, lawyer from Ardmore, attended a meeting of the Social Science Club in the classroom building Monday night November 13, to discuss the rights of the individual, both civil and criminal. Members of the social science classes have been noting questions down to have discussed. The informal talk is part of the Social Science Club's program of acquainting students with their political and civil rights and responsibilities as citizens.

Several Murray State College students attended the first meeting of the newly organized State Collegiate FFA in Stillwater on October 26. At the meeting, three students were nominees for state offices.

Marilyn Fairless, Smithville, was a candidate for secretary but lost her bid for this position before coming back to win the title of state treasurer.

Wade Smith, Duncan, Murray's candidate for the collegiate FFA reporter, beat out all competition to win this position.

Danny Glover, Marlow, was not so fortunate in his try for vice-president. He lost by only two votes. Jim Benton, Marlow, gave Glover's nominating speech.

Homecoming date set for November 29

At last Murray State is to have a Homecoming. On November 1, the Student Senate voted to change "Campus Day" to "Homecoming." They discussed plans for floats and car decorations to be presented in a homecoming parade. There will also be a Homecoming Queen to be crowned at half-time of the Poteau-Murray game on the night of November 29 in the Murray gym.

The deadline for the clubs to enter their candidates in the contest will be Tuesday, November 14. The names of the candidates may be turned in to the Student Senate sponsors, Kenneth Meeler or Mrs. Jo Conway, or to the Student Senate president, Delton Gerloff.

Surveying class unearths original Wapanucka markers

Members of Fred White's surveying class made a field trip to Wapanucka last week and found some of the original corner markers of the old town. It was their first practical application of land research and surveying principles.

The first step was to check the original plat of the old town of Wapanucka, established about 1889, which was on file at the Johnston County courthouse in Tishomingo.

The boundary locations of two lots in the city were established by the use of a surveying chain and transit. The class went through the necessary procedure to establish the legal size

ACTION NEEDED
 "Nominations are now open for a club reporter" were common words heard on the Murray State College campus during the election of club officers at the beginning of the year. But how many organizations actually have a reporter who fulfills his obligations?

The reporter is in an ideal position. He has attained the prestige of being an officer in a club, but he doesn't have to do anything.

Anyone elected to this position is urged to write possible news stories about the club's activities and meetings. However, members of the AGGIELITE staff could wait forever for the stories. Instead, a member of the staff is assigned to each organization. In most instances, the staff member assigned is not even a member of the club. Then everyone wonders why a news item was overlooked or the organization received no mention in an issue of the AGGIELITE.

A reporter of any club should take the responsibility of his position seriously. News should be turned in to the AGGIELITE as soon as possible after every club meeting.

If an individual isn't going to accept responsibility, then why honor him with an office in any organization? —T.C.

Rap session held with movie actors

Three members of the cast for the movie "Dillinger" were invited to the Murray campus Thursday, November 9, to have an informal rap session with students and faculty. Ray Johnson, Ben Johnson and Warren Oates, who will play the role of "Dillinger," met with a large group in the Audio Visual room, and answered questions about the movie-making profession and their experiences as actors.

Johnson, who is a native Oklahoman, won an academy award last year for his role in "The Last Picture Show."

Senator Bellmon gives political viewpoints here

Senator Henry Bellmon appeared on Murray State campus October 26 to speak to students about his political viewpoints and the achievements of the last session of Congress. His visit was sponsored by the Social Science Club, and a reception was held for him in the Student Union, which was open to the public.

Shortly before the meeting Drew Mason, administrative assistant to Senator Bellmon, received a message for the Senator that on October 31 an agreement would be signed designating a 60-day cease fire in Vietnam and the returning of all troops and POW's.

Throughout the first few minutes of Bellmon's visit, he discussed international relations. Because tensions are being reduced, Bellmon felt that this was a step toward the abolishment of the draft.

In the past Congress has passed important environmental measures of legislation and a revenue sharing bill. Nevertheless, Bellmon thought that the action to environmental problems which we may face is plan for the future.

The remainder of Bellmon's visit was spent answering questions concerning gambling, liquor by the drink, capital punishment, and various other topics.

Before leaving, Bellmon urged all newly-registered voters to exercise their right to vote.

 of the wing and Tolbert's plane started going down. The observing pilot followed and reported that the fuel ignited as the plane continued on. About 1 1/2 miles from the beach, Tolbert's plane went into a flat spin and went down in flames. The observing pilot saw no ejection or parachute and was unable to hear any "beeper" that usually goes off from such planes on impact.

The Navy Department stated that was all the information it had at the present time and would continue to investigate.

Tolbert, a Navy Academy graduate, a former member of the Navy's precision flying Blue Angels, and holder of a Silver Star among other medals, was flying from the carrier USS Midway operating off Vietnam.

Only last July the flyer had to eject from his battle-damaged fighter plane into the waters of the Gulf of Tonkin. He received only minor injuries and was soon rescued by a helicopter from the Midway.

Because Tolbert flew the plane with the Blue Angels' precision team, the swept winged F-11 Jet was requested by the City of Tishomingo and put on display behind McKee Hall. This plane was flown at speeds up to 700 miles per hour at unusually low altitudes for thousands of persons to see.

Snoopy adds bright note to office

The office of Miss Margaret Lovelace, instructor in the Social Science Department, has a new look. Its wall ornaments are Snoopy characters worked out in colored cloth, and it has been painted a bright new yellow. An interesting ornament is her "ojo," otherwise named "God's Eye".

Helping with the interior decorating was Mrs. Rosalva Rainey, home economics instructor, who planned and arranged the designs and pictures on the walls. The maintenance men also contributed to the improvement of her office by mopping and waxing the floor.

These may be the words you hear on the Murray campus while several members of the Outing Club are learning how to barn dance. Sponsored by Jim Schammerhorn and Dr. Bob Hill, the organization is being taught the basic fundamentals of barn dancing.

Sponsors are giving lessons to any student who is interested so that the students may learn a few different types of dances before the school barn dance November.

A barn dance differs from a square dance because it includes many types of dances such as the hully-gully, round dances, polkas, grapevine twist, cowboy loop, and Texas star.

Presently Mr. Schammerhorn and his wife are taking barn dance lessons in Ardmore and are teaching them at the practice sessions.

Get a good name and stay with it!

Palmer Simeon Mosley V made his appearance into the world on October 24, 1972. The first Simeon Mosley was governor of the Chickasaw Nation, somewhere around 1900 or 1902. If we are counting backwards correctly, this would be the new baby's great-great grandfather, and the great-grandfather of Palmer Simeon Mosley IV his father, who is an instructor in the Science Department at Murray.

It seems appropriate that a fifth generation child to bear this name should belong to the race of original Americans.

Supporting Murray for 32 Years

Club is bringing varied viewpoints to Murray campus

To create interest in the various types of opportunities available to the students at Murray State College is the purpose of the Social Science Club. To do this, they have been sponsoring appearances by guest speakers from off-campus.

Ed Brooks and Dr. Lloyd Goss, both instructors at East Central State College in Ada, were invited on campus to discuss their political views and platforms with students.

The club's first speaker was Hamp Baker, who was a candidate for Corporation Commissioner. Senator Henry Bellmon appeared in an open forum conference on campus October 20th.

A registration day was sponsored by the club on September 11, in which 85 students became new voters. A late registration was sponsored on October 25 for those who failed to register earlier.

Their tentative plans are to have a lawyer speak with them at their next meeting.

Surveying—

of the lots and their relationship to the town, from the original plat.

The objective of the course, according to White, is to expose the student to practical experience in a real situation, if he is ever involved in a land survey where he needs to know the boundaries and relationships of certain lots to other existing lots.

In the near future they will research the relationship of differences in elevation from known points. They are basically concerned with "horizontal and vertical distance relationships," which White states is the essence of land survey. In layman's English, this means the relationship of the lot to other lots in its position in the town, and its relationship by elevation to other points in the town.

White is also teaching an advanced night class with ten students. The course will be offered again second semester.

Nolan Arthur, club sponsor, was elected state adviser. He said Murray received quite an honor by being granted the first charter in the state. He also stated that four out of six state officers elected are presently attending or had attended Murray State College. Charles Dunbar, who was elected president, and Terry Hefley, who was elected sentinel, are former Murray students.

The officers elected to these posts will attend meetings frequently at different schools and colleges over the state. Kenneth Roberts, Beggs, and Orville Cottrell, who gave Wade Smith's nominating speech and is from Wynnewood, were delegates who attended the meeting to help reorganize the constitution for the State Collegiate FFA.

Performing mouse vies with hate-love flowers

Mrs. Conway asked to serve

Mrs. Jo Conway, journalism instructor and counselor at Murray, has been invited to serve on the Oklahoma Education Association Legislative Committee for Higher Education. She was recommended by Dr. Vern Robertson, professor at Oklahoma University.

The purpose of this committee will be to study and prepare legislative proposals for Oklahoma Public Higher Education.

ready to roll.

Sunday morning presented another problem, that of finding drivers to take the cars to Ardmore. Four of them were driven, and Ross towed the fifth. The mission was accomplished about 11:30 a.m. Sunday, with very little trouble. Ross and the crew of drivers left the cars at the Ardmore fairgrounds, after pictures had been taken.

Ross was no stranger to the valuable old "tin lizzies", having restored the business coupe and the pickup for Jones in 1968.

Conditioning a mouse to perform certain steps to obtain food, and raising flowers with a love or hate treatment, are two experiments being conducted by members of Arthur Vernon's Sociology class.

The mouse, whose name is "George," is the feature performer in the experiment being conducted by Glenda Curry, sophomore from Mill Creek. She is trying to teach him to run patterns and push levers to obtain food. After a few weeks, he has shown improvement. Already he knows the quickest route to his reward. "George" is reported to be making exceptional progress and is ready for new tests.

As for the love or hate treatment, the students take two plants and give each one the same amount of food, water, and minerals, only restricting the amount of love and kindness one plant receives.

To love a plant the student must show affection, talk softly, and use lots of tender loving care. To hate, one must scold, talk harshly and have an overall hateful attitude toward the plant. This will allow a student a chance to observe the changes a plant undergoes while under these conditions.

Basketball intramural competition is keen

Atokans given wild taste by faculty men

Members of the male faculty and staff at Murray entertained the Atoka Schoolmasters' Club with a wild game dinner Thursday, November 9. Nolan Arthur was master of ceremonies for the event, which featured a whole roast pig and wild game. The dinner was held in the ballroom of the Student union.

The program was furnished by a combined musical group from the Social Science and Agriculture Departments. Danny Glover performed a number playing the guitar and harmonica at the same time, and vocal selections were sung by Judy Slaughter, Judy Smith, Jim Ambrose, Ann Lowe and Bruce Mullins.

About 35 guests and 40 Murray faculty and administration attended.

Crowning of Queen plans being made

The Homecoming Queen coronation set for November 29, is the latest interest of the Home Economics Club. Club members are also planning to sell mums for the event, which will be something new at Murray.

Most of the plans for the coronation were made in a meeting on Monday, November 6. Among these was the decision that the Tishomingo High School band would be asked to play the song "More" for the coronation.

Also, plans were made for decorating the car that the club will enter in the Homecoming parade. However, these plans are being kept secret.

The next meeting is scheduled for Monday, November 13, when a candidate for Homecoming Queen will be elected.

The intramural basketball tournament began on Tuesday, October 31. Two games were scheduled for that night but only one game was played. The Engineering Club forfeited to the White Panthers. In the girls' game the Wardogs defeated BSU 82-15. The high scorers in that game were Bertha Douglas of the Wardog team, with 19 points, and Mary Jenkins, also of the Wardog team, with 18 points.

Monday, November 6, two games were played. In the girls' game, the Lone Strangers defeated the Warriorettes 41-14. The high scorer in that game was Darlene Belvin of the Lone Strangers, with 24 points. In the boys' game the Bullfrogs defeated BSU 55-40. The high scorers were Geary Blevins of the Bullfrogs, with 15 points, and Roy Batice of BSU with 19 points.

Two boys' games were played Tuesday, November 7. The Bombers defeated the Clodhoppers 48-29. High scorers in that game were from the Bombers' team. They were Mike Rains with 17 points, and Randy Nease with 14 points. In the second game the Antiques lost to the Brown Souls by a score of 58-34. Frand Simpson was high scorer with 19 points. He is a member of the Brown Souls team.

The next games are scheduled for Monday, November 13, and Tuesday, November 14.

Matches in table tennis start soon

Rosters for intramural table tennis are due Tuesday, November 14. The tournament will consist of boys' and girls' singles and doubles, and mixed doubles.

Matches will be played each day from 2:30 until 5:00 in the gym. Rules and rosters will be picked up in Coach Dean Ross' office.

According to Coach Ross there seems to be some confusion as to the schedule of all intramural games. The schedules will be posted on the gym bulletin board from this time forward.

Apply now if you want federal job for next summer

Students interested in obtaining federal jobs with the Government this summer should fill out an application form now.

Weekly pay for employees without highschool diplomas or experience is $87.80; with highschool diploma or six months experience, $99.30; with one year's college or one year's experience, $112.00; with two years' college or two years' experience, $125.00.

The U. S. Civil Service Commission announced three test dates for 1973 summer jobs in federal agencies.

Complete instructions for filling and information on the different opportunities offered is available from either Mrs. Jo Conway or Jack Reid in the Counseling Center.

The Commission urged candidates to apply early for maximum consideration and emphasized that the number of jobs available through the nationwide test will be extremely small in proportion to the number of competitors. Last year there were 203,244 eligibles and only 12,000 were appointed through the nationwide Civil Service Commission examination.

FEATURED AGGIE-ETTE for this week is Nancy Washington, Stringtown.

Nancy Washington, a returning sophomore Aggie-ette, not only set the rebounding record at the Amarillo Invitational Tournament last year, but was also voted an All-American basketball player at the same tournament.

Nancy attended high school in Stringtown, Oklahoma. There she was a member of the 4-H for seven years, and a four-year basketball letterman. She served as the home economics class president for two years and was a member of the FHA for two years.

Although basketball is Nancy's main interest, she enjoys cooking, softball and volleyball. She is a member of the Afro-American Club, and her major is physical education.

As an Aggie-ette last year, Nancy was the leading rebounder and the second highest scorer. Her only comment on this year's Aggie-ette team was, "G-R-E-A-T!"

JIM SCHAMMERHORN, chemistry instructor, is helping others conquer a peak by leading the way.

Mountaineer gets high pursuing his hobby

By Jerald Jordan
A mountain 14,000 feet high is only a molehill for Jim Schammerhorn, Murray's foremost—and only—authority on mountain climbing. For the past several years Schammerhorn has been following this hobby, which is one of the ten fastest growing sports in the U.S., he says.

He has spent the past few summers in the mountains of Colorado, working with Apen-trek, a summer camp for boys. He has directed campers on

New woodworking course is second semester offering

A course in machine woodworking, Number 2013, will be offered at Murray beginning second semester, according to R. B. Brisco, Chairman of the Engineering and Technology Department. It will be open to everyone, especially to farm and ranch management majors.

The class is a combination of several different studies, which include an introduction to electrical wiring, blue print reading, woodworking, and plumbing. Different types of building materials will be studied, along with how to build a foundation. The class will also learn to use a transit to determine the correct elevation of a building.

The instructors for the course are R. B. Brisco, Perry Don Ross, instructor in drafting and design; and Fred White, instructor in electromechanical engineering.

several mountain climbing trips, usually planned for overnight so that they can conquer a peak and get back by the next day.

"When you're 14,000 feet above sea level, one night is enough," he says.

Equipment is important, especially as Jim has climbed at temperatures near zero. When nature's forces are against you, it is important to have the right equipment in good working condition or you may have to discontinue the trip. Among necessary items are a special nylon mountaineering rope, heavy duty boots, hard hats, sunglasses, snap links, pitons (metal spikes), piton hammers, and long ropes.

Schammerhorn became interested in mountaineering while attending Purdue University. As a member of the Outing Club there, he did a little climbing but nothing very extensive. Since that time, he has climbed many mountains, many of them over 14,000 feet high, in Colorado.

Some of these are Mt. Yale, 14,196 feet; Castle Peak, 14,265 feet; Mt. Antero, 14,269 feet; Mount Elbert, 14,431 feet, (highest point in Colorado); and Ice Mountain, 14,000 feet. Ice Mountain is his favorite and he has climbed it four different ways, and at different seasons. Once he got a painful case of snow blindness, or sunburned eyeballs, after losing his sunglasses, and was unable to climb again for three days.

Someday, our courageous climber hopes to climb mountains such as Wetterhorn, Mt. Sneffels, and Capitol Peak.

Indian Education Association has first meet here

The Oklahoma Indian Education Association held its first Southeast District Meeting November 17, on the campus of Murray State College.

The OIEA was formally organized and launched during the OEA Convention in Oklahoma City in October.

The organization was formed for many reasons, but primarily the association was brought about to improve the educational level of Oklahoma Indians, to exchange ideas, and to try to seek solutions to common problems of Oklahoma Indians.

The Southeast district is bound on the West by I-35, and on the North by I-40. All people interested in Indian education in this region are encouraged to attend the next meeting which will be held at Southeastern State College in late January.

Agronomy expert gives lecture

Dr. Richard Bates, agronomy expert from the Noble Foundation in Ardmore, gave a two-hour talk on November 8 to Nolan Arthur's plant and animal science classes. His lecture, which was well illustrated with his own color slides, had as a subject "Pasture Systems and Pasture Management in Oklahoma."

The slides dealt with the results of experimenting with various types of pastures for different types of cattle. The meeting was held in the audio-visual room of the library.

Sells one ticket and it's a winner

Next time you buy a raffle ticket, try to arrange to buy it from William Adams, Stratford. He sold only one ticket—the winning number—for the Remington Model 1100, 12 gauge shotgun given away by the Society of Engineers and Technicians.

Gerry Ratliff, Hilltop Grocery, bought the ticket after a high pressure sales pitch from Adams. The drawing was held November 21.

Les Arnold, Fox, won an $8.00 prize for selling the most tickets. He sold 90—all losers!

Counseling is available nights

Jack Reid has announced that the counseling office, located on the main floor of the Administration Building, will be open one night a week beginning Thursday, December 7.

Reid will be in the office from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. to provide information, occupational literature, and all other services of the office to all students.

Homecoming events prove to be real success

MISS DEBBIE CARR, Tishomingo, was elected Homecoming Queen while representing the Aggie Club.

Murray held its first Homecoming on Wednesday, November 29, with a busy schedule of events.

Homecoming activities began on Tuesday, November 28, with a pep rally and bonfire at 6:30 p.m. south of McKee Hall. The cheerleaders were introduced first, followed by introductions of Coach Cobb and Coach Imotichey, who then introduced the members of their teams.

Homecoming Queen candidates each rode a decorated car in the homecoming parade which began at 1:00 on Wednesday. Also featured in the parade were area bands contesting for both trophies and cash awards, and floats representing McKee and Has-

IN GOOD HANDS
Family, country, church—these three important cornerstones of society are not dead in the eyes of young people. Indeed, they are very much alive if the survey of high school students attending a group of seminars is any indication.

At six recent Oklahoma,
Kansas, and Texas Youth
Citizenship Seminars conducted by the American Citizenship Center of Oklahoma Christian College, participating students were asked to list the living persons they respect most. Students could choose a parent, or select from a dozen or so names, representing a wide range of ideologies. Under the selection point system, the parent was far out in front, with 4,651 points. Second was President Nixon with 2,859 points. In third place was Billy Graham, with 1,970. The others trailed well behind.

Perhaps this indicates that family, country, and church are not "old hat" among young people, as some will claim. At any rate, for those on the elder side of the Generation Gap, the loyalties these young people expressed provide evidence that the future of our nation may be in pretty good hands after all. — (Industrial News

Woods to be here to talk transfer

Tom Wood, former director of public relations at Murray, will be on the campus Wednesday, December 13 to visit with students interested in transferring to East Central State after graduation from Murray.

Wood is now Administrative Assistant to the President at East Central. He will be in Jack Reid's counseling office from 9:00 to 5:00, and will have catalogs, brochures and information available for students.

Reid encourages anyone interested to drop in and visit with Wood during that time.

Among such home town names as Pontotoc, Tupelo, Atoka, etc. on Murray's student roster the name "Teheran, Iran" appears, not once, but nine times. During the past eight years, a tradition has developed for Iranian students to travel almost halfway around the world to attend Murray State College.

About 1964, two brothers named Hemmat started the ball rolling, and Iranians have been a familiar part of the student body ever since. After the Hemmat's, the others came because they had relatives or friends here.

One name which has become well known on campus is that of Jatala. Four members of this family, two boys and two girls, have been enrolled at Murray off and on for about five years or more. This year Yasama Jatala and her brother Homayoon are attending school here.

An older brother, Khosrow, graduated from Murray a few years ago, and will receive his masters' degree at Oklahoma University this year. He has a job waiting for him at Dow Chemical Company, Houston.

An older sister Sima attended Murray, and has now finished nursing school in Oregon, where she is working.

The first Jatala to come to the United States was Parviz, the oldest brother, who holds a Ph.
D. from the University of Oregon. It was he who helped the rest of his family get residence papers to come to the United States.

With five children in the family, their ties are very close.
The mother, Mrs. Effat Jatala, a widow, came to Washington State to make a home for her children where Parviz and Sima lived at the time. Part of the family later moved to Norman, Oklahoma, where Khosrow attended the University, and then to Tishomingo. Mrs. Jatala likes to cook their favorite Iranian dishes, sometimes sending for the necessary ingredients from home. To get vegetables which are not grown here, she brought seeds which her son Parviz, who is a plant pathologist, plants in the greenhouse in his home in Oregon.

The prettiest Iranian on campus — (and the only girl) — is Yasaman, the youngest of the Jatalas, who first came to the U.S. with her mother when she was 14. She plans to study pharmacy after graduating from Murray. Homayoon, who remained in Iran for a two year hitch in the army, is taking courses in pre-dentistry.

The Jatalas describe Iran, formerly called Persia, as noted for "oil, Persian carpets, and Persian cats," which are found in the desert south of the capital city. They are the only animal which can survive for two weeks or more without water.

Teheran is a crowded city of three and a half million people.

But perhaps their best known export is the poetry of Omar Khayyam, famous 11th century poet called "The Tentmaker."

Besides the ties of family and friendship, another main reason for the 'hegira' of Iranians to Oklahoma is that it is cheaper to attend school here, even counting travel and living expenses, than to attend the prohibitively expensive University of Teheran.

Other Iranans now enrolled at Murray are Hossein Zand, whose major is chemical engineering; Rahman and Karim Tahermandarjani and Siamac Roñani, all studying electrical engineering; Nory
Sabet, business education; Sina Hemmati, (no major given); and Josef Teranchi, mechanical engineering.

According to the Jatalas,
Josef has been here for five semesters, and will earn his "B.
S. degree" at Murray. They also predict that some day he will be "mayor of Tishomingo!"

A.C.T. test to be given Dec. 9

The National A.C.T. test will be given Saturday December 9, in Classroom Building 102, according to Bob Pearson,
Director of Student Personnel Services. The Test will last from 8:00 a.m. till noon.

The next national test date will be February 24, 1973.

White instructs at area seminar

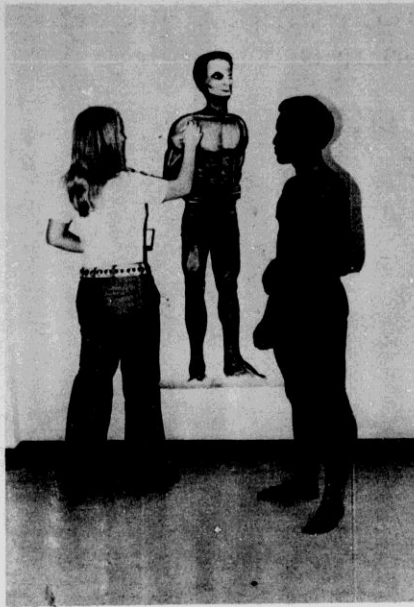

Fred White, instructor in Electro-mechanics and Civil Engineering, was the instructor for the Mid-American Vo-Tech's weekend seminar held at Wayne, Oklahoma.

White gave instructions on using Fortran IV on the IBM 1130.

The seminar consisted of nine directors from vo-tech schools through the state. Members of White's topographic class made a field trip to Willis, Oklahoma recently to visit a trailer park planned and designed by White.

The students had spent the first nine weeks planning the park according to their own ideas for its arrangement, which included spaces for 40 trailers.

"MILLIGAN'S MYSTERY MODEL" poses for Linda Reeder, Wilson, while she learns the fundamentals of drawing human anatomy.

Model shivers for the noble cause of fine art

By Dennis Franklin
It's a cold winter afternoon and you decide to visit the fine arts department. As you enter you see a shivering young man in swimming trunks. But don't panic, he's not mad. He is only the model that Larry Milligan hired for his afternoon art class in drawing.

This young man, the first live model used in his classes, has discovered that although the art of modeling may sound glamorous, it's really not all that exciting. It requires standing still and holding a pose for long minutes at a time, which is not too easy. Even sitting down can be difficult if you have to remain still for an hour or more, with occasional rest breaks.

"And there's also the problem of trying to keep a straight face after looking at some of the students' drawings," the model says. But no matter how bad the results, he can't complain too much, because he provided the example!

The purpose of using a live model is to give the students a good example of how the human body is proportioned in relation to muscle mass and symmetry. Having him pose in swimming trunks makes it possible for the class to see different muscles of the body at all angles, and this makes for a better understanding of human anatomy.

Milligan has the young man sit or stand on a table in front of the class. At first he asks him for a few quick changes of pose so the class can "loosen up." Then he is asked to strike a pose and hold it for a sustained drawing. He may have to keep this pose for a few minutes to a few hours, with rest periods for the relief of students and to prevent the model from getting stiff in one position.

Milligan says he is very pleased with his student model so far, and hopes he will be able to continue this type of training for future classes. The anatomy drawing makes up only a small part of the course, and the model will work for only a couple of weeks.

His name? If you're interested, drop by the art department on a Tuesday or Thursday afternoon.

Greenhouse is in dire need of donations

By Karla McCarrell

If your thumb isn't very green, then maybe you should donate your plants to help Bill Taylor, Maysville, reestablish Murray's greenhouse.

Taylor has begun re-working the greenhouse located behind the Library and Science building during his spare time, without pay or a grade.

With the assistance of Deriel Moore, Smithville, Taylor has redone and sterilized the soil. Presently, they have accumulated three plants, a banana and two coconuts from a student in Ravia. Taylor has brought several plants from Maysville where his mother has a greenhouse. However, more plants are needed, so Taylor and Moore will be grateful for any donations.

The plants grown in the greenhouse will be used in various lab classes to make hybrids out of genetic plants. Last year, students grafted a potato and tomato plant which resulted in potatoes on the bottom and tomatoes on the top. If he could only raise a "steak" plant, he could have steak, french fries, and salad!

By the end of December, Taylor and Moore hope to have everything green.

The best excuse is the one you never make.

You'll be so sorry if you steal his car

By Gene Wilson

If you ever decide to steal a car, you should think twice before trying to break into a vehicle belonging to C. W. Pittman, Ardmore.

Pittman's car, a 1965 Pontiac GTO, has some unusual features. For example, when you open the door you receive an electrical shock, and the ceiling light doesn't come on until the door is shut.

To turn the ignition on, you push the cigarette lighter in. The windshield wipers are operated by turning the radio knob, and windshield wipers won't work unless the radio is on.

When it comes down the road it sounds like an Army tank, because it has slick tires, no muffler, and only two gears. The gears are first and third — in the opposite order, (naturally). But all this doesn't stop him from trying to break the speed record.

So the next time you want to take a spin in a car which isn't yours, you'd better reconsider.

Better not try to be flowery, remember, that's only one stage away from becoming seedy.

Aggies lose two then win one in Iowa tournament

On November 20, the boys basketball team traveled to Burlington, Iowa, to compete in the Black Hawk Invitational Basketball Tournament. The Aggies won one game and lost two by one point each.

In the first round the Aggies drew Mermac Junior College and were defeated 55-56 in an overtime.

In the second round they were defeated 81-80 by Missouri Baptist. The Aggies got together in the final round, however, and defeated Palmer Junior College 83-63.

According to Wayne Cobb, basketball coach, the Aggies looked good with the exception of a few minor problems in the first two games.

"We could—and should—have won the tournament, but playing tough teams like these it is no disgrace to lose by one point," Cobb stated. "We are going to have to have the combined effort of the entire team in order to be a consistent winner. Our boys matured a great deal during the tournament, however, as was indicated by their playing in the final game."

News Briefs:

The following announcements were released by Robert Pearson, Director of Student Personnel Services.

FFA will hold a Southeast District Leadership training Conference on campus December 14. The meeting will be held in the auditorium from 8:30 to 5:00. Nolan Arthur is in charge of arrangements.

A film and program on V.D. will be presented by Flo Caskey of the Johnston County Health Department. It will begin at 10:00 a.m. in the Fletcher Auditorium and is co-educational.

A turkey shoot will be held Sunday, December 3, at 2:00 p.m. south of McKee Hall on the track field. Rifles, shotguns or pistols will be permitted.

Final exams will be given from December 19 through December 21. The semester ends and holidays begin at noon on December 22.

Pre-enrollment for sophomores will continue from November 28 to December 21; the dates for freshmen enrollment are December 4 through December 21.

In the planning stages is a salad bar in the cafeteria, for the benefit of commuters who do not have time to stand in line. It may also prove popular for dieting faculty members.

Dates for selling textbooks back to the bookstore are December 19, 20, 21.

New books will go on sale January 2nd for spring semester.

DANNY GLOVER, Marlow, John Johnson, Boswell, and Frank Cobb, Kingston, smile proudly while displaying the trophies they won in the recent pool tournament.

Under the supervision of game room managers Bill

Boyer and Robert Morrow, 21 students entered the tournament.

At the time of publication of the paper, a foosball tournament was being held. Each team consisted of two students who competed against other teams. The winners will be published at a later date.

Instructor's talents— Player of Week:

Media Coordinator on campus. Perhaps as a result of his unusual family heritage and background, he is a person of a wide variety of interests, hobbies, and talents, (although he denies such a thing exists as an "inborn" talent).

He was a carpenter's apprentice at the age of 11, and is still very handy with a hammer and saw. In the recent building of the faculty and commuter lounges on campus, he was one of Gerald Alloway's right hand men.

The faculty apartment in which he and his wife, Dorothy, live has become a treasure house of art, sculpture, unusual musical instruments, fancy carved chess sets, and a number of other objects of art. Their home is filled with over one hundred pieces of art and a rosewood harpsichord imported from Germany.

An instructor at Murray, Dorothy, along with her husband, is interested primarily in art dealing with the Renaissance period.

Under the guidance of Larry Milligan, art instructor at Murray, Toews began learning how to "throw" pottery on a potter's wheel.

Last summer he planted a victory garden so that he could have fresh vegetables for cooking. Toews loves to cook, and of course eat, many exotic and foreign dishes.

Toews attended Southwestern State College, North Texas State University, and Oklahoma University. In these educational institutions, he received his Bachelor of Arts degree in education, Masters degree in education with an emphasis on music, and is presently working on his doctorate.

James Hudson

It seems James Hudson, player of the week, needed one tournament game for a warm-up. James got off to a slow start in the Black Hawk Invitational tournament in Burlington, Iowa, during Thanksgiving week, scoring only two points in the first game. But he bounced back to score 27 points each in the second and third contests. James, returning sophomore, hails from Atlanta, Georgia.

"The team has good potential, although we lack experience," he says. "From the experience we had in Iowa, I feel that we have learned a lot from the two games that we lost. I think we will be able to capitalize on our errors during the upcoming games."

The reason he feels confident that the team will be successful this year is the attitude of the players toward the game, and the hard work that Coaches Wayne Cobb and Melvin Imotichey are putting in with the team.

Hudson, a physical education major, was a well-know athlete in high school. In addition to being named All-City and Most Valuable Basketball Player in

SPORTS

There's an attraction to being a girls' coach

Outstanding:

By Jessie Breath

The score is tied with only one minute left to play in the basketball game. The Aggies have just gained control of the ball. Suddenly you hear the coach yell out his words of encouragement. You glance towards him and you realize that it's Melvin Imotichey, a former Murray basketball player.

This is Imotichey's first year to coach basketball and he commented that he enjoyed coaching the girls because he "had not been around girls very much." When asked to clarify this statement, he said he was looking forward to the chance to coach a girls' basketball team since he hasn't done it before.

Imotichey feels that Murray has changed little since he played ball for them, except maybe it was a little smaller. During the two years Imotichey attended Murray he was a starter on the team under the watchful eye of Coach Marvin Adams.

After graduating from Murray, he attended school at Northeastern State College in Tahlequah.

He and his wife, the former Jan Elmore, have a baby son two years old.

Barbara Jenkins

Barbara Jenkins, a returning sophomore Aggie, was Murray's outstanding girl athlete last year. She graduated from Fort Townson, where she was a four-year letterman, an all-conference forward, most valuable player and captain of the basketball team.

Barbara feels that Murray is a nice two-year college and that the people are very friendly. She is majoring in physical education.

Although basketball is Barbara's most important interest, she enjoys volleyball, and is a member of the Afro Club. In high school she was a member of the FHA, for which she served as treasurer for one year.

Barbara is very confident about the Aggie team and feels that it will be "pretty strong" this year.

At his school, he also acquired such honors as All-Star, Outstanding, and Most Valuable Player in baseball.

During the past summer Hudson worked in a recreational park as "Instructor over the little guys."

In his comment on what he thought of Murray State College he replied, "I feel that it is a good school because of the people who attend it."

Larry Cheek is new president of Student Senate

After their letters were accepted, new officers were elected. They are Larry Cheek, Purcell engineering major, president; Willie Loggins, Weletka business major, vice-president; and Judy Slaughter, Vanoss music major, secretary.

Stricken former student's books returned here

An honor student at Murray State College in 1962, Billy Zack Hodges died in March this year of a brain tumor. Hodges attended O.S.U. at the same time Harold Fogleman was there, but was unable to finish his senior year.

A member of Phi Theta Kappa, Hodges was majoring in animal science and agriculture education.

Zack Hodges of Marietta, Billy's father, came to see Fogleman recently and offered him all of Billy's notes and textbooks which he felt could help some other agriculture student. "His books and notebooks are in real good order," Fogleman said. "Notes were perfect."

Fogleman plans to put the books in the agriculture department where they can be lent to students who can use them in their own classes.

Regents meet, host employees

Members of the Board of Regents from Murray State College visited the campus on Thursday, December 14. They entertained the employees of Murray with a Christmas tea in the ballroom of the Student Center. Following the tea, they were escorted on a tour of the academic facilities of the college.

They returned to the ballroom where they were entertained at a dinner. After a few moments of relaxation, they held a regular business meeting.

Members of the Board of Regents, appointed by Governor David Hall last Spring are Clarence Burch, chairman; Mrs. Page Lambert, secretary; Earl Emerson, vice-chairman; Garland Washington, Fredo Hamilton, Ray McAdoo, and Wilson McDonald, members.

Reporters see computers work

Wednesday, December 6, the Aggie staff toured the Capital-Democrat newspaper office. John Lokey, publisher, lectured for a few minutes about the history of newspaper printing and some of the major changes that have taken place. Next, the staff took a look at the printing room.

Lokey explained how some of the computers worked and each of the staff members had his name printed. He said that the number of delicate wires in the computers could be compared to the numbers of hairs in an Afro hairstyle! The printing is a photographic type, from a film negative which can be developed instantly.

SANTA CLAUS took time to swoop down and present the children (and adults, too) with candy at the Christmas tree lighting.

Tunes familiar but those words?

"Cascabeles," "Venid Fieles Todos," "Los Reyes de Oriente," and "Noche De Paz," are all Christmas carols which Mrs. Rosalva Rainey's Spanish class sang to serenade offices and classes in the administration building on November 30. The ten class members were then invited to sing to a class in the classroom building.

Translated, these songs are "Jingle Bells," "O Come All Ye Faithful," "We Three Kings of Orient Are," and "Silent Night."

Presently, the class is planning a trip to Mexico during the spring break. Anyone taking Spanish this semester or who will be enrolled next semester will be eligible to go if they pay their own expenses. Transportation will be provided by the college.

In depth research results in making of movie film

M.G.M. and Disney Studios, look out! New competitors, the Murray State College Art Department, has produced a movie film.

Four students in the art department made a hand drawn movie film which was five minutes long and contained abstract colors and movements. For every second of film, 18 frames had to be drawn alike.

The abstract images were drawn on the frames with inks and magic markers. It took the four class members plus Larry Milligan, art instructor, two

It is very hard to get into the Christmas spirit when you're miles from home with a week of final exams facing you. But the Murray Dames helped students realize that Christmas is near by sponsoring several activities.

A Christmas tree lighting was held December 7 on the lawn, with Jim Benton, Marlow, as master of ceremonies. Julia Campbell, Marietta, read a story on the birth of Jesus, and Barbara Blehm, Cashion, led the group in a Christmas prayer.

Dr. Clyde Kindell wished everyone a merry Christmas and a rewarding New Year, and thanked the Murray Dames for sponsoring the affair.

Robert Pearson, Director of Student Personnel Services, led the singing of four Christmas carols, including "Here Comes Santa Claus." The children (including Blaine Story) gathered in front of the Christmas tree to sing loud enough for Santa to hear. Sure enough, he did, stepping from behind a

Financial aid picture brighter for 2nd semester

Dean Don Martin has announced that the financial aids picture looks brighter for second semester. Students who need aid to attend Murray State for the spring semester should go to the Financial Aids office for counseling or to fill out an application.

Those students whose grants were reduced first semester due to lack of federal funds are encouraged to apply for aid, and should have no worry in getting help for next semester. Students with adjusted aid (primarily freshmen), should report to the Business Office for fee payment, and if there is need for additional funds, they should come to the Financial Aids office, says Martin.

James Fricke is husband, father and night student

Holding down a job and raising a family are usually enough to keep the average person busy. But a number of students with jobs and family responsibilities have wanted an education strongly enough to attend night classes to work on their degrees.

One of these is James Fricke, Madill, who has earned 28 or 30 hours in night classes at Murray State. Meantime, his grown son is attending Southeastern State College and is in his junior year.

Fricke, who has wife, Susie, and a 15-year-old son at home, has been employed at Fort Washita by the Historical Society since 1963, and has been curator of the museum there since 1967. His major field - and major enthusiasm - is history. Asked why he decided to go to night school, he replied that competition is stiff in his field, and that he is the only museum curator in Oklahoma, so far as he knows, who still does not

Leon Pierce to be new head E.&T. Society

The Engineering and Technological Society held their annual banquet on December 12, with Wes W. Watkins as guest speaker. Watkins, former director of the Kiamichi Area Development District, is now serving as president of the Oklahoma Higher Education Council.

Special guests were Dr. Clyde Kindell, Dr. Bob Hill, Ralph Benham, Nolan Arthur and John Patton.

At their last meeting, the Society elected Bobby Blades, Wapanucka, as president for the spring semester. Other officers are as follows: Leon Pierce, Atoka, vice-president; Betha Akins, Shawnee, secretary; James Sampson, Thackerville, reporter; Larry Cheek, Wayne, student senate representative.

A rally race is being planned for second semester.

A.-A.'s set doin' dates

The Afro-American Club had their second record hop of the semester December 5, in the ballroom. The club has received an invitation to attend the East Central Afro Christmas ball.

April 18 has been set for Afro Day for second semester.

MOTHER VISITS

Crit Clark Choate, nursing instructor at M. S. C., was surprised by a ten day visit from his mother, Mrs. R. A. Choate from Hagerman, New Mexico.

TO GET NEW HOME

Max and Phoebe Crouch, nursing instructors at Murray State College, are planning to move into a new home in the Hicks Addition in Tishomingo.

Murray pigs take holiday journey

David McCormick, agriculture department, took three of Murray's top pigs to the International Livestock Show in Chicago during the Thanksgiving holidays.

The pigs rated high, with two placing as third and fourth heavyweight Yorkshire barrows. Another took fourth place light weight cross-bred barrow. Phil Kimble, Hydro, who accompanied McCormick, won a cash prize for his champion Hampshire barrow.

The grand champion barrow of the entire show, a Chester White, sold for $7,000.00. That's eating high on the hog!

V.D. film is shown students

Representatives of the Johnston County Health Department presented a film entitled "V.D. Every 30 Seconds" at Murray on December 7 in Fletcher Auditorium.

The film stressed the fact that venereal disease has reached epidemic proportions in the United States.

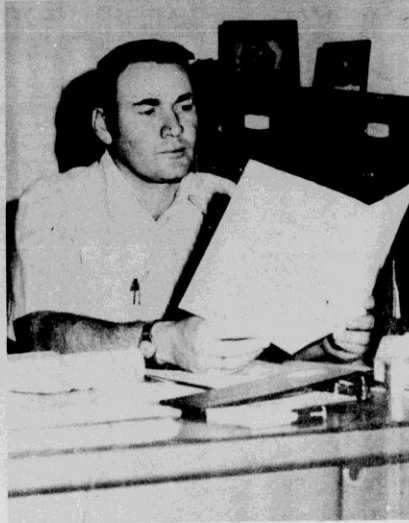

A representative stressed the fact that free treatment is available at the Health Department, and all cases are kept confidential.

GOT THE SPIRIT:

The boys of Patton Hall have created the Christmas spirit in their dorm with the help of Mrs. Doris Cude, known as "Mom". A tree was decorated with wooden Santa Claus, the three wise men and angels painted by Mrs. Cude, and two potted plants given to them by the Board of Regents add to the decor. A Christmas party was held Thursday evening December 14 in the lobby.

FAITH

Christmas means many things. It is a spirit of faith in the goodness and good will of people everywhere. Most of all, it means joy and hope for the world.

HAROLD FOGLEMAN, chairman of the agriculture department, studies a reprint of excerpts from his thesis which was printed in the Journal of Animal Science.

Master's thesis tells of piglet predicting

How to predict what a five months old pig is going to be like when he grows up is no trouble at all for Harold Fogleman, chairman of the agriculture department. Fogleman wrote his master's thesis on the subject "Predicting carcass length of swine from live measurements."

To do the necessary research, he devised a restraining crate, which holds the pig on his abdomen and lifts him so his feet are not touching the table. "He can't move, all he can do is squeal," says Harold.

The predictions are made by use of mathematical formula

Fogleman worked out, using factors and figures obtained from various body measurements. The pigs have to be about 200 to 220 pounds in weight, and are approximately five months old when they are measured. The purpose is to enable the stock breeder to select superior breeding stock from these particular traits, rather than having to wait until an animal is slaughtered.

This thesis was written in 1966 when he was attending the University of Tennessee at Knoxville. "I ran a bluff for ten months and got my degree," he said. Usually it took two years to complete the requirements for the masters.

Excerpts from his thesis were printed in the Journal of Animal Science for November 1972, along with results of research by E. R. Livall, his major professor, C. B. Ramsay, meats scientist now at Texas Tech, and B. G. Spears. A reprint of the article was sent to Fogleman by the University of Tennessee.

weeks working approximately five hours a week to complete the film.

The class watched the 'premier' in the AV room November 30 to learn how they could improve on the next one. They will probably paint a color on the film first. They put on dots, animals, or other small objects which would appear to move fast when the film is shown. One individual in the class drew a pig which appeared to be running on the film.

According to Milligan, members of the class who participated in "The experiment in in-depth research in the graphic arts" were Glenn Elmore, Ardmore; Karen Poin-dexter, Wilson; Marilyn Cotton, Oklahoma City; and Laverne Smith, Lone Grove.

The film was spread out over long tables and these people were drawing in the many frames with any ideas they had.

HAVE XMAS PARTY

McKee Hall had a Christmas party December 13 in the ballroom of the Student Center. They sang Christmas carols, and refreshments were served. The dorm has two Christmas trees, on first and second floors.

Boo-boo makes Ag story nearly a 'cat-astrophe'

By Terri Crouch

It may be a good thing that Jo Conway, counselor at Murray, didn't acquire a Persian cat for a family pet. If she did, it would have died of thirst by now.

In the last issue of the AGGIELITE, a story appeared which fascinated Mrs. Conway. In the story it stated that Iran, formerly known as Persia, was famous for Persian cats which are found in the desert south of the capital city and can survive for two or more weeks without water.

It wasn't until this was brought to her attention did she realize that a typographical error had been made, and that several lines about "camels" had been omitted after speaking of Persian cats.

After losing faith in the AGGIELITE, it probably won't be long until she teaches her journalism class that you shouldn't believe everything you read.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

A committee of seven faculty members has been appointed to publish a yearbook this year at Murray State College. Coordinating their efforts will be John Fletcher and Gerald Alloway, who were in charge of the yearbook a few years back, and are "experienced hands."

 have a degree. For five summers he will attend one-week workshops for credit in museology, conducted by specialists from the Smithsonian Institute.

Fricke states that Oklahoma is 50 years late in recognizing and restoring many of its historical buildings and landmarks. Many have been burned, torn down, or otherwise lost. As evidence of the awakening interest in state history, the Oklahoma Historical Society now employs 35 or 40 people of an average age of 27, in comparison to ten employees with an average age of 60 about ten years ago.

One of the most interesting historical landmarks in our area, Fort Washita had 80,000 visitors last year. This year the number will probably exceed 100,000, he states.

The old barracks building there is being restored to an exact replica of the original, with federal and state funds amounting to $150,000.00. It will be complete with bunk beds upstairs, and tables and chairs downstairs. There will be no visible source of electricity, though authentic kerosene lanterns will be wired from hidden electrical outlets.

The Society has taken over 11 sites in Oklahoma to be restored, among them the homes of Governor Johnston, at Emet, and that of Grant Foreman, probably the state's foremost historian. Foreman and his wife, also a historian, were tended by an old Negro who still lives in the house, and has maintained it as it was during their life times.

Recently the descendants of General William G. Belknap wished to move his body from Fort Washita where it was buried in 1831. The body had been moved in later years to an unknown location. An article published in the Chronicles of Oklahoma enabled Fricke to find the second grave, a brick vault covered with a stone slab. The body was sent to Illinois for burial in his home town. The story was featured on a radio and two television broadcasts.

Oklahoma Christian College, Oklahoma City, is preserving state history in a series called "Living Legends." Spoken accounts of early events by old-timers who remember the past are recorded on tapes, which will be combined with slides and films.

One old man of 104 who was interviewed by Fricke is the only known living person who made the run into the Cherokee Strip in 1893, and who vividly recalls the event. He also remembered Oklahoma City on the day of its founding and many of the old timers living then.

Born in a teepee, the old man had a Cherokee mother and a white father. He has outlived two wives, one of whom shared his life for 63 years, and eight foster children, including one pair of twins given to him by a woman at a railroad station.

He lives alone in California, where he earns his living weaving ropes and, and bull-whips, and carrying walking canes.

It is fortunate that, thanks to the efforts of people like Fricke, the Historical Society and O.C.C. living history is being preserved. When such old-timers as the 104 year old die, a great deal of invaluable—and too often unrecorded—history goes with them.

ART ON EXHIBIT

An exhibit of prints and water colors belonging to the Oklahoma Art Center's permanent collection has been loaned to the Murray State College art department. The "non-objective" paintings and acrylics will hang until December 22 in the art department.

Shopping for a family cinch; try cobra lilly

By Terri Crouch

If you see a man walk into a butcher shop and ask for a teaspoon of hamburger meat, don't be surprised. It may be Leon Sperry, a sophomore at Murray, buying supper for his meat-eating plants, a venus flytrap and a cobra lilly. However, the flytrap has lost its appetite at the moment because it's "sick."

The venus flytrap is only one

Weather maroons coeds four days

A one-night stay in Durant resulted in four days of holiday enjoyment for five Murray coeds.

Cynthia Pickens, Joyce Colbert, Linda Clay, Karla McCarrell, and June Freeman left Saturday evening to visit Danny and Jackie Carter, former students at Murray. Bad weather conditions forced the girls to stay.

Tuesday brought fairer weather, and marked an end to the vacation. Upon returning to Murray however, it was discovered that one of Karla's shirts had jammed in the trunk catch. This resulted in having to remove the back seat to get the girls their clothes.

It may be a long time before the young women are invited to the Carter's again, but it will be even longer before they forget about their four-day stay in Durant.

Social Science club is active

The Social Science Club, sponsoring its last activity of this semester, held a turkey shoot December 14. This event gave some of the local sharpshooters a chance to secure a large turkey to take home for Christmas.

The club also sponsored a raffle to give some of the "not so sharp shooters" a chance at winning a turkey.

The club will start the second semester with a number of activities scheduled. Special events, such as a trip to Oklahoma City have been planned, among other activities which may include anything from fish fries to entertaining special guest speakers.

of the many unusual plants which Sherry and his wife, Vinita "Jeri," are raising. Along with the cobra lilly, Sperry's venus flytrap falls into the category of a carnivorous plant. These plants eat insects, bugs, and even hamburger meat.

Sperry and his wife had different hobbies and encouraged the other to develop an interest in it. Leon loves to hunt and taught his wife to shoot so that she could accompany him on his deer hunting trips. He remarked that it didn't bother him at all if his wife shot a deer and he didn't. After all, he claimed that he taught her how, so it really didn't deflate his ego.

On the other hand, Mrs. Sperry's real hobby has been raising various types of plants. Leon developed this interest four or five years ago.

A resident of Tishomingo, Sperry is majoring in mid-management and his wife is enrolled in the nursing program of Murray.

If anyone happens to know anything about doctoring venus flytraps, they should contact Sperry so that the flytrap can be cured. Who knows? Maybe the flytrap will offer you a bite of its best hamburger.

Instructor gets thrilling lift in Acapulco visit

By Marilyn Fairless

While most students and instructors at Murray were enjoying Thanksgiving dinner with their families and friends, Mrs. Alma Hogan, English instructor, was experiencing her first para-sailing venture.

Para-sailing is accomplished by attaching a parachute to a speedboat. As the boat takes off, it lifts the passenger and parachute, which are on land, into the air. After this stimulating ride, the passenger lands at exactly the same place where his journey began.

Mrs. Hogan's voyage lasted approximately ten minutes, took place in Acapulco, where she and her husband spent the Thanksgiving holidays. They flew from Houston around the coast of Mexico. One of the most enjoyable aspects of the trip was staying in a resort hotel where Mr. and Mrs. Hogan looked out over the ocean on one side of their patio and viewed the mountains on the other side.

In addition, Mrs. Hogan had been informed by several Murray students that her American greenbacks would not be accepted in Mexico. However, they relieved her of all the bills and coins she had

Return of missing trophy is asked

A large trophy, won at Houston in 1972 by the Murray State College Livestock Judging team, is missing from Room 111 in the Library Science building. This trophy means a great deal to the members of the judging team and to the agriculture department. It would be greatly appreciated if whoever took the trophy would replace it.

Highlighting the evening was the judging of the best decorated dorm windows. The winners were Cheryl Mitchell and Marilyn Cotton; Lana Grant and Molly Wade; Judy Hurta and Gerri Jones, for McKee Hall.
Winning at Haskell Lucas were Richard DeFord, Bobby Martin, and William Adams.
At Patton Hall, the winners were Roger Allen and Tony Peak, David Alsip and David Bruner, and Donnie Adams and Tommy Henry.

WINFRED NEWSON, Atlanta, Georgia, and Billy Robinson, Monroe, Louisiana, display the trophies which they received in the Black Hawk Invitational tournament in Burlington, Iowa.

Newsom, Robinson on All-Tournament Team

DONNIE "SUGAR BEAR" FREEMAN, Covington, Georgia, receives recognition as our featured Aggie of the Week.

'Sugar Bear' is featured player

Donnie "Sugar Bear" Freeman, a 6'0" freshman guard from Covington, Georgia, is this week's featured Aggie player. Donnie attended school at Newton High where he was a three-year letterman. Donnie was selected Reosil Most Valuable Player and Reosil All-Star, junior year; All State, All-Star, and Honorable Mention All-American his senior year, and was listed in the state's top ten.

Donnie is a physical education major with the ambition of being a coach someday. He has proved himself a capable starter for the Aggies with his fine display of defense.

If you are wondering how Donnie acquired the name "Sugar Bear", it's like this. In grade school Donnie's teacher had some "sugar smacks" in her desk, and Donnie got them!

Winfred Newson, sophomore from Atlanta, Georgia, and Billy Robinson, freshman from Monroe, Louisiana, were selected for the all-tournament team in the Black Hawk Invitational at Burlington, Iowa. In the three games played, Newson had a tournament total of 51 points, while Robinson followed close behind with 38 points.

Newson was a three-year letterman in high school where he was named All-State, All-Star, All-City, Most Valuable Player for two years, and team captain his senior year. In addition, he was chosen All-Conference his freshman year in college and is a candidate for All-American in 1973.

Robinson was a two year letterman in high school and claimed such honors as All-District for two years and Most Valuable Player at Wassman High School.

Robinson has proved to be a great asset for the Murray Aggies. He has the ability to rebound, pass, dribble, and most of all, score!

Ags win 65-48 over N. Texas

The Murray Aggies hosted North Texas State's junior varsity at Beames Fieldhouse on December 8.

The Aggies, lead by Winfred Newson's 19 point effort, defeated North Texas 65-48. Newson also had 19 rebounds.

Bill Robinson helped in the closing minutes with his outstanding shooting. Robinson had 16 points, and Roy Baker backed the Aggies with 12 points.

Brown Souls capture intramural tournament

SHERRY Schoemann, Sterling, is our outstanding Aggie-ette of the week.

Spotlight put on Sherry Schoemann

"Oh, horses, I love horses," was Sherry Schoemann's reply when she was asked what her hobbies are. Sherry is a returning starter for the Aggie-ettes. She also enjoys water skiing and motorcycling, but basketball is her outstanding talent.

Sherry received many basketball honors while attending Sterling High School. Among these are all-county, three years; all-area, two years; All-State her senior year; and Best Athlete award. She also played on the High School Seniorsettes, and went to Ohio for the national competition. This year she is doing a fine job as a starter for the Aggie-ettes.

Sherry likes Murray. She states, "It's a good two year school, especially if you want to play basketball. All the teachers and kids give you good support."

Aggie-ettes win over St. Gregory, remain undefeated

Murray's championship Aggie-ette team has begun the basketball season in true championship form and so far is undefeated.

The Aggie-ettes defeated St. Gregory 61-43 on December 5. Dianne Miller, Lone Grove, was high scorer for the Aggie-ettes with an effort of 15 points.

Teresa Winbush, Colbert, gave the team a hand by pouring through 11 points. The Aggie-ettes, holders of last year's national championship, now hold a season record of 3-0, having defeated Claremore Jr. College, and Phillips University, Enid, 69-47.

The gym floor at Beames Field House has hardly had time to cool off recently, between the intramural tournaments, high school tournaments and inter-collegiate games. Intramural competition came to an end with the Brown Souls the winners for the third year in a row. The Bullfrogs were second and the Bombers third. The Brown Souls won the tournament by defeating the Bullfrogs 60 to 43, with Jerald Jordan high scorer for the Souls, and Geary Blevins for the Frogs.

Winner of the girls' competition this year were the Wardogs, a relatively new team. They won the competition by defeating the Lone Strangers 35-23. High point honors went to Sandra Lewis of the Wardogs with 18 points, and Darlene Belvin of the Lone Strangers scoring 20. The coach for the victorious Wardogs was Nancy Washington.

The sportsmanship award this year went to the Lone Strangers in the girls' race, and to the Bullfrogs in the boys' competition.

He announced that intramural volleyball and table tennis will begin after the Christmas holidays.

Members of the top teams were as follows:

Jerald Jordan, captain, Jean Wilson, Jimmy Smith, Frank Simpson, Trenton Smith, Alton Kenner, George Walton, Jerry Harris, Willie Loggins and Lary Williams.

Bullfrogs: Geary Blevins, Jerry Hamilton, Lynn Snow, Mike Cornelius, Joe Ray, Jack Miller, Tim Montgomery, Darrel Moore, Keith Gregston and Rusty Mantle.

Wardogs: Bertha Douglas, Sandra Lewis, Mary Irene Weakley, Linda Clay, Karla McCarrell, Charolette Douglas, Karen Smith, June Freeman and Mary Jenkins.

Lone Strangers: Ann Lowe, Debbie Morgan, Lynn Henry, Debbie Carr, Brenda Riley, Darlene Belvin, Brenda Stiles, Mettie Cathey and Sharon Bryson.

Other team standings were: Clodhoppers 54, Engineering Club 16; Brown Souls 56, Bullfrogs 25; Bombers 55, White Panthers 39; Antiques 54, B.S.U. 45; White Panthers 48, Clodhoppers 42; Bullfrogs 41, Antiques 32; Bullfrogs 43, White Panthers 39; Brown Souls 59, Bombers 57.

In girls' games, Warriorettes 24, B.S.U. 15; Wardogs 17, Lone Strangers 13; Lone Strangers 33, Warriorettes 20; Wardogs 35, Lone Strangers 23.
